POLICE HAD QUIET NEW YEAR'S

While private parties throughout the town may have been more or less jovial, Headquarters reported a quiet night before and New Year's morning from the point of view of arrests and accidents.

Only one motorist was arrested on the charge of drunken driving, James H. Hanley of Dorchester being taken into custody on Washington street, shortly before 1 o'clock on New Year's morning by Patrolman Charles Harrold. He appeared in the District Court Wednesday morning.

Sometime before 3 o'clock Tuesday morning a Ford sedan, while headed south on Forest street and turning into Washington street, crashed into the curbing at the side of the road, breaking off the left rear wheel and also damaging the body. As the owners of the machine could not be located after the accident the Police ordered the car towed to the Central Garage.

At 9:50 the same morning a Ford coupe, driven by Thomas H. Quigley of 17 Loring avenue was in collision with a street car on Mt. Vernon street. According to Quigley, he had stopped his machine to allow a pedestrian to pass when the collision occurred. His coupe was damaged, but no one was injured.

Early Monday morning the police recovered a Hudson sedan, apparently abandoned on Cambridge street near the residence of Thomas Rossley. An investigation disclosed that it was the property of Axel Peterson of Randolph and the authorities there were notified.

CHRISTMAS AT THE HOME FOR AGED

A surprise, quite unexpected, awaited the members of the Home for Aged People when they had gathered in the late afternoon of Christmas Eve to receive their gifts. Troop V of the Girl Scouts had brought a tree beautifully decorated and incidentally themselves. They were individually responsible for individual members of the family as the gifts were distributed. Carols were sung and all were entertained by tableaux which were most successfully staged and carried out.

Christmas at the Home was this year a particularly lively and happy one because of the generous participation of Troop V, Captains Parker and Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Magnusson recently entertained the latter two brothers Thor and Christian over the holidays. The latter is working for the winter with the well known mural painter in New York.

SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE FOR BOSTON GARDEN CONTESTS

Further extension of the Boston & Maine Railroad's special train service at reduced rates now afforded hockey fans, to give the same service to sport followers attending boxing, wrestling, and other major sporting events at the Boston Garden, will become effective Friday of this week, with the Sonnenberg-Lewis encounter, it was announced today.

Operating on the same schedule which has been in effect for the hockey games on Tuesday nights, special trains will be run from and to Concord, N. H., Rockport, Haverhill and intermediate stations, every night on which major attractions are billed at the Boston Garden.

The sport fans' special trains are scheduled to reach the New North Station at 8 p. m., enabling passengers to reach their seats in the Boston Garden before the start of the program. They will leave North Station on the return trip 15 minutes after the program ends. On these trains, as well as on regular trains arriving at Boston after 6:20 p. m. and returning the same evening, the Boston & Maine's "evening excursion" rate—virtually one-half the regular rate will apply.

New Hampshire and Massachusetts sport followers will be served by a special train leaving Concord, N. H., 6 p. m., Manchester at 6:30, Nashua, N. H., at 6:54, Lowell at 7:15, Woburn at 7:39, Winchester at 7:44 and West Medford at 7:48.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Winchester League of Women Voters will celebrate the new year by keeping open house Jan. 9 at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall. To emphasize events of national importance and questions of special interest at this time, Mrs. Percy Thayer will review bills which are before the Congress at this session and Prof. Robert de Courcy Ward of Harvard will speak on the subject of immigration.

Many Winchester friends will be doubtless interested to learn of the ordination as a minister into the Congregational clergy of William T. Howe of Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Howe. The young minister's mother who before her marriage was Miss Jennie Thompson, passed the larger part of her life here, and he himself was born on Forest street, this town.

The ordination took place Dec. 10 at the East Congregational Church, Milton. Rev. Mr. Howe is a graduate of Harvard College and of Union Theological Seminary, New York. He will take up his pastorate at North Conway, N. H., at once.

Rev. D. Augustine Newton, formerly for some years pastor of the Winchester First Congregational Church, has accepted a call to the Congregational Church in Stoneham.

Miss Helen McNulty of Wendell street was injured Sunday evening at 7:30 in an automobile accident which occurred on Mystic avenue in South Medford near Combination Park. Miss McNulty was riding with Miss Josephine McLaughlin of East Weymouth in an automobile, driven by Alphonse A. Gavreau, said to be a resident at 59 Wendell street, Winchester. The fourth member of the party was Albert Belisle who also gave his home as 59 Wendell street, this town.

The accident occurred when Gavreau's machine was struck by a second car, the operator and occupants of which made a getaway on foot from the scene of the crash. Both automobiles were badly damaged and traffic was for some time tied up.

After the accident a party of three young men who had hired the car which figured in the crash with Gavreau's, reported that their machine had been stolen. All were arrested by Sgt. Thomas J. Kerwan of the Medford Police as suspicious persons.

Miss McNulty and Miss McLaughlin, who were injured in the crash were taken by Gavreau for treatment to the office of a Woburn physician.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester, was held in Association Hall Wednesday, Jan. 2 at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Radley, the President, presided during a short business meeting. Mrs. Gage, gave a report on the conference held at the Massachusetts Women's Republican Club headquarters on Dec. 10, at which she represented our club. The object of the meeting was for a closer affiliation between the local clubs and the state organization. This to be accomplished by maintaining permanent membership in the Massachusetts Republican Club for all club presidents.

Mrs. Arthur Kelley was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange a bridge party this winter. Mrs. Radley announced that she would have to turn over the club leadership to Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Bradley for the remainder of the club year, because she was going on a World cruise. Mrs. George the lecturer on Current Events was then introduced by the president. Her lecture touched on many European countries, their present condition and progress since the war.

Mr. Edward W. Sexton, Harvard '30, of this town has been elected to one of the positions on the Senior Class Day committee. Mr. Sexton is a member of the social service committee of Phillips Brooks House, a religious organization for students, and belongs to the A. D. Club, the Hasty Pudding Club, the Phoenix-S. K. Club and the Stylus Club. He prepared at Exeter.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY JAN. 12The Best People

The three act comedy, "The Best People" by David Gray will be presented in the Town Hall, Saturday evening, Jan. 12 by the Junior-Senior classes of our high school. Seldom does one find a play with so much real comedy combined with such a strong interest. The story traces the course of true love between a society girl in a New York millionaire's family and their chauffeur, who is altogether a worthy young man, though scarcely fitted to become the husband of the wealthy society girl.

With the problem of the daughter's future, arises a similar affair between the son of the aristocratic family, and a refined well-brought up chorus girl, under the care of a Puritanical aunt who is most solicitous for her niece's welfare. The lines of the play are very original and decidedly cumulative in interest, with more than the usual amount of splendid comedy. A cast of characters well adapted to the excellent roles, will be quite adequate under Miss Chapman's direction to impersonate the attractive characters in the comedy. Miss Chapman has adapted the play for amateur use and has given it recently with tremendous success. The efforts of our talented young people should be rewarded with a capacity house.

Forego any engagement to see "The Best People."

INTERESTING MEETINGS AT THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Most careers are made or marred in the hours after sur-per.
All that you are ever going to have is what you get out of you.
He lives best who lives in other's lives.
A mule can't pull while kicking, nor kick while pulling,
neither can you.
To do the right thing is the very best way to dodge the wrong.
Our physical self is a delicate machine of which you are the engineer.

Our New Year's wishes are not extended to include the individual who syphoned the alcohol out of our radiator Wednesday evening and for good measure appropriated the radiator cap to his own use. We feel that the last named was more or less adding injury to insult and make no bones about denying one who would steal the barn as well as the horse our friendship.

Once again the Star is constrained to offer a word of warning to those who apparently enjoy racing to fires in competition with the Town's motor apparatus. Aside from the law which prohibits any one driving within 300 feet of a piece of fire apparatus while answering a box, there is a still greater reason why all of us should not in any way interfere with the firemen speeding on their way to save property and possibly life, endangered by fire. It is positively inviting disaster to race with fire apparatus, not only endangering the firemen, whose calling is already sufficiently hazardous,
but also those who like to get a thrill out of such recklessness. Already the Town has had two very narrow escapes from tragedy as a result of the disregard of the 300 foot law. In both instances women failed to suffer serious injury and possible death
more by good fortune than design, and it seems that members of the fair sex are more deserving of a reprimand for endangering their own and the lives of the firemen by crowding
the fire trucks than the men. Automobiles are, and have been a nuisance at fires, interfering as they do with the authorities in their attempt to render the service to which the community is entitled. The police have been appealed to and are likely to prosecute those who persist in disregarding the laws relative to following apparatus and approaching fire lines. The fact that the authorities permit call members of the Fire Department some leeway in the discharge of their duty is no excuse for others to attempt to break the laws.
The call men's business is to get to fires promptly. They are of no use to the Town otherwise. They must also of necessity enter the fire lines, possibly in automobiles. Others need not and can not. Let us all recognize this fact and co-operate with the firemen in their efforts to provide the best possible fire protection for the Town.

LIKED STAR EDITORIAL

To the Editor of the Star:

Permit me to congratulate you on your editorial on the steel trap.
Splendid! It is such expressions as this which qualify the existence of the suburban press, for we seldom, if ever, see anything of the kind in the daily service. And you can render no greater service to your community, or to the State, than by constructive criticism against this greatest iniquity that mankind is perpetrating against our four footed friends. There is, as you say, no possible excuse for the steel trap in the activities to which it is now being put. Neither private gain or public welfare requires it. As an inhuman atrocity it should meet speedy elimination.

It may interest you to know that in response to prizes offered by the Anti-Steel Trap League, for humane devices for the taking of wild life, over 100 inventions were offered, and substantial prizes were awarded to the inventors of the most meritorious devices. All of these eliminated all suffering from the process of trapping wild life. So there is no longer any possible excuse for perpetuating
the iniquitous steel trap.

Legitimate hunters and trappers are not in favor of its use, and all our hunting associations are anxious to uphold the laws against it. And the organized fur trade is likewise on record against the use of the steel trap. So I trust you will continue this splendid work. Thank you.

Yours cordially,

Geo. W. Nellis

prize of a $200 electrical appliance for the best lighting exhibit in the whole Edison territory.

Returns show that thousands of additional homes were lighted this year over those of a year ago, particularly in the suburban districts. The safety from fire which electric lighting gives, together with the wide variety which combinations of colored bulbs provides probably in large part account for the increasing popularity of holiday lighting. It is a custom which it is believed will not only increase here in New England during the Christmas and New Year's season but it is quite likely also to spread in its use for other holidays.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

A graphic plumbing of human souls in the torment of love, and one of the most remarkable "dual-personalities" narratives of all times is now being unrolled at the big Granada Theatre in Malden where John Gilbert is starring in "Masks of the Devil." The picture is unlike anything ever before produced on the silver sheet; it violates every rule of dramatic construction in its daring audacity in telling the truth about human nature. Gorgeous setting showing Europe at its gayest embellish the production, for the story, takes place in gay, pleasure-loving Vienna of the present day. Alma Rubens and Eva Von Berne are the featured feminine leads in the conquests of Mr. Gilbert. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville headed by the Hollywood Revue, a sextet of clever entertainers, is also offered the last half of this week.

Starting Monday the Granada will offer "Manhattan Cocktail" starring Richard Arlen and Nancy Carroll, together with the personal appearance of Francis X. Bushman, Jr., the popular star of stage and screen. At the Granada, Francis X. Bushman will appear in a mystery comedy, "The Third Door" with his sister, Lenore Bushman, as a featured member of the company. "Manhattan Cocktail"
the screen feature for the first half of next week is a joyous screen
comedy.

Friendship's Value

Every man rejoices twice when he has a partner of his joy; a friend shares my sorrow and makes it but a moiety, but he swells my joy and makes it double.—Jeremy Taylor.

The zest of life, the spice and the kick of it, are in the competition in affairs.—American Magazine.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The program at the University for four days beginning Sunday includes "Mother Knows Best" with Madge
Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton and "The Butter and Egg Man" with Jack Mulhall and Greta Nissen.

"Mother Knows Best" is from Edna Ferber's story of a domineering, dominating mother with the never failing determination that her daughter shall be a successful star. Madge Bellamy plays the role of the obedient daughter who is only a pawn in her mother's hands.

In "The Butter and Egg Man" Jack Mulhall is immense as the small town
"sucker" who buys a theatrical "flop" puts it over, thanks to a bit of luck and then sells it back to the city slickers. Taken from the Broadway stage success.

For the last three days of the week
the feature pictures are "What A Night" with Bebe Daniels and "The Wind" with Lillian Gish.

"What A Night" is a sure fire farce comedy of the type which has made Bebe Daniels famous. Once more she proves her ability as a newspaper reporter through several reels of mirth provoking entertainment.

"The Wind" is from the novel by Dorothy Scarborough and is the story of a beautiful sheltered girl thrust into the rough, savage and unceremo-nious life of the pioneers of the Southwest. Here she is forced by circumstances to marry a man she does not love. Lillian Gish, Montagu Love and Lars Hanson play the leading roles.

Short Memory

A well-known man spent an hour in conference with an old magnate. His secretary finally came in to remind him that a number of visitors had been waiting a long time. The financier decided to go out and apologize for delaying them.

He was followed to the outer room
by the man with whom he had been in conference, and in making the rounds came to him, shook his hand and said he was sorry he kept him waiting and that he was very happy to see him.

Good Cheer Invaluable

Good cheer is just as essential to life as sunshine, air, and water. Furthermore, it is just as plentiful. It not only helps you, but it helps others.
It spreads like the ripples in a pool of water. Keep smiling. Spread good cheer.—Grit.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The installation of officers which was to have been held last night has been postponed until Thursday evening, Jan. 17. On that occasion the ceremony will be in charge of D. D.
Frances Ahern of Arlington. Past
District Deputy Elizabeth C. McDonald of the local Court will be general chairman of the affair with a competent committee to assist her. There will be an entertainment followed by luncheon.

At last night's meeting a report of the past year was read by Sister Katharine F. O'Connor, who this year retires as a trustee after serving the Court in that capacity for eight years.
This report shows the Court to have passed a most successful year and with the fine group of members which was added to the organization and another initiation scheduled for February we may look forward to 1929
as a year of much promise.

The newly elected officers, headed by Grand Regent Mabel K. O'Brien, conducted the meeting last night and gave a splendid account of themselves.

All committee reports were read and accepted. The new standing committees for the year will be appointed at the next meeting.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The regular business meeting for January will be held on Thursday,
Jan. 10.

On Jan. 24, financial secretary Mary Dineen will be hostess for the members and their friends at her home on Lincoln street. With such a charming hostess the affair will be assured long in advance of success.

MODERN in its NEWS TREATMENT!

THE Boston Herald has the best front page
make-up in Boston.

This is true not alone of the front page, but of the make-up of the entire paper.

News is displayed according to its true value and readability, with a reasonable balance between the informative, the sensational and the feature or human interest stories.

The Herald displays really important news in large type, but it does not hesitate to acknowledge a dull morning with modest headlines. There is no lipstick emphasis for the sake of an eight-column "streamer."

Another point about The Herald front page is that it carries more stories than that of any other Boston paper. This is true not occasionally, but all the time.

This metropolitan treatment of the front page, which is unique in Boston, carries back through The Herald's orderly pages.

Try The Herald for a few days. You will note its reader interest and fair appraisal of news values, its superior typography, its feature news stories with their human interest appeal.

Finally, you will note that it prints more general news,
more political news, more financial news, more court,
commercial and shipping news than any morning newspaper in Boston.

It is The Herald's aim and accomplishment to sell more news, and to present it in the modern manner.

J. J. HAIRSTON AS THE WITCH DOCTOR—JOHN E. MOSELEY AS EMPEROR JONES

"THE EMPEROR JONES" AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL PARISH HOUSE

A Noteworthy Event in Dramatic History of Winchester

The Men's Club of the First Congregational Church will make a name for itself next Wednesday, Jan. 9, when they sponsor the "Pen, Paint and Pretzel Dramatic Society" of Tufts College rendition of Eugene O'Neill's celebrated drama, "The Emperor Jones."

The tickets, what few are left, are on sale at the Star office. The drama will commence promptly at 8 o'clock, and the public is invited to the limit of the hall's capacity.

Following is a review by Dr. Charles Gott of Medford, head of the Department of English at Tufts College covering the two productions at Tufts College:

The presentation of Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" by Pen, Paint, and Pretzels on Dec. 13 and 14 is to be summed up and set down as a noteworthy event in the dramatic history of the college, and a definite success.

PROF. WILLIAM N. MORSE
Coach of Dramatics at Tufts College

The play presents to the non-professional producer difficulties in casting and staging hardly suspected by the casual reader, to whom it might well seem a simple, one-man show in several easy scenes, with a dash of pantomimic seasoning. The director, Professor William N. Morse, of Winchester, was not unaware of these difficulties, but the fortuitous presence at Tufts of John Moseley, himself the son of an able actor, and Mr. Moseley's interests in the emperor's role, for which he has some racial adaptation, were deciding forces in making the attempt. It is therefore greatly to the credit of Mr. Moseley and of Professor Morse that this play, not produced professionally in the last seven years, and never before attempted by college amateurs, should have been so satisfactorily performed.

"The Emperor Jones" is a simple but romantic story of an American negro who, discreetly withdrawing from the consequences of an over-embroidered career in the States, found himself cast upon a West Indian island, where, by capitalizing upon a miracle-tinctured favor of Lady Luck, he has become the "emperor" over the superstitious natives. But he has overplayed his avaricious hand, as he learns in the first scene, and is forced to flee through seven pictorial scenes, to the accompaniment of the continuously accelerating and nerve-shattering tom-tom of his pursuers, until the end of the chase in the morning. Thus after the first scene the play becomes an air played upon a single emotional string; a fear which suggests to Brutus Jones' overwrought imagination haunting scenes from his past, and the inescapable past of his race.

In the presentation of this exacting role, Mr. Moseley displayed an ease, a mastery of line and spirit, not often achieved short of the professional stage. His youthful voice and figure may not have supported that conception which, in the acting of Gilpin or Robeson, makes the emperor a middle-aged and accomplished felon, but his youth, too often nearly the whole charm of a college actor, was compensated for by his clear voice and the surety and restless vital energy of his portrayal.

It is not easy to manufacture the cowardly Cockney trader Smithers out of a Yankee college student, but the part as played by Dorman J. Hayes showed intelligence and industry which counted in giving an adequate presentation of a moderately difficult character role. The addition of more nervous, shifty sneakiness would leave little to be desired.

Jester Hairston's acting of the Congo witch doctor was a distinguished piece of work. His startling appearance was a triumph for the make-up artist, Bjorn Friis '22, and his co-workers. The hypnotic dance of conformation in which he attempts to make Jones sacrifice himself to the crocodile god was a bit of pantomimery beyond all praise. In the role of Lem, which Mr. Hairston also played, his clear enunciation and his acting of the simple dignity of the native made the part live.

Mention should be made of the acting of the old woman by Elizabeth Currie, and the pantomimery of V. J. Vosilus, Charles Hersey, and Sheldon Christian as auctioneer, guard and Jeff, respectively, were on a par with the general superiority of the production, as was the work of the other pantomime characters of the supporting cast.

The settings were skillfully and in some cases cleverly and artistically designed by Harold Downes, whose work in this field has come in for frequent praise in these columns. The palace scene was an example of adequate simplicity in mounting. Especially praiseworthy was the scene by the river, wherein the harsh river foliage itself was suggestive of crocodile teeth.

In the summing up process mentioned at the outset certain items must be set down in the debit column. Chief among these were the long waits between scenes at the first night performance. The demands of the play are for swift succession of scenes of terror in order of climax, and the spell is to be held over the audience by continuous darkness of the house and the constant beating of the tom-tom even while the curtain is down. The audiences which filled the Jackson Gymnasium found it necessary to resort to their programs, and at last found a practical use for cigarette lighters as means of illumination. At the second performance, however, the time was cut 22 minutes, chiefly by hurrying the scene changes, so that the pauses were not serious. The limitations of the gymnasium itself as a play-house were further illustrated by the fact that much of the action which took place on the floor of the stage was difficult to see from all parts of the house. More sensitive play-goers also regretted the necessity of hearing Jones' feet scuffling on the stage floor as he dashed into the forest and objected that illusions of unreality were shattered by the auctioneer's touching Jones' body in the pantomime.

On the credit side, however, are other items probably not known or noticed by the majority of the audience. For example, the cover of the program was a striking original drawing by Dorothy Doane. The costumes of the charming southern belles were originally designed and created after a careful study of the costumes of the period by Carolyn Earnshaw and her fellow artists mentioned elsewhere in an account of the play. Finally the entire production was an original work of staging the play by Professor Morse, quite independent of the professional productions of the past.

In the work of direction Professor Morse was assisted by Raymond Fay, to whom should go a share of the credit for the production.

The general excellence of the production is further attested by at least two invitations to take the company out of town. It is sure to be a credit to Tufts College. For these things Professor Morse and also the three P's Society are to be congratulated.

BROADCAST OF MUCH LOCAL INTEREST

Winchester radio fans will all want to tune in on the program which broadcasting chairman "Nate" Thumim of the Middlesex County Council, American Legion, is to put on the air tomorrow evening between 9 and 10 o'clock over Station WNAZ.

Mr. Thumim is to act as announcer for the program which is to include several selections by "Jack" Sanford's well known Winchester Post Brass Band and an interesting address by Thomas Quinn, past County Commander of the Legion.

For his soloist Mr. Thumim has secured the Winchester favorite, Helen Edlefson Barr, soprano, an artist much in demand both for radio and upon the concert platform. Mrs. Barr is to be accompanied by Ellen Geer, widely known as the "Lady of the Ivories."

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

Two hundred and fifty individuals grouped in 53 families were given a home Christmas by generous Winchester citizens, churches and other organizations co-operating with the Department of Public Welfare.

Contributions were as follows: cash in varying amounts was given by 54 contributors and one church organization. This money enabled the Department to make shopping tours with mothers and a few children of disadvantaged families in quest of suitable gifts. Also, the money bought holiday dinners. One hundred and twenty boxes of candy were sent to the office by the committee managing the children's party. One family gave 40 quart and pint jars of preserved fruit, jellies and pickles (all home made). The Winchester Order of Elks sent orders for coal and wood where needed. Books, games and toys were contributed by children of three families, by two adults and by Grade 1 of the Mystic School. Two dolls dressed by the Wadleigh School girls were given homes. The N. B. O. O. girls planned and contributed a dinner for one family, adding a collection of well assorted clothing to the contribution. Troops 2, 3 and 4 of the Girl Scouts went into the homes of three families with dinners, trees and gifts. The American Legion was responsible for the Christmas cheer in the needy families of veterans. The Legion had the co-operation of the Veterans' Relief Committee of the Fortnightly. The Community Service Committee of the Fortnightly gave a dinner and special gifts to a family; this same family received a tree, tree ornaments and gifts from a neighborhood group of children. Dinners and other Christmas plans were made by three individuals, two churches and a church organization. A couple of puffs were given. Clothing was contributed by seven individuals. One sympathetic toward the loneliness of old age, made the season's calls upon elderly women very much alone. The use of a car, to facilitate the Christmas work, was made through a forenoon.

Without exception, the recipients of this generosity were exceedingly appreciative. As Christmas plans for the children were being made with the mothers, more than one mother exclaimed over the "goodness" of their fellow citizens. There were all the thrills of the Christmas season in the preparations. The mothers of disadvantaged families spent busy moments in the shops selecting the gifts for their children; the same happy concentration was exhibited in the office of the Department, as these same mothers decided upon the toys their children would "just love." The gifts were wrapped by the mothers in snowy white Christmas paper, securely tied and properly marked, then placed in a selected corner of the office (how careful each mother was that her bundles should not become mixed with the bundles of some other family) and carried home on Christmas Eve, after the children were in bed.

It was felt by the Welfare Department that the spirit of anticipation was illustrated by one mother's reiterated statement as she wrapped her children's gifts, which was, "There will be some surprises in my house on Christmas morning."

A beautiful trait exhibited by every mother was the devotion to the children. Not a single mother had any thought for herself. When pressed for a list of her own desires, she replied, "Oh, I haven't thought." Instead of getting anything for me, I have so and so for John, and such thing for Margaret; they need them."

The members of the Board of Public Welfare wish through this report to publicly express their grateful thanks and appreciation to all who contributed to the success of performing a Christmas miracle in homes, which otherwise would have had a dreary Christmas.

FIRST OBJECTIVE SMASHED

In just five Sundays the Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church has passed its first objective of 100 men, there being present last Sunday 113 men. In the four Sundays that remain in the contest period, the fine team work now in order indicates that the final goal of 150 will be reached.

Last Sunday President Jerome W. Gates presented to the class, Wadsworth Hight, vice president and Dwight R. Woodford, chairman of the social committee.

Dr. Lester A. Pratt, of Wildwood street, will speak Sunday morning at 9:30 on "New Things in Chemistry" to be followed by a "New Year's Message" by Harry C. Sanborn. Doctor Pratt is on the Board of Directors of the American Chemical Association and is director of sales of the Anderson division of the Merrimac Chemical Company. He is also one of the most popular and enthusiastic members of the Everyman's Bible Class. The talks by Harry Sanborn each Sunday are eagerly anticipated as the climax of a morning bristling with interest.

The ceaseless work of John P. Casler and Harry W. Moulton continues to be a cause for congratulations. The Blues made big gains last week but the Reds promptly served notice that something will be doing Sunday.

The Fire Department was called at 12:10 Monday afternoon for a grass fire on East street. At 3, the same afternoon, the men, under Deputy Chief John J. Gorman, spent some time burning brush at the Prince School lot. Monday evening at 7:46 Box 541 was sounded for what was thought to be a fire in a new house owned by Raymond F. Fenton. The men discovered, upon arrival, that the fire was a salamander drying the plaster.

FORMER WINCHESTER WOMAN TO DEMONSTRATE BUDGETS

Herron, formerly of this town, demonstrated charts and plans bearing on household budgets at yesterday's meeting of the American Home Makers Inc., at the headquarters, 87 Beacon street, Boston. The meeting was in the form of a reception to Miss Carrie A. Lyford, newly appointed director of the Boston Home Information Center. Mrs. Herron is active in the work of the Home Makers Inc., and is one of its vice presidents.

TUFTS THESPIANS SEEN IN O'NEIL'S PLAY

"The Emperor Jones" Presented in "The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire"

"Pen, Paint and Pretzels," the honorary dramatic society of Tufts College, presented "The Emperor Jones," a drama in eight scenes by Eugene O'Neill, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church in "The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire" in the church parish house. There was a large attendance.

The plot of "Emperor Jones" has to do with the adventures of an American negro who had escaped from penal servitude to a West Indian island where he made himself ruler of the superstitious natives. His avarice was the cause of his undoing and he fled from his former subjects to the forest, where during a single night his own superstitions and fears combined to conjure up visions of the checkered career he had left behind him in the States. In turn he saw again the man he had killed over a game of dice, the prison guard he had slain to escape from bondage, the auctioneer who had sold him on the block and others linked with an unpleasant past. His terror caused him to lose his way and he unknowingly fled in a circle directly into the hands of his pursuers.

The theme of the play was the attempt of a negro of rather questionable backgrounds who had come to a place of leadership among his people, trying to persuade himself that he had become so sophisticated that he had outgrown all the superstitions and instincts of his race. When the crisis came, however, fear laid hold of him and all the old racial superstitions and instincts came to life and overwhelmed him. The persistent beating of the tom-tom, combined with his fears, conjured up illusions which led to his losing his way through the forest and to his ultimate undoing.

The author makes him face one racial fear after another, beginning with the fear of ghosts, then the fear of the chain gang, followed by a fear of the auction block of slavery, and finally the age-old fear of the witch-doctor in the barbaric jungles of Africa.

"Emperor Jones" simply could not get outside of his own skin, try as he might. He kept assuring himself that he was "civilized," and therefore above such foolish superstitions, but the men of his own race knew his weakness and used the tom-tom to awaken the horrors dormant in his blood.

The production of the Tufts boys was excellent and though the play "Emperor Jones" is one which the average person either likes or dislikes strongly, there was very probably no one present Wednesday evening who could not admire the splendid acting of the college students, the artistic makeup and the splendid scenic and lighting effects, attained under trying conditions.

The show was rather long-drawn out, almost so much so as to be tiresome, due to the long waits between the several scenes which should it would seem, follow each other a bit more closely. Almost the entire action of the play centers about the character of the negro emperor and much of the production's success rightfully belongs to John Moseley who assumed this difficult role.

Himself the son of an actor and having the racial background for the part, Mr. Moseley made much of "Emperor Jones" and it is doubtful if any one lacking his characteristics could have been as successful. The same may also be said of Jester Hairston in the gruesome part of the witch doctor. His portrayal was real excellence.

In fact the entire cast was most adequate and a word of especial praise should be given Dorman J. Hayes who was cast as "Smithers," an ex-English "bobby."

Those who attended the production were given a real surprise through the ingenuity of Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase, president of the Men's Club, when between the acts they were presented with handsome souvenir combined calendars and blotting pads. There were also distributed clever little pens, cards, containing paint palettes and pretzels, in honor of the Tufts Society, presenting the play.

It is of interest to note that Prof. William N. Morse, coach of dramatics at Tufts, who directed the local presentation, now makes his home in Winchester. Another interesting sidelight is the fact that both Moseley and Hairston, the leading characters in the production were stricken with influenza on Monday and were able to take their parts only under the most trying circumstances.

Mr. Chase made a brief address before the rise of the curtain in which he expressed the appreciation of the Men's Club for the hearty interest which its efforts to bring "The Emperor Jones" to Winchester had aroused among its friends. Mr. Chase as president of the club, was in general charge of the production and was assisted by the following corps of ushers: Dr. Wilfred L. MacKenzie, Albert K. Huckins, Wayland Blood, J. Robie Cove, Arthur S. Harris, J. Sime Mercer, Rupert F. Jones was in charge of the box office.

At the annual banking elections in Boston this week Edwin R. Rooney and Christopher L. Billman of this town were elected vice presidents, respectively of the First National Bank and the National Shawmut Bank. Arnold W. Whitaker was elected vice president of the Atlantic National Bank. Frederic S. Snyder was elected a director of the Webster and Atlas National Banks and Robert E. Fay, a director of the Exchange Trust Company.

CALUMET NOTES

Tomorrow evening Calumet will put on a great athletic exhibition. It will be under the direction of Harry Stevens and James Murray. These gentlemen are so well versed in exhibitions of this kind that Chairman Chase picked them out to run the affair, knowing it would be in good hands. We do not know who the actual participants will be but we understand from these two gentlemen that there will be five boxing bouts and one wrestling match, that the men are good and that the matches will be lively and full of interest. The regular Saturday night lunch will be served and there will be games and the mingling of good fellowship, too.

On Friday, Jan. 18, there will be bowling for both ladies and gentlemen. The Bowling Committee assures us there will be lots of fun and prizes will be offered.

The dinner-bridge took place last Friday night. There was a fairly good crowd present. Dinner was served at 6:30 prepared by Fred Scholl and there was bridge afterwards. Mrs. Charlie Barry acted as hostess in the absence of Mrs. Charles Harold Smith, who was detained at home on account of sickness. Mrs. Stanley Howe, Mrs. Ernest Chase and Mrs. C. W. Symmes won the prizes for ladies and Harris Richardson, George Purinton and Doctor Cunningham, the gentlemen's.

The men's bowling tournament is drawing near to a close. Some of the teams have only three or four games left to play. Interest is running tense as it always is when nearing the goal. The teams are closely bunched and four or five are running neck and neck for first place. Teams 2, 4, 1, 5, 7, 14 and 13 in Section A are very closely bunched, while Teams 27, 19, 18 and 20 in Section B are running a close race. Hall Gamage still retains the high string of 147 and Earl Goldsmith the three string total of 369.

Calumet ladies bowled last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Carl Sittiger and Mrs. Walter Winslow were in charge. Prize winners scores were as follows:

1st prize, High single string—Mrs. Little and Mrs. Sears, 57 each. Won by Mrs. Little on roll-off.
2nd prize, High single with handicap—Mrs. Williams, 92 and 28, making 121.
3rd prize, Two highest strings flat—Won by Mrs. Maynard, 175.
4th prize, Two highest strings with handicap—Won by Mrs. Murray, 193 and 32, making 195.

GIFT OF $1000

The directors of The Home for Aged People are greatly gratified to receive from Mr. Frank E. Crawford a gift of $1000, the same to be known as the "Frank E. and Winifred L. Crawford Fund to be applied to the permanent fund of the corporation, the income only to be devoted to the maintenance of the Home." The result of this generous gift of Mr. Crawford will be an annual contribution of approximately $50 as long as the Home exists. It is impossible to estimate the suffering and anxiety this will relieve in the years to come and the number of the aged and weak that will be helped by it. The Home has at the present time $66,000 in its permanent fund and it is very much desired that this fund be increased to at least $150,000.

It is the thought of the directors that if those who are interested in the happiness and welfare of the aged people who are without relatives or friends who can care for them, could visit the Home and see the provisions made for their comfort and happiness that many thousands of dollars would be taken from its prison house of security and set at freedom to work for all time for this very worthy object which has now been carried on for the benefit of the aged people of Winchester for nearly 35 years.

Could any richer or more appropriate memorial be established for one's mother or any dear one than through this medium.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

We take it as a matter of course that our meetings are characterized by an abundance of good-fellowship, but it did seem as if this week's gathering was a particularly shining example of what can be accomplished in this way. Perhaps it was due to the novel seating arrangement which Roscoe imposed upon us. Evidently it is the intention that we become proficient in the art of good mixing. Our club from the beginning has been singularly free from cliques, which is well, for cliques are utterly opposed to the objects of Rotary. And it is well that the guardian spirits of our club believing in applying the ounce of prevention "before there is a call for the pound of cure."

President Harris announces that a ladies' night is scheduled for the near future. We shall endeavor to make this a memorable, a pleasantly memorable occasion. We feel assured that our Rotary Ann is vitally interested in our Club and we propose to show them that we appreciate their interest. A more detailed announcement will be forthcoming shortly.

Also we are preparing to act as hosts to one of our neighbor clubs, when a mutually convenient date can be selected. We are invariably certain to have a jolly good time at these neighborhood meets. They are one of the strong pillars of Rotary.

Our speaker on Thursday was the Rev. Stanley Addison of Cambridge, who delivered a most inspiring address. He told us with evident sincerity that Rotarians are doing a magnificent work in spreading the gospel of the Golden Rule throughout the earth. It has come to be recognized that this is also one of the main objects of religious endeavor. Surely there is reason in our conviction that Rotary rings true to that which is best in human souls.

We are going to have another good meeting on Jan. 17. Let every member be on hand. You are almost certain to meet a large number of visitors and so extend your acquaintance with the best of good fellows.

Remember the 17th.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT AT STONEHAM

Winchester High School will play its second game in the Middlesex Basketball League with Stoneham High tonight in the Stoneham gymnasium at 8 o'clock. Next Wednesday afternoon Stoneham plays a return engagement in the high school gym at 3, and both games should be hard fought. Stoneham swamped Melrose Wednesday afternoon and is out for revenge for the many drubbings they have taken in recent years at the hands of the locals. Coach Mansfield's boys were impressive against Belmont and are favored to win tonight, but they can afford to take no chances.

WATER AND SEWER BOARD TO USE OLD HOSE HOUSE

The Board of Selectmen at its last meeting voted to permit the Water and Sewer Board to use the old hose house on Swanton street for further room for the latter's equipment. Fire Chief David H. DeCourcy was consulted previous to the Board's decision and had no objection to the Water and Sewer Board taking over the building which has been out of use for some years. Its new occupants are to put the house in good condition so that the building will no longer be an eyesore to the community in which it is located.

MISS WARREN TO CONTINUE STUDIES IN FRANCE

Miss Virginia Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Warren of "Renwar" sailed at midnight last Friday on the SS. Berengaria from New York for Cherbourg, en route to Paris where she is to resume her study of voice for another year. She was accompanied by her parents as far as New York where a dinner was given in her honor at the Biltmore. A number of New York friends attended the dinner and later were Miss Warren's guests on board the big Cunarder. Miss Warren, after a summer at home, is returning to Paris where her musical debut last June aroused much interest in the American colony.

TO MAKE EXTENDED WORLD CRUISE

Dr. and Mrs. Harold A. Gale with their daughter, Miss Medora Gale of Swan road and Miss Nancy Holden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Holden of Church street, sailed Monday on the SS. Resolute from New York for Madeira where they will begin a world cruise which will take them to the various Mediterranean ports, to Egypt, through the Suez Canal, to India and China and return via Honolulu. The party expects to return some time during the coming May.

A CORRECTION

The Star wishes to correct an error which occurred in connection with its announcement of the acquisition by the Winchester Girl Scouts Council of Miss Eleanor Hannon to serve as a local Scout captain. Miss Hannon is one of the supervisors at the Winchester Hospital and not assistant superintendent as stated by our correspondent.

WAS FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT

William E. Forbes, who died last Friday evening in Woburn, formerly made his home in Winchester and will be remembered by older residents of the town. Mr. Forbes was born in Ireland 69 years ago and during the active years of his life was a leather splitter, working in many of the shops throughout this district. He leaves a wife, nine children and two sisters. The funeral was held Monday morning with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Charles' Church, Woburn. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. John E. Nickerson of Highland avenue has taken one of the Fountain Court apartments in Hollywood, Fla., for the winter.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Dolores Del Rio in "Revenge" is the head-liner at the University for four days beginning Sunday. The companion feature is "Prep and Pep" starring David Rollins and Nancy Drexel.

In "Revenge" Dolores Del Rio has one of the greatest roles of her career in the colorful gypsy girl who despised men and bears because they became as docile as lambs under her fiery dominance. Eventually she meets her match.

"Prep and Pep" is a comedy drama of youth and the making of men in a famous military school. David Rollins plays the part of a student who is expected to love up to his father's reputation as an athlete. Nancy Drexel plays the role of the daughter of the Commandant.

For the last three days of the week the program includes "Romance of the Underworld" with Mary Astor and "Someone to Love" with Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Mary Brian. "Romance of the Underworld" is the story of a girl who is forced to earn her living as an entertainer in a speakeasy. Her endeavor to break away from it all, and to fit herself for a worth-while position in business and society brings about very unexpected developments. Mary Astor is the heroine.

In "Someone to Love" the hero loses his job as a sheet music salesman, and accepts the commission to revive a failing girl's school. His high pressure efforts meet with success and the sweetheart he had lost comes back to him. Charles (Buddy) Rogers is the hero and Mary Brian is the sweetheart.

The Fire Department was called by telephone at 3:07 Tuesday morning for a supposed fire at the Symmes Grain Mill on upper Main street. The firemen found upon their arrival that a valve upon the sprinkler system had frozen and broken, causing the alarm bell to ring.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

In a red hot game last Saturday evening in the new parish house the First Congregational Church basketball team defeated "Bob" Livingstone's Independents by the score of 17-11. The only casualty we heard of was Henry Brown's ankle.

The Star is indebted to the Graphic Arts Engraving Company of Boston for one of the finest "ship calendars" it has yet received. The reproduction of an American square rigger with tops'ls reefed, plowing a wintry sea, is from a large oil painting of T. V. C. Valenkamph at the Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead. Reproducing the several colors involved considerable difficulty and the finished product is one of much merit.

Miss Barbara Ritchie of Wedgemere avenue returned to Ten Acre School in Wellesley on Wednesday. Miss Mary Tibbets has returned to Smith College after spending her Christmas vacation in Winchester.

RINDGE TRIPPED WINCHESTER

Rindge Technical School of Cambridge evened the count in its basketball series with Winchester High last Friday evening, defeating the locals in the high school gymnasium, 31 to 23. A previous game played at Cambridge, was won by Coach Mansfield's charges.

Winchester plainly showed the effects of its long lay-off and didn't even faintly resemble the team which sent the alumni down to defeat just before the Christmas vacation. The locals would have been hopelessly out of it, had it not been for "Livin' McNeil, star right forward, who was the game's high scorer with a total of six floor goals. None of the other Winchester boys was able to sink more than one basket.

Rindge went right out in front and the half ended in favor of the visitors, 15 to 10. The second half saw the locals bracing somewhat, but still outscored by 3 points, 16 to 13.

Between the halves of the first team game the Rindge seconds defeated the Winchester seconds, by the close score of 23 to 19.

The summary of the first team game follows:

WINCHESTER GIRLS PLAY AT MARBLEHEAD TODAY

Winchester High School girls' basketball team will play its first interscholastic game of the season this afternoon when it will oppose the Marblehead girls' sextette at Marblehead at 2:30.

Coach Centervall's charges have played but one game thus far, losing to the alumnae team just before the Christmas vacation. Little is known about the class of the Marblehead club but Capt. "Ginnie" Merrill and her team mates hope to start 1929 with a victory.

Captain Merrill, "Dot" MacKenzie, Mary Cutter and "Fran" Pettingell are the letter players who will see action this afternoon while others likely to play include Mary Reed, Marjorie Kendrick, Florence and Helen MacKinnon, Caroline Nichols and Nancy Bradlee.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Adele Hoes Lee will give a dramatic reading of "Captain Drew on Leave" at the regular meeting of the club on Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the Town Hall. Mrs. Lee was formerly a member of the faculty of the Leland Powers School and is a reader of charm and ability. Tea will be served by the social committee at the close of the program.

Dramatic Committee

The dramatic committee will present a group of one-act plays on Friday, Jan. 18 at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall. Mrs. Margaret T. Hurler who is in charge of the program has chosen three plays: "So's Your Old Antique", "The Fourth Mrs. Phillips" and "Cured". Tea will be served with Mrs. Grace A. Holmes and Mrs. Anna T. Pitman acting as hostesses.

Literature Committee

The program presented by the Literature Group on Monday, Jan. 7, measured up to the high standard which has been set in the past. The guest and speaker was Miss Dorothea Lawrence Maun, well-known as a member of the staff of the Boston Transcript. Mrs. Blanche S. Barnard, chairman of the Literature Committee, graciously introduced her as a fellow-student in Wellesley College and gave as her subject "A Talk on Current Books and Present-Day Authors."

Through personal interviews and acquaintance with most of our American writers, Miss Maun was able to give intimate stories and charming glimpses which brought a sense of closer acquaintance with them than could be gained through their writings. She showed that in contrast with the past centuries when poets and authors indulged in pose and dressed in eccentric and picturesque fashion, our present writers are inconspicuous and display keen interest in many subjects and types of people. She singled out Booth Tarkington as an example of rare simplicity and genuine frankness. He is one who writes by inspiration and has great care for detail. A complete and accurate knowledge of clothes of a certain period, of the songs sung and of the popular subjects to be discussed by his characters give his stories a vitality seldom equaled. Among the younger authors living in France for the purpose of finding more settled time for writing, she spoke most highly of Louis Bromfield.

Dorothy Canfield, Sir Gilbert Parker, Rex Beach, Fanny Hurst, Mary Johnston, Ellen Glasgow, noted publishers and editors all came in for a share in her anecdotes and valuable comment. She read humorous selections from Virginia Wolfe's "Orlando" and Irvin's "Lew Tyler and the Ladies." Two 1929 books to appear shortly, "Joseph and his Brethren" and "Peter Victorious" form a contrast in picturing the peasant's love of the soul in the English countryside, and the Norwegian's pioneer farming here in our own West.

In closing, Miss Maun made a plea that her audience read from the vast number of books published each year, not just what everyone reads, but that they discover an author they can particularly enjoy and then read all his books and thoroughly know and understand him.

Art Committee

On Tuesday of this week, Mrs. West entertained the Art Committee at her home on Mason street. As the result of plans made it was decided to postpone the entertainment listed in the year book for February 13 until after Easter. Please cross out that date in your year books and watch for an interesting announcement by the Art Committee.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Association Building on Vine street on Friday, Jan. 18. Business meeting at 4:30. Do not fail to attend the "dues dinner" at 6:30, admission by membership card. A good time is anticipated in celebrating the ninth anniversary of the 18th amendment. Mrs. Lefavour has charge of the program. Gentlemen may become honorary members and attend this dinner.

As we approach the ninth anniversary of the enactment of the great prohibition law, no less a personage than Mr. Wm. F. Whiting, secretary of commerce of the United States says: "I attribute a major share in the responsibility for present unparalleled national well-being to the effects of the dry law. I feel that prohibition is among the leading causes of prosperity. The annual report of my department shows continued high rates of production. The dry law has stimulated production at the factories and at the same time has made it possible for purchasing power to be increased, sales of washing machines, mechanical refrigerators, radios, automobiles, all reflect the higher standards of American living. Prohibition must be ranked second to none as a factor in making these higher standards possible."

GUEST NIGHT

A delightful occasion, indeed, was the concert guest night of The Fortnightly given by a group of men from the Boston Symphony Orchestra assisted by Howard Goding, pianist. This group was to have had Paul Shirley for its leader, but owing to his unfortunate illness, his place was taken by that remarkable all round musician and magnetic conductor, Arthur Fiedler, who is able to draw such understanding response from his men and has such a friendly entente with his audiences. The program began with that stirring old favorite, Coronation March from Meyerbeer's "Le Prophete" to which succeeded the poignant feeling of Tchaikowsky's lovely Andante from the Fifth Symphony. Then came the rhythmic beauty and delicacy of Debussy's "En Bateau"—a finely contrasting group.

The second number was another old favorite, the ballet music of Schubert's "Rosamunde" for no program is complete without one Schubert number in this year when we remember him with reverence and affection.

Following this came three piano solos by Howard Goding, the first a brilliant thing with Spanish fire that warms the blood, the second Griffes' "White Peacock"—a most original piece of haunting beauty and symbolism, and in this Mr. Goding showed most clearly the fineness and subtlety of his art, for only a thorough artist could have given to this rather esoteric composition such clarity and beauty of exposition. His third member was a prodigious staccato study by Rubinstein which called out very fine technical equipment as well as a marvellous singing tone in the legato passages. Mr. Goding was generous in responding to an enthusiastic demand for an encore and all his work was a neat and unexpected treat as it was added to the original plan for the concert.

The orchestra then gave the familiar Suite from Bizet's "Carmen." Their last group was a fine and poetic rendering of Gluck's "Dance of the Happy Spirits" from "Orpheus," a dashing and inspiring performance of one of Strauss' inimitable Vienna waltzes, and the second Hungarian Rhapsody of Franz Liszt.

The really fine work of this group of men should have been heard by a larger audience, but those who were present showed by their enthusiasm that they fully appreciated this opportunity to hear the best music almost at their own doors. Great credit is due the chairman of music, Mrs. Henrietta W. Boynton for her earnest efforts, in the face of many discouragements, to bring to the club members and their guests a concert of worth while music by such distinguished performers.

The program follows:

THURSDAY EVENING MUSICALS

The second in the series of Thursday evening musicals presented by the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church took place on the evening of Jan. 3 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tutein of Wildwood street. The artists were Mrs. Marjorie Patten Weaver, cellist and Miss Rosita Escalona, pianist. Mme. Zoe Mercier accompanied.

Mrs. Weaver has been for many years well and favorably known to Boston musical circles, and she brought to her performance all the charm and artistry that her audiences have learned to expect of her. Miss Escalona, a 19 year old Spanish girl from Porto Rico, displayed a phenomenal maturity both in emotional power and in technical proficiency. Both musicians were enthusiastically received and played several encores.

The program follows:

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Corinne Griffith is scoring another well earned triumph at the big Granada Theater in Malden the last three days of this week where she is appearing in her new screen hit, "Outcast." The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville headed by the Morning Glory Revue is also a feature of the current show.

Clara Bow in "Three Week Ends" is the screen feature the Granada will offer the first three days of next week. This new hit by the girl who made "It" famous brings her to the screen in a story written by Elinor Glyn, the authoress who first coined the word "It." Why spend "Three Weeks" learning about love when "Three Week Ends" can teach it in one evening? Clara Bow snaps things up in this story of a little East Side girl who gets a job dancing in a cabaret and dances right into the heart of a rich playboy and a poverty-stricken salesman. She gets away with a lot on the playboy but just gives and gives to the salesman. There are pathos, fun, romance and melodrama in this story. Neil Hamilton is the leading man and Harrison Ford has an important part.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Think twice before you speak then talk to yourself, says I to him.

Your world will be wide or narrow according as you build your fences shutting other lives out of it.

The saddest words,
I heard by far,
Are what they offered
For my last year's car.

Every man should increase his importance in the world and develop his power to do good.

The Star is pleased to note that the Park Board and School Committee are combining in preliminary steps to ensure the high school athletic teams more adequate financial support at their games played on Manchester Field. Winchester has been woefully behind most other communities in this respect and the resulting lack of revenue has been a serious obstacle in the athletic development of the local boys.
With the necessity for outfitting more and more boys each year with increasingly expensive equipment the need for more money has become almost a nightmare to the school authorities, making the chance to enrich the school
sports treasury one eagerly sought.
The proposal to make those sitting upon the playground stands pay a nominal sum for the privilege is only fair, and as it is possible to increase the number of stands the revenue will jump. Chairman Davidson is quoted as stating that the Town ought to vote to permit the school to charge for the seats and the idea is sound.
We anticipate no trouble in passing such a vote.

We were interested one evening not long ago while making our way through Thompson street at a late hour to notice one of the residents
there bring an automobile to a stop in front of his house and remain seated in the machine, emitting sounds denoting intense satisfaction. To satisfy our curiosity we asked the reason for it all and were told that the gentleman in question just couldn't help being overjoyed whenever he had an opportunity to park his automobile in front of the family dwelling. It seems that since the town took over the westerly side of Thompson street for an open air garage the householders on that thoroughfare are seldom able to approach their individual dwellings via machine. In fact many confess that in all probability they would not recognize their houses from the street
as they are almost never able to see them because of motor vehicles parked at the curb. Parking their own machines at or near the curbing in front of their homes has been all but a physical impossibility for the Thompson street inhabitants for quite some time and probably it was just this fact which made our above mentioned gentleman long for the unattainable.
At all events he got such a "kick" out of being able to drive his car to a spot in front of his very door that he admitted frequently going out around midnight or before 5 in the morning for the privilege of doing so. During the working day or early evening he never could get nearer than Common street or the bridge over the river.
Naturally he and the other Thompson street residents realize the tremendous advantage which has accrued to the community from the seizure of a portion of their several dwellings and their entire front yards. Parking space we must have, especially for those out-of-town motorists who find it convenient while in Boston to leave their cars in Winchester.

Famous Early Mansion

Marshall hall was the colonial seat of the Marshalls. It was originally a tract of 200 acres purchased direct from the Piscataway Indians by William Marshall I. The old mansion was built by William Marshall II a half century before Mount Vernon. The property remained in the Marshall family for six generations and extended its boundaries to include 1,000 acres. In 1866, through Civil war misfortune, the family lost it. Thomas Hanson Marshall lived there in General Washington's time and served under Washington in the Revolutionary war. He married Rebecca Dent. Four of his six children were living during the Revolutionary war.

Prof. T. N. Carver of the department of economics at Harvard spoke on the subject of immigration. He said in part that undoubtedly the most important piece of social legislation in the United States since emancipation was the restriction of immigration. This has more to do with the rise of wages, the elimination of unemployment and poverty than any other legislation we have had.

We have not, however, restricted immigration as much as some people think. A number of years ago Oriental immigration was prohibited. The recent restrictive legislation has put immigration from European countries on a quota basis, admitting from each country as immigrants only two per cent of the number of people from that country who were living here when the census of 1890 was taken. There is no limit to the numbers who may come from the American continent. Any number of Mexican peons, West Indian negroes and Central and South Americans can come. This not only threatens our wage scale. It is destined to produce a new race problem quite as different to handle as the Chinese or Japanese problem was on the Pacific Coast or as the negro problem is in the South.

In the list of the social problems created by importation of cheap labor is that of dividing our own population into two distinct classes, the rich whites and the poor whites. Cheap slave labor in the South at one time tended to enrich the few who were in a position to profit by it. It tended with equal certainty to impoverish the many who had to compete with it. The same tendency was showing itself on the Pacific Coast when cheap Oriental labor was being imported. The same tendency is again showing itself in the Southwest where cheap Mexican labor is coming in in large quantities. The rich whites, of course, want it because it makes them still richer. The rapidly increasing class of poor whites do not want it because it makes them still poorer. Class lines are showing themselves already in Southern California and other parts of the Southwest.

While we are discussing various methods of relieving or preventing unemployment why should we not consider the possibility of a flexible immigration policy. By that is meant a policy which would preserve the present quota law as a means of determining the maximum number of immigrants to be admitted, but which would reduce the number automatically whenever there was an abnormal amount of unemployment. It seems a little absurd, does it not, to continue admitting immigrants who come here to find employment when there are large numbers of our own citizens who are seeking employment and unable to find it.

Anger Never Worth While

Anger is the most impotent passion that accompanies the mind of man; it effects nothing it goes about; and hurts the man who is possessed by it more than any other against whom it is directed.—Clarendon.

ANNUAL CLASS PLAY TOMORROW EVENING

The three act comedy, "The Best People" is a story of present day society life with its up-to-date problems. It is natural that "society" should be a theme for the playwright since in one guise or another it has been a phenomenon of civilization throughout history. Mrs. Lenox, the mother, is a very flighty superficial person devoted to her snobbish brother, who is much concerned about his social prestige. She is also very fond of an absurd young Englishman, whom she is extremely anxious for her daughter to marry. But Marion becomes infatuated with the manly chauffeur from Missouri who represents human nature in the rough, and though far from being a snob is, as he puts it, "choosy." Naturally Marion, the society girl is thwarted by her sophisticated mother and painfully proper uncle, who measure life by artificial standards, their human traits being glossed over by their conformity to the criteria of a certain class. The author has revealed the comic elements in the attitude of the mother and her brother, who force the daughter into what seems a losing fight for the man she loves.

The father, Mr. Lenox, a sensible type of man, who is most anxious that his children develop the possibilities that God has given them, realizes perhaps more than the others, that successful marriage depends upon "community of tastes, interests and sensibilities" which he thinks are good reasons why the so-called classes should marry among themselves. However, he finally decides that what he wants most is his children's welfare, and comes to the conclusion that possibly what his family needs is some new blood. The audience follows with interest and amusement, the adventures of youth and democracy.

The cast of characters in this year's production is as follows:

Marion Lenox Martha Tibbets
Lord Rockmore Gordon Gillette
Miss Sarah Tate Marjorie Hayden
Bronson Lenox Marjorie French
Mrs. Bronson Lenox Basil Barwell
Ballock, the butler Maurice Tompkins
George Grafton John Dunne
Bertie Lenox Bradford Hill
Leo, the waiter Andrew Skilling
Michael, a waiter Norma Skilling
Millie Montgomery George Philbeck
Henry Morgan Alice Fleming
Alice O'Neil Alice Fleming

The scenes take place in New York City. The production is under the direction of Alice Eudora Chapman.

WINCHESTER TOURISTS IN ST. PETERSBURG

By JOHN LODWICK

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 11 (Special)—Eager to escape the rigors of a cold Northern winter, thousands of tourists hailing from the East and middle West are pouring into the Sunshine City.

Winchester's colony of visitors was visibly increased during the week with the arrival of four residents, who will remain until bad weather breaks up in the North. Reservations have been made for eight others, who are due on or before Feb. 1, while indications that other Winchester travelers intend coming here is evidenced by the numerous requests made of the local Chamber of Commerce for literature descriptive of the Sunshine City and its surroundings.

Mrs. S. B. Angevine, 3 Fletcher street, has returned for her 18th winter and is living at 552 Second avenue South.

Mrs. George Edward Snelling, 51 Bayview street, is back for her third winter and is residing at 259 Third street North.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Webster 29 Central street, arrived by rail for their fifth season and are guests at Hotel Kranghurst.

St. Petersburg has prepared for the reception of a long list of notables, who will visit here through the winter season. President-elect Herbert Hoover will be here for at least a one-week stay during his Florida sojourn, while President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge have arranged to make a brief visit in February.

Ideal weather conditions are prevailing here with a daily average temperature of 72 degrees.

Date of the annual Festival of States celebration, in which every State Tourist Society and every recreation club participates, has been set for the week of March 15.

LECTURE ON OLD WINCHESTER BY MR. SAMUEL SYMMES

Friday evening, Jan. 18 in the Unitarian Sunday School room Mr. Symmes is going to give a talk on "Old Winchester." With his fund of the most delightful stories, seasoned with his dry humor this will be a most amusing and entertaining evening. To illustrate his reminiscences there will be a loan exhibition of pictures, photographs and antiques of old Winchester.

Wednesday evening, Jan. 16, will witness an auction bridge party for the benefit of the disabled veterans at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill. Mrs. William T. Goode of Newton and Mrs. Alfred E. Knight of Winchester are the hostesses in charge of the affair.

SERVICE OF LIGHTS AT EPIPHANY

The annual service of lights in honor of the Feast of the Epiphany which celebrates the manifestation of Christ to the world took place at the Church of the Epiphany last Sunday afternoon. There was the usual large attendance, the simple candle-light service making a universal appeal and having particular significance for Winchester Episcopalians whose parish takes its name from the Epiphany season of the church year.

The service of lights was held after the singing of evening prayer and typified the spreading of Christianity through the church and its members. It was conducted by the rector, Rev. Truman Hemmings, who first lighted his candle from one burning upon the altar. In turn he lighted candles held by the wardens of the church, Alfred S. Higgins and Stanley G. H. Fitch, who then proceeded to light those of the choir and congregation.

When all the candles were ablaze the lights of the church were switched off, the lofty nave being illumined only by the tiny flames of the tapers.

At the conclusion of the service the choir filed slowly from the church, followed by the congregation, each bearing his lighted candle as far toward his home as possible.

The vested choir of the church, under the direction of Organist and Choirmaster Fred Cronhimer, sang the anthem, "Arise, Shine, for Thy Light Is Come," by Elvey and Dubois. "Noel," Members of St. Mary's Girls' Choir assisted at the service.

Rev. Mr. Hemmings took as his subject, "God Is Light" and after contrasting light and darkness, pointed out how darkness becomes light as one becomes aware of his physical surroundings. It is possible, he stated, to walk fearlessly while blindfolded if we know our path. What we need, he said, is a pathfinder; and Christ, who has traveled all paths, is a good companion in the light and a pathfinder in the dark.

MRS. CORNELIA McA. HOUGHTON

Mrs. Cornelia McA. Houghton, wife of Dr. Henry L. Houghton of Winchester and Boston, passed away last Sunday evening at her home on Arlington street after a long illness.

Mrs. Houghton was 68 years old and a native of Madison, Wis., the daughter of John H. and Harriet (Poole) McAvoy. She was educated in Chicago and was married to Doctor Houghton, Feb. 7, 1897.

Following her marriage she came to Winchester and had since made her home here, spending the winters, however in Boston at 176 Commonwealth avenue where Doctor Houghton has offices for the practice of medicine.

Mrs. Houghton was very active in parish affairs of the Church of the Epiphany and also took an active interest in the church work of St. Paul's Cathedral in Boston. She was a member of the Women's Fortnightly Club.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Miss Harriet Houghton of Winchester and Boston, and a son, Henry L. Houghton, Jr. of New York City.

Always interested in hospitalization, Mrs. Houghton was a member of the board establishing the first Winchester Hospital and was prominent in the organization of the local Visiting Nurse Association. She was one of the founders of the Winton Club, the first meeting of which was held in her home, then on Pine street.

Private funeral services were conducted at the late residence Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Donald Aldrich of New York City, formerly of St. Paul's Cathedral. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Dean Sturgis of St. Paul's Cathedral.

MRS. JOSEPH C. KENNEDY

Mrs. Alice Leonora Kennedy, wife of Mr. Joseph C. Kennedy died at her home at Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue on Tuesday morning. She had been in ill health for the past four years following a slight shock.

Mrs. Kennedy was a native of Winchester and attended and graduated from the Winchester schools. Her parents were the late Joseph and Cordelia Shattuck. She married Mr. Kennedy, who is her only surviving relative, 20 years ago. During her life here she was widely known and in her quiet and unobtrusive way fostered many charities and philanthropic undertakings.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Tuesday afternoon Miss Downs opened her home on Arlington street for the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church. The executive board convened at 1:30 p. m. in the library and at 2:30 p. m. the famous hall of the home was filled with members who listened to Mr. Carl B. Wetherell, the principal of Proctor Academy—a Unitarian Opportunity.

Mr. Wetherell was well known to many of the ladies who make the annual, summer pilgrimage to Star Island and everyone especially enjoyed listening to this story in his own famous, humorous vein, illustrated with reminiscences of Star Island. Mr. Wetherell has a rather unusual talent of giving his audience something spiritual and uplifting and uses a running, rippling wit as his vehicle.

Mr. Wetherell described the beautiful location of Proctor among New Hampshire's hills and its threefold capacity where it serves as a public high school for the surrounding towns as a coeducational institution and as a denominational school. Unlike many schools Proctor works first to develop deep character in its pupils, second to obtain sound health; striving thus to obtain scholarship from a combination of sound soul and sound body. Mr. Wetherell has great faith in the sincerity of the youth of this generation and declared that the problem of today is the problem of parents, their elders, not of the youngsters themselves.

He left his audience with a picture of a small school in homelike surroundings with young teachers, sympathetic in understanding with their pupils and trying to teach them "to learn to live and live to learn." And the second time this year one of the speakers paid great tribute to the ability and character of Herbert Miller, Superintendent of the Church School.

Following Mr. Wetherell's talk and the business meeting, tea was served under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Mascon, assisted by Mrs. Damon and Mrs. Frederick Alexander who poured. Everyone was eager to stay and chat and drink in the beautiful home which Miss Downs had made gay with many and varied flowers from Mr. Downs' conservatories.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The first business meeting of the New Year was held at the home of Vice Regent DeCourcy on Thursday evening, Jan. 10. Following the regular business of the meeting a delightful collation was enjoyed during which an impromptu entertainment was interpolated to carry out in most informal manner the significance of starting one again on a new year.

The sick committee reports several of the members as having been ill, but report they are all now well on the road to recovery. Chairman Kane of the Charitable Committee was unable to attend but a most favorable report of Christmas work done by her committee was received by the meeting.

Financial Secretary Dinneen is making plans for a house social and which is to be held at her home on Lincoln street on Thursday evening, Jan. 24. The members and their friends are assured, already of one good time with Sister Dinneen as hostess. That in itself is sufficient assurance, for after all much depends upon the hostess in the making of a successful party. This party will be held for the benefit of our Charitable Committee.

The members gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Mary Murphy for the very successful party held at her home last month, this being the second of such parties for which Mrs. Murphy has been hostess during the past year.

The officers and members of the Winchester branch extend congratulations to Sister Elizabeth McLaughlin on the birth of a daughter.

Last Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock a Ford coupe, owned by Albert O. Smith of 14 Hill street, Woburn, tipped over while on High street not far from Cambridge street. Later in the afternoon Smith called headquarters to report that one of the Town's trucks, while engaged in sanding the road, had run into his machine, badly wrecking it.

Saturday afternoon at 1:20 the Fire Department was called to the residence of Mr. W. H. W. Bicknell on Arlington road, smoke having been smelled in the house. The firemen soon straightened out the trouble.

A large delegation from St. Mary's Parish attended the services in honor of the Holy Name held last Sunday at St. Agnes' Church, Reading. Union services were held throughout the entire Catholic diocese by members of the Holy Name Society which was founded by Cardinal O'Connell.

Many Winchester wrestling enthusiasts were at the ringside in the Boston Garden last Friday evening when "Gus" Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football star, lifted the world's heavyweight championship from the ponderous shoulders of Ed "Strangler" Lewis. Charles A. Lane, E. H. Stone, Robert S. Stone, John Marston and Arthur Kidder were all seated not a great way from the squared circle.

Winchester's recently organized hockey team is having a hard time, attempting to go through with its schedule of games, due to inclement weather. Last Sunday's rain prevented the boys from keeping an engagement at Beverly where they were booked to cross sticks with the United Shoe team. Several former college and prep school players are numbered on the Winchester club's roster, "Ty" Sherman, "Clint" Mason, Gordon Smith "Jim" Black, "Joe" Mathews, Hall Gamage and others.

Thomas F. Flaherty, formerly of this town was one of the 50 Boston police officers to take part in the drill given at the annual ball at Mechanics Building.

The Fire Department answered three calls Wednesday. At 8:48 a. m. the men were called to put out some burning pipe covering in the basement of Waterfield Building and at 11:45 there was a fire caused by an overheated oil stove at the residence of Mr. D. Ostburg at 6 Rangeley ridge, at 12:22 n. m. there was a grass fire on Washington street near the Brver farm.

Members of the Police Department are now sporting new Sam Brown belts which add much to the appearance of the officers on the street. The belts are also strictly utilitarian, making it much easier for the men to draw their revolvers should occasion require.

Among the distinguished guests at the performance of "Emperor Jones" in the parish house of the First Congregational Church Wednesday evening was Harry Burleigh, famous negro composer, who came over from New York to attend the local production.

GEORGE F. LEDUC

Promoted to N. E. Freight Agent of B. & M. Railroad

Announcement was made yesterday by the Boston & Maine Railroad of the promotion of George F. LeDuc of this town from the position of commercial agent at Boston to that of freight agent for New England, a distinct advancement. The announcement was made in connection with several promotions and transfers.

Mr. LeDuc, whose appointment was made public by Assistant Freight Traffic Manager P. J. Mullaney, has been in the service of the B. & M. since 1913 when he entered the employ of the railroad as a stenographer.

He was graduated from the Winchester High School in 1911, having won during his school career an enviable reputation as a baseball and basketball player. He captained the nine in 1911 and was for several seasons widely known in semi-professional baseball ranks as the first baseman of the Winchester Town Team, then managed by his father. During the World War he served for two years over seas with Headquarters Detachment, 2nd Battalion, 14th Engineers, having the rank of Sergeant. He is a prominent member of Winchester Post, American Legion, is married and makes his home at 1 Eaton court.

DISTRICT COUNCIL MEETING OF ROYAL ARCANUM

Aberjona Council, Royal Arcanum, was host to Arcanum Lodges throughout this district at a union meeting held last evening in Association Hall on Vine street. There was a good attendance despite the weather.

Regent James H. Shaw of Aberjona Council presided and George W. Tilley, past district deputy of Rhode Island, introduced the speakers.

Those who responded to toasts were William C. "Bill" Wood, Grand Regent of the Royal Arcanum in Massachusetts; Dr. Seth Arnold, a member of the State supreme representatives; Grand Orator J. W. Goode and Supreme Deputy Lyson Gordon. An entertainment and refreshments followed the business meeting.

SKATING ON WINTER POND

The Park Department on Wednesday began the work of scraping and removing the snow from Winter Pond with the idea of having a Town skating rink at that place instead of at Palmer street as heretofore. There are several advantages to the new location over Palmer street and the fact that both sections of the Pond, which is divided by Woodside road, are owned by the State made it easy for the Park Board to obtain the necessary authority. It is planned to have a hockey rink on one side of the road and general skating on the other. Naturally yesterday's snow and rain put rather a check upon the plan's progress.

Mr. George E. Pratt is reported as seriously ill at his home on Wildwood street.

MUSIC GARDEN

Mr. Elford Caughey, Harpist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra was Guest Artist of Music Garden

The regular monthly meeting of the Music Garden was held last Monday evening, Jan. 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lochman. A large gathering of members and friends enjoyed to the utmost the unusual combinations and all appreciated the artistic work of the young harpist who was most generous with his talents.

After the program which especially featured American composers, Mr. Caughey favored the gathering with a half hour of harp solos, including the famous "Introduction and Allegro" by Ravel with Mrs. Lochman playing the orchestra part on the piano. His delightful touch brought out the beauties of tone of the instrument in most intricate and delicate passages, and the very pleasant evening will long be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

STOPPED RUNAWAY TEAM ON CHURCH STREET

Joseph Callahan of 743 Main street has been the recipient of many congratulations for the courage and judgment he displayed Wednesday evening while stopping a pair of runaway horses attached to a sleigh, the property of the Fresh Pond Ice Company of Cambridge and proceeding west on Church street.

Mr. Callahan was driving home in his automobile when he saw the team approaching. An attempt to stop the horses with the auto failed and turning his car the Winchester man started in pursuit. Overtaking and passing the flying horses, Mr. Callahan waited and as the team passed he leaped upon the rear of the sleigh.

After being dragged some little distance he succeeded in reaching a point on the sleigh where he could grasp the reins and halt the horses. A check-up disclosed the fact that the team had been hired by a sleighing party which had stopped at "The Fireside" on Church street. While left alone the horses had bolted and had covered nearly a mile before they were halted by Mr. Callahan. There was no damage done and fortunately no one was injured as a result of the incident.

JOHN A. MADDOCKS

Appointed District Sales Manager of Gulf Refining Company

John A. Maddocks, of Woodside road, has been appointed district sales manager of the Boston territory of the Gulf Refining Company to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Frederick N. Eisenman, who is to travel through foreign lands.

The retirement of one and the advancement of the other brings to a close a pleasant business relationship of two men who have worked shoulder to shoulder for almost a score of years, but will in no wise interfere with an everlasting personal friendship. They have seen and been instrumental in broadening the scope of Gulf from a comparatively small organization until it now enjoys complete distribution of its products from Maine to Texas through hundreds of "drive in" service stations and an enormous fleet of tank trucks operating from Gulf distributing stations in all the larger cities.

The so-called "Boston District" now embraces New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and a portion of Connecticut. Goods are received from the refinery at Port Arthur by its own fleet of tank steamers, these goods including Gulf Noxon, Good Gulf gasoline, Supreme motor oil, fuel and furnace oils for domestic purposes.

John A. Maddocks is a native of Boothbay Harbor, Me. Upon completing his education at Tufts College he entered the banking business in his native city. He came to Boston about 1907 as manager of the New England Oil Company, which at that time distributed Gulf products. In 1910 at the solicitation of F. N. Eisenman he enlisted under the Gulf banner as Mr. Eisenman's assistant, since which time the two have been inseparable.

When asked about what his plans were Mr. Maddocks said "to continue the good work of my predecessor."

Mr. Maddocks has always been interested in general business and is widely known and universally esteemed in Winchester. He has served the town as school committeeman and has been president of the Calumet Club, director of the Winchester Country Club, and active in all social and business affairs.

SCHOOL OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Mrs. D. C. Dennett, Mrs. Howard Wright, Mrs. L. E. Walters, Mrs. A. Beatrice Thompson and Mrs. J. W. Moran are among those who will attend the Eighth Annual School of Foreign Affairs of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters which will be held at the Commander Hotel, Cambridge, Jan. 22 to 24.

Among the speakers will be Prof. Arthur Holcombe of Harvard, Prof. James P. Baxter of Harvard, Prof. George B. Roebach of Harvard, Prof. William Hume, formerly of Yenching University, China; Dr. Stephen Czako of Hungary, Stephen P. Lades of Greece, Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, Prof. Gaetano Salvemini, Dr. Vera Michels, and Dorothy Thompson (Mrs. Sinclair Lewis), the distinguished European correspondent of many American newspapers.

Other Americans to speak will be Prof. Charles Hodges of New York University, Ernest H. Gruening, editor of the Portland Evening News, and Raymond T. Rich of the World Peace Foundation. The school is open to all who register for the full course of three days and admissions may be obtained for single sessions.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

All roads lead to what promises to be the first "red letter day" of 1929 when on Jan. 24, Mrs. Frank Dineen will preside as hostess for the members and their friends. Tables will be arranged to accommodate both whist and bridge lovers and suitable favors will be awarded. While this affair is predicted to be a huge success socially, it goes without much saying that Mrs. Frank Dineen's leadership insures success financially.

The proceeds will be used by the charitable committee.

Congratulations are extended to Sister Mary Fenton on the birth of a son, born last week at her home on Cross street.

CALUMET NOTES

The athletic event last Friday night was billed as "A great athletic exhibition" and it certainly lived up to the sponsors' prediction. Harry Stevens and James Murray were in charge and much credit is due these gentlemen for giving Calumet such a splendid affair. There were seven bouts ranging from the Spider class to the heavyweights. The sparring was fast and first class. The 13-year-old spiders were extremely fast and the way they got at each other brought smiles and applause from the audience. They were brothers and we presume that is one reason why they could "scrap" so well. If these youngsters keep at it, we predict another Tunney or a Dempsey may be added to the Boston Garden list. The two brothers from Woburn were in fine shape. They gave a lively sparring exhibition. The wrestling bout between the Jewish champion Meyers and young Hercules was an evening's entertainment in itself. Although neither got a fall the contest was close and at times it looked as if either might win the contest. Meyers was in an exhibition preliminary to the recent Sonnenberg-Lewis match at the Garden and had there given a good account of himself. Hercules lived up to his name in that he was a tower of strength. A large crowd was present—probably the largest of the year. The Star correspondent counted over 60 automobiles outside of the club house.

Tonight there will be the regular monthly bowling for both ladies and gentlemen. The mixed tournaments start very soon and the bowling committee anticipate a large crowd. There will be a fine chance to get in some practise before the tournament starts.

Tomorrow night there will be open house, with cards, bowling, billiards, pool, ping pong, etc. Regular Saturday night lunch.

On Tuesday, Jan. 22, the regular monthly afternoon bridge for ladies will take place with Mrs. Forrest L. Pitman as hostess. Members are privileged to bring guests.

An illustrated lecture of the Great Northwest by Arthur H. Merritt which was scheduled for Friday, Jan. 25, has been postponed, owing to conflicting with another social affair in the town. Fortunately, Calumet was able to get another night from Mr. Merritt and he will come out on Friday, Feb. 1. He was with us last year and those who were there will remember the beautiful colored pictures which he showed. He has succeeded, at great perit to himself, in obtaining some really wonderful pictures of the Great Northwest. They are all new and have never been shown hereabouts. Calumet cannot too strongly recommend Mr. Merritt, both as a lecturer and a producer of fine pictures, and members will do well to check up on their calendar for Feb. 1.

Enthusiasm runs higher every week as the Men's Bowling Tournament draws to a close. Those teams who have no chance for the prizes are endeavoring to get above the bread line, so there is no likelihood of any team showing any mercy to another. Teams 4, 2, 7 and 14 are closely bunched in Section A. Straight wins for any of these four might place them at the top. In Section B Teams 27, 19, 18, 21 and 23 are running close together. Hall Gamage still leads with high single of 147 and Earl Goldsmith with three-string total of 369.

The mixed bowling tournament will start on Monday evening, Jan. 21 when teams 1 and 2, 3 and 4 and 5 and 6, will start the ball rolling. Team 2 composed of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Aseltine, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Little, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Boothby and Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Baisley is on scratch and will have to hustle to beat out some of the other teams. This year there are 12 teams composed of eight members each. The schedule ends on Monday, April 22. Prizes will be given to: first, team having largest number of points; 2nd, team having second largest number of points; 3rd, team having third largest number of points; 4th, lady having highest flat average; 5th, lady having highest average with handicap as determined by re-rating; 6th, lady having highest single string; 7th, lady having highest two strings; 8th, lady having highest single string with handicap as determined by re-rating; 9th, lady having highest two strings with handicap as determined by re-rating.

PATRICK NOONAN

Patrick Noonan, a former Selectman of Winchester and vice president of the Eastern Felt Company of this town, passed away last Saturday evening at his home, 40 Sagamore avenue, West Medford, after a brief illness. He was 73 years old.

Mr. Noonan was born and educated in Winchester where he enjoyed a wide circle of acquaintances and friends, having made the town his home for nearly 70 years. He moved to West Medford about three years ago.

He was a veteran felt manufacturer having entered the employ of the Bacon Felt Company as a young man and later being one of the organizers of the Eastern Felt Company with a plant on Canal street, a business which has been highly successful since its inception.

Mr. Noonan took an active interest in the civic life of Winchester and served the town as Selectman during the trying days of 1917-1918. He was a member of Woburn Lodge of Elks and was formerly active in the old St. Mary's Benevolent Society. Flags on the Common and public buildings were flown at half-staff, following his death until after the funeral on Tuesday.

Surviving are his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Conlon and Mrs. John F. O'Brien, both of Winchester and Mrs. Ralph F. Bullard of West Medford; two sons, P. Roger of Woburn and Lawrence C. Noonan of Medford; and two brothers, James H. and Timothy Noonan, both of Winchester. Another son, William J. Noonan, was killed while serving with the United States Marine Corps in France during the World War. The new William J. Noonan School on Hemingway street is named in his honor.

MISS AVERY REVIEWS THE YEAR 1928

In her lecture of Jan. 15, Miss Avery gave a brief resume of the outstanding events of 1928, and then spoke briefly on Austria and Russia.

The three biggest accomplishments of 1928 were she said, first, the peaceful settlement between Bolivia and Paraguay, second, the arbitration and conciliation treaty signed at Washington by 20 countries of this hemisphere and third, the Anglo-French accord. More and more today we see combinations formed, not for battle but for agreement. 1928 is the 25th anniversary of the time when the first heavier than air machine really stayed in the air when the Wrights launched their plane at Kittyhawk. 1928 also is the first year to send pictures by wire and to connect 27 nations by telephone. In fact the scientific development has been most remarkable.

Speaking of Austria, Miss Avery said that before the war it had a population of 54,000,000, now it has only 6,000,000. When Austria completes her hydro-electric system she will be second only to Switzerland. Austria has desperate need of telephones, telegraphs and railroads, and this is why she greatly needs more money. If she gets the $100,000,000 loan that she is after now she will doubtless survive.

Russia, Miss Avery reminded us, has now started her 11th year as a communist experiment. She is not recognized at Washington because it is still necessary to be cautious in dealing with her and if she were recognized we would not be so cautious. Russia is endeavoring to socialize all her productions. The Russian is creative, artistic and religious and dearly loves figures. Politically he is indifferent. The standard of living in Russia today is virtually what it was 50 years ago under the Czars. The thing Russia needs most of all is capital, for without that she cannot build railroads or schools or factories. Eighty-five per cent of the country is agricultural, but little can be accomplished in this direction while capital, materials and experts to handle them are lacking.

The government today has managed to supplant individual production by social production and must kill all individual effort to secure its ends. The party is the supreme thing, superior to the government. Today Russia has reached the crisis in her career, and if she can keep her peasants in line she will come through.

In her lecture of Jan. 29, Miss Avery will speak on Czecho-Slovakia.

At the high school Thursday afternoon, Jefferson deAngellis, Hubert Courtney and "Chris" Courtney spoke before the members of the Press Club and Dramatic Society on the experience on the stage. All three men are in "The Royal Family" a play now in Boston.

The operator of the machine, Russell A. Limback of 14 Park avenue, told the police that he was driving his Buick coach south on Washington street and was at the junction of Hancock street when the machine skidded on the car tracks and swerved across the street, striking the children who were walking on the sidewalk with Jennie Ingraciola, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Ingraciola of Irving street. The Ingraciola child was uninjured.

WINCHESTER WON FROM STONEHAMLocals Take Second League Game by 29-14 Score

Winchester High School won its second Middlesex League basketball game last Friday evening at Stoneham, defeating Stoneham High, 29-14, in an interesting encounter.

Coach Mansfield's charges rather outclassed their opponents and the ultimate winner of the game was never in doubt after the first few moments of play.

Winchester's passing and floor work were too much for the boys from the hockey town and the locals amassed a commanding lead during the first half which enabled them to coast in easy winners.

As usual "Livin" McNeil and "Skinny" Kendrick were the offensive stars for Winchester, each accounting for 11 points. Kendrick went particularly well during the first half, scoring three pretty floor baskets. "Livin" gave way to "Hoot" Gibson after sinking a single basket in the opening period and the sorrell-thatched substitute also chucked a floor goal before leaving the court at half time. "Pete" Coss accounted for Winchester's other first-half basket and the remainder of the locals' total was rolled up on foul shots by McNeil, "Nutsy" Amico, Coss and "Rog" Derby.

Stoneham found it particularly hard to get going. O'Laughlin and Marston getting its only baskets and the latter adding the extra point scored during the first half from a free try.

The half ended 16-5, but after intermission the Stoneham boys braced and gave Winchester a much harder battle. Adzagian, Marston and Theroux all getting floor goals with Marston and Johnson throwing three baskets between them from free tries.

Winchester maintained a winning edge on five baskets, three by McNeil and two by Kendrick, with three foul goals tossed by the same players. The game was rather rough in spots but on the whole was very cleanly played.

The game between the second teams between the halves was a thriller with the Stoneham scrubs finally pulling out on the long end of a 10-9 score. The Winchester seconds led at the half, 7-6, and maintained their lead throughout much of the second period. Toward the end of the game the Stoneham Jay-Vees pulled up onto even terms and scored their winning points just before the final whistle.

THE JITNEY PLAYERS

The Jitney Players promise to have a large audience at the Town Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 8, when Sheridan's comedy with music is being presented under the auspices of the Girl Scout Council.

Who are the Jitney Players? An interesting group of professional actors, starting out on their first winter tour, with two most unusual and entertaining plays. For six summers, Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell Cheney have made their Jitney Players familiar along the coast of New England, playing before clubs and at summer resorts. They are now ready to try the experiment of giving to New England and later on to other states, plays that are unusual.

Perhaps the dramatic critic of the Bangor (Me.) Commercial has best answered the question as to who and what the Jitney Players are when he says: "Seldom, indeed, have we seen enthusiasm leaping to such white heat. The Jitney Players have ability and experience and something all ordinary companies lack—the buoyancy of youth. They brought to the plays a sheer enthusiasm, a grace, a charm, a youthful glow. The audience applauded and cheered, which a Bangor audience does once in ten years."

Mrs. Clifton Hall is chairman of the Girl Scout Council, which is sponsoring the visit of the Professional Art Theatre group.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday the management will offer among the five vaudeville acts, Hardeen, brother of the famous Houdini who will present a number of sensational mysteries which are sure to thrill and delight the audience. Many of the creations comprising the act were willed to Hardeen by his brother. During the week Hardeen will accept any challenge that may be presented to him. For many years he has been performing "escape" feats on the stage. The pictures too will be of rare interest. Richard Barthelmess will appear in "Scarlet Seas" a story of mutiny and reckless living. Others in the cast include, Betty Compson and Loretta Young. Another offering will be, "Shadows of the Night" with Lawrence Gray, Louise Lorraine, Polly Moran and "Flash" the clever canine. It deals with crooks and the tricks they use to escape. Other features too will find favor. Bargain night comes Friday with the bill comprising extra acts. Concert Sunday at 3.

The Fire Department was called at 10:13 Saturday morning to the home of Mr. F. B. Kelley at 31 Dix street where an attempt to heat some floor wax resulted in an explosion. There was no damage.

The Music Committee is arranging for a series of organ recitals to be given on Wednesday afternoons during Lent. These will start at 5 o'clock and will last one hour. Admission, of course, is free. In as much as these recitals are planned for the late afternoon it is hoped that business men, coming out from Boston, will drop in for whatever time they can spare before going to their homes.

Mr. Roland Partridge is the new tenor in the church quartet. He is a graduate of Clark University and has done post-graduate work at Harvard and at the University of Madrid. Musically, he has received his education in Boston. Mr. Partridge was tenor soloist last year when the Handel and Hayden Society rendered Brahms' "Requiem." Last summer he was soloist with the New York Philharmonic Society under the direction of Albert Stoessel. Mr. Partridge is connected with the Department of Sociology at New Hampshire State College.

An average of 20.6 eggs per bird during the month of December is the record of the flock of six birds owned by Richard Elliott of this town. Richard is ninth on the list of Middlesex County 4-H poultry club members whose hens had a good production record last month.

The Board of Selectmen, after some deliberation, voted not to grant the petition to erect a gasoline filling station at the corner of Washington and Forest streets. There was considerable opposition to the project voiced by residents of that district.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The next regular meeting of the club will be held in Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening, Jan. 23 at 8 o'clock promptly. On account of special business at this time, members are urged to be present on time.

Plans for the next social event, Feb. 27 will be submitted by the vice president, Caroline L. Cokley, chairman of entertainment. A dramatic production is under consideration, with a well-known local director, instead of the annual minstrel show scheduled for this date. Further particulars will be announced in the local paper, the Winchester Star, at an early date.

The supreme president of the Emblem Club, U. S. A., Mrs. Lawrence K. Kelley and supreme secretary Mrs. Bernard S. McHugh are expected to be present at this session. Plans for affiliating with the National Order will be under discussion and all members should be interested enough to attend. Officers from Lawrence and Malden have been invited. An exhibition by the club drill team will be a feature of the social hour, with the added attraction of entertainment by several of the club soloists. Refreshments will be served as usual.

The penny sale social last week was quite a financial success, leaving most of the "good spenders" minus small change but plus experience in getting rid of superfluous coppers. It's not a hard job at all—once we get used to it. Some got a prize, some got two, and some got nothing.

But a bright note was struck in the bang-up luncheon that followed the sale, chop suey, toasted noodles and other good things. Certainly that chop suey was something special for it was concocted by that good cook Sister Gertrude Horn of Russell road. Unfortunately she was unable to attend the meeting and the club at this time extends deepest sympathy to her over the loss of her mother.

The "flu" played the deuce with the bowling attendance last week, as many of the sisters were on the sick-a-bed list. Nevertheless, Sister Lilla Green is quite optimistic and "knows we'll come out all right." And we are not going to fail her, for she is one good scout. Furthermore, we are getting intriqued with the game and would rather bowl than eat.

The next date at the Winchester alleys is Thursday night, Jan. 24. Those wishing to make up scores may get there early enough to do so, or consult Mrs. Green, the director for a date.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The deepest sympathy of the Court is extended to Sisters Mary J. Noonan, Frances T. Conlon, Josephine O'Brien and Elizabeth Bullard on the loss of a devoted husband and father. Their loss is ours, also. The Court will miss a faithful friend.

Almost half the Court members attended the anniversary mass which was sung at St. Mary's Church, Boston, yesterday, by Rev. William Tivnan, S. J., in memory of our late beloved Grand Regent, Alice L. Martin and her son Louis. Rev. Henry J. Martin, S. J., was on the altar.

159 MEN PRESENT

Last Sunday morning at 9:30 the Winchester Town Hall was host to 159 men of the Everyman's Bible Class when the Blues under Capt. H. W. Moulton made big gains on the Reds under Capt. J. C. Casler. The class has now smashed through its second objective of 150 men in attendance and the final drive is launched for 200 men.

President J. W. Gates announces as the special topic Sunday morning "Diamonds" to be treated in a brief address by Gustave A. Felber, Secretary of the Wholesale Jewelry firm of A. Paul & Co. Mr. Felber is one of the best known traveling men of New England having been 42 years on the road and one of the most popular members of the Everyman's Bible Class. Harry Sanborn will continue his series of snappy talks on the Bible and the modern man.

The big banquet is booked for Friday evening, Feb. 8. Captain French of the Harvard football team is down as a special speaker at an early Sunday and the Men's Orchestra is being organized under the direction of Charles Corey.

Mrs. Alfred D. Radley of this town president of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, was one of the especially invited guests at the luncheon tendered the prominent district workers throughout the State by the Massachusetts Republican State Committee Women at the Hotel Statler, Boston, on Tuesday.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

One can hardly measure their enjoyment by the amount of money spent in producing it.
It is staying ahead rather than getting ahead that counts.
The happiness of your life depends on the character of your thoughts.

Any man who thinks he knows it all has merely stopped thinking.

If a man spends today what he earns tomorrow he is sowing seeds of sorrow.

Every man must make up his own mind whether he is to lead or linger.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

The fact that there is an epidemic of severe colds in this vicinity doubtless accounts for several absences of members from our meeting of last Thursday. The absentees were doubly unfortunate in that they missed one of the most inspiring addresses, from a local standpoint, ever delivered before our club. The general attendance, however, was large as we were favored by the presence of many visiting Rotarians, besides various town officials and citizens of prominence.

The address to which we have referred was given by Mr. Lewis Parkhurst. His subject was "The Waterways of Winchester." Few indeed, of our townspeople are without knowledge of Mr. Parkhurst. Particularly is he known for his devotion to all that makes for the welfare and progress of our town. For the past 50 years he has been closely identified with practically all of our civic interests, and is unquestionably one of the best informed of our citizens on town affairs. In addition he is an unusually forceful and convincing speaker.
Accordingly those who listened to him on Thursday came away with the feeling that their knowledge of town affairs had been expanded. Mr. Parkhurst began his address by paying his compliments to that notable group of men who were prominent in municipal activities when he first came to Winchester. These men wrought marvels in bringing to our town its present efficient system of government and in unfolding the beauties and utilities which a bountiful Nature has bestowed upon us.

Yet we feel that one of the very best results of their labors was the fact that they inspired Mr. Parkhurst and other of his generation to carry on the work. Mr. Parkhurst and his confes will in due season pass the mantle to the coming generation. It is our hearty wish for Winchesterites of the future that they may find leaders as efficient and as deeply interested in their town as their predecessors.

As is well known Mr. Kellaway, landscape engineer, has worked out a comprehensive plan for the improvement of the waterway which courses through our town. The remarkable part of this project is the comparatively small expense with which it can be carried out. Already the town controls the river-banks for the major part of the way through the thickly settled districts. The assured co-operation of property owners will make it comparatively easy for the town to acquire the remaining land needed, at a very reasonable cost provided the project is not allowed to languish. It but remains for our voters to give their sanction,
and the upper section of our valley will shortly be as noted for its beauty as is the lower section. For instance, there will be three ponds in this district, which not only will adorn the landscape, but also will serve as storage reservoirs in time of flood.

There is also a note of warning to certain of our citizens. Those charged with investigating the causes of the pollution of our stream found that large quantities of refuse have been thrown into the waters by those occupying the property along the margin. Obviously this practice must cease if the water is to be kept in a clean and wholesome condition. Doubt less the town will take steps to protect its interests as soon as the development gets underway.

It would have been highly desirable
if all of our townsmen could have heard Mr. Parkhurst's address. We who were so fortunate as to listen extend our hearty thanks to the speaker. He has redoubled our interest in one of the most important undertakings which the town has sponsored in many years.

And finally to our own members—it does not pay to stay away from our regular club meetings.

BASKETBALL AT WAKEFIELD

Winchester High School, smarting under its unexpected reverse at the hands of Stoneham will try to get back into a winning stride tonight when Coach Mansfield's charges will meet Wakefield at Wakefield. This will be a Middlesex League engagement and will mark the last appearance of "Livin' McNeil, star all around athlete, in a Winchester uniform. McNeil will be over the age limit following the Wakefield game and his loss will be a severe one to both the basketball and baseball teams.

STONEHAM DEFEATED WINCHESTER BY SINGLE POINT

Winchester High School fell from the undefeated class in the Middlesex Basketball League Wednesday afternoon in the local gymnasium, losing to a fighting team from Stoneham High by the hair-line score of 16 to 15. Coach Mansfield's boys were unable to hold an 8 point advantage which was theirs at the close of the third quarter and lost the game primarily because they held Stoneham a bit too cheaply.

The visitors hustled every minute and deserve plenty of credit for their game uphill fight. Winchester should have won with something to spare and would rather easily have done so, had the boys taken advantage of their free shots during the first half. Two foul goals out of 11 tries is not an average about which to enthrall. Scoring a mere 50 per cent of their free tries would have given the locals the verdict.

Shortly after the opening tap-off
"Nutsy" Amico counted for Winchester on a shot inside the foul line, to be followed by Kent of Stoneham who sank one from under the local hoop.
Adzigian shot from mid-court to give the visitors a two-point edge which was quickly evened up by "Livin' Mc-Neil who scored on a pass from Ken-driek. Amico put Winchester out in front with a couple of foul goals and then added two more points on a basket from close up, taking a pass from Kendrick. McCurdy and Marston dropped in free tries for Stoneham's additional two tallies, making the half end, 8 to 6 for Winchester.

McNeil started the second half with a pretty shot from side court and "Skin" Kendrick followed suit with a basket from under the hoop. McNeil dropped in one from the foul line to give Winchester 5 points before Mc-Curdy added one to the Stoneham total on a shot from a free try.

McNeil quickly scored on a pass from Kendrick and retired in favor of "Hoot" Gibson a few moments before the end of the third quarter, at which time the score stood 15 to 7 in favor of the locals.

Adzigian and Kent of Stoneham closed the gap with a couple of foul baskets and McCurdy sank a floor goal from close up. McNeil was rushed back into the fray with the score 15 to 11 for Winchester and five minutes left to play.

Adzigian tossed a pretty basket from the side to add to the visitors' total and McCurdy sank a foul goal to make the count 15 to 14 with a couple of minutes to go.

The local boys had entirely lost their poise and were playing like anything but experienced performers
when Tilton, Stoneham right guard, dribbled up to midfloor and shot the winning basket.

Between the halves of the main game the Winchester seconds won from the Stoneham scrubs, 22 to 14.

FROM CHINA TO WINCHESTER

C. P. D. Box No. 1234
Shanghai, China
Nov. 16, 1928

Dear Editor:

Here comes another letter from the "bottom side of the world." It may be of interest to the readers of your most excellent paper.

We have recently had one of China's chief holidays. For more than a week I noticed signs of its coming.
Great stacks of "mooncakes" in brightly colored packets were shown in many stores. Beautiful lanterns were seen along the streets. Everything was in such gay style it made one think of a coming Christmas. It was the Chinese Moon-fest and Mid-Autumn Festival. In their feasting it recalled our Thanksgiving Day.

The Chinese 15th of the 8th month is called "Tsoung Tsui"—Middle Autumn. On that day they have theatricals before all the gods in the temple and burn the "Shaung-teo"—incense bushel. This bushel-like measure is made of incense sticks. The largest, "bushels" sometimes measure as much as 20 feet in diameter.
In the middle of the "bushel" is a long, large stick of incense made up of thousands of thin incense sticks
the size of vermicelli. On the afternoon and night of this day each family also burns an incense bushel at home. These are smaller than the ones burned in the temple. On this day they who can so afford eat moon-cakes and all kinds of nice things.
The incense bushel is decorated with flags and many-colored dragon-gates something as children at home put candles on their birthday cakes; but the children in China take the flags and dragon-gate decorations from the bushel before it is burned, and have great delight in playing with these,
marching up and down the streets.

I asked the Chinese why they burn
the incense bushel and eat the moon-cake, and worship the moon with candles, incense and food on this day.
They answered that there are many reasons for it and many stories are told about it. One of the reasons is because there is a lady-god in the moon. Her name is Zaung-noo. She is said to be exceedingly beautiful.
From the beginning of time to the end
there never was nor will be one as beautiful as she. She was once upon a time a woman of this world; but became displeased with her husband and all the world and fled to the moon.
On this 15th the real story of why she fled is acted out in the long theatrical plays attended by throngs of people. In ancient times on the 15th of the 8th month when they burned

The Best Way to Really OWN Your Home

Your ambition regarding a home is to own it outright—free and clear

Our loans for home ownership financing have this goal in view.

We require monthly payments on principal and interest, amounting in most cases to but little more than what the rent would come to on a similar home.

No other plan that we know of is quite so practical, convenient and economical for the borrower.

Milky Way

The most stupendous of all celestial objects is the Galaxy, more commonly known as the Milky Way. In fact it is our whole universe, of which the sun with all its attendant family of planets, including asteroids and satellites, as well as comets, forms a very humble member. Its appearance as a dim white band crossing the heavens is merely a matter of perspective; that band marks simply the plane of greatest extension of the Milky Way—the direction in which the stars, in reality fairly uniformly distributed, appear congested by the effect of distance. Many of these stars are immensely brighter than the sun.

Executive Session Secret

The executive session of the legislative body is one from which the general public is excluded, as pointed out in an answered question in Liberty Magazine.

Danger in Transplanting

Trees, like people, lose adaptability with advancing age, and a comparatively minor change in their environments may be fatal. Entomologists of the Department of Agriculture say that transplanting of most always is a severe test for trees of considerable size and many transplanted trees are attacked by insects. If most of the large trees in a grove are killed, leaving only a border of trees or small groups, the survivors often suffer serious damage and die. This may be the result of a disturbance of moisture conditions and a change from general shade to large areas of sun-baked soil. Borers then may complete the deadly work.

The Sun's Competitor

The Gulf stream is estimated to carry as much heat to northern Europe as the entire Arctic region receives from the sun.—American Magazine.

Imposing Appellation

"Singapore," the name of the capital of the Straits settlements in Malayan, means "lion's town."

Too Late

Cecil's mother made it a rule that if he came to the dinner table late he was not to speak during the meal. The other day, as soon as he entered the room, he began, "I say, mother," but his mother quickly reminded him of the rule. "But, mother—" he persisted. "Not a word," said the stern parent. When dinner was over, his mother asked what he wanted to say. "Oh, I only wanted to say baby was tilling father's socks with condensed milk."

STONEHAM HIGH TO HOLD WINTER CARNIVAL

Winchester Invited to Participate With Other Towns

Stoneham High School is announcing a winter carnival to be held in that town on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 25 and 26, in which it is hoped pupils of the Winchester High School may be interested to participate. The carnival is being held primarily for the purpose of encouraging active interest and participation in winter sports and to give to both girls and boys incentive to become more proficient in these activities by fostering a spirit of friendly rivalry within Stoneham and surrounding communities.

It is planned to have snowshoe, ski and skating contests on Saturday morning, Jan. 26, though the complete program has not as yet been announced. An outstanding event is the interscholastic skating relay, open to all high schools of Massachusetts. Each school entered shall be represented by four boys, each of whom will skate about 100 yards. The winning school team will be presented with a fine silver cup donated by the Stoneham Rotary. The cup shall be kept for one year and will be the permanent possession of the school winning the relay race three times. Contestants must conform to the rules of the Massachusetts Athletic Association.

Boys and girls will be divided into classes according to age and size, that all may have an opportunity in the competition. There will be no entry fee. Five prizes will be given by merchants and citizens of Stoneham to the winners, and all entries should be sent as soon as possible to Coach Howard Gordon at the Stoneham High School.

A public bean supper, prepared and served by pupils under the supervision of the high school domestic science department will be held in the Stoneham gymnasium, and the final event of the carnival will be the carnival ball, to be held Saturday evening at the Armory Hall, Stoneham, and featured by the crowning of the carnival queen.

Any one wanting additional information about entries, etc. should address Coach Gordon or the Carnival Committee at the Stoneham High School.

DEACONESS BOARD MET IN WINCHESTER

The Deaconess Board of the New England Conference—Rev. Hiram William Hook, president and Miss Sadie A. Hagan, secretary—met in the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday evening. Supper was served by the Junior Group of the Ladies' Aid Society at 5:30 p. m. to about 80 deaconesses, students, ministers and friends. Bishop W. F. Anderson was the guest of honor and gave a short address to all assembled.

After the supper and address of the Bishop the Deaconess Board adjourned to the auditorium of the church for an address from the Bishop on Deaconess Work, and a business session.

Upon being informed that the widow of Dr. Ira Chase of Haverhill had left a very fine $50,000 home in that city for a Deaconess Rest Home, the board voted to request the Deaconess Association to accept the gift and to use the home for the purpose designated in the will. It was also voted to request the Association to dispose of another gift of a $10,000 property in Worcester, and with the proceeds establish an endowment fund with which to provide for the maintenance of the Haverhill home.

EDISON MOVIES AT SECOND CONGREGATIONAL PARISH HOUSE

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston presented interesting motion pictures Tuesday evening in the Parish House of the Second Congregational Church under the auspices of the Adult Cornerstone Class. Movies, taking the audience behind the scenes in Radio Station WEEL and showing intimate glimpses of "Big Brother" Bob Emery, Mr. Rideout, "Mr. and Mrs. Skit," reporters and singers busy before the microphone, were much enjoyed while the explanatory lecture delivered by an Edison representative proved highly instructive. All who were present were greatly pleased and the Cornerstone Class was warmly commended for its efforts in providing the entertainment.

A real old fashioned oyster supper is being planned by the church for the evening of Friday, Feb. 8, and there is also to be a drive to secure new church hymnals for use on Easter Sunday.

EPIPHANY CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE NOTES

There is a necessary postponement of the general luncheon meeting with a speaker which has been announced for January 20. This will occur in February, and members are urged to co-operate with those who carry on the work meetings every Tuesday and also to do all they can to make the parish meeting and supper on Jan. 20 a real success.

This is the annual opportunity for all the members to gather as one family, and since the parish meeting is this year to be combined with the supper, it will be an unusual chance for each one to participate in what is of vital interest to new-comers as well as members of long standing.

The Young People's Inter-Church Federation met Sunday afternoon at the Unitarian Church. Mr. Symmes Rutledge of Dedham was the speaker, his subject being "Black Diamonds." Mrs. Henry Ordway and Miss Elizabeth Ordway sailed for California Thursday on the President Garfield. They will go through the Panama Canal and return via Canadian Rockies in April. They are visiting Dr. Scudder in Claremont.

PATRICK NOONAN

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence in West Medford, followed by a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Raphael's Church in that city.

Rev. Fr. Francis X. Nevill of St. Raphael's was celebrant, Rev. St. Norbert H. McInnis of St. Francis of Assisi Church of North Medford, deacon; and Rev. Fr. James F. Lynch of St. Raphael's Church, sub-deacon. Rev. Fr. Francis E. Rogers, pastor of St. Theresa's Church, Watertown and formerly of St. Mary's in Winchester, was seated in the sanctuary.

Music for the mass was sung by a choir, of which William J. Reilly and Mrs. Mary Murphy were the soloists, with Mrs. William J. Reilly, as organist, William J. Reilly sang Leybach's "Pie Jesu" at the offertory. The hymn, "De Profundis," was played by the organist as the body was being escorted from the church.

The honorary bearers included a delegation of Woburn and Winchester Lodge of Elks, headed by Maj. William W. Wade of Woburn Lodge and Selectman and Exalted Ruler Thomas F. Fallon of Winchester Lodge. The active bearers included Lieut. John A. Harrold of the Winchester Police Department; Joseph Denis and Arthur Conlon, Daniel J. Murphy, a partner in business, all of Winchester and Travers Hackett of Medford.

A delegation of Winchester past and present town officials was headed by three of the five members of the Board of Selectmen of 1917-1918, including Ex-Selectmen Jonas A. Laraway, Sewall E. Newman and H. L. Cox. Ex-Selectman James J. Fitzgerald, Past Exalted Ruler Fred H. Scholl of Winchester Lodge of Elks and past President Michael E. O'Leary of St. Mary's Benevolent Society were present as representatives of the local organizations in which Mr. Noonan was active for many years.

A delegation of men and women of the Democratic Town Committee of Winchester, headed by Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, with employees of the Eastern Felt Company, was also present at the services. There were numerous floral tributes.

The interment took place in Oak Grove Cemetery, West Medford where the committal prayers were said by Rev. Fr. James F. Lynch, assisted by Rev. Fr. Francis E. Rogers.

A Tribute

It was with considerable shock that the many friends of Mr. Patrick J. Noonan learned of his death on Saturday evening last. And as the feeling of shock subsided we were increasingly conscious of a deep sense of loss—a friend had gone from us—one to whose presence we had become so accustomed that it doesn't seem possible that he will never again be a part of our gatherings, adding to the general merriment with his never ending fund of happy reminiscences. Patrick Noonan was one of Winchester's distinctive characters. Born in Winchester over 73 years ago, and always possessed of a lively interest in the town and its affairs he lived to see many of his predictions materialize.

A part of everything civic or political in his district—the northern part of the town—he never-the-less kept himself free from the machinations and double dealing that are so often a part of things political. If the thing wasn't clean and of a high standard, he would have no part in it. But if it promised to bring good to those he called his own people you could count absolutely on "Pat" Noonan, not only on his cheerful, hearty moral support but his financial help as well. No more generous giver to a worthy cause could be found in Winchester. And it is as one of Winchester's own we will remember him, although we reluctantly loaned him to Medford for a little while.

Perhaps the happiest day in Mr. Noonan's public life was that glorious one on which with bands playing and flags waving we dedicated the William J. Noonan School.

This school was named by the Town in honor of Mr. Noonan's soldier son, a hero of the World War. This circumstance helped considerably to assuage the loss of the young son whose early death had well-nigh broken his father's heart.

In this school which has a two-fold reason for tossing its flag to the breeze, Mr. Noonan maintained a deep and practical interest—no gathering was too small or insignificant to appeal to him. His presence there will long linger with us.

Mr. Noonan's outstanding characteristic was his love for children, although he loved grown-ups almost as well. His own little grandchildren he adored with a love that would surround them with every care possible words are futile to express our feeling of sympathy for them. May they always cherish his memory and grow to emulate his example in character and clean living.

In these days of false values there is something fine in the life of a man who struggled upward from the ranks and who, when his measure of prosperity came, remained sweetly unspoiled and found in aiding his church and her missions his greatest happiness.

Bon voyage, great and simple soul! May your example inspire in us a desire to follow that advice you so often gave us, "Do what is fair and just and everything will be all right." James Whitcomb Riley's quotation has always seemed to apply to him: "I pray not that men tremble at My power of place And lordly sway— I only pray for simple grace To look my neighbor in the face Full honestly from day to day."

No higher standard than this can be set for any citizen. To have gained such "simple grace" and earned its accompanying respect and love is to have done God's noblest work.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

We know a certain fellow here in Winchester who is so lucky that when an umbrella is stolen from him he gets a chance to steal a better one.

"When Mrs. Snake wants a new frock she does not tease her hubby for the cash to buy one," declares a friend of our. "She crawls out of the old one, and there she is." Huh! Any woman here in Winchester could do the same thing.

If a Winchesterite does not want to miss a lot of things in this world it is imperative to take care of the eyes.

the Star. That is probably the reason he finds business so poor with him.

We know a certain fellow here in Winchester who is real cross with his family at breakfast, so as to strike a fair average on how amiable he was with his friends at supper the night before.

Where is the venerable townsman with his story of what kind of winters they had when he was a boy?

The outlook for our Winchester schools in 1929 is brighter than ever, and with all good citizens interested and ready to push forward even greater results should be secured. Winchester is proud of her public schools, and proposes to have them ranked with the best of New England all-ways.

A public-spirited Winchester man who has absolutely no use for billboards doubts billboards really have much effect. Of course every time we see one we resolve never to buy what it advertises, but we very promptly forget the name, so that it has no effect.

Some men here in Winchester are regarded as strangely silent because they speak only when they have something to say.

really ought to be ashamed to ask even the lowest of cut prices for themselves.

On a blackboard in a Winchester schoolroom this question was chalked: "What is a coward?" A lot of folks will define a coward as a person who isn't clever enough to conceal his fear.

Winchester is just as good a town as anywhere one will hit: There's naught on earth can keep it down If we keep boosting it. Let's trade at home, let's let a yell By local pride produced: There is one thing all can do as well— And that is, Boost, brothers, boost!

The Winchesterite who easily thinks that he has done his best rarely does it.

As further evidence of the cruelty of women, a policeman in a community not afar from Winchester, complains that his wife has not kissed him for 11 years.

And now a Winchester man tells us he favors a law that would force women to have rubber heels placed on their shoes. Well, there would not be much of any expense involved for the reason that such heels are about as large as a dime. There is also the factor of less noise in the early mornings while breakfast was being prepared.

Some men here in Winchester find the hardest job in the world is that of loafing.

Sitting on a dry goods' box and watching Winchester grow is poor policy.

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

-a Six in the price range of the four!

represents 4 years of Development and over a Million miles of Testing

Years ago, the Chevrolet Motor Company designed and built its first experimental six-cylinder motor. This far-sighted step was taken because Chevrolet engineers knew that the six-cylinder motor is inherently the most perfectly balanced motor—the ideal power plant to meet the growing public demand for greater reserve power, faster get-away and, above all—smooth, quiet performance.

During the last four years, over a hundred six-cylinder motors were built by Chevrolet engineers and tested on the General Motors Proving Ground.

Day and night, through winter's cold and summer's heat, the incessant testing went on—until the present motor was developed and finally pronounced correct.

At the same time other Chevrolet engineers were perfecting other parts of the chassis. And another great automotive organization—the Fisher Body Corporation—was devoting its gigantic resources to the creation of the finest, sturdiest and most beautiful bodies ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

As a result, the Outstanding Chevrolet offers an order of well-balanced excellence—a combination of performance, comfort, beauty and handling ease that is truly remarkable—with a fuel-economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

You owe it to yourself to see and inspect this remarkable car. Come in today!

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

On Monday afternoon, Jan. 14, Fortnightly members were entertained in delightful manner by Mrs. Adele Hoes Lee, a member of the faculty of the Leland Powers School, who read "Captain Drew on Leave" by Hubert Henry Davies. The audience felt at once the charm of her personality and were soon aware of her artistic ability. All through the play her characters were as clean cut and skillfully differentiated as individual actors could possibly have made them. Her listeners quickly caught the touches of humor and thrilled at the emotional crises. The play offers excellent opportunity for Mrs. Lee's versatility.

The first scene is the Moxon's drawing room in their substantial country house near London. Ernest White has brought his friend, Captain Drew, to call. Conversation between the two men reveals that Captain Drew, on leave back in England, is eager for feminine companionship. There are no daughters in this home, but an attractive heiress, Isolda Mills, is staying here. Drew discovers that his friend is interested in her so he boastfully wagers that he will make Mrs. Moxon fall in love with him. Mr. Moxon is dull, indifferent to his wife, but devoted to the "Works." Mrs. Moxon is colorless and apparently uninteresting. Drew, however, in arousing her interest learns to appreciate her fine qualities and perceives that his is a dangerous game. The heiress Miss Mills, somewhat of a flirt, acting on a hint from Drew, rejects Mr. Hassell, who is a scoundrel after her money.

The time of the second act is the early evening of a month later. Mrs. Moxon is much more becomingly dressed and is good to look at. Captain Drew's attentions mean much to her. Ernest makes it plain to Miss Mills that it is Martha Moxon whom Captain Drew has been coming to see. Martha asks her husband to give up the card party which he is to attend with Hassell. After he refuses and his wife leaves the room, Miss Mills calls his attention to the change in his wife and suggests Drew as the cause. He leaves the house but his suspicions are aroused. Isolda, in tactless fashion but aiming to help her friend, Martha, tells her of the wager as Ernest has told it to her. Martha is troubled. After bidding her guest good night she decides to go across the fields to Drew's studio apartment and ask him for the truth.

In the studio their discussion, touchingly frank, is interrupted by Hassell who is after money to keep him quiet. Mr. Moxon has been aroused and is searching for his wife. Captain Drew will do anything for her but she has no thought except to return home.

The scene is again the Moxon drawing room on the following morning. Captain Drew, saying his leave is ended, calls to say good-bye. Isolda Mills, though it was not to have been expected of her, had succeeded the night before in calming Mr. Moxon's suspicions and sending Hassell away. Isolda relates all this to Captain Drew and incidentally reveals that she will accept Ernest. Mr. Moxon enters and says his wife is leaving for good. She had, early that morning, told him the whole story. It is evident that he is no longer indifferent to her. Captain Drew goes as Mrs. Moxon comes to deliver the house keys to her husband. It is now that the long silent husband speaks a word of appreciation and love and they decide to go away together for a little vacation.

After the reading, several of Mrs. Lee's former pupils at the Leland Powers School availed themselves of the opportunity to greet her.

Tea was served from attractive tables decorated with rose cyclamen and rose candles. Mrs. Mildred E. Grey and Mrs. Maude S. Taylor poured. At the tables were Mrs. Elizabeth C. Davis, Mrs. May E. Tuttle, Mrs. Annette S. Hughes and Mrs. Frances T. Costello. Much credit is due Mrs. Winnifred A. Bennett and her committee, who, in spite of the lack of suitable facilities, have, these many times, added so much to Fortnightly afternoons.

American Home Committee

The American Home Committee held a very much worth-while event at their monthly meeting on Jan. 11 at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall. The session was devoted to the intricacies of a "Color Clinic." As many of the club members knew little of any clinic except that pertaining to health they were pleasantly surprised when Mrs. May W. Friend, chairman of the committee, introduced two smartly dressed women who said were experts in "personality and clothes." They were Miss Beatrice Bowry and Miss A. Redmond, representatives of Filene's Clothing Information Bureau. They informed their audience that their mission was to assist people in selecting the colors most becoming to them, to help them carry out a definite color harmony, to give suggestions about building a wardrobe around the materials on hand and to give advice on the proper choice of colors for the coming season. Individually they examined eyes, hair and complexions; gray hair and blue eyes, gray hair and brown eyes. Variations of blue eyes and brown all came in for their share of attention. Each member was then advised as to what color she should choose when purchasing a new gown. Gray-haired women were emphatically warned not to wear brown hats, but women with gray or light hair and brown eyes could wear blues and blue greens. Those with gray hair and blue eyes were given a choice of six shades of blue. The fascinating names of the new shades of blue are Bvrd, Horizon, Polar and Navigation. The colors now in vogue have changed to a softer tone than they were last year thus making them more flattering to the complexion. Prints in many three color designs are to be important for ensembles and are in some form and color suitable for any complexion.

Much merriment and many personal witticisms were heard as the different members were advised in turn according to their coloring. This fun brought smiles even to the faces of the young women who were deciding just what colors were needed to make all the members beautiful. The meeting adjourned with many thanks to Mrs. Friend and her committee for providing such an enjoyable and profitable afternoon.

WINCHESTER GIRLS LOST AT MARBLEHEAD

Marblehead High School girls' basketball team proved too good for the Winchester girls' sextette last Friday afternoon, winning on its own floor, 51-30. The game was rough and after the first few minutes of play the locals gradually dropped behind.

The score at the end of the first half was 22-16 in favor of Marblehead, and after the intermission the ultimate winners increased their edge.

The Misses Goodwin and Sands starred for Marblehead while "Ginnie" Merrill, Mary Reed, Ruth Wadleigh and Florence MacKinnon looked best for the losers.

Between the halves of the first team game the Marblehead seconds defeated the Winchester seconds, 53-27. The lineup of the first team game follows:

MARBLEHEAD	WINCHESTER
Goodwin, rf.	MacKinnon
Sands, (capt.) lf.	Pettingell
Colbert, jr.	Nelson
Hooper, sc.	Cutter
Lawless, rf.	Bradlee
Nichols, lf.	Reed
Graves, rf.	Merrill, (capt.)
Referee, Miss Locke. Umpire, Miss Hapgood. Time, four eight minute periods.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT STONEHAM TODAY

Winchester High School girls' basketball team will play its second inter-scholastic match of the season this afternoon at 3 o'clock when Coach Centervall's charges will play Stoneham High at Stoneham. The teams seem to be rather evenly matched and an interesting game should result.

MR. CHARLES O. JUNKINS

POSTPONED

On account of so much illness among the officers and members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the annual meeting and "dinner" which was to have been held in Association Hall Jan. 18 has been postponed.

The Phidelah Rice Players will present "Oh Kay" a farce comedy in three acts by Adam Applebud. Here is another corking play, interlarded with mystery and thrills by the author of "Be An Optimist" which will make as big a hit as that has. It will be fun to watch it. It's a sort of mystery play with something doing every minute in the way of thrills, surprises and laughs. There are not any dead bodies falling out of closets and there are no gorillas, bats, spiders or other repulsive things running around but there's plenty of excitement and strange things happen before your eyes. "Gramp" with his liver and its never ending accessories and "Gram" with her habit of trying every patent medicine on the market are comedy roles which will furnish a couple of hundred laughs. Then there are other good parts and as the plot moves all are immersed in the "tangled threads of mystery."

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The features at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "The Spieler" with Alan Hale and Renee Adoree and "Love Over Night" with Rod La Rocque and Jeannette Loff.

In "The Spieler" Renee Adoree plays the role of a girl who had inherited a carnival layout and had started a relentless war against the crooks that followed it. There came a day when "the spieler" entered her life and love dawned. An intensely dramatic story of carnival life, starring Alan Hale and Renee Adoree.

There is plenty of hilarious action in this sparkling comedy "Love Over Night." It's the amusing story of a resourceful young man, a charming young girl and a dumb-bell detective. A picture that is 100 per cent screen entertainment and then some.

For the last three days of the week the pictures are "The Whip" with Dorothy MacKail and "The Gate Crasher" starring Glenn Tryon.

England's most fashionable race track, a whirlwind horse race as a smashing climax, plots and counterplots in a thrilling romance, all these are to be seen in "The Whip" taken from the Drury Lane melodrama of the same name.

You will want to see "The Gate Crasher." Glenn Tryon was never funnier, never more sympathetic than in his role as the amateur small town detective who falls in love with a New York actress. The story is both romantic and farcical, youthful and exuberant. Patsy Ruth Miller has the feminine lead.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The most beautiful scenery, the most interesting characters, the most thrilling adventures and the most amazing love story every filmed. Thus reviewers everywhere are characterizing "White Shadows of the South Seas" with Monte Blue as the star, which is the screen attraction at the big Granada Theater in Malden the last three days of this week. If ever a picture has been filmed that has everything—a locale never photographed before, a plot that is brand new, actors new to the screen—this picture has them all. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville headed by the La Granda Revue, will be offered at the Granada the last half of this week.

"Revenge," a gypsy romance of fire and passion, barbaric in its surging emotions and with colorful Dolores Del Rio as the star, will be the screen attraction at the Granada next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Del Rio's triumphs in "Ramona" and other pictures have made her one of the biggest favorites on the screen. In "Revenge" the star is cast as the daughter of a gypsy bear tamer living in the Carpathian mountain regions of Roumania. She tames bears herself and gleefully whips them into submission. Then she tries to tame a man in the same manner and gets something of a surprise.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

Night clubs, theatre dressing rooms, sumptuous apartment parties and all the familiar figures of New York's night life are to be seen in "Show Girl" now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. Alice White as a new madcap peppy than any flapper, has been instantaneously successful even if she does make spectators gasp a bit. As "Dixie Dugan," Alice White bring to life on the screen the sophisticated little heroine who is a type distinctly Broadway. She wins by sheer pluck and a refusal to be downed.

The feature picture for next week Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be "Detectives" with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur. Imagine the elongated Dane as a "hick" house detective in a hotel, the diminutive Arthur as a hellboy who wants to detect—place them in the midst of a grim mystery plot and let them pursue the villain or master crook and there you are! Marceline Day is the charming little heroine who holds up her part of the fast and furious fun. In a "Race for Life" the second feature on this bill, Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, is first seen making his way south by box car with his pal Danny O'Shea, who after many difficulties gets a job as jockey. The uncanny intelligence which the dog shows in extricating himself from all his troubles and spurring his pal to victory provides a story which holds one's interest from start to finish. The human cast includes Virginia Browne Faire, Carrol Nye and Bobby Gordon.

WINCHESTER FIRE DEPARTMENT AT WOBURN BLAZE

The Winchester Fire Department was given a chilly run at 3:44 Monday morning when with the thermometer at the zero mark the men were called by an alarm from Box 451 to answer Woburn Box 54 for a fire in the Dorington Leather Factory at the corner of Main and Fowle streets in that city.

Engine 1, Robert Scanlon driving, and the Chief's car made the trip to Woburn, the fire alarm car with J. L. Nowell at the wheel later going up to bring back the wet hose. The Winchester firemen returned to their quarters a few minutes before 8 o'clock.

Wakefield and Stoneham apparatus was summoned by the Woburn authorities in an effort to combat the blaze, but the fire had gotten too good a start before its discovery to permit the men to do more than save the outer walls of the plant. The interior of the four and one-half story building was entirely destroyed, the estimated loss being in the vicinity of $60,000.

ANNUAL CLASS PLAY HELD

High School Junior and Senior Classes Presented "The Best People"

The annual class play, presented by the junior and senior classes of the Winchester High School, took place last Saturday evening in the Town Hall before an audience which was very appreciative, if somewhat smaller than usual, due doubtless to the prevalence of illness in the community.

David Gray's "The Best People", a comedy in three acts and five scenes, was the vehicle selected for this year's presentation which was fully up to the high standard set in previous years.

The plot of the production centered about the activities of the Lenox family, the elder members of which had become so imbued with the importance of their position in society as to object strenuously to alliances which their progeny would make with a chorus girl and a chauffeur. The maternal head of the house of Lenox has determined that her daughter shall marry Lord Rockmere, scion of a titled English family, and is aided in her mechanitions to this end by her brother, George Grafton. The latter is in turn subjected to the attentions of a second chorine and the youthful Lenoxes, Marion and Bertie, finally succeed in attaining their hearts' desires.

Last Saturday's presentation by the high school students was a spirited one, an adequate cast combining with skilled direction and management to produce an artistic whole. Marjorie French and Louis Rondina were well cast as Mrs. and Bronson Lenox, with whom social aspirations to be included among "the best people" came easily first. Martha Tibbets as daughter, Marion, and John Dunne as son, Bertie, were entirely equal to the demands of their roles as were Alice Fleming as Bertie's chorus lady and Gordon Gillette as the British Lord Rockmere. Maurice Tompkins was especially good as George Grafton, the aiding and abetting brother of Mrs. Lenox, while Norma Skene in the role of Millie, a sophisticated chorus girl, contributed some of the best acting done in the show. Her tete-a-tete with Grafton in the private dining room evoked much amusement. Special mention should be made of the fine bit of character acting done by Basil Burwell who took the part of Bullock, a butler, his work being especially noteworthy. The minor parts in the production, those of Miss Tate, stenographer and Leo and Michael, waiters, were well played by Marjorie Hayden, Bradford Hill and Andrew Skilling.

Those in charge of the show were particularly fortunate in having Paul Marcellaise of Grafton available to play the important part of Henry, the Lenox chauffeur, in place of George Philbrick who was prevented by illness from appearing. Mr. Marcellaise had taken this particular part on several previous occasions and was able to preserve easily the original smoothness of the local production.

Between the first and second acts Deborah Gilbert presented the prizes for the student poster contest as follows: first, Daniel West; second, Harry Coe; third, Henry McCormack; honorable mention, Roberta Healey and Fred Philbrick. Florence MacKinnon was awarded the first prize in the ticket selling competition with Mae O'Neil, second prizes by a group of high school girls. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. French, Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Rondina, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Tibbets, Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gillette, Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Philbrick, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Haybrick, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. John Skilling, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight B. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Skene and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Fleming were patrons and patronesses of the play.

At the conclusion of the production flowers were presented to the young ladies of the cast and the coach, Miss Alice Eudora Chapman, to whose efforts much of the play's success is due, was obliged to respond to a curtain call. The summary of the play follows:

Cast
Marion Lenox, daughter of Bronson Lenox, Marjorie Tibbets

INJURED IN CAMBRIDGE STREET CRASH

Mrs. Dorothy F. Peterson, her infant son and Miss Ida T. Lambert of 4 Rangeley Ridge sustained injuries requiring medical attention about 6 o'clock last Sunday evening when the Dodge sedan in which they were riding north on Cambridge street was in collision near the Winchester Boat Club with a Cadillac automobile, owned by a Brockton man and headed in an opposite direction.

According to Mrs. Peterson, who was driving the Dodge, the Cadillac skidded into her machine, causing considerable damage to both. She and her son with Miss Lambert were removed to the Peterson home.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Each and every Winchesterite has his special gifts. For this reason no one can afford to look down upon another because the talents of the latter tend in a different direction. While one Winchesterite excels in learning, another may have an especial aptitude for chewing tobacco.

According to one Winchester man, a yard of tulle and a couple of straps will make a dress these days. What about this, young women.

In a certain office here in Winchester is a very squeaky office chair, which leads us to remark that such a contrivance or office appliance will produce as much static as a saxophone.

The wise Winchesterite grabs and stores away a good thought when he has one.

A young man of our acquaintance claims that the kick in a kin is electricity. There is nothing very shocking in that. But there may be Star readers who will be wondering where does he meter. At her ohm, naturally. Watts that? May be it is true for the circuit. Maker to drop before the readers of the Star get a shock. And now we do hope this will not become the current subject for discussion.

A man who returned to Winchester after an absence of many years found a prosperous store where his stable used to be. And of course many garages where other stables used to be.

What has become of the old-time Winchester politician who used to sling off a cuff every time he made a violent gesture?

A musician friend of ours tells us that the composer of a jazz opera received $45 for it. And a lot of folks in and out of Winchester will agree that he got $45 too much.

No man can serve two masters.

However, there is a certain individual here in Winchester who is the slave of his wife and also his mother-in-law.

"Who knows what the coming generation is coming to or where it will end?" a Winchester high school pupil inquires in the opening sentence of his essay. We do. It is coming to be much talked about and will end by worrying about the coming generation, as all generations do.

Winchester would be an even better community in which to live and do business if every townsman would do his part and pay his part.

We recently heard a woman in Winchester Square say to a companion, "It is true that I have my faults, but I am as good as any woman who chews gum on the streets." We didn't know that any woman in Winchester chewed gum on the streets.

Several stitches were necessary to close the wound.

Wednesday was easily the coldest day of the winter in Winchester with the mercury reported all the way from 4 to 15 below the zero mark, according to location, one's imagination and the celerity with which the family "bus" swung into action after the night in an unheated garage.

Apparently the town's new snow loader is making good on the job. Many watched it at work in the center during Tuesday's storm and it was easy to see that the only check upon its speed is the number of trucks available to remove the snow which the big machine picks up. The loader averages 40 seconds to the load and while we watched it on Tuesday it took just eight minutes to remove the snow laying in the center between the corner at Hevey's Pharmacy and the Winchester Laundry.

Early Friction Match of Primitive Design

The "Portable Fire Box," as it was called, was one of the earliest forms of "instantaneous lights," and was invented in Italy in 1786. Similar to it was the "Promethean Match," patented by Samuel Jones, an Englishman, in 1828. A minute quantity of sulphuric acid sealed in a tiny glass vesicle, surrounded by a compound of chlorate of potash, was inclosed in a paper spill. When the glass vesicle was broken, either by the hammer supplied with the "match" or with the teeth, the acid inflamed the potash and ignited the paper.

Despite the many claimants, the honor of inventing the first real "friction match" of the kind with which we are familiar today belongs to John Walker, a Stockton-on-Tess chemist. In 1826 he was selling his friction lights for a shilling for a hundred, and twopence for the box. The match was pressed between the fingers in a piece of sandpaper.

PRECINCT MEETINGS

Nominations to be Made of Town Meeting Members

Notices will be issued this week through the Board of Selectmen calling for meetings in the various voting precincts recently apportioned in accordance with the provisions for the conduct of our town meetings. These meetings will be for the purpose of selecting and nominating the "Town Meeting Members," so called who will serve at the Town Meetings as representatives from their precinct.

In the radical change which Winchester is to undergo in its form of town meeting, much personal work is required of a greater number of citizens than ever before in starting the new form off smoothly.

In some precincts, notably Precinct 1 and 2, steps have already been taken to select the candidates who will come up for vote as representatives at the annual town election. In other precincts the citizens have hesitated in starting active work along this line.

The Selectmen have therefore arranged to hold the following meetings, at which the method of selection and the duties of the "Town Meeting Members" will be explained and nominations made.

Precinct 2—High School, Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 7:45 p. m.
Precinct 3—Mystic School, Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 7:45 p. m.
Precinct 4—Wyman School, Friday, Feb. 1, at 7:45 p. m.
Precinct 5—Wyman School, Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 7:45 p. m.
Precinct 6—Nonan School, Friday, Feb. 1, at 7:45 p. m.

All voters of the Town should familiarize themselves with the number of the precinct in which they reside and attend their meeting on that date specified above.

LIMITED NUMBER OF PICTORIAL HISTORIES AT THE STAR OFFICE

Copies of the Pictorial History of Winchester, which was on exhibition last Friday evening in connection with the lecture on "Old Winchester" delivered by Mr. Samuel Symmes at the Unitarian Church, can be obtained at the Star office, the late editor, Mr. Theodore P. Wilson, having published the volume in 1914. The book contains many rare old cuts of historic significance in the development of the township, cuts which since the publication have been destroyed and which never can be replaced. Many of the photographs appearing in the book were gathered together by the old Winchester Historic Society which has long ceased to function. The Star has only a limited number of the books on hand and when they are gone it will be impossible to obtain duplicates.

PRECINCT 2 HAS DELEGATES PREPARED

In accordance with the provisions of the new form of Town Meeting, preparations are underway in various sections of the Town to present for election groups of "Town Meeting Members." The first precinct to take this phase up actively is Precinct 2, which has prepared the following list as candidates:

Charles E. Kendall	Mary L. MacPartlin
James W. Russell	Edward A. Tucker
Joseph M. Donahue	Frances G. Fitzgerald
Lilla J. Ryan	Henry J. Maguire
Walter L. Rice	Orinda D. Smith

FISHERMAN'S SUNDAY FEB. 7

Chidley, pastor of the First Church, have yearly attracted increasingly large congregations and it is expected that the church auditorium will be filled to capacity this year. HORACE H. FORD

Star Big League Shortstop to be Guest of Baptist Men's Class

Horace H. "Hod" Ford, star shortstop of the Cincinnati Reds who led the National League shortfielders in fielding during the past season and with his side-kick, second-baseman "Hughey" Critz, established a new record for double plays, will be the honor guest of the Everyman's Bible Class to be held Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Town Hall.

"Hod," as he is familiarly known, has crowded a lot of baseball into his life and has been known as a brilliant fielder since he first broke into prominence while playing for Somerville High. While at Tufts he made as a freshman the nine which is considered the best of several championship teams developed at the Medford College by "Jack" Slattery, latter coach at Boston College and manager of the "Braves." Before leaving Tufts Horace had captained his varsity team and won the right to a place among the greatest college infielders.

After his graduation he was signed with the Boston Red Sox, later playing with New Haven, the Boston Nationals, Philadelphia Nationals and the Brooklyn "Dodgers." A bad leg forced him to spend a year in the minors with Minneapolis but he was recalled at the end of the 1927 season by Cincinnati and has performed in gill-edged fashion for the "Reds" ever since. He makes his home in Winchester on Kenwin road, lending an added interest to his appearance at the Bible class on Sunday. The big leaguer is expected to have something of interest to say and a special six-piece orchestra is to furnish music.

Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church, is to be the speaker, rounding out an "all-star" cast. The largest attendance of the winter is expected and "every man" is cordially invited to be present.

JOHN RAMON GUTIERREZ

John Ramon Gutierrez, a resident of Winchester for the past 45 years and universally esteemed by a wide circle of friends, died early Thursday morning, Jan. 24, at his home, 132 Washington street, following a long illness.

Mr. Gutierrez was the son of Ramon and Annie (Moore-Gutierrez) and was born 52 years ago at Bangor, Me. As a boy he came to Winchester and had since made his home here, receiving his education in the public schools. He had been for many years associated with the Winchester Laundry, serving first as plant superintendent and for the past four years as research engineer. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Shattuck and Miss Grace Gutierrez, both of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held this Saturday afternoon in the Ripley Memorial Chapel at the First Congregational Church and will be conducted by the Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Stoneham, formerly pastor of the Winchester First Church. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MRS. G. H. BOURNE HELD IN WINCHESTER

Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude H. Bourne, aged 52, of Montclare, N. J., a former well known resident of Winchester, who lost her life in an automobile accident at Montclare on Sunday, Jan. 20, were held Wednesday afternoon in the Ripley Memorial Chapel with the Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church officiating. The remains were taken to Foxboro for burial.

Mrs. Bourne was killed when the automobile in which she was riding, with her husband, Philip P. Bourne, and her daughter, Miss Phyllis Bourne, was in collision with another car. Mr. Bourne and his daughter were also injured and were taken to the hospital at Passaic where the former is still in a serious condition, though hopes are held out for his ultimate recovery. Phyllis was sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital on Tuesday but was unable to attend her mother's funeral, at which Miss Barbara Bourne, daughter of the deceased and a senior at Wellesley College, was the only member of the immediate family present.

The Bourne family had moved to Montclare from Winchester only about two weeks ago, Mr. Bourne being associated as chief engineer with the Worthington Pump Company of New York. While in town they had made their home at 6 Symmes road and had enjoyed a wide circle of friends. The girls attended the Winchester High School, taking an active interest in the student social and athletic life.

Mrs. Bourne had been active in church work of the First Congregational Church and had been a member of several women's organizations in Winchester.

FORMER WINCHESTER MAN DIED IN WASHINGTON

A telegram received in Winchester yesterday announced the death in Washington, Wash., of Wilbur F. Cobb, a former resident of this town and the son of the late John R. Cobb who years ago was a member of the firm of Coudry, Cobb & Nichols, local piano manufacturers with a factory on Canal street. Mr. Cobb left Winchester about 30 years ago for the west and recent news of him indicated that he was in failing health. He leaves a sister, Miss Mary Cobb of 110 Mt. Vernon street. The remains are being sent to Winchester for interment but funeral arrangements had not been completed when the Star went to press.

MRS. REBECCA GILMORE

Mrs. Rebecca Gilmore widow of the late William Gilmore and mother of Mrs. Edward A. MacKinnon of 157 Highland avenue, died at her daughter's home on Wednesday. She had been in failing health for some years, but was taken seriously ill only the previous Friday. She was 71 years of age.

Mrs. Gilmore was a native of Ireland. She had made her home in Winchester for the past seven years, having made her home with her daughter, since the death of her husband, 28 years ago. Besides her only daughter, she is survived by two brothers and two sisters.

The funeral services are to be held at the residence this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. S. K. Anderson, pastor emeritus of the Highland Congregational Church of Somerville. The interment will be at Forest Hills Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Hobley (formerly Mildred Harold) of Mobile, Ala., are the proud parents of a baby daughter born Jan. 23.

RUFUS FROST HERRICK

Rufus Frost Herrick, a member of one of the oldest Winchester families was suddenly stricken on a Boston & Maine train while commuting to Boston yesterday morning. Instantly relapsing into unconsciousness he was cared for by friends until his arrival at Boston and then taken to the Relief Hospital where he was pronounced lifeless. His death coming so entirely unexpectedly to his family and associates is a profound shock to an extremely wide circle of friends throughout the New England States.

Mr. Herrick who was born June 7, 1860, in Chelsea and named after his uncle, Rufus S. Frost, philanthropist and Mayor of that city, came to Winchester in the fall of 1871 with his parents who took up residence on the heights along the east side of the town at the head of a lane now known as Herrick street and on an estate then far removed from town activities. His parents were Moses Augustus Herrick who was one of the leading citizens of his day and a power in the creation of the Town Water works and Jane Ripley (Hubbard) Herrick, long prominent in local church and charitable circles.

After completing his scholastic work at the Winchester High School Mr. Herrick evinced a pronounced talent for chemistry and entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he became associated with the class of 1882 and specialized in chemical research with special attention to dyes and colors.

Soon after finishing his work at Technology he went to Lowell to become chemist for the well known Merrimac Manufacturing Company of that city, later going to North Adams to take over the plant superintendent as well as the chemical direction of the Freeman Manufacturing Company. A further step led him to Liondale, New Jersey, where in 1896 he built, equipped and put into operation the large Liondale Bleachery, Dye and Print Works.

Returning to Winchester soon thereafter he resumed residence with his mother, then widowed, on the old family estate and devoted himself to independent consultation as a specialist in various branches of mill work.

On June 22, 1899 he married Miss Carrie Burley, a native of Lawrence, by whom he is survived as well as by one son, Robert Bonney Herrick. Many old Winchester residents will recall the wedding as well as their 25th anniversary which was celebrated barely five years ago and which in many ways bore the aspect of a reunion of most of the older Winchester families.

The funeral will be held at the home, 16 Herrick street, to be followed by interment at Wildwood Cemetery, on Sunday, Jan. 27 at 2:30 in the afternoon. The services will be conducted by the Rev. D. Augustine Newton who, when pastor of the First Congregational Church of this town, officiated at the deceased's wedding. All friends are invited to attend.

SCOUT BAND ORGANIZES

The Winchester Council, Boy Scouts of America have organized a band which they hope to develop and have it represent Winchester at scouting events.

It is composed of boys from all the troops in town. Although the boys are amateurs, they made quite a creditable showing at their first rehearsal Wednesday at the First Congregational Church and showed unusual enthusiasm.

The bands is under the direction of Mr. T. Parker Clarke, a well known musician in Winchester.

Mr. Clarke would like to see more boys down for rehearsal next Wednesday afternoon. Anyone is welcome, if they are interested, whether they play an instrument or not.

WINCHESTER COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL NOTES

The Country Day School play is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 1. "Let's Be Happy" is a musical comedy of three acts centered about a diamond stealing plot that moves from Medford to South Africa. Ben Wild plays the handsome hero, while Kenzie Young is the entrancing heroine. David Tufts provides much mirth as the fat professor.

The music, some of which is quite catchy is original. Ticket sales have been large.

DR. MEAD RETIRES

Dr. George N. P. Mead announced the first of the year his retirement from medical practice. For 42 years the Doctor has carried on a practice in Everett and Winchester, coming here and opening an office in 1897. He leaves Feb. 5 for a two month's trip to Florida. He has enjoyed a large practice in Winchester and a host of friends and patients extend their best wishes.

TWO ADDITIONAL LETTER CARRIERS

This is to inform the people of Winchester, that two additional carriers were put on duty at the local Postoffice Thursday morning. The proper arranging and readjusting of 12 routes has been, and is still, quite a problem, and it will necessarily take a few days for carriers to get familiar with the new conditions.

GRADE CROSSING HEARING

Old Town Plan Advocated for Abolition

The Selectmen held a hearing at the Town Hall on Wednesday evening pending recommendations to be presented at the coming town meeting for the abolition of the grade crossing in the centre. Notice had been issued to some 35 affected property owners and the attendance numbered about 30, including members of the Board, the Planning Board, Town Engineer and others. Selectman Worthen presided in the absence of Chairman of the Board Blaisdell, who is confined to his home by sickness.

Chairman Worthen, in opening the hearing, outlined the present status of the question, stating that the abolition plans, when boiled down, consisted of four methods—the "Town Plan," whereby the centre is left as it now is, but is raised some 18 feet, together with the buildings; the "Stone Arch Bridge Plan," whereby the railroad tracks are carried through the town on an elevated structure beginning below Wedgemere and ending at Winchester Highlands; the "Guild Plan," calling for an overhead bridge at the station, with the roadway running through the Common and Manchester Field, and the more recent "Kellaway Plan," calling for a crossing just above the present centre and a roadway running through the old property just to the rear of the fire station, etc.

Mr. Worthen stated that it was not the intention to open a discussion of the merits of the various plans; rather the Board desired an expression from the property owners affected of their willingness to co-operate in a settlement of damages in the carrying out of the "Town Plan." Working along this line an attempt was made to ascertain how the owners stood. In a poll taken during the general discussion, all present signified (with more or less reservation) their willingness to accept an arbitrated damage awarded by a special board to be appointed. In fact the agreement followed that of 15 or 20 years ago when the "Town Plan" was previously attempted.

In the discussion, while no direct argument was made, it appeared that those present had as many plans for abolition in mind as have ever been presented in the past. Every one of the four plans was advocated and condemned.

An interesting point disclosed, and which was a great surprise to many attending, was the fact that the "Kellaway Plan," which has met with such favor by many citizens, is the most costly of the four. It would cost more, said Mr. Worthen, to lay a street through the vacant land and an unsightly section just north of the center than it would to raise the whole center, buildings and all! The "Kellaway Plan" was supposed to be the least costly. One gentleman desired a letter of censure sent Mr. Kellaway for deceiving the Town in this matter. In fact the Kellaway Plan came in for more "panning" than any of the other three by those who favored some other scheme.

Whether anything was constructively accomplished by the hearing appeared doubtful, for while it was evident that the Selectmen would have welcomed a united support for the "Town Plan," such was not forthcoming. In fact several owners objected quite emphatically to having their buildings on a "side hill" such as would result from the proposed 4 per cent grade. Others objected to walling up the centre and still others could see nothing but dead-end streets with any bridge plan.

The Selectmen will evidently take the matter under further consideration.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Winchester Rotary Club held its regular meeting last Thursday and a very good meeting it was. There were fewer visitors than usual, but there was more than the ordinary number of our own members seated at the head table.

This doubtless was a satisfaction to President Harris who claims that he has been neglected from the standpoint of sociability.

Our music committee is engaged in working out a new song-sheet. Several new songs were presented for our consideration today and we feel sure that "Doc" is about to give us a collection which will be much appreciated.

The speaker of the day was one of our own members. It was Vic. Vic, claims that he does not make a specialty of speaking, but when it comes to addressing his fellow Rotarians he proved that he can "deliver the goods." He took it upon himself to outline some of the high points of his business career together with an explanation of his business methods. It is easy to understand why Vic is one of our highly respected merchants and why he has been so successful.

Next week on Thursday, the 31st, we shall act as hosts to the Medford Rotary Club. This is one of the most active and flourishing clubs in Greater Boston, and we shall strive to make their visit a pleasant one for all concerned. To that end we serve notice to each and everyone of our members to make an especial effort to be present and give our visitors a cordial welcome. Roscoe announces that we are to have an address by District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex County. This will be an attraction of the first order. There will be other features which will appeal. Don't forget the date, Jan. 31. We are depending on you to assist in making this meeting a success.

Mrs. Mary J. Skelton, 86, of Wilmington, mother of Mrs. Charles Fortis of this town, passed away last Saturday afternoon, Jan. 19, after an illness of some duration. Mrs. Skelton was the widow of Daniel C. Skelton and a native of Woburn. She spent her childhood in that city, later making her home in Stoneham and Winchester. She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star in Stoneham and was also affiliated with the Daughters of America. Besides Mrs. Fortis she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Melvin E. Taylor of Wilmington and a sister Mrs. Carrie A. Gowing of Woburn. There are two grandchildren, Mrs. John L. Sherman of Winchester and Harry Taylor of Wilmington.

BUY BEAR HILL LINKS AS HOSPITAL'S SITE

Announcement was made last Saturday at Wakefield that Junius Beebe and Loring J. Thayer had purchased from the Bear Hill Golf Club Association the old golf course of 13 acres. Part of the land is in Reading.

It is proposed to build a hospital on it for which a campaign for $400,000 will be started soon. Of this amount $100,000 will be used for two 30-room units, one in Wakefield and one in Reading, to be heated by a central heating plant. The building will be so constructed that additions may be added in the future. The committee for the handling of the hospital fund project is yet to be organized.

Miss Maribel Vinson will be prima ballerina of the ice ballet, a flashing figure in emerald green, at the Russian skating carnival to be held in the Boston Arena on Jan. 30, under the auspices of the Boston Skating Club, for the benefit of the Elizabeth Peabody Settlement House. Miss Vinson, a Radcliffe girl and national women's champion in figure skating, carried off the honors for America at the St. Moritz carnival of the Olympic games last winter.

PLAYED LAST GAME FOR WINCHESTER

McNeil Has Starred in Football, Basketball and Baseball

Last Friday evening's basketball game between Winchester and Wakefield High Schools marked the last appearance in a local uniform of John "Livin'" McNeil, who has been one of Winchester's outstanding schoolboy performers in football, basketball and baseball.

"Livin'" is perhaps best known as a baseball player, having been for the past two seasons selected almost unanimously as an all Mystic Valley League outfielder. During last fall McNeil played a stellar game at right end on the high school eleven and once more was generally chosen for all scholastic honors.

He had been showing strongly at right forward on the basketball team during the past seasons and was one of the big reasons for Winchester's win of the Middlesex League title a year ago. "Livin'"'s loss at this stage of the present campaign is a severe one for the locals' 1929 championship aspirations, as he is the team's leading scorer and a great competitor under fire.

At a recent meeting of the Mothers' and Daughters' Club of Radcliffe, an organization of Radcliffe graduates whose daughters are Radcliffe students, the name of Miss Ruth Gates was read as one of the daughters of the Club who are on the Dean's list, the college honor roll. Miss Gates, who is a member of the senior class at Radcliffe, lives at 237 Highland avenue, this town.

On the evening of Friday, Jan. 18, the senior pupils of Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis met at her home on Washington street for music and a social time.

After an hour's musical program, which consisted of solos, duets and trios, the time was occupied by an informal address given by Mrs. Lewis dealing with some of the musical and social activities that she enjoyed during the two years that she lived in Leipzig. The address was illustrated by photographs of her friends and pupils in Leipzig and by picture cards of some of its historic points of interest.

Owing to illness, a number of pupils were unable to enjoy this yearly "winter-get-together."

The novelty of the evening was the performance of a number for "Piano and Bells" by Miss Amy Johnson and Miss Mary McEleney, Mrs. Lewis playing the piano part.

FREDERICK A. RHOADES

Was Superior Court Officer and Former Police Commissioner

Frederick A. Rhoades, former police commissioner and for many years an officer in the Superior Court at East Cambridge, died suddenly of an acute heart attack Monday evening, Jan. 21, at his home, 16 Park road. He had been confined to his home since the night of Dec. 27 when he sustained a broken right leg as the result of having been struck and knocked down by an automobile in Malden. His condition was at no time thought to be serious and his sudden passing came as a severe shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Rhoades was 70 years of age and a native of Leominster, the son of Charles and Marietta Rhoades. As a child he went with his parents to Malden, in which city he was educated and spent a great part of his life. He had been a resident of Winchester for a little more than a year. His father had been a deputy sheriff and chief of police at Revere and with this background Mr. Rhoades, at an early age, began the study of criminal law. In 1885 he passed a civil service examination and was appointed to the State Detective force, being assigned to the investigation of several important murder cases.

April 22, 1907, he was appointed a Superior Court officer by Sheriff John R. Fairbairn, succeeding Jophanus H. Whitney, who at that time was made chief of the State Police. In 1913 he was appointed Police Commissioner at Malden by Mayor Schumaker, serving for two years. He was a member of the Kernwood Club of Malden, Mt. Vernon Lodge of Masons, Malden Lodge of Odd Fellows, Calumet Club of Winchester and the Court Officers' Association. He also had held membership in the Malden Club.

In 1881 he married Miss Catherine A. Howlett who survives him with a daughter, Mrs. Richard W. Wyman, two sisters, Misses Gertrude and Lillian Rhoades of Revere and a brother, Clesson S. Rhoades of Malden.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. Morris J. Butler of the First Congregational Church. Sheriff John R. Fairbairn and Deputy Frederick T. Peabody headed a delegation of court officers who were present. Interment was in Forest Dale Cemetery, Malden.

A Packard sedan, owned by Francis E. Smith of 1 Walcott terrace and operated by John Kells of Carter road, Burlington, was in collision last Friday on Mt. Vernon street at the Town Hall with an automobile owned and operated by Thomas S. Richardson of 484 Washington street. Mr. Richardson's machine was slightly damaged but no one was injured.

READING WON FROM WINCHESTER 32-27

Reading High School gave Winchester its third straight defeat in the Middlesex League basketball series Tuesday afternoon in the local gymnasium, winning from Coach Mansfield's charges 32-27. The game was close enough to be exciting and the locals were never out of the running. It was Winchester's first game without "Livin' McNeil, star right forward who is now over age, and it is quite likely that the boys were rather upset by the loss of their scoring ace.

The visitors led by a single basket at the half, the score standing, 13-11. Winchester's inability to convert foul shots into goals proved costly, although the locals' showing in this department of the game was rather better than that of Reading.

"Nutsy" Amico, Winchester's big center, was the scoring ace of the matinee with 7 floor baskets and a single foul goal for a total of 15 points. Burns and Crowe of the visitors accounted for 19 points between them.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds outclassed the Reading plebes, 21-9. The summary of the first team game follows:

HIGH SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Moving pictures will again be shown at the coming meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association. This will be on Tuesday evening next, Jan. 29 at 8 p. m. in the High School Assembly Hall.

At the last meeting in November, one of the chronicles of American films, entitled, "The Pilgrims" was shown. So many have expressed a desire to see another of these educational films, sponsored by Yale University, that the executive committee decided to present "The Eve of the American Revolution."

Come and decide for yourselves if the new way of teaching history is more impressive than the old method of depending entirely on books.

There will be refreshments and a chance to exchange ideas after the pictures.

"A FULL HOUSE" PRESENTED BY ST. MARY'S HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNAE

On next Thursday evening, Jan. 31, St. Mary's High School Alumnae will present a three act comedy, "A Full House" in the Town Hall. The performance for the children will take place on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 26 at 2:30 p. m.

The comedy is under the direction of Miss Ann M. Gurney of Roxbury. During the past few months, the cast has been hard at work trying to make this play the very best ever presented in Winchester. Owing to the unusual talent of which the cast is comprised, as well as the never-failing success of Miss Gurney's productions, there is no doubt that everyone who attends the comedy will enjoy every minute.

Not only are the situations funny, but the lines themselves hold a fund of humor at all times. It is a play in which the swiftness of action never halts for an instant. "A Full House" is a house full of laughs.

After the play, there will be dancing at which John Joyce's Orchestra will furnish the music.

The Fire Department was called by telephone at 5:59 Sunday afternoon to put out a fire which threatened to do considerable damage on High street Monday morning shortly before 10 o'clock the men were called to attend to a smoking oil burner at the home of Mr. C. G. Shaw on Yale street.

MRS. EMMA MARIE HOVEY

Mrs. Emma Marie Hovey, wife of Freeland E. Hovey and for many years a resident of Winchester, died Monday morning at her home, 6 Stratford road, after a long illness.

Mrs. Hovey was the daughter of Andrew and Caroline (Streiferd) Jacobson and was born 60 years ago in Boston. Her early life was spent in Cambridge where she was educated in the public schools. Following her marriage to Mr. Hovey in 1893 she came to Winchester and had since made her home here. She was a member of the Fortnightly Women's Club and of the First Congregational Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer of Winchester and Mrs. D'Arcy A. Young of Rochester, N. Y.; a son, Alan Hovey of Winchester, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Stoneham, formerly pastor of the Winchester First Congregational Church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Don't forget that W. K. Hutchinson's store will be open on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 6, from 1 o'clock until 6. Members of the Fortnightly Board will act as clerks and a percentage of the cash receipts will be given to the club.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS GEOGHEGAN ANNOUNCED

At a surprise party held in their home last Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geoghegan of 103 Canal street announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Elizabeth Geoghegan, to Anthony Vincent Bruno, son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Bruno of 24 Chester street.

The party was a complete surprise to the couple, who came to the Geoghegan home about 8 o'clock. When they entered they were greeted by more than 100 friends and relatives.

Michael V. Riley entertained with several old-time songs, played on the violin. Songs were sung by Patrick Cady, Michael Connolly of Woburn and the Misses Helen Flaherty, Helen Dooley and Catherine and Margaret Geoghegan, accompanied by Patrick Geoghegan on the saxophone.

Dancing specialties were given by Mrs. Etta Flaherty; her daughter, Margaret Flaherty; Michael Connolly of Woburn and James Geoghegan. The older members of the party enjoyed old-time dancing in the rear of the house. Music was furnished by Michael Riley.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Michael Geoghegan, assisted by her daughters.

While the guests were having luncheon the "Happy Four Orchestra" furnished music. The orchestra was composed of Patrick Geoghegan, Joseph Haggerty, Michael Riley and Anthony Bruno. Edmund W. Kindred played several banjo solos at the close.

Guests were present from Woburn, Milton, Dorchester, Medford and Winchester.

MISS VINSON TAKES LEAD

Miss Maribel Vinson of 10 High street, this town, will take a leading part in the Russian Skating Carnival held in the Boston Arena next Wednesday night at 8:15. Miss Vinson holds the national women's skating championship in figure skating and also carried off the honors for America at the St. Moritz Olympic games last winter. Besides Miss Vinson, Roger F. Turner, national champion and Theresa Weld Blanchard and Nathaniel W. Niles, former national champions will take part.

The carnival is being held under the auspices of the Skating Club of Boston for the benefit of the Elizabeth Peabody House and will include Lancers, a torch light parade and an ice ballet. Miss Vinson will be prima ballerina in this number wearing a costume of emerald green.

Miss Vinson has just entered Radcliffe as a freshman this fall and has already taken a prominent part in athletics and class committees. She also took part in the experimental plays given by the Radcliffe Idler, the Dramatic Club, this fall.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A fellow out of work called the other day and asked, "I don't suppose you don't know of nobody who don't want to hire nobody to do nothing. Don't you?"

A good way to preserve your eyesight will be to look on the bright side of things.

Never permit failure to become a habit.

Any girl with a desire to do well will do well to first learn to cook.

You are as old as your doubt,
the way to keep young is to keep your faith young, your self confidence young, and your hope young.

And don't forget that the Winchester widow who received two hundred answers to her advertisement for a husband has found out she is not a widow at all, and her husband is living in the same State. It pays to advertise.

Tack up along with that item of the Michigan woman, mother of 10 children, sentenced to jail for life for selling liquor, the one of the young
New York broker sentenced to jail and fined $50 for driving his automobile in Central Park at 32 miles an hour.

Border road, the main connecting link between Winchester and Malden, and used daily by hundreds of motorists, seems to be an orphan so far as the Metropolitan District Commission is concerned. Former Representative Kneeland had a stiff battle to get this much needed and convenient artery built, but the Commission apparently don't think much of it. Anyone travelling over its rocky surface would never imagine that it was cared for by those who look after our Park System.

Efforts are underway, so the Star is informed, towards stimulating action in cleaning up the Aberjona River. Certainly our river needs cleaning and surely something should be done about it. But how about our sewer problem? To some merchants in our center it is simply "Hobson's choice."
Take the Star Building for instance.
With the entire basement ruined and unusable through the overflow of the sewer, which periodically appears there in each winter season, its owners are more inclined to view with equanimity the open sewer flowing under our bridges than hold his nose as his cellar is turned into a cesspool. To some building owners this matter is a point of dollars and cents—and the dollars run into the thousands. The odor is not abated one wit by a valuation increase of $10,000 on the property, especially when there is no redress for the loss. Civic pride and public spirit demands of all personal sacrifice, and possibly the filthy river may serve as a reminder to the many of what a few individuals put up with pending the elimination of the sewer problem. Clean our river by all means, but some of us would like to see the sewer cleaned from our cellars first.

GRADE CROSSING PLANS

It is with regret that the STAR notes the evident desire of the Selectmen to present and advocate to the Town the acceptance of the "Town Plan" for the abolition of our grade crossing. Not that the plan is undesirable, for it is. It is as good as any solution of this vexing question ever offered. But the STAR questions and doubts that any commission considering this abolition will feel justified in placing a proportionate share of such cost on the railroad. If the Town is willing to step up and pay out of its own pocket such sum as may be assessed it over and above a fair charge to the railroad, all well and good. If not, it appears very evident that the Town will have its crossing eliminated by any plan the commission may see fit to order.

The estimated cost of the "Town Plan" is one million, six hundred thousand dollars. It calls in general for a hundred-foot bridge over the railroad in the center approached by a 4 per cent grade, with all the buildings in the affected area raised to the proposed grade. The Selectmen apparently are endeavoring to verify the estimated cost and eliminate, so far as possible, accruing damage suits by securing the signatures of property owners to such an agreement as will serve this purpose.

From Wednesday night's hearing
the STAR is strongly convinced that owners of affected property will all co-operate heartily insofar as their own particular holdings are not affected, although it is very possible that a majority of the signatures may be secured. Whether the Town, in order to safeguard the possibility of a stone or gravel embankment running through the whole valley, will agree to pay the necessary amount over a proportionate cost is another matter.

The "Stone Arch Bridge Plan" is, in the opinion of this paper, the very worst solution of the problem which could befall Winchester. Starting below Wedgemere on the south and running to the Highlands on the north,
the town would be divided by a granite wall or gravel embankment—on the top of which trains would run.

The STAR still advocates the "Kel-laway Plan" as the most feasible and satisfactory solution. It does not seem possible to this paper that a bridge across the tracks and a road through the unsightly and poorest section of the center can in any way approach in cost a similar bridge and the raising of the whole center. Mr.

Kellaway may be wrong in his costs,
but we are from Missouri. We do not feel that the slight diversion of travel will in any way affect the present value of property or trade of our merchants. Rather, the STAR strongly feels that it will help it most decidedly.

By this plan the main arteries of traffic are but little disturbed; a feature which would undoubtedly hold much weight with any commission.
The railroad line remains likewise undisturbed; a feature which would be as equally satisfactory to the Company. Unsightly and more or less worthless property would be eliminated and the surroundings improved.

To engineer and carry through the diversified features of the "Town Plan" would be a tremendous undertaking—and should it be rejected by the railroad, as is very probable, and then by the commission, as is likewise more than possible, we will get—just what is given us whether we want it or not.

The STAR feels that the Selectmen, who are undoubtedly sincere in their effort to reach a universally satisfactory solution, would do well to inquire further into the "Kellaway Plan." Why not secure optional agreements on the affected property;
the attitude of the railroad; the county commissioners and others?

This paper feels that the "Kel-laway Plan" is far and above the most satisfactory solution from any angle.
We would much rather cross from the west to the east side of the center by an easy ramp beneath the railroad tracks than dodge the trains, cars
and autos as under present conditions.
Likewise would we be much more inclined to visit the post office by way of a similar ramp at the station than climb a flight of stairs. We do not consider Mt. Vernon street as running to a dead end by any means. A swing around Hevey's corner to the south or Winchester place to the north is no more hardship, if as much, as waiting for cars and traffic lights.
An ornamental fence, flanked with trees and shrubs would, in our opinion, be a decided addition to our center, now filled with black and white gates and the tender's shanty.

From present indications it appears to the STAR that unless active steps are taken, the Town will again become involved in a wrangle as witnessed in past years. A united front on the "Kellaway Plan" appears the only satisfactory solution.

OUR WAR MEMORIAL

To the Editor of the Star:

"No question is ever settled until it is settled right." Such is my reason for giving this review of the lamentable status of our splendid memorial statue.

A little more than 10 years ago
Winchester laid its plans for a permanent memorial to its citizens who served in the World War. Everyone was agreed on the project but there was a wide difference of opinion as to the best way to carry it out. Over a six year period three faithful committees, numbering 21 different citizens considered and submitted several types of memorials, only to have them all vigorously rejected by the voters or by weight of opinion. Finally in the town meeting of March 1921 the motion for a $50,000 monument was rejected by a relatively narrow margin of 147 votes. A later proposal for the same memorial but with the expenditure to be met by public subscription received almost unanimous support. The vote was: Yes 882, No 1.

That was almost five years ago.
The memorial has long been completed. The town is possessed of one of the finest pieces of municipal statuary in New England. And yet we cannot take a particle of pride in it.
Our subscriptions were entirely inadequate to pay the sculptor and without the funds advanced by a single citizen the town would have received no benefit from the payments that were made. Over 70 per cent ($40,500) of the total cost has been derived from this one source. In no honorable sense, therefore, can Herbert Adams' beautiful sculpture, "Humanity and Justice," be regarded as the war memorial of the town of Winchester.

There is only one way to settle this question right. The town has already dedicated the memorial as its own;
now it should pay the bills. Town meeting season is here and slightly over a week remains before the warrant will be closed. Again an article should be included which will provide for proper action.

There are some who believe the question at issue is the payment of a moral debt to a distinguished and generous citizen. There are others who feel the present policy of doing nothing is destructive to Winchester's best asset—the spirit of loyalty and service of its citizens. It seems to me these factors have pushed into the background the real issue which is the honor of the town. A community with our resources cannot afford to display
a modest roll of honor in the shadow of the Town Hall as its sole tribute to its World War veterans. Still less can we permit that nearly three quarters of the cost of the permanent memorial voted by the town shall be paid by one man.

Far better to remove the statue altogether than allow it to remain—a Monument of Misrepresentation!

W. C. T. U. NOTES

On Wednesday, Jan. 23, the Middlesex County Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its mid-winter convention at the Y. W. C. A. building in Cambridge. A question discussed at this meeting was "Is Boston the speak-easiest city on the map?"
It was agreed that the recent exposure of speak-easy conditions in Boston by the Boston Herald and by Superintendent Crowley showed an alarming condition, especially as hundreds of truck drivers enter Boston every night and return in the early dawn along the roads of Massachusetts. Thus Boston becomes a menace to the State. Therefore, it was decided to send the following statement to Police Commissioner Wilson and Superintendent Crowley:
"We note your statements concerning the problem of law enforcement and the wide prevalence of the speak-easy in Boston. Yet we would point out to you that even so conditions are better than under the old saloon; witness the reduction of cases in which drink is a factor coming before the Boston Family Welfare Society and the S. P. C. C. These societies find intemperance reduced more than one-half under the speak-easy conditions of which you speak so discouragingly.

In short, you must see that the solution is not to retreat, but to go forward and make war on the speak-easy as we formerly made war on the saloon.
How should this war be carried on? May we suggest that it cannot be successfully waged by declaring in the press that the law cannot be enforced. The following suggestions are made.
1. Total abstinence is becoming a necessity in this day of the automobile. If those who must manage the traffic genuinely desire the safety of the people, if they wish to prevent drunken driving, should they not call on the Metropolitan Press to teach the necessity of total abstinence and law observance. Surely, properly urged, by those in authority, the press would respond.
2. The police department could well call on the people to find some way to lighten the burden of honest police officials who must deal with unsympathetic courts. If no such relief can be found, martial law can be invoked and military courts act.

3. The police department, as a matter of precaution, could make sure that its own house is in order. These questions could well be looked into.

Are the laws against vice any better enforced in Boston than those against liquor?

Is there police protection both of vice and liquor? Is this protection an order from higher up?

Do the police themselves ever use these speak-easies?

Is the law in use that requires that every owner of a building where a conviction for liquor law violation has been obtained should be informed of that conviction, Half the battle would be won if this law was enforced.

Why is not the padlock law applied?

Surely, as a matter of health and safety the State cannot allow the conditions pictured by the Boston Herald and the Boston Police Department to continue. If the police department as organized feels itself unable to cope with the situation, should there not be re-organization?

The communication is signed by Mrs. George Hamilton of Winchester, for the Middlesex County W. C. T. U.

The following resolution was passed. WHEREAS, a wet memorial is before our State Senate urging our Congressmen to vote for repeal of the 18th Amendment, and

WHEREAS, our Senate is overwhelmingly Republican and elected by a party 80 per cent dry, and

WHEREAS, the 80 per cent dry constituency of the party did not generally participate in the vote under orders from their national bodies not to vote on futile referendum,

BE IT RESOLVED that we point out to President Bacon and the Republicans of the Senate that the memorial is mostly an instruction from wet Democrats and should, therefore, be defeated by a Republican Senate loyal to Mr. Hoover.

"We cannot choose good friends," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "but must hope to live so worthily that good friends may choose us."—Washington Star.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

An unusual and interesting program has been arranged for the regular club meeting on Monday Jan. 28 at 2:30 p. m. in the Town Hall when William H. Richardson, baritone and Maud Cuney-Hare, lecturer and pianist, are to present a costume recital, "From the Orient to the Tropics." Mr. Richardson has travelled with Roland Hayes and has a voice which the eminent critic, Philip Hale, describes as "virile, rich and beautiful." Mrs. Hare, a Southerner by birth, was educated at the New England Conservatory of Music. She has made a special study of Southern folk lore and folk-songs and has published a set of Creole folk songs besides contributing articles to leading musical magazines.

Preceding this program Mr. Alfred Whitman of the Children's Aid Society will give a ten-minute talk on Child Welfare.

Dramatic Committee

Fortnightly Hall was filled to capacity on the afternoon of Friday, Jan. 18 when the Dramatic Committee presented three clever, modern one-act plays. In the unexpected absence of both the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall and Mrs. Margaret Hintlian who was to have been in charge of the program, the production was given under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn D. Gilpatrick, who carried it through with ability and charm.

"The Fourth Mrs. Phillips" by Carl Glick had the following cast:

Warwick Phillips, an actor Edith Low
Mark Arthur, a reporter Irene Clarke
Morton, a valet Estella Cooper
Julia, the first Mrs. Phillips, Isabelle Winship Camilla, the second Mrs. Phillips Cecil Woodman Madre, the third Mrs. Phillips Grace Aseltine
Dolly, the fourth Mrs. Phillips Gertrude Murphy

The plot becomes complicated and amusing as the three former wives and the future Mrs. Phillips all appear at the dressing room of the "matinee idol" on the same afternoon. The star keeps his poise through the many embarrassing situations and all ends surprisingly well.

"Cured" by Ida Ehrlic gave great chance for the actors to show their ability and they lost no opportunity for portraying the spirit of adventure, secrecy, embarrassment, jealousy, indignation and confusion as the climax was reached in this spicy bit of modern comedy. The parts were well cast as follows:

Mr. Shepherd Dorothy Willis
Mrs. Shepherd Carolyn Gilpatrick
Elsie Mary Cass
Mr. Waller Winifred Thornton
Mr. Price Helen Raymond
Mrs. Price Isabelle Winship

The third play "So's Your Old Antique" by Clare Kummer, had a subtle humor which was delightful and the audience lost none of it as it was brought out by these characters: Dick Barlow Estella Cooper
Sally, his wife Lillian Whitman
Mrs. Pettis Cecil Woodman
Mr. Maister Edith Low
William, a chauffeur Irene Clarke

There is no doubt that the Fortnightly has real dramatic talent and skill among its members. Mrs. Woodman and Mrs. Whitman who made their first appearance before this club on Friday will doubtless be in great demand in the future. Great credit, too, is due to other members of the club who upon short notice were willing to take new parts or do a double role. Much attention was given to details of costume and appointments. The number of good-looking men with dramatic ability in the club increases with each program. The audience was most appreciative and it appears as if Fortnightly members have decided that afternoons in charge of the Dramatic Committee are too good to be missed. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Grace A. Holmes and Mrs. Winnifrede S. Meyer acting as hostesses.

WINCHESTER HOCKEY TEAM TIED

A Winchester hockey team, managed by Hall Gamage, visited Beverly on Wednesday night and played the strong United Shoe team to a 2 to 2 tie. Winchester, while a brand new aggregation, gave a good account of itself and already has a game scheduled with Middlesex School at Concord for the week-end.

The Winchester players were as follows: "Jim" Black, center; Clinton Mason, left wing; Charles Wadsworth, right wing; Charles Hutchinson, left defense; Hall Gamage, right defense; Thomas Smith, goal. "Jim" Fitch and Leo Pistorino also played right and left wings, respectively. Both of Winchester's goals were made by Wadsworth.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley left this past week for North Carolina, where Doctor Chidley will deliver a series of lectures before returning to Winchester. Mrs. Chidley will then continue on to Florida where she will remain for a month.

WATERFIELD LODGE, NO. 231, I. O. O. F.

At the regular meeting of the lodge, held Monday evening, Jan. 21, the second degree was conferred on our candidate, Charles E. Ward, and a candidate from Harmony Lodge, Medford. A collation was served by the Good of the Order Committee to wind up an enjoyable evening.

On Monday evening, Feb. 4, Waterfield Lodge will be the host to the other nine lodges of the Prince Jonathan Association. A good entertainment is being planned and we expect a full house on the hill.

Last Tuesday evening about 50 of the members and friends attended the Malden Auditorium to witness "The Fascinating Widow" played by Tommy Martelle. The party was held in conjunction with the two Medford Lodges.

In a basketball game Saturday night at the First Congregational Church, the Congo team defeated St. Mary's 28-22. The Congo team expects to play the Woburn Congregational Church Saturday night, Sunday night.

LECTURE ON OLD WINCHESTER BY MR. SAMUEL SYMMES

Last Friday evening Mr. Samuel Symmes entertained a capacity audience in the Unitarian Sunday School room with his humorous and historic tales of old Winchester. He drew his material from old stories of the Symmes family and some of his own reminiscences. Mr. Symmes is a descendant of Zachariah Symmes who settled in Charlestown in 1634, a minister of the community. To help in the support of his large family he was given in addition to his salary a grant of land to farm of about 300 acres extending from the easterly side of Church street to Grove street.

Speaking of snow storms Mr. Symmes recalled one of exactly 62 years ago, when the snow was so deep it was impractical to dismiss the school pupils, and it was with difficulty his father with his horses was able to deliver the children to homes. At that time the teacher remained three days at his home.

Mr. Symmes showed a large collection of arrow heads which he himself had found during his years of farming. He intimated his father rather debated his industry in the field when he unearthed arrowheads in such numbers. His latest find was a specimen in April, 1926.

One arrowhead he showed was made from lava glass, which is not found nearer than a thousand miles from Winchester. The settlers were never bothered much from Indians in this vicinity because there were no Indian villages very near according to Mr. Symmes. But at the time the first grant of land was given to Zachariah seven abandoned wigwams stood on Grove street near the West Medford end.

Mr. Symmes told us Ed Carter had the first garden in Winchester where our Common now exists. And in addition to some fish stories not to mention milk anecdotes he had a truly good sheep story. There used to be a sheepfold in what is now Rangeley and here once on a time a severe snow storm completely covered the sheep for two days, but they were found alive under the snow where their breath had made air holes in the snow.

We learned what a size Ridge Hill was and how it was dug away to form the road bed when the gravel road was put through in 1864. And of the grocery store which was handy to the old station and especially for the trainmen when they "dropped in" in times of accident. Those were the days when the firemen fired with wood. We learned that the first baldwin apple tree grew wild in Winchester.

He gave a brief sketch of the town's fire department from the days of fire buckets, and hand engine with its greased leather hose, to the first steam engine when the school children were dismissed to see it demonstrate. He explained where Brackett's fish ladder was built at the dam and from this model many were built throughout the United States. Mr. Symmes ended with a plea for Winchester to come abreast of the times by cleaning its river and building an adequate library.

There was an interesting display of maps, pictures, fire buckets, clothing loaned by Winchester's old families on view in the ladies' parlor.

Who Is on Trial?

There is an incident that is said to have occurred in one of the Continental picture galleries. A party of tourists were looking at one of the old masters of incomprehensible value and beauty, and one of them, bestowing but a casual glance at the picture, said, "Oh, I do not think much of that." The custodian of the pictures quietly replied, "Sir, it is not the pictures which are on trial here; it is the visitors." What a man sees is a judgment upon him.

WAKEFIELD HIGH EDGED WINCHESTER

Three Over-Time Periods Necessary for 26-24 Verdict

After three thrilling over-time periods Winchester lost its Middlesex League basketball game to Wakefield High at Wakefield last Friday evening by the margin of a single basket, the score being 26-24. The battle was hard fought and as close as the next minute.

Winchester was by no means outplayed. Rather it was in the driver's seat during much of the contest. As was the case against Stoneham, the locals lost because of their inability to hold what looked like a fairly safe lead after the half. The boys did much better at the foul line than against Stoneham, sinking 4 out of 6 tries, and there was none of the over-confidence which went so far toward putting the game with the hockey-town in the red.

Both Winchester and Wakefield played fast, hard basketball with Coach Mansfield's charges showing the better all-around team game. Wakefield was able to pull out a winner solely through some spectacular deep-court shots by its Captain, "Gus" Gersinovich.

Wakefield broke the ice in the first quarter when Dutton scored a foul basket but "Skin" Kendrick put Winchester into the lead with a floor goal from close up on the left almost before the Wakefield cheering had died away.

Talbot sank one for the winners, but "Livin'" McNeil dropped in two floor goals in quick succession to put Winchester in the lead which was maintained to the final quarter. Dutton shot a floor goal from mid-court and McNeil added one to the local total from the foul line. Dutton made both ends of a double foul good but "Rog" Derby kept Winchester in the van with a peach of a basket from the center of the floor. Kendrick scored on a shot from close up and the timer blew his horn. Talbot of Wakefield shot after the horn sounded and the timer blew once more with the ball in the air. The shot was good and the referee allowed it to stand, though it was scored after the time for the half had elapsed.

Winchester came back after intermission on the long end of an 11-9 score which Derby pushed ahead to 13 with a long shot from outside mid-court. McNeil counted on a close shot from the right before Gersinovich chucked his first floor goal from back court. "Livin'" tallied at once from the right corner, giving Winchester a 17-11 advantage.

At this point Wakefield came to life in real earnest. Cotter shot from the right corner and Talbot counted on a shot from a free try. Cotter sank another from close up and Achilles Penn went in for Coss who had four fouls.

Kendrick got a floor goal and Cotter dropped in another, Kendrick countering with a couple of shots from free tries. Dutton shot two fouls in a row and Kendrick dropped in a floor goal, making the score 23-20 in Winchester's favor.

Gersinovich shot from outside mid-court, but McNeil got a foul basket to give Winchester a two point advantage with 5 seconds to go. Just before the final whistle sounded Gersinovich shot again from back court to knot the count.

Excitement was at fever pitch as the teams went into the first overtime period. Winchester was forcing the going and had several shots at the hoop which would have meant the game. Both McNeil and Captain Kendrick, in their eagerness to end the battle missed shots when all alone from close up while the local defense was pretty much preventing Wakefield from getting past the middle of the court.

Midway through the final period, Derby had a shot from a free try which just failed to drop in and the teams were in a fierce scrimmage under the Winchester net when Wakefield passed out to Gersinovich who shot a long, spectacular basket from back court just before the final whistle.

Between the halves of the first team game the Wakefield seconds won from the Winchester seconds, 22-17. The summary of the main game follows:

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON FROM SWAMPSCOTT

In one of the most thrilling girls' basketball games seen in the local gymnasium for some years, Winchester High defeated the Swampscott High girls, 35-30 on Monday afternoon. The locals came from behind to win and can thank their sterling captain, "Ginnie" Merrill, for their victory. "Ginnie's" last minute shots which pulled the game from the proverbial fire were beautifully executed and very spectacular. The gymnasium was in an uproar as Winchester forged to the front to win. Swampscott scored on an even terms when "Ginnie" Merrill shot a floor goal after taking a pass from Nancy Bradley. From then until the half the teams battled on even terms, though Coach Centerville's charges were able to lead at intermission by a single basket, 13-11.

At the resumption of play the visitors launched a pretty offensive which soon gave them a 25-19 rating. Winchester rallied and the score stood 25-23 in Swampscott's favor at the end of the third quarter.

The game was speeding up and midway through the final period the score was tied at 27. Both teams were fighting hard, but Swampscott seemed to have the edge and led 30-29 with but a single minute to play.

The Winchester girls, with the exception of their veteran captain, were rather too much excited to be effective and it was well that "Ginnie" was in there to keep their feet on the ground. Taking advantage of every opportunity offered her, Winchester's leader shot three pretty floor goals in quick succession to win the game for her club with something to spare.

It was a grandstand finish and should help the locals' game wonderfully. Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds defeated the Swampscott seconds, 26-19. The summary of the first team game follows:

ARLINGTON GIRLS HERE TUESDAY

Winchester High School girls' basketball team faces one of its hardest assignments of the season Tuesday afternoon when it will play the Arlington High girls in the local gymnasium. The Spy Ponders will be after vengeance for their hockey defeat at Waltham last fall and will do their best to put Winchester on the short end of next Tuesday's tally.

Coach Centerville has her charges going along much better than at any time previous this season and the showing of the locals against Swampscott was very encouraging. One of the chief difficulties which the Winchester girls are experiencing is their lack of height, a serious handicap in basketball, especially as played by girls. This trouble can not be remedied by a general speeding up, especially of the team's defense will result in a whole lot better showing.

STONEHAM GIRLS DEFEATED WINCHESTER

Stoneham High School girls' basketball team gave the Winchester girls their third reverse of the season last Friday afternoon at Stoneham, winning the game between the two clubs by the one sided score of 48-23.

Winchester was outclassed from the start and trailed at the half, 21-10. The local defense seemed unable to prevent the Stoneham forwards from getting their shots away, the superior height of the latter girls proving a distinct advantage.

Stoneham had a cleverly conceived play on the tap-off which bothered Winchester for some little time and resulted in the Stoneham forwards having the ball in scoring position much more than the local girls.

Winchester's offense failed to function smoothly and had it not been for the individual efforts of its captain, "Ginnie" Merrill, its score would have been a sorry one. "Dot" MacKenzie played well after her insertion into the lineup and Florence MacKinnon was outstanding on the local defense.

For Stoneham, Miss Newhall was easily the bright and shining light of the game, accounting individually for 36 points of her team's total.

Between the halves of the first team game the Stoneham seconds defeated the Winchester seconds, 22-12. The score of the main game follows:

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"Prep and Pep" starring David Rolins and Nancy Drexel is the feature picture playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden today and tomorrow. It is a story of Cyril Reade, a bashful boy, who comes to school and finds the boys expect him overnight to duplicate the athletic record of his famous father. Failing, Cyril becomes the laughing stock of the cadets, but through his admiration for his girl friend, Dorothy, and the old pride on the paternal side, he fights his way through a series of exciting episodes. The second feature is another thrilling episode of the gripping mystery serial, "The Tiger's Shadow" featuring Gladys McConnell and Hugh Allan.

One of the most striking characterizations in which she has appeared for a long time is that enacted by Leatrice Joy in "Man-Made Women" the feature picture coming to the Orpheum next week Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. In this picture Miss Joy is a vivacious young wife, who moves in a set far too swift to suit her staid husband, becomes involved in a series of events of a compromising nature, and only through the cleverness of her supposed co-respondent does she win back the affection and trust of her husband. John Boles plays opposite Miss Joy and H. B. Warner plays the role of the fascinating, sophisticated bachelor. The second feature on this program will be, "The Farmer's Daughter" with Marjorie Beebe. This is a rollicking, fast moving comedy which is a riot of fun from start to finish.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

There is good entertainment in "Restless Youth," starring Marceline Day and Ralph Forbes, which is the picture the big Granada Theatre in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. It is the type of photoplay that appeals to large audiences and all ages.

The five act vaudeville bill for the last half of this week is headed by Tillis and LaRue, Broadway favorites, in "Dance-O-Logue," an attractive dance creation handsomely staged and splendidly presented. It is an exceptional dancing treat and the two principals are assisted by the Four Roses, a quartet of beautiful girls. Billy Gilbert & Co. in "Ker-Choo," a hokum comedy act and the Howard Girls in "An Artistic Novelty" are other features of the current bill which is one of the best the Granada has offered this season.

When patrons of the Granada attend the performances next week Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of "Scarlet Seas," the newest Richard Barthelmess starring feature, they will see this popular star perform a dive of 40 feet from the deck of a ship into the sea. Betty Compson, a star in her own right, plays opposite Dick and they make an ideal screen team.

ENGAGEMENT OF FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Chamberlain of 247 Bedford avenue, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Chamberlain to Mr. Charles F. Martin of Boston. Vernon High School and attended Simmons College, Class of 1928. Miss Chamberlain is a member of the New York Library Club, the Simmons Club of New York, and a junior member of the Westchester Woman's Club. She is at present employed in the children's circulation department of the New York Public Library. Mr. Martin graduated from Colby Academy and attended Norwich University. He is employed by the L. S. Davis Electrical Company in New York City. Mr. Martin is a member of the New York Norwich Club and Squadron "A", 101st Cavalry.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The first meeting of the group interested in Educational projects is to take place on Tuesday morning, Jan. 29, at 10:45 in the Wyman School Hall. Mrs. Henry G. Pearson, president of the Nursery Training School of Boston will talk on the "Nursery School Movement," illustrating her talk with moving pictures of the Ruggles street Nursery School. This meeting is open to all those interested.

INTERESTING TALK ON "OLD WINCHESTER"

While announcing a most interesting entertainment, few of the members of the Ladies' Friendly Society realized what a popular event they were staging when they presented Mr. Samuel S. Symmes in an impromptu lecture on "Old Winchester" at the Unitarian Church last Friday evening. In fact the lecture proved so popular that it was with difficulty all the audience was cared for, and it was necessary to open the parlors to seat the throng at the opening hour. Mrs. Harriet C. Hildreth, president of the Society, presided and introduced Mr. Symmes.

Probably no more interesting or well-informed speaker could be found in town for this subject than Mr. Symmes. Born and brought up here, his parents and grandparents the oldest settlers of the town, he has a fund of knowledge and lore unequalled by any other resident. His talk was very interesting, and it was regretted by his listeners that he did not take more time and narrate further interesting episodes of the early life and history of the town.

He sketched the growth of the town from its first inhabitant, the Rev. Zachariah Symmes of Charlestown, who received the grant of land covering much of the territory west of the railroad between the center and to below Wedgemere, up to the present time, with our plans for the future beautiful development of our waterways. He spoke of the building of the old Middlesex Canal and the Railroad. He told how the volunteer firemen fought the early fires and the event of our first steam fire engine. The Indians who formerly occupied this section came in for a little publicity, and his exhibit of arrow heads and stone implements, all found on his farm at Symmes Corner was most interesting. His talk was enlivened by many homely anecdotes, the dry humor of which appealed strongly to his hearers and created much amusement.

In conjunction with the talk there was an exhibition of many old historical articles, including photographs, samplers and other treasures, loaned by interested residents.

It would be impossible to do Mr. Symmes justice in attempting a verbatim report of his talk, but should he choose to record his memoirs in pamphlet or book form, there is little doubt but what it would prove Winchester's best seller, if one may form an opinion from the interest displayed in his appearance last week.

AUTOMATIC TUNING NEW 1930 IDEA

Radio has entered a new era of simplicity of operation as tuning has now become child's play with the exclusive presentation of automatic tuning this year by the Zenith Radio Corporation of Chicago.

As the self-starter on automobiles eliminated hand cranking, automatic tuning now makes its appearance on radio receivers doing likewise to old-fashioned hand-tuning. Thus, another chapter is written into the annals of radio's progress.

With the recent reallocation of wave lengths, the merits which are now being argued pro and con, automatic tuning has proven a timely boon to radio reception. It enables instant, accurate tuning of both distant and local stations by the mere pressing of a button. Its performance and accuracy is almost uncanny as it logs stations automatically to return to their exact point on the dial at the touch of a finger. There is no limit to the number of stations that can be obtained by the Zenith automatic tuning device.

The Zenith automatic tuning device does not interfere in any way with the old-fashioned tuning as the dial is absolutely free to operate by hand regardless of the stations set on the automatic device.

It is predicted that the radio of the future will not be considered or termed modern radio unless it incorporates automatic tuning. Zenith now controls patent rights on automatically tuned radio through purchase of every known patent relating to it but the year 1929 will see other manufacturers of high grade radio licensed to its use.

Zenith automatic tuning is recognized as the only important radio development since the advent of all-electric reception and is not an experimental novelty but a practical and time-proven mechanical device which will eventually become standard equipment on all radio receivers of the future. A year in advance of all other radio, your inspection of Zenith automatic tuning is invited at the salesrooms of the Park Battery Station local authorized Zenith dealers at 600 Main street, Winchester.

VETERAN WINCHESTER TEACHER HAS RESIGNED

Miss Mary A. Lyons Has Completed 41 Years in Town's Service

After 41 years of service in the Winchester schools Miss Mary A. Lyons, principal of the Noonan School, has tendered her resignation to the School Department, the same to become effective Friday, Feb. 8.

It was with reluctance and regret that the department accepted the resignation of its veteran instructor, the oldest, with one exception, in point of active service in the town's employ.

Miss Lyons has had a distinguished career as a teacher, following her graduation from Salem Normal School. A member of one of Winchester's oldest families, she received her preliminary education in the public schools of the town and during her lifetime has devoted herself continuously to the work of the local department.

She started teaching in the old Gifford School on Main street, teaching later at the Chapin on Swanton street before being appointed principal of the Rumford School, which was replaced by the Noonan building. She has been principal at the Noonan since the school went into use five years ago.

Miss Lyons makes her home at 5 Everett avenue with her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Lyons, and her sister, Miss Emily L. Lyons. During her long career in the local schools the retiring principal has won for herself the respect and liking of a host of youngsters, many now grown to man and womanhood. The Star joins them in the wish that Miss Lyons may enjoy her richly deserved vacation.

WINCHESTER WON FROM BELMONT

In one of the most exciting games of the season Winchester High School's basketball team came from behind to win its Middlesex League match from Belmont High at Belmont Wednesday afternoon by a single point, 22-21.

"Hoot" Gibson, who had replaced "Johnny" Murphy at right forward, was the hero of the local victory when he caged the winning basket with but 35 seconds left to play. Belmont was leading 21-20, when the scrappy sorrel-top knocked in the ball which had rebounded from the basket after an unsuccessful shot by one of his team mates.

Belmont had a 12-8 advantage at the half and was still leading 21-18 with a mere two minutes of the game remaining. "Nutsy" Amico, high scorer of the afternoon, put Winchester into the running with a floor goal, which Referee Reid permitted to count after Kerrigan of Belmont had illegally batted the ball out of the hoop.

With Belmont still a point in advance the teams battled fiercely until Gibson made his epic wallop. Between the halves the Belmont seconds defeated the Winchester seconds, 22-19.

The summary of the first team game follows:

PRECINCT MEETINGS

In accordance with the movement to get the machinery of our new system of town government underway, precinct meetings were held throughout the town this week. The action of the Selectmen in stepping in and arranging for these meetings is highly commendatory, for by so doing they have started interest in the matter and opened the nominations for the town meeting members.

On Wednesday evening meetings were held by Precincts 2, 3 and 5. Precinct 2 has somewhat the advantage over the other five, in that interested citizens therein included had already called a meeting previous to that of this week, and its plans are therefore well advanced. At its Wednesday night meeting, Selectman Russell presided and Mr. James W. Stevens was chosen chairman and Mr. Clinton E. Farnham secretary. There was an attendance of 75 or 80 voters present, and the suggestion that a precinct organization be formed was defeated, it being felt that with the election of its group of town meeting members no organization was otherwise needed.

CALUMET NOTES

CALUMET NOTES

Tonight Calumet will put on one of the best entertainments of the season. It will be a new illustrated lecture by Arthur H. Merritt of Boston on the Natural Parks of Canada. The pictures are colored and thus show their natural beauty. After 8000 miles of travel over the scenic Canadian National Railways system from coast to coast, Mr. Merritt has secured a story of unusual incidents, beautiful scenery and interesting information that is told in picture form with about 200 stereoscopic slides, beautifully colored by one of Boston's best artists. Such pictures as the following will be shown: Minaki Lodge, Jasper Lodge, Maligne Lake, Kinney Lake, Jasper, Mt. Robson and Wainwright, National Parks, the Valley of the Thousand Waterfalls, Scenes, the great Glaciers of the Rockies. Mr. Merritt lectured before a large crowd last year and Calumet is fortunate in being able to engage his services at this time. His pictures are new and have never been shown hereabouts. Mr. Merritt is also famed as a lecturer and knows his subjects.

MISS ELLA CAROLINE ABBOTT

Miss Abbott was born Nov. 22, 1855, at Charlestown but had spent nearly her entire life in Winchester. She had been a member of the family at the Home since 1918 and leaves no immediate survivors. Funeral arrangements had not been completed as the Star went to press.

REBEKAHS PRESENTED COMEDY

Winchester Victoria Rebekah Lodge presented the two act comedy, "The White Shawl," last evening in Association Hall on Vine street. There was a good audience despite the weather and the evening was voted entirely successful. Miss Mildred Hamilton directed and acted as coach of the play and Mrs. Edna Gilchrist and Mrs. Sadie Fancie were in charge of the tickets. The cast follows:

Pro. Adolphus Katts
Arthur Clayton
Catherine Steele
Elizabeth Steele
George Ryall
Aunt Betsy Briggs

WAS FATHER OF MR. HOOPER

Michael J. Hooper, 84, who died on Monday, Jan. 28, at his home on St. Botolph street in Boston, was the father of Mr. Sidney F. Hooper of this town. The deceased was born in 1849 at Devonshire, England, and for more than 40 years had been paymaster for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. Sidney Hooper, 15 Foxcroft road, and were conducted by the Rev. Truman Hemmings, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. Mrs. Helen Edlefson Barr sang two favorite hymns. Interment was in Woodland Cemetery.

EVERETT BURNHAM

Everett Burnham, a retired ship builder, passed away Wednesday, Jan. 30, at his home, 396 Main street. He came to Winchester a little less than two years ago from Bath, Me., but the greater part of his life had been spent in Boston. He was born 89 years ago at East Boston and is survived by one brother, Charles Burnham of that city. Funeral services were held this Friday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. Morris J. Butler of the First Congregational Church. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Lexington High School plays basketball here tonight in the high school gymnasium, first and second teams, commencing at 7:30. This is a league engagement and should prove a good attraction.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Winchester Rotarians entertained Medford Rotary Club at the regular luncheon last Thursday noon. We were much gratified that so many of our Medford friends were able and willing to be present. Owing to the fact that the weekly meetings of both the Medford and Winchester Clubs are scheduled at the same day and hour it has been difficult for us to greet Medford Rotarians as frequently as we wish. We trust that this get-together will be followed by similar occasions in the near future.

Our Medford friends contributed to the entertainment by presenting their well-known double quartet. We had suspected that our neighbors possessed much musical talent and now we are sure of it. The quartet rendered two selections, and we would willingly have listened to several more.

It had been arranged for District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex County to address us at this gathering. Unfortunately Mr. Bushnell was called to court late on Thursday morning and was therefore unable to come to Winchester. However, he did not forget us. He sent to us Mr. Richard McCabe, one of his staff of assistants, who spoke of various matters connected with the conduct of the District Attorney's office.

If there were any present who anticipated a dry talk on still dryer matters, they were pleasantly disappointed. Mr. McCabe is a speaker whose remarks are capable of arousing interest in an ordinarily uninteresting subject, and his subject was by no means uninteresting. For instance, it should be a matter of pride to every citizen of this country to know that Middlesex is the only county in the United States which begins each month with a clean slate, every case from the preceding month has been properly disposed of on the first day of the current month.

Mr. McCabe closed his address by emphasizing this point, namely: by far the greater part of the crimes committed today are the result of the improper training of our children. The modern youth is prone to consider as his by Divine right anything which he can obtain by any manner whatsoever. It is not made plain to him that all the marvelous benefits which we enjoy are ours because somebody has worked hard and sacrificed much that these benefits might exist. And further that no one can rightfully enjoy these goods things unless he too works and sacrifices that those who follow in his footsteps may be encouraged to maintain, as well as to enjoy the better things of this life. Which, as Mr. McCabe was so kind as to suggest, is quite in keeping with the Rotarians' motto, "Service Before Self."

In conclusion we would say that it is a great pleasure to act as hosts to so fine a body of men as Medford Rotary Club. This affair has certainly performed its part in confirming our faith in Rotary. We shall carry on.

ANNUAL FIREMAN'S BALL TO BE HELD THIS EVENING

The concert and dance of the Winchester Fireman's Relief Association, the annual "Fireman's Ball," will be held this evening in the Town Hall with an entertainment program from 8 until 9:45, followed by dancing from 10 until 1.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to swell the relief fund of the association and as there is always an especially large attendance it would be well to arrive at the hall early. Each year it has been impossible to admit all who have wished to see the show.

This year's entertainment is being put on by the Metropolitan Booking Offices Inc., of Boston under the personal direction of "Flo" Nickerson. Joyce's Orchestra is to furnish music for the dancing.

Chief David H. DeCourcy is to serve as Floor Marshal, Deputy Chief John J. Gorman is to be assistant Floor Marshal and J. J. McCarron, floor director; Hugh J. Skerry, assistant floor director and Captain Edward Fitzgerald, chief of aids.

The complete entertainment program follows:
Constance and Cappel—Two men, fast dancing act.
Flo Nickerson—Mistress of ceremonies, singing, talking, comedy.
Franklin and Pierce—Man and woman, comedy skit.
Ma and June Ritchie—Two kiddies, singing, dancing.
Sang and Chung—Oriental entertainers, harmony singing.
Pennsylvania Comedy Four—Comedy singing, talking, dancing and music.
Billie Williams—Musical entertainer, well known radio star.

WINCHESTER'S RESERVOIRS APPROACHING SAFE YIELD

Report of Water Board Indicates Limit Will be Reached in 1935

Winchester's assumption that it has plenty of water to last indefinitely seems without foundation in fact, if one is to judge by information made public in the 56th annual report of the Water Board now in the hands of the printer to be included in the annual Town Report for 1928.

The Board felt when the three reservoirs did not fill in 1926 that it was time to investigate the future needs of the town and the amount of water which could safely be expected from the supply. In the report of the joint board appointed by the Legislature in 1919 to investigate the water supply needs and resources of the Commonwealth the statement was made that if Winchester's growth continued as in the past, its sources would be sufficient for 10 years (1929).

As far back as 1894 accurate surveys of the town's water system were undertaken and the present Board is in possession of information and facts which permit it to speak with authority upon the present situation which is not nearly so rosy as a majority may suppose.

As a result of exhaustive tests the Board believes that the town can store and utilize sufficient water to permit an average draft of from 850,000 to 900,000 gallons per day, safe yield, assuming that the years of high rainfall offset the situation existing when the reservoirs are drawn low during dry years and sometimes expecting that they will not over-flow for several years in succession.

The Board from its estimates, learned that Winchester's consumption of water increased from 550,000 gallons per day in 1915 to 750,000 gallons per day in 1927, or, at the latter date, about 15 per cent less than the safe yield of the sources of supply. From this it could be seen that if the consumption of the town should increase in the future at about the same rate as indicated by the Board's estimates, the present sources of water supply would be reached in about 1935.

Feeling that additional information would prove helpful the Water Board during last July laid the matter fully before the Department of Public Health, also inquiring as to the possibility of procuring additional water from the Metropolitan supply as it should be needed in the future.

As a result of recommendations by engineers of the State Department of Health the Board has installed weirs on the overflows at the reservoirs to determine the amount of water going to waste in overflow times, level gauges to determine the height of the reservoirs at all times and master meters on the mains to determine the amount of water used by the town. No Water Department in the State is better equipped than that of Winchester to know exactly where it stands with reference to water capacity and consumption.

The installation of this equipment did not cause the Board to revise its opinion that the present sources of water supply are not going to prove adequate for what is likely to be the future consumption of the town. The water used in the town has increased about 2 per cent each year and the town is growing very rapidly. The largest number of services, a total of 141, was installed in 1928. As there does not seem to be available, in addition to the reservoirs, any dependable supply which the town could use within its own limits which would pass the approval of the State Department of Health, the Board recommends that the town make a connection with the Metropolitan supply to be used only in emergency caused by a very dry time. In this way our own supply can be helped out and will furnish water for some time to come, dependant upon the condition of the weather.

In 1926 the Water Board stated in its report that the supply of water for the high service system in the south part of the town was inadequate and since that time notice has been served by the New England Insurance Exchange and Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department that there is not a sufficient amount of water for fire protection in that district. In 1926 consulting experts recommended that a 450,000 gallon steel tank be erected at Symmes Park or that a new main be laid parallel to the old one on Highland avenue. Several advantages to the town have prompted the Board to recommend the construction of the steel tank this year. The saving to the town thereby will be considerable as the estimated cost is $15,000 as opposed to from $49,000 to $50,000 for the additional main.

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the service annual Fisherman's Sunday service which is to be held on Feb. 17 at 10:30 a. m. in the First Congregational Church. This service, instituted by a little company of sportsmen who had been members of "Charlie" Lane's fishing parties in the Maine woods, has long since outgrown one group and now includes all men in Winchester (and many from out of town) who enjoy fishing.

The attendance at past services has been large and there is reason to expect that more than ever will attend this year. Everyone is invited but a word of warning ament an early arrival is considered timely.

Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, and an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton, will conduct the service and preach a sermon which is sure to have an especial appeal for all sportsmen and those interested in the great outdoors. There will be a special musical program by the church choir under the direction of Organist and Choir Director Joseph N. Ashton.

The coming of "The Jitney Players" to Winchester, Feb. 8 has a two-fold interest. Those who love a comedy with music will appreciate the charm of the popular players, who are visiting Massachusetts before leaving for their western and southern tour. And those who attend will have a feeling of satisfaction that they have furthered the efficient program directed by the Girl Scout Council under which auspices the Professional Art Theatre group is being sponsored.

The committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clifton Hall of 8 Lawrence street desired to bring to Winchester an evening's entertainment, which will prove a rare treat and in asking Bushnell Cheney to come to the Town Hall for a presentation of "A Trip to Scarborough" the Council will net a generous sum for its treasury, as well as provide two hours of singing, dancing and humorous situations.

The cast appears in charming costumes, which have been designed for Mr. Cheney by James Reynolds, the famous theatrical producer. The settings, including 12 scenes, are so cleverly changed that the audience is fascinated to watch the unique shifts. The prologue which introduces the piece, first performed at the Drury Lane Theatre, holds the spectators spellbound and not less interesting are the three acts which follow.

WINTON CLUB CABARET

On Friday evening, Jan. 25, the Winton Club once more sponsored a cabaret which filled the Town Hall with an unusually brilliant gathering. Tables gaily decorated with noise-makers and myriads of vari-colored balloons were most festive in effect. Marion Chase's orchestra, always popular here in Winchester, furnished excellent music and the enthusiastic audience was glad to applaud a special number which the orchestra gave in the course of the evening.

The program of the evening was divided into two major parts. Opening with a snappy dance, a chorus of "nurses" with Mr. Harold S. Fuller, the versatile president of the Winchester Hospital in the lead, executed lively steps and in clever adaptation of the current song, "It's My Weakness" sang good-naturedly of the hospital and its staff.

Next we were shown a mere husband's conception of a Winton Club, or any other woman's club-meeting. Mrs. Clarence Whorf as the presiding officer who had left her "business" at home, Mrs. Christopher Billman, with her report of the last meeting which was small "because there was a big tea that day," and Mrs. Herbert Kelley, the desperate treasurer whose husband hoped to find her lost thousand dollars before the July meeting, were capital in their parts. The members of the club (Mrs. Clark Collins, Mrs. Harold Farnsworth, Mrs. Harry Parsons, Mrs. Lucius Smith) with their vociferous comments carried this number through most amusingly. A brief tableau showing Winton Club members busily at work gave the audience an idea as to how this club is able to turn over to the hospital each year some 800 pieces of work in addition to the linen which is purchased from the proceeds of the cabaret.

That the men of the town also help the hospital in other than mere financial ways was demonstrated by the minstrel show which followed. Many of Winchester's favorites appeared in this number and everyone thrilled to recognize Loring Gleason, "Doc" Hinds, "Charlie" Kelley, "Jim" Russell, Harry Sawyer and "Bill" Wyman as end-men, with George Rivinius interlocutor and a black face chorus consisting of Harold Farnsworth, Nickles Huston, Charles LeRoy, Alex MacDonald, Ellsworth Snow and John Tarbell. Each of the end-men offered a solo number and everything from Loring Gleason's lengthy "gag" on "Charlie" Lane to "Bill" Wyman's nimble dancing was more enthusiastically received.

The last act, New Year's Eve at a night club, with Marion Chase's orchestra on the stage, tables brightly gay with balloons, and a charming galaxy of guests, was most effective. Mr. Lawrence Martin, whose singing proved most pleasing, played his part as club host with ease, and introduced the various members in gracious manner. A representative of the younger set, Miss Eleanor Ives, in piquant costume as "cigarette girl" sang "A Room With a View," and rightly was received with enthusiasm. Miss Margery Kimball and Mr. Philip Faversham, a bewitching coat girl and door boy, delighted everyone with their clever dance. A chorus of girls (Eleanor Davy, Rosamond Downer, Barbara Hitchcock, Esther Hollins, Amy Merrill, Dolores Maddocks, Barbara Wentworth and Gwendolyn Maddocks) the "nurses" of the earlier act, appeared in a lively dance, "Pickin' Cotton." Mrs. Helen Barr, cordially welcomed by her audience, sang a group of popular songs with irresistible attractiveness. Mr. Wyman, the man about town, and Mr. Gleason and Mr. Sawyer, the waiters, added amusing features to this act. The last number was a balloon dance by Mrs. George Leghorn, whose dancing was exquisite. A finale in which gaiety was the note, brought the evening's entertainment to a close. General dancing continued until a late hour.

The committees to whom credit for the arrangements should be given are as follows:

Cabaret—Mrs. Harold S. Fuller, chairman; Mrs. Rufus C. Clark, Mrs. Loring P. Gleason, Mrs. George M. Leghorn, Mrs. Alexander S. MacDonald, Mrs. Clifford O. Mason.

Dance—Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong, chairman; Miss Marguerite Barr, Mrs. Charles U. Eaton, Mrs. Charles R. Main, Mrs. Howard P. Morrison.

The group of young girls who sold candy, smokes and gardenias during the evening included Mary Armstrong, Nancy Bradley, Katherine Chamberlin, Alice Eaton, Carolyn Kidder, Mary Kidder, Sally Parsons, Betty Proctor, Eleanor Reed, Rosamond Rivinius, Helen Wild.

The Winton Club gratefully acknowledges the cordial, friendly support of the Winchester public, and the generous co-operation of the many workers who assisted in this most recent undertaking.

Movies, "The Eve of the American Revolution"

President Dalrymple congratulated a goodly number of parents and teachers for braving the cold and disregarding numerous other attractions Tuesday evening that they might see another film of the Chronicles of America series.

Before the showing of the picture the president pointed out that the old generation is always passing; that a new one is ever being born; and remarked that parents, with the background of the past before them, should be quicker to observe the ever changing conditions and should recognize that what once fitted into the old order may not blend with the new.

The president also touched upon the recent annual Dartmouth dinner in Boston at which Oxford University (England) was referred to as "the College where gentlemen are made" and predicted that the experiment upon which Harvard is now entering, backed by the Harkness donation of $11,392,000 might result in a new slogan: "The American College where gentlemen are made."

The film, "The Eve of the American Revolution" depicted scenes in Boston, Salem, Lexington and Concord more than 150 years ago. It showed the American boy of that generation heckling the British soldier, throwing snow balls and calling him "Lobster Back;" how the Britishers retaliated in the Boston Massacre; how the Stamp Act was resented by the Colonists when, disguised as Indians, they dumped the cargo of tea into the harbor.

This "Boston Tea Party" brought about the closing of the port of Boston and the removal of the seat of government to Salem. The provincial congress, composed of members of the dissolved house of representatives, is seen in session. Word is received that the British troops are to march on Lexington and Concord to destroy stores and ammunition. Dawes and Paul Revere set out by different routes to warn the provincials who gather first on Lexington green and later at Concord bridge. The British, harassed by the "minute-men" from behind stone walls, retreat in disorder to Lexington where they are reinforced by fresh troops.

Those who represented the outstanding characters, John Hancock, Boston's leading merchant; Samuel Adams, dubbed by the British "the chief trouble maker"; General Gage, in command of the British troops and Governor of Massachusetts, were particularly well chosen for their parts. Many in the audience considered this film superior to "The Pilgrims" shown at the first meeting on Nov. 13, 1928. A varied piano program rendered by Robert Shaw, a High School senior, added much to the enjoyment of the film. The usual social pericula with refreshments followed the picture.

Mr. Carl F. Woods of Cabot street was elected vice president of the Boston Dartmouth Alumni Association at the annual meeting and dinner held last Saturday evening in the Copley Plaza, Boston.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Good reading is an essential part of every human life.

The man who says I run things in my house usually means the vacuum cleaner, washing machine and errands.

Brooding over troubles usually insures a perfect hatch.

An optimist will work out his cross word puzzles with a fountain pen.

Any man wishing his dreams to come must be careful not to oversleep.

In response to repeated requests for information the Star wishes to make clear that any citizen may be a candidate for election as Town Meeting member in his precinct whether or not he is chosen for this purpose by the meetings which have been held to select names to be placed upon the ballots. All that is necessary is the requisite number of signatures to a nomination paper which may be obtained from the Town Clerk. These precinct meetings have been held primarily to get the new form of Town Government away to a good start and doubtless have aided materially in ensuring the nomination of many desirable candidates for Town Meeting members in the individual precincts. Those selected in this way, however, are by no means the only ones who can be candidates, a fact which many do not seem to understand. Any citizen can have his name included upon his precinct ballot, if a sufficient number of voters desires his nomination. We hope that there may be enough nominated to arouse a genuine interest in this first election under our new form of government.

APARTMENT HOUSES IT WINCHESTER

It appears very certain that there will appear in the Town Meeting Warrant articles calling for the raising of zoning laws to allow apartment houses on Vine street and on the old Prince School lot on Church street. The Vine street lot needs, so the STAR understands, but a few feet change in the zoning line. The Prince lot needs to be included in the zone permitting apartments. Both petitions, in the opinion of the STAR, should be granted by the Town. The time has arrived in the progress and growth of Winchester when such buildings are needed, and both locations appear very suitable for this purpose. The Vine street apartment would take the corner of the "Clark" lot, so-called, on Vine street and Elmwood avenue, and would cater to persons of moderate means desiring two or three rooms. The Prince lot building would be a modern apartment structure of most pleasing and desirable design and cater to persons of more ample means. Both projects appear desirable and both locations seem well suited as sites, both from a point of accessibility and investment.

THE KELLAWAY PLAN

It is with considerable gratification that the STAR has received many favorable commendations on its stand regarding the Kellaway Plan for the elimination of the center grade crossing. It seems very apparent that the larger majority of Winchester people favor this plan. Mr. Kellaway has also seen fit to issue a statement, appearing in this issue, and it is very probable that by next week facts and figures regarding the plan will be available.

The attitude of the STAR in this matter is two-fold. First to secure as soon as possible the elimination of the crossing and second to have such elimination made in a manner which will benefit rather than detract from the beauty and natural conveniences of Winchester.

The Kellaway Plan appears the most suitable in meeting these two points, for by its feasibility it appears that it must meet with the approval of the Railroad and County Commissioners and it will undoubtedly add to the attractiveness of the Town from a standpoint of beauty and finance.

A united action on this plan by the Town is to be earnestly desired. If we are to have the entire situation opened, as one gentleman suggests, or if we are to have a tunnel under the tracks as another gentleman desires, or still again if we are to have the "Congregational hill" dumped onto the tracks to climb up and down, as still another wishes, we may as well "fold up" and conserve our energy and cease worrying, for in such instances we will get whatever is given us whenever the gift is made. If we can secure an elimination which is universally acceptable and push it through, we will remove a handicap to Winchester's growth which has existed for many years, for this problem is one which affects the whole community, the school child as well as the adult, and the resident as well as the business man.

The chief detriment to our town problems and improvements has been diversity of opinion. We have not, in recent years, been able to unite on any one thing of public importance or improvement outside our waterways plans to date. This same grade crossing problem has been fought over for years, our new schools almost split our town into fragments, and surely we can find no unity in the War Memorial, which was without question universally desired. We have committee after committee work on this or that, only to be dismissed with no results accomplished.

If the Kellaway Plan can be carried out with a moderate cost, and the STAR believes it certainly can, let us push it and settle this vexing problem once and for all.

CORRECT FIGURES ON GRADE CROSSING PLAN

To the Editor of the Star:

I have read with keen interest your report on the recent hearing given by the Board of Selectmen to owners of property at the center, with reference to the proposed abolition of the grade crossing, and your editorial comment endorsing the so-called Kellaway plan for such abolition. It is too clear for comment that both articles are enlightened and sincere, and measure up to the best standards of your newspaper.

May I venture, however, to call your attention to one or two unintentional errors in those articles, which crept into them in spite of your recognized desire to state the facts accurately, and to argue the matter candidly, but which might mislead some of your readers.

You refer to the cost of the so-called Town Plan, calling for a four per cent grade of the streets at the center so as to bridge the tracks at the present crossing, as $1,600,000. The cost as I stated it on behalf of the Selectmen at the hearing to which you refer, is estimated at $1,065,700. Even the Stone Arch Bridge Plan, which as we pointed out would be the most expensive plan of all, is estimated at $1,355,200,—approximately quarter of a million dollars less than the figure which you quoted for the Town Plan. As was also there stated, those figures are not estimates by the Board of Selectmen, but were submitted to the Board by Charles T. Main & Co., engineers, who the Board retained as the most competent experts obtainable, for the purpose of making these estimates. And these figures are supported by schedules which will be printed in the forthcoming special report by the Selectmen on this matter. As you are aware, the present law, which may be changed, provides that the town shall pay not more than 10 per cent of the total cost of abolition.

Your articles referred also to the Guild plan as being the cheapest of the four principal plans, including the Town Plan. The Guild Plan is the Town Plan. The Vinal Plan, which is the least expensive of the four, and which you did not mention is undoubtedly that to which you meant to refer.

You mentioned also the desirability of careful study of the Kellaway Plan by the Board of Selectmen. Our study of this and other plans has been continuing over a period of several months. The careful estimates of the cost of the Kellaway Plan by Charles T. Main & Co. comprised only one aspect of that study. A whole evening's conference between Mr. Kellaway himself and the Board of Selectmen on his plan, which was held early this winter, was another. At that conference he stated that he had made, and had been asked to make, no detailed computations whatever in arriving at his published conclusion that the Kellaway Plan would not cost more than half as much as any other plan, but stated general considerations which seemed to him convincing. We believe that the investigation by the engineers above named is the only actual investigation yet made of that cost. And that indicates that the Kellaway Plan would be, next to the Stone Arch Bridge Plan,—calling for overhead trains,—far the most expensive of all the principal plans proposed.

This letter is written in accordance with the desire of the Board of Selectmen, is not intended as an argument for or against any plan, but merely to correct what might otherwise be a misapprehension of important facts concerned in this matter. As you well point out, the Kellaway Plan undoubtedly has certain advantages over each of the other plans. Some of these advantages you have not mentioned. But the same might truly be said of each of the plans. These considerations the Board will shortly undertake to present to the town in its special report above referred to.

Meanwhile your expression of your opinion on this vital matter is always interesting and helpful.

Cordially yours,
Joseph W. Worthen

Noisy

One day a woman who owns a small restaurant served dinner to a man and his wife. The man was deaf. In the midst of the meal, the owner of the restaurant noticed that the woman wrote a message on the order pad and passed it over to her husband. She felt that some comment had been made on the food which had been served.

After the guests had left, she read the slip of paper that had been left behind and found this: "Don't stir your ice tea so hard. It sounds as if you were beating a cake."

Mystery in Diamonds

The bulk of the diamonds is obtained from the hard bluish-green serpentine rock known as "blue ground" which is found in tunnels or craters deep within the earth.

The actual origin of the precious stone is mysterious. Chemically, it is similar to charcoal, to which it can be reduced by combustion, but its physical properties are entirely different. Volcanic changes are presumed to be associated with its formation.

REPLY FROM MR. KELLAWAY

Facts and Figures of His Plan to be Given

To the Editor of the Star:

In the last issue of the Winchester Star your news column contained certain statements that were made at a recent meeting of the Board of Selectmen in regard to the affected property owners for the abolition of the grade crossing that cast a certain amount of question upon my integrity. I refer to the phrase "One gentleman desired a letter of censure sent to Mr. Kellaway for deceiving the Town in this matter."

As stated in the Waterways report, the plan for the elimination of the grade crossing was devised to help the waterways problem upon which I was studying and well as offer a suggestion to try and solve one of the most dangerous grade crossing conditions in the State of Massachusetts. This was a contribution to the welfare of Winchester and was included in the Waterways report at my request.

The Aberjona River passes under the railroad tracks, some distance north of Winchester center, and to my mind the rails should stay as they now exist at this point, so a canoe or boat could pass for proper maintenance. If the tracks were lowered say four feet, the stringers of the new bridge would be at about the water level. The water level in the Mill Pond is about elevation 22.00 and the land at the tracks now is at about elevation 28.2. Thus it can be readily seen that with the bridge lowered four feet and allowing only two feet which would be little enough for structural work at the bridge, there would be no space left for a canoe to pass under.

It has been suggested that the ornamental circular dam at the Mill Pond be removed, thus lowering the water in the Mill Pond and in the Aberjona River. If this were done there would be needed a new dam to be built at Main street at the outlet of Wedge Pond to maintain the water level, otherwise, Wedge Pond would be partially dry and unsightly with water from four to six feet lower than at present.

In making the plan for the elimination of the grade crossing I did not know, and do not now, who the property owners were nor the valuation of the lands and buildings affected. I knew that the Skillings estate lands were open, which seemed to be the key to the whole situation. I believed then and I do now that the plan thus presented is the least expensive of any presented and will give the most benefit to the Town of Winchester as well as the general public. I might enumerate a few of the advantages of the so-called "Kellaway Plan."

1. It will allow the waterways project to go ahead free from contingency of grade elimination, and especially so if an agreement could be arrived at by and between the railroad and any other public officials that the tracks will remain as they now exist.

2. It will allow a proper foot subway being built immediately at the railroad station.

3. The agreement with the railroad would remove any question about the lowering of the dam and the drainage of Wedge Pond.

4. It would leave the Town Center at the grades now existing and the owners would then know what is happening and could improve their property without fear of upheaval in the future.

5. If the plan I have suggested is adopted, the construction can go on until completion and let Winchester go about its business as usual until the work is finished.

6. If all become united upon this solution the public mind will be at rest and the private interests will begin to see what advantage their property will enjoy from the improvement.

7. It will remove much poor property now existing and put it into a valuable class, as well as redeem the low areas and make them into beauty spots.

From your editorial I should judge that the scheme I have presented was the most expensive. As I have been criticised, I must now prepare some figures upon my own account so as to see if I have deceived the Town. As soon as I have secured these I will give them to the public so that any reflection upon my report can be removed.

Herbert J. Kellaway

WINCHESTER'S RESERVOIRS APPROACHING SAFE YIELD

The Department of Public Health has conducted several tests of the water which the local reservoirs supply to the Town and has found the quality and color in the main, excellent. It seems from the report of the Board that the only work necessary to be done about the reservoirs is the ditching and draining of a few places so that the water will not stand and become stagnant and discolored.

The work of reforestation about the reservoirs has been completed, over 300,000 pine trees having been set out during the past 10 years. The trees are making a good growth and the work from now on will be largely of a maintenance nature. The Board is maintaining a nursery in which a supply of trees is being raised to replace any which might be destroyed by fire. The chief value of pine trees lies in the shade they furnish to the ground, preventing the evaporation of rain which falls on the water shed.

Involving considerable labor, the Board has compiled a book of records covering all data of interest or value in connection with the operation and upkeep of its department. It is believed that no Water Board in the State is better equipped to know instantly where it stands with respect to its plant and equipment than is Winchester's.

ST. MARY'S ALUMNAE PLEASSED LARGE AUDIENCE

Presented Farce, "A Full House"
Last Evening in Town Hall

St. Mary's High School Alumnae presented the three act farce, "A Full House," by Fred Jackson before a large and enthusiastic audience last evening in the Town Hall. A previous performance for children was given last Saturday afternoon.

Not for some years have St. Mary's young people been seen upon the stage, and last night's efforts lead one to hope that the next wait will not be of so long duration. The previous production was the happy comedy, "Thirty Days," and "A Full House" proved in every way a worthy successor. The action was spirited, the lines witty, situations amusing and the plot satisfactory as farce plots go.

Briefly, the play dealt with the tribulations of one Ned Pembroke, Jr., who is very much in love with, as well as engaged to Daphne Charters, but whose standing with his fiancée had become more or less precarious as a result of the young lady's discovery of a previous affair which Ned had had with Vera Vernon, an actress. Among other things Pembroke had sent Miss Vernon the usual love letters which he very much desires to re-possess. In his extremity he calls upon a lawyer friend, George Howell, who is married to Daphne's sister, Ottily, and suggests that Howell rush Miss Vernon with a view of securing the precious documents. To this end Howell is obliged to leave his bride of a day and this fact arouses Ottily's suspicions which are further fanned by Daphne's aunt, Miss Winneker, who is all that the name implies. Howell succeeds in getting the wanted letters but not until after he had changed bags in a train wreck with a crook who had stolen jewels belonging to Pembroke's mother. The final denouement resolves Ottily's doubts of her husband and re-establishes Pembroke upon firm footing with his Daphne. Every one is happy at the fall of the final curtain.

St. Mary's presentation was a good one, the cast being well chosen for their respective roles. Isabel O'Connell and Katherine Kelley as Daphne and Ottily combined pleasing stage presences with good acting while Thomas Travers and Vincent Ambrose were well cast as Ned Pembroke and George Howell. We were glad to see Vincent again after his fine work in "Thirty Days." Some particularly good character acting was done by Susan McPartland, Helen Carroll and Roy McGrath who respectively took the comedy parts of Susy, from Sioux City, a maid; the maiden aunt, Miss Winneker and Jim Mooney, a policeman. Winnefer Connolly made a typical show girl and Mary DeLaurier was very good as the irate owner of the apartment where the action of the play occurred. William Callahan as Parks, a butler; Joseph Cullen as Nicholas King, the production's crook; Edward Danehy as Clancy, strong-arm of the law; and Katherine Ward as Mrs. Pembroke, all added their bit to the general excellence of the show.

"A Full House" was directed and staged by Miss Ann M. Gurney, teacher of elocution at St. Mary's High School. Candy was sold between the acts and dancing followed the production.

The cast follows:

Scene represents the drawing room of Mrs. Fleming's duplex apartment on Riverside Drive, New York City in the early spring this year.

MELROSE COLLEGIANS ONE GOAL BETTER THAN WINCHESTER

The newly organized Winchester Hockey Club was defeated by a single goal last Sunday morning on the Town rink at Winter Pond by the strong Melrose Collegians, contenders for the championship of the Mystic Valley Hockey League.

The visitors brought an aggregation of former high school and college hockey stars to Winchester, but were given sturdy opposition by the locals who have played but few games together.

"Pete" Lloyd, former member of the Boston Tigers sextet, was the big gun for Melrose and without him the visitors would very probably have gone down in defeat.

Lloyd counted for Melrose and Wadsworth for Winchester during the first period. In the second period Lloyd and Schofield succeeded in beating goaler T. Smith of Winchester and the locals trailed 3-1 at the start of the final period.

Only one goal was scored during the last 20 minutes and that by right wing Smith of Winchester, making the final score, 3-2.

The summary:
MELROSE WINCHESTER
Murphy, lw.rw. Smith
Lloyd, c.c. Black Schofield, rw.lf. Wadsworth Cheissons, lf.rd. Gamage Dallahan, rd.lf. Mason

Exercise Scientifically

Scientific physical culture will brighten the eyes, give the skin the rosy hue of health, make the cheeks round, the flesh firm, the body strong and symmetrical—beautiful in all its proportions.—Bernarr MacFadden in Physical Culture.

Delusion

It many times falls out that we deem ourselves much deluded in others because we first deluded ourselves.—Sir Philip Sidney.

Listen to It Grow

If you wish to try an unusual experience find a clump of eulalia on the first really warm day of spring, when the trees are leafless, the ground bare, and the thermometer hovers between 70 and 80. Then stand quietly and listen to it grow. You will soon hear a sharp click among this hardy, tall-plumed plant that grows on lawns in all parts of the country. It will sound as loud as a snap of your fingers. New shoots are trying to push between the stalks of last year, and the flinty hardness of the dead culms holds them back. Youth will not be denied. The shoots shoulder their way between the bases of the old canes, expanding quickly in the spring sunshine. The strain increases until the old wood gives way with a snap.—Nature Magazine.

Often Noted

We sometimes tear the better man pretends to be the worse he talks about you.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Pope Voluntary "Prisoner"

The Pope is characterized as the "prisoner of the Vatican" because he has taken upon himself voluntary imprisonment as a protest between the Vatican and the Quirinal, dating from 1870.

Profitable Salvaging

Bright new tin buckets, cups and other articles are being manufactured from old metal roofing, empty powder and carbide containers and other junk salvaged by the railroads, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Old broom handles are made into staffs for signal flags, old canvas is transformed into curtains for the locomotive cabs and aprons. Thrift practices such as these save the carriers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, according to the American Railway association.

CALUMET NOTES

The February calendar has been issued and the following are the doings:

- Feb. 1—Arthur H. Merritt's Illustrated Lecture, "The Northwest."
- 5—Afternoon bowling for the ladies.
- 9—Men's bowling, followed by eats.
- 12—Lincoln Day celebration. Address by Hon. Joseph E. Warner, District Attorney of Massachusetts.
- 14—Dinner Bridge 6:30, under direction of Arthur Dickson, Bridge, 8 o'clock.
- 16—Smoker. Watch Star for details.
- 22—Bowling all day. Children's Entertainment at 3 p. m. Chafing Dish supper at 6:30, followed by dancing until midnight.
- 23—Open House.
- 26—Afternoon Bridge.

The mixed bowling tournament started on Jan. 21. Much interest is being manifested and the competition is keen. Calumet has some fine bowlers amongst the women and it is quite often that their scores run into the 100 column. Bowlers will be re-rated after the 5th match and new bowlers after the 3rd match.

The men's bowling tournament will draw to a close on March 4. Some of the teams have only one more match, however, to roll. The date of the dinner when those above the bread-line will profit at the expense of those below will be announced in these columns later. Hall Gamage still leads with a high single string of 147 and Earl Goldsmith with a three string total of 369. Although Calumet has some fine rollers, it seems difficult for anyone to reach a higher figure and these two members have held the high single and high three string for some time. The standing of the teams through Jan. 28 are as follows:

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meeting of The Fortnightly was held on Monday, Jan. 28 with the first vice-president, Mrs. Christine E. Hayden presiding. The program which followed a short business meeting was unusual and pleasing. First, Mr. Alfred Whitman spoke briefly of the need of the commission which Governor Allen would like to have appointed in the interests of child welfare in Massachusetts. The artists of the afternoon, Mrs. Maud Cuney-Hare and Mr. William H. Richardson entertained with a costume recital. Their subject "From the Orient to the Tropics" was a history of the development of Creole music showing the types of music which had contributed to its formation. Mrs. Cuney-Hare has done much research on this subject both in the Southwestern part of the United States and in the West Indies. Many of the accompaniments played during the program were arranged by her from folk songs she had heard sung. Mr. Richardson has sung in many cities in the United States and has been soloist with the San Juan Porto Rico Symphony orchestra. He also gives annual recitals in Jordan Hall.

The program was in three parts. First the Oriental part in which the artists appeared in Oriental costume. The songs used were a very old song of worship from Egypt "There Is No Deity, But God," a Camel Chant and love song from Arabia and love songs from Morocco. Mrs. Hare also spoke of the new field of folk songs from South Africa and Mr. Richardson sang as an illustration a coronation song which was also used as a war song by these people.

The second part of the program was Spanish and both artists appeared in Spanish costume. The songs which were all sung in Spanish came from Spain, South America and Cuba. Many of them were in the Habenera rhythm which is characteristic of much of the Spanish music. It was interesting to learn that this rhythm originated in Havana. One very pleasing song in this group was a modern one, "The Sea Speaks to Me of You" written by a native of the West Indies, Margaron, who is now studying in New York.

The last part of the recital was devoted to the real Creole music as it is found in the West Indies and Louisiana. Of special interest was a group of street cryer's calls which Mrs. Hare found so musical when she was visiting in Porto Rico that she took down the notes. Some of the calls, as sung by Mr. Richardson, were almost complete songs and showed how musical the people of these islands are. Many of the Creole songs are songs of derision, mockery and satire. Many are written in the Habenera rhythm. For the closing number Mr. Richardson sang a song of praise to the Creole maiden of Louisiana. As an encore he sang a little Mexican song "Yo Soy Una Chinita Mexicana."

Literature Committee
On Monday afternoon, Feb. 4 at 2:30 o'clock the Literature Group will meet in Fortnightly Hall to consider the subject, "Sailing the Sea in Books." Mrs. Maud H. Bridge is in charge, assisted by Miss Cora A. Quimby and Mrs. Mildred E. Grey. Marine literature covering narratives of earliest explorers, sailing ship narratives, casual travelers, poets and novelists, provides a wealth of material for enjoyment and study. Several appropriate poems on the sea selected from the works of Kipling, Browning, Byron and others will be read by Mrs. Blanche Barnard, chairman of the committee, who will also give a brief bibliography at the close of the program. An added feature will be the singing of several sea chancies by Mrs. Annette Hughes.

American Home Committee
Miss Regina M. Feeney of the Middlesex County Extension Service will give her second lecture on "Furnishing the Living Room" on Friday, Feb. 8 at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall. The first lecture dealt with wall finishes and wall papers and the use of color through draperies and other furnishings. In the second lecture, Miss Feeney will speak of the correct hanging of pictures for the living room, the elimination of unartistic and inappropriate ornaments, and the selection of suitable works of art, which will lend charm and beauty to the living room.

A Ford touring car, driven by William Anderson of Dunster lane while going east on Church street at the Wyman School was in collision at 8:30 Wednesday morning with a Peerless roadster, owned by Arthur Speedie of 33 Oxford street and operated by Frederick H. Young of Cambridge. The Peerless was somewhat damaged but no one was injured.

At a meeting of the trustees and town directors of the Middlesex County Extension Service held last Saturday in Concord, Robert F. Guild, town director of Winchester, was among those present. The work of the organization during the past year and plans for the coming season were discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Larson of this town sailed Saturday, Jan. 26, on the S.S. Alleghany of the Merchants and Miners Line from Boston to Jacksonville, Fla.

The men of the Fire Department were given a cold run shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday morning when a telephone call was received at headquarters from a house just over the Woburn line on Holton street. The telephone was listed under the Winchester exchange which accounted for the call being sent to the Winchester Department. Trouble was caused by the bursting of an expansion tank which had been frozen.

Mrs. William H. McGill of Oxford street was omitted last week from the list of patronesses, published in the Star, for the Winchester Girl Scout Council's show which is to take place next Friday evening, Feb. 8, in the Town Hall.

The Winchester "Congo" team defeated the Woburn "Congo" team 38 to 22 in a basketball game Saturday night despite the absence of Murray Mercer and Van Cunningham. This is the third straight win for the team. Saturday night the team will play the Melrose Y. M. C. A. at the church gym.

The Star extends thanks to Harry Good of the well-known Good's Riding School, 41 Franklin avenue, West Medford, for one of his beautiful calendars. As usual the calendar is embellished with one of Harry's thoroughbreds, this year done in colors.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Fern of Washington, D. C. announce the birth of a son, Robert John on Oct. 9, last. Mrs. Fern was formerly Miss Gertrude Wildberger of this town.

Mr. Edward H. Merrill of this town was in charge of the "birthday party" which the Woburn Rotary tendered its fellow member and piano player, James F. McGrath, on Tuesday. "Jim" was presented a handsome silver serving set in recognition of the time and effort he has expended at the piano in behalf of the Club. He is well known among Winchester Rotarians who have reason to appreciate his musical ability since he also plays for the weekly meetings of the local Club.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Grand Regent Mabel W. O'Brien, Vice Regent Mary E. Martin and several members of the local Court attended the minstrel show given by Court St. Agnes of Arlington on Monday evening. They voted the show the "best ever." The local Court is planning the same kind of show to be presented in the near future.

Many of the members are planning to attend the "musical review" to be given by Court Reading on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week. Prominent on the Reading committee of arrangements is Mrs. A. Wm. Rooney, a former well-known resident of this town.

At the regular meeting next week on Thursday evening plans will be formulated for the coming social and charitable events on the Court calendar.

Loren, who had been visiting in grandparents for the summer, got a present of a puppy as a playmate. He could not help but write his mother about it but still wished to surprise her when he got home so he wrote: "I have a surprise for you when I get home, but I can't tell you what it is until I get home. But I am going to tell you just one little thing about it. It harked all last night and kept awake."

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "Adoration" with Billie Dove and "The Air Circus" with Louis Dresser, David Rollins, Sue Carol and Arthur Lake.

"Adoration" is the story of glorious days of romance in the glittering splendor of Russian aristocracy. Adorable Billie Dove runs the gamut of emotions in this story of a misunderstood wife—a jealous husband and a notorious woman who played one against the other.

The theme of the "Air Circus" deals with the efforts of a young man to conquer his fear of the air with the aid of his mother, the girl he loves, and his buddy.

For the last three days of the week the program includes "Man Made Women" with H. B. Warner and Leatrice Joy and "Riley the Cop" with Farrell MacDonald and Louise Fazenda.

Farrell MacDonald, in "Riley the Cop," is cast as a jolly New York patrolman. He is sent to Munich to bring back a prisoner. Instead, he meets a fun-loving beer-garden girl and proceeds with the business of showing Europe how an American gentleman can carry refreshments.

MANCHESTER DEFEATED WINCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., High School proved too good for Winchester last Friday evening in the annual mid-years game between the two schools, winning 39-15 at Manchester and outclassing the locals all the way.

Coach Mansfield tried out a new combination against Manchester in an effort to bolster his offense, materially weakened by the loss of the team's high scorer, "Livin' McNeil. "Nutsy" Amico, who showed so well against Reading, was moved up from center to a forward berth, Captain "Skin" Kendrick dropping back to center. Elliott and "Hoot" Gibson filled in for McNeil at right forward and neither succeeded in scoring a single point.

Winchester made only four goals from scrimmage during the entire game, Amico getting three of these and Kendrick the other. Wilson, Manchester's right forward, outscored the entire Winchester five with nine floor goals and four fouls for 22 points. The local defense seemed unable to keep this keen-eyed sharpshooter bottled up.

Manchester went right to work and outscored the locals 2-1 during the first half which ended 18-9 with Winchester on the short end. Amico scored the only floor goal for Coach Mansfield's charges after intermission, the other four points coming from shots at the foul line. Winchester made a good showing in its shots from free tries, sinking 8 out of a possible 11. Manchester made 7 out of 12 good.

One cannot help thinking what a different community Winchester would be and what a different world to live in this would be if only all of us would cultivate the grace of good nature. It is the best tonic for nervous disorders, the surest preservative of home happiness, and the most effective remedy for the divorce disease now so unhappily prevalent everywhere. That Winchesterite who has learned how to take even the most disagreeable things and grievous disappointments good naturedly may never acquire great wealth, but he will be what The Paragapher believes is much better—both happy and a source of happiness, and the happiness he carries with him will be like a bit of sunshine in the Mammoth Cave.

A Winchester business man wants to know whoever set the fashion of signing names so nobody could read them.

Winchester's ideal home demonstrator is a wife who can bake crisp biscuits.

"There is one well established institution here in Winchester to be admired—it is The Winchester Star," said a well known townsman the other day. "The great mass of Winchester folk, I like to believe, look to it for counsel and information with full confidence in its fairness and its freedom from ulterior influence." Thanks, brother, thanks! The Star pays tribute to no master, wears no fellow citizen's collar and acknowledges no boss except the good people of Winchester. It acknowledges obligations only to the people, the people that are sustaining it.

We have just been told of a certain Winchester young woman who has become so attached to the hero in a novel that she hates to leave him long enough to wash the dishes.

Old fashioned remedies are often the best; and a well known Winchester woman is probably right in exhorting her sisters with agitated nerves to calm themselves with needlework. Stitching is a rhythmic occupation, and rhythm is always restful.

Remember, good Winchesterites, not yesterday nor tomorrow.
But today is the time to do—
To give each task you have to do the very best
Of all that lies in you.

A Winchester young woman of our acquaintance has made an important discovery. To prevent other young ladies from borrowing her latest music she just writes the name of her best admirer on the margin. She says the borrowers are scared to death of the effect the sight of the name would have on their own young men, and so do not ask for the marked copy.

A well developed bump of memory is very useful to a Winchesterite, but very much doubt if it is to be compared for value to a wife who will find things for him.

A leading Winchester churchman remarks that there are people here in town who cannot tell how many stars are in the flag, but who can name 50 movie stars almost off hand.

A certain love sharp who occasionally drops in at The Star sanctum says one of the ten qualities a man should seek in a wife is the ability to see and take a joke and we are now looking for some Winchester lady to come back with the remark that if the average woman could not take a joke she would have to remain in the maiden class.

HERALD TO RUN PAGE OF COMICS EVERY MORNING

"Little Orphan Annie" and "Moon Mullins" to Have Clever Company

"BUCK ROGERS" IS EERIE ADVENTURER

"In the Rough," "Don Key O. T.," "Dog Days" Will Amuse Varying Tastes

Starting Feb. 4, The Herald will publish daily a full page of comic strips, arranged so as to appeal to the variety of tastes served by the daily newspaper. Included with some of the older and well established strips such as "Little Orphan Annie" and "Moon Mullins," will be one of the most unusual and attractive series yet devised. It is entitled "Buck Rogers," the action taking place 500 years in the future.

The eerie adventures of Buck Rogers is a feature that will appeal to men and women as well as children. All the fantastic devices prophesied for the future and dozens that have never even been imagined before are incorporated, the whole making a sequence that is as smooth as a novel.

The trials and tribulations of the favorite, "Little Orphan Annie" and the haphazard existence of the droll "Moon Mullins" and his queer little brother Kayo, will continue to be shown daily, but they will be supplemented by many other features that carry a wide appeal.

"In the Rough" New

"In the Rough" is the title of a new strip, one that will tickle the risibilities of anyone who has ever gripped a masher for a spectacular shot and succeeded in sending the little white ball into the rough where the grass grows tallest and the underbrush thickest. The Doctor, playing the main role in this strip, is one of those golfers whose feebleness of execution is exceeded only by the scope and color of his vocabulary.

A pictorial drama without words is Don Key O. T., another new feature. It will be without words, because words would fail utterly to describe the colossal misadventures encountered by the immortal Spaniard in the sequence of the strip.

Medley of Wisecracks

The present day fad for snappy repartee and picturesque word description is reflected in "Tom Sims' Laughlines," a medley of wisecracks and jazz age philosophy, which contains many a truth spoken in jest.

"Dog Days," by D. T. Carlisle, will furnish amusement for those who like pets. One of the most popular features ever used in The Herald is "Highlights of History," an entertaining, instructive and thoroughly authentic education strip depicting the dramatic episodes of American history. This will continue to have a place of honor among the new features and is expected to continue to fascinate children and adults.

WE UNDERSTAND "ART" WAS AMONG THOSE PRESENT

The following story taken from the columns of the Boston Herald will prove interesting to the many Winchester friends of Arthur E. French, Jr., captain of this year's Harvard varsity football team:

"Indifference to football may distinguish a portion of the undergraduate body at Harvard, but a certain young lady prominent in Boston debutante circles proved conclusively shortly after the end of the recent football season at Harvard that this characteristic is by no means limited to the students, as the football alarmists claim, and thereby hangs a tale. "The story has been learned from the best authority, in fact from one who was present on the occasion, that on the Monday evening following Harvard's 17-0 victory over the traditional blue rival at New Haven, a deb dinner-party was held in Boston prior to one of the coming-out dances at which Capt. Arthur E. French, Jr., of the Harvard football team was present.

"When the news was noised around among the young ladies who were to be present at the dinner that "Art" French was to be present, much excitement prevailed as to which girl was to have the honor of being escorted to dinner by the Crimson gridiron leader, whose name was on everyone's lips. Finally after being besieged by telephone calls, the harassed hostess decided that the simplest way out of the difficulty, as all the girls wanted to be French's partner, was to have her guests draw lots for dinner partners.

"So when the time for the dinner arrived cards were passed out for dinner partners, and the unlucky girls were green with envy over the good fortune of the young lady who drew Captain French. As soon as the guests were comfortably seated at the table, the young lady turned to her escort, and by way of opening the conversation, inquired naively: "Did you see the game Saturday?"

"What French's reply was to this question, history does not relate, but the incident created what almost bordered on a riot among the other girls at the dinner."

Peculiar Musical Notes

Buckwheat notes were a style of notation used in the Middle West singing schools before the Civil war. The notes were round, square or triangular, black or white, according to the place in the scale they occupied. By the shape of the notes you could tell the scale location. The buckwheat note idea was said to be the work of Dr. Samuel Wakefield, about 1825, and that some doctor of divinity was grandfather of Charles Wakefield Cudman.

WOULD-BE HOUSEBREAKER GIVEN LONG SENTENCE

Frederick Fleischauer to Serve 15 Years in State's Prison

Frederick Fleischauer, alias Frank Fleming, alias Frank Fenn, who was arrested by Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey of the Police Department on Sunday evening, Dec. 9, and since convicted of attempting to enter the home of Mr. J. Judson Dean at 6 Everett avenue, was sentenced Monday afternoon in the Superior Court at East Cambridge to serve 15 years in State's Prison. The defendant was found guilty last Friday afternoon by the Grand Jury of attempting to break and enter in the night time and of having burglar's tools in his possession. In each instance he was also found guilty of being an habitual criminal, making the maximum sentence provided by law for his offenses mandatory.

Fleischauer was arrested as the result of a telephone call received at police headquarters stating that a man had been acting in a suspicious manner about the Dean home on the Sunday evening mentioned above and had evidently been prevented from entering the dwelling only by the sudden appearance of the housekeeper.

When booked at headquarters the defendant had with him a knife with a cleverly jagged blade which could be used as a saw and a wooden fulcrum for prying open windows. A chisel which he threw away just before his arrest was later found in some bushes on the former Ginn estate just off Bacon street and not far from the scene of the attempted break.

Fleischauer first gave his name as Frank Fleming and said that he came from Philadelphia, also mentioning an address in Boston where he had been living. A check-up by the authorities proved the information false and State Finger Print Expert Roscoe C. Hill was finally able to establish the man's identity, despite the fact that the ends of his fingers had been scraped to frustrate just such an attempt.

Fleischauer was born in Bremerhaven, Germany, and made his home, previous to his arrest, in New York at the West Hotel, Third avenue and Sixth street. He had been arrested in Newark, N. J., March 16, 1924, for burglary and for having burglar's tools in his possession. He served a three-year sentence at Trenton, N. J., for the break in Newark and had previously been committed to Sing Sing in 1917 for burglary on Long Island, N. Y. Fleischauer's entire criminal record was a long one and made the capture doubly important.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh characterized the catch as one of the best ever made in the history of the local department and stated that in his opinion a series of bad breaks was averted by Patrolman Dempsey's arrest. About the same time Fleischauer was arrested here the Cambridge police took into custody today in the Brattle street section of that city another German, thought to be a pal of the first named whom the authorities believe had been driven along with him from New York City by the operation of the Baumes law.

McCAULEY—THOMPSON

Miss Lillian Irene Thompson, daughter of Mr. Thomas Alphonso Thompson of Brookline, and Joseph Thomas McCauley, son of Mrs. Thomas F. McCauley and the late Mr. McCauley of Elm street, were married Wednesday morning, Jan. 30, in St. Aidan's Church, Brookline. The ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock by the Rev. John T. Creagh D.D., who also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. Miss Thompson was attended by her sister Miss Mary Evelyn Thompson of Brookline and by her nephew, Master Donald William Thompson of Wollaston, the latter serving as ring-bearer. Frank McCauley of Winchester was his brother's best man and the ushers were Timothy E. Harrigan of Medford, Thomas Alexander Thompson and Elmer Joseph Thompson, both of Brookline; and Joseph Allan Blackham of Winchester.

The bride wore a wedding gown of ivory satin moire and carried a prayer book of mother-of-pearl with ribbon place markers tied with valley lilies. Her maid of honor wore a gown of pink satin moire and carried a muff of yellow marguerites.

A wedding breakfast was served, following the mass at the Ritz Carleton in Boston and upon its conclusion Mr. and Mrs. McCauley sailed for a honeymoon in Bermuda. They are to make their future home in Brookline.

The Native Doctor

The native trained in medical work is becoming a main factor in bringing about the new day in Africa, states the Missionary Herald, an English Baptist monthly. It says further: M. Louis Franck's humorous description of the native medical assistant confronting the witch doctor could be echoed by every missionary. "Standing before the witch doctor he says to that ancient charlatan—'You are an ass,' and then proceeds to prove it. 'Look,' says he, 'through the lens of my microscope at the minute creature shown there. This is the cause of disease, not the entrance of an evil spirit. You know nothing at all about it. I am the one who knows.' Hence the end of the witch doctor's influence."

New Yellowstone Geyser

Many people are in the habit of regarding geysers as stable institutions like mountains and lakes. But such is not the case. Geysers come and go with little notice. This is proved by the fact that recently one of the largest geysers in the world opened up in Yellowstone National park. Twice a day the new geyser spouts a terrific stream of water about 75 feet high and continues for three hours. Its crater is 100 feet wide, 120 long, and 8 deep. It is near the famous Excelsior geyser which ceased to spout in 1888.

The ways of life can most readily be illuminated by humor and burlesque. A laugh a day will keep more doctors away than an apple ever can. The strain of long hours of work, the tedium of the sickroom, the minutes of enforced waiting are relieved by the hurly-burly, the rough and tumble, and the rowdy that make up the figures turned out by originators of today's comic strips. This is human interest stuff; a graphic depiction out of the lives of the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker; a part of all of us.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON FROM MELROSE

Winchester High School girls' basketball team continued its winning stride Tuesday afternoon, defeating Melrose High in the local gymnasium 33-21.

Coach Centerville's lassies out-classed Melrose all the way, Captain "Ginnie" Merrill equalling, individually the score which the entire visiting team was able to run up.

"Ginnie" tossed in the first goal of the game and Winchester led at the quarter, 9-2. The score at the half was 17-10 in favor of the locals.

Following intermission Winchester's defense tightened appreciably and with "Fran" Pettengill playing an especially tight game at left guard, Melrose was unable to score a single point.

Winchester meanwhile had run its total to 26 and was apparently set to win by a lopsided margin when Melrose came to life. Miss Davis, visiting left forward, shot three baskets in quick succession interspersed with a shot from the foul line by Miss Hunt. The locals came back strongly and kept their lead to the end of the game, but were given just a bit of a scare for a few moments.

For Melrose, Captain Headburg was out-standing. Captain Virginia Merrill, Mary Cutter and Frances Pettengill excelled for Winchester.

The authorities did not take this view of the affair.

WINIFRED BROCKBANK

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Wakefield for Winifred Brockbank of Wakefield who died Jan. 25 in her 24th year, after a lingering illness. She leaves a host of friends in Winchester, having lived here three years while training at the Winchester Hospital. Previous to her graduation from the hospital she was graduated from Wakefield High School. She is survived by her mother, two brothers and a sister. Another brother was killed in action during the World War. Winifred was loved by all who knew her and will be well remembered for her loving disposition and kind heart.

SARGENT—MacPHERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer Virtue of Newton Highlands announce the marriage of their daughter Isabel MacPhereson to Paul Brainerd Sargent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mentor Howard of Winchester on Thursday, Jan. 31. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick in the Chapel of Union Theological Seminary in New York. Only the families of the bride and groom were present.

Doesn't Look Its Age

Scientists at the University of California, after a geologic survey of Colorado, Utah and Arizona, claim the world is 75,000,000 years old.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The radiant blonde, Vilma Banky, comes into her own as a full-fledged star in "The Awakening," a dramatic love lyric of post-time Alsace, which is playing at the Granada Theatre, Malden today and tomorrow. In addition to this most unusual and entertaining picture there will be the usual five acts of high grade Granada vaudeville headed by the Kikytas Japs, the Oriental wonder workers, in a novel acrobatic and tumbling feature.

It is difficult to conceive Nancy Carroll as shopworn. She is too bright, too elusive, too lovely to give even the faintest suggestion of what the word connotes. Yet she is "The Shopworn Angel" in the absorbing new feature which comes to the Granada next week Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Gary Cooper is featured with her in this picture. They are a unique pair of screen lovers. Nancy is the dainty, super-sophisticated little heroine who has probed the heights and depths of Broadway and has sought and purchased its glittering luxury. Gary is the shy, bashful, awkward boy from the West, who gets to New York for the first time when his company mobilizes there on its way to France. These two meet, the clean-minded youth and the gilded Broadway beauty. These two love. Then Nancy realizes that he loves her for what he thinks she is, not for what she really is. There are dancing girls galore and tender, thrilling scenes. It is a super-refined entertainment.

Must Be Right to Endure

I am not discouraged. Things will right themselves. The pendulum swings one way and then another. But the steady pull of gravitation is toward the center of the earth. Any structure must be plumb if it is to endure, or the building will fall. So it is with nations. Wrong may seem to triumph. Right may seem to be defeated. But the gravitation of eternal justice is toward the Throne of God. Any political institution which is to endure must be plumb with the line of justice.—From the last speech of John P. Altgeld.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Believe it or not, but right here in Winchester a townsman who knows a thing or two about telephone service tells us that the "trouble" on a line that had for a long time baffled discovery was located, when a house was visited where an elderly lady who was sitting in a rocking chair knitting had the receiver tied to the back of her chair so that she could hear all that was said on the line while her needles flew.

A Winchester young woman has started a new craze—at least it is new in Winchester. She has an album of hair, each gentleman friend contributing a lock. The idea is Indian, we are told.

A cat may have nine lives, but it cannot croak as often as some of those frogs over near the Woburn line in the good old summer time—now only about six months away.

The thing to do with all the hand-bills placed in Winchester mail boxes is to save them up, tear them up, and use them for confetti the next time there is a big wedding in town.

We are sorry to say that there are men here in Winchester who entertain the idea that they are not under any obligations to speak the truth and nothing but the truth unless they are under oath.

Honing for the best is a good habit but working hard is likely to bring a Winchesterite more satisfactory results.

No Winchesterite can serve two masters. But we happen to know one fellow here in town who is the slave of his wife and his mother-in-law.

A well known Winchester man was telling the "boys" in a local barber shop how he had graduated with high honors from Yale University, when a dog in the place belonging to one of the customers playfully grabbed one of his trouser's legs and tore it. One of the "boys" expressed the opinion that the gentleman must have graduated from a cussin' school.

Dimes are such curiosities with a certain well known professional man that he calls his pocketbook his dime museum.

There are a great many men here in Winchester who do not seem to know what a lot of fine preachers we have in this community. Drop in one of the churches some Sunday and listen to a good sermon. It will do you good. No, your presence will not frighten the life out of the preacher.

We know folk in this town who get hopping mad because people talk about them. Just think of the way they talked about that poor comet some years ago, that never did anybody harm.

Primitive Counting

While enjoying a holiday in Finland, writes an English traveler, I flew across by seaplane to spend a day in Reval, the capital of Esthonia, and I was very interested to see that in all shops they still use the ancient and primitive abacus, the frame with colored balls, used in kindergartens, for purposes of adding. I went first to a bank to change a sovereign. They accepted the coin with some suspicion and checked the notes they gave me on one of these ball frames, and when I went to the post office to get a set of stamps as a souvenir they totaled the amount I had to pay by the same method. I am no mathematician, but I got my total first.

UNITARIANS ANNOUNCE PARISH HOUSE DEDICATION PLANS

Next Sunday morning, in connection with the regular service, the new parish house of the Winchester Unitarian Church will be dedicated. The pastor, Rev. George Hale Reed's sermon will be "The Unconscious Dedication." Immediately after the close of the service the congregational will march into the new Sunday School room for the dedicatory exercises.

The completion of the building marks the end of a program for the extension of the facilities and equipment of the church property which extended over a year's time. On April 21, 1928, the new three manual organ, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst, and the new chancel, were dedicated. On Dec. 30, 1928, the chime of 18 bells, the gift of Miss Elizabeth and Mr. Jere A. Downs in memory of their mother, were also dedicated. In the meantime the plans for the parish were being rushed, the ground having been broken in June and the cornerstone laid on Sept. 15. Now the society is in possession of a modern plant adequate to meet its demands for years to come.

UNITARIAN MEN ENTERTAINED

There was a good attendance at the entertainment and dance given last evening in the Town Hall by the Unitarian Men's Club for the church building fund.

Following the overture played by Ives broadcasting orchestra of 10 pieces, nine all star acts of professional vaudeville were presented, the show being one to equal any of a similar nature staged in Winchester.

But one change was necessary in the original bill. Helen Edlefson Barr was unable to appear because of a conflicting previous engagement, and the absence of this favorite soprano constituted a distinct disappointment to her many admirers.

After the entertainment, general dancing was enjoyed, Ives Orchestra furnishing the music. The entire affair was under the general direction of the president of the Unitarian Men's Club, Theodore Godwin. The committee on arrangements was headed by William B. Wood as chairman and Dr. John R. Wallace as treasurer. R. T. Hale, G. W. Hayden, P. B. Sawyer, F. C. Alexander, R. H. Perkins, A. S. Hollins, F. E. Hollins, Bertram Bernard, W. H. Howe, A. N. Denley, S. W. H. Taylor and J. A. Maddocks were the captains of the ticket teams.

PLANS FOR FISHERMAN'S SUNDAY NEAR COMPLETION

"Mike" Marr to Attend Service in Winchester on Feb. 17

Mr. "Mike" Marr, almost internationally known to lovers of the great outdoors as the proprietor of Marr's Indian Pond Camps in the Maine woods, is to be present at the Fisherman's Sunday service which is to be held on Feb. 17 in the First Congregational Church at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. Marr is only one of many fishermen who have already notified Mr. C. A. Lane of their intention to be present and the list is growing daily.

When Fisherman's Sunday originated seven years ago the attendance was limited to a little group of sportsmen who as members of "Charlie" Lane's Maine parties had fished with the Pastor of the First Congregational Church, Rev. Howard J. Childley, who is a great devotee of the rod and reel.

The service has long since outgrown any particular group and this year all Winchester men interested in fishing are cordially invited to attend. The front center section of the church is to be reserved for the fishermen and Doctor Childley is to preach a specially prepared sermon, taking as his subject, "While Rivers Run."

AMMI C. WINN

Amami C. Winn, for many years a resident of Winchester, died at 2 o'clock this morning at his home, 59 Highland avenue. Mr. Winn, who was in his 80th year, suffered a shock a week ago from which he failed to rally. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Snyder; and two sons, Clarence and Edward C. Winn, all of Winchester. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon at the late residence and will be conducted by the Rev. John H. Whiteley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church.

ALBERT C. WILSON

Albert C. Wilson, 12 year old son of Mrs. Ella (MacDonald) and the late Albert Wilson, died Wednesday at the Massachusetts General Hospital after a short illness. Albert was born in Medford but had been living in Winchester and had been a pupil in St. Mary's Parochial School. He is survived only by his mother. The funeral will be held from the home of Albert's uncle, Mr. J. J. MacDonald, 13 Kendall street on Saturday morning at 8:15 with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Our Precinct is large in area and much spread out. Many of our voters do not personally know many of the candidates for whom they will vote.

The undersigned voters of Precinct 1 feel it their duty to call the attention of all our voters to the list we present, and to urge them to make inquiries as to the qualifications of the candidates, and to take steps to become acquainted with them.

Surely we all desire to start off right, and the best way to do this is to select representatives in whom you have confidence, and who will compare favorably with those chosen from the other five precincts.

WILLIAM I. PALMER

William I. Palmer, a life long and highly respected citizen of Winchester, passed away early Thursday morning, Feb. 7, at his home "Oak Lodge" on McCall road, after an illness of a little less than three weeks.

Mr. Palmer was born in Winchester March 1, 1869, the son of Irving S. and Eugenia E. (Parker) Palmer. He attended the public schools and was graduated from the Winchester High School before entering Massachusetts Institute of Technology from which he received his degree with the class of 1891.

His business life was spent with the Charlestown firm of Palmer & Parker, mahogany importers and manufacturers, he having been at the time of his death treasurer of this old line business house which was established by his maternal grandfather, Harrison Parker, in 1833, and which claims the distinction of being the oldest manufacturer of mahogany in the world.

Mr. Palmer took an active interest in the civic life of the community and many local institutions have benefited through his generous philanthropy. He was a life member of William Parkman and Mystic Valley Masonic Lodges, also of Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, Boston Commandery, Knights Templar; and Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine. His social and business connections were with the University Club, the Winchester Country Club and the Boston Chamber of Commerce. He is survived only by his wife.

CALUMET NOTES

Arthur H. Merritt of Boston gave an illustrated lecture last week on the National Parks of Canada. Mr. Merritt took us on a trip of 8600 miles, starting directly from his home, leaving on "The Ambassador" from the North Station to Winnipeg, through the Great Lakes, over the farming country of the Great Canadian West and up over the scenic Canadian National Railway to Vancouver. There was about 200 stereoscopic slides beautifully colored, brought out true to nature's best. After leaving the farming country, he kept us going up, up, up, showing such places as Minaki Lodge, Jasper Lodge, Maligne Lake, Mt. Edith Cavell, Mt. Robson, Kinney Lake, Berg Lake, Prince Rupert, Jasper, Mt. Robson and Wainwright National Parks, The Valley of the Thousand Waterfalls, scenes along the famous Triangle Tour, the great glaciers of the Rockies, together with pack trails, Totem poles, buffalo and bear and the various animals peculiar to that section of the country. Mr. Merritt's lecture was unusually instructive and interesting, and his series of anecdotes and humorous incidents in connection with his trip, kept the audience in a very enjoyable frame of mind. We cannot praise too highly the character and the beauty of the pictures shown by Mr. Merritt. One naturally has a longing to see the country which he described after listening and seeing. The audience was large and was loud in its applause. We hope Mr. Merritt will be a regular fixture at Calumet.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

The present epidemic of colds, grippe, flu (choose your title) exhibits no partiality to Rotarians. Many of our members have missed meetings which they would gladly have attended had not said epidemic interfered. It has been a poor season for achieving a good attendance record. And yet in a way we have done well. It is clear that all members who could, have made the effort to attend our meetings and absentees express genuine regret at their inability to be with us.

At last Thursday's gathering we listened to an address by Postmaster George H. Lochman. Like many other addresses to which we have listened this one of the Postmaster's should be broadcast to our citizens. Mr. Lochman did not overburden us with statistics, yet he did give us a clear idea of the manner in which the business of the post office is carried on together with the amount of business done by our local office and its general rating.

And then there was recognition of the fact that, as is the case with practically all post offices, our own does not escape criticism from its patrons. Our Postmaster is cognizant of the fact that in the matter of post offices as well as in other lines of human endeavor, perfection is a goal to be sought rather than absolutely attained. Therefore, he is open to criticism of the constructive variety. But surely those who are in charge of our mail can cite numerous instances where certain individuals are prone to put an immense emphasis on trivialities. Probably it will ever be thus. But on the other hand there is much evidence that our local men are delivering quite as good service as the circumstances will permit; that courtesy prevails in their intercourse with patrons; that duties are performed with diligence, that often times accommodations are extended which are quite beyond the requirements of the Department.

Now it is plain that a flourishing and well regulated post office is of great advantage to our town. It should be equally plain to the thinking citizen that if we are to have such a post office we must boost and not knock. Obviously we should give all business within our control to the Winchester office, even if it does require a bit of effort. Most of our citizens live in Winchester, because they find it about the best place on earth in which to establish a domicile. From such our post office has a right to expect patronage, and we feel sure that "value received" has been, and will continue to be delivered by our mail handlers.

We are going to have another worth while meeting on the 14th. We are prepared to entertain 27 Winchester Rotarians and guests galore. Come!

MISS ELLA CAROLINE ABBOTT

Following some years of weakening health, Miss Ella C. Abbott's death occurred at the Home for Aged People on Feb. 1.

She was born in Charlestown, Nov. 22, 1852, and was the third oldest member of the First Congregational Church of this town in point of membership, having joined the church on confession of faith at the early age of 14. Brought up in a deeply religious family, she early acquired a love for all the church activities, and in particular the missionary work was dear to her heart.

After the death of her parents and battling with impaired health, she spent 18 years in the South as a teacher under the auspices of the Home Missionary Society of the Congregational Church. Later she led a quiet life, full of order and small detail, believing that what was worth doing at all, was worth doing well.

Although for many years it was her satisfaction and joy to be of unselfish service to others she accepted blindness and deafness uncomplainingly, doing for herself as long as possible.

She appreciated her friends and their kindness in a rare spirit of gratefulness, and her genial, forgiving heart was ever ready to overlook and pardon misunderstandings.

The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at the Ripley Chapel, First Congregational Church at 2:30, and the burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Miss Ella C. Abbott

Miss Ella C. Abbott has left us. Her long and good life here is over. Not everyone knows of the good she has done even in these later years of narrowing life and heavy burden bearing.

When calling on her not long ago, she showed me her Christmas gifts. Taking up a photograph, she said, "That is a picture of my boy." Then she explained that the slender, dark-eyed, slightly foreign-looking lad, whose picture I held was the son of a Waldensian lady, whom she had known while teaching among the Waldensians in North Carolina. The mother had written her some years since, telling her how she wanted her boy to go to a high school. There was one in the next town three miles away which he could attend by paying $80 a year tuition. She had no way of getting the money and asked help of Miss Abbott. For four years Miss Abbott raised the required sum by soliciting from her friends. The boy who walked the three miles each way, every school day, has finished his four year's course in three years and is now going to college with the last $80 as a starter. This only one instance of her helpfulness.

She was much interested in the welfare of the colored people, for many years teaching them in mission schools at the South and bearing the social ostracism which at that time was the lot of the white teachers in the colored schools.

We can only faintly guess the loneliness which, in spite of the best endeavors of friends to comfort and cheer, must be the lot of one both deaf and blind.

"It seems," she said one day, "as if I were being shut into a little narrow place all by myself." The narrow place has broadened into "heaven's wide expansions" now.

Her many friends will sadly miss her.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

One of the truly great pictures of the year, "Sunrise," with Janet Gaynor and George O'Brien, will hold the center of the stage at the University for four days beginning Sunday. On the same program is "Homesick" with Sammy Cohen.

"Sunrise" tells a simple tale of a peasant who heeds the song of a city siren and becomes a puppet in her hands to a point where he is willing to drown his wife in order to free himself for the other woman. Almost equally engrossing is his later recovery of himself, his reconciliation with his wife and their joyous celebration in an amusement park. George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor do themselves proud in the principal roles.

"Homesick" is the story of a transcontinental bicycle race for a $25,000 cash prize and a bride. Cohen is one of the contestants, but Harry Sweet, from whom he has won the bicycle on which the comedian races across the country, follows him to collect his prize.

Three days of the week are "Scarlet Seas" with Mary Astor, and "Dry Martini" with Mary Astor.

As the title indicates "Scarlet Seas" is a sea-faring story with Barthelmess in the role of a young sea captain who falls in love with a cabaret entertainer. The burning of their ship, a mutiny at sea and the rescue of an imprisoned captain and his daughter are all portrayed in this thrilling screen melodrama.

"Dry Martini" is an adaptation of the John Thomas novel of the same name. "Dry Martini," and is a sophisticated take-off on those Americans who go to Paris to evade the prohibition law.

WOBBURN NIGHTHAWKS WIN

The Congo team was defeated Saturday night by the Woburn Nighthawks at the Congregational Parish House.

Although the Woburn team was much older, the Congos stood no chance against such players as "Livin'" McNeil and "Hot" Gibson. McNeil being the high scorer for Woburn. The team was very much handicapped by the loss of Captain Cunningham, who was out on account of a sprained ankle.

JANE HEATON DEAD

Word was received by Winchester friends this week of the death at Atlantic City of Miss Jane Heaton, the 16-year old daughter of the late James G. and Mrs. Heaton of the Parkway. Jane had been spending the winter traveling with her mother and died of pneumonia after an illness of only two days. Without further information, it is assumed that the funeral and interment were at the family home on Long Island.

Mrs. Wendell B. Pray of this town was vice chairman of the committee in charge of the annual cabaret and hall held last Saturday evening at the Copley Plaza under the auspices of the Massachusetts Maine Daughters in aid of the club's philanthropic work. The invited guests included Governor and Mrs. William Tudor Gardiner of Maine, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. William S. Youngman, Mayor and Mrs. Malcolm E. Nichols, Dr. and Mrs. Carl L. Watson, Mrs. William J. McDonald and Col. and Mrs. Carroll J. Swan.

NEW CROSSLEY SETS HERE

Oscar Hedtler to Handle Famous Sets Locally

The Crossley Radio Corporation of Cincinnati, Ohio, owners and operators of the world's largest broadcasting station, WLW, has announced the selection of Oscar Hedtler, well known local battery dealer at 26 Church street, in Waterfield Building, to handle the nationally known line of Crossley radio sets and products exclusively for Winchester.

It will interest radio fans generally to know that all Crossleys are equipped with genuine neodyne hook-up, insuring greater distance and selectivity with the wanted 171-A tubes in the last stage, improving the tonal qualities. One Crossley owner in Winchester reports getting the Pacific Coast regularly with his "Show-Box" model, now on display in the local show-room.

Crossley's low prices should not cause any confusion as to quality and service. Tremendous production makes these prices possible in competition with other standard makes. Crossley's genuine dynamic speaker sells for about one-half the price of comparative makes on the market yet is in all respects the equal of those costing much more.

Crossleys may be tried for five days free in the home and may be purchased on terms which Mr. Hedtler will arrange to suit the individual pocket-book. Clip the coupon in the advertisement appearing elsewhere in the Star.

OF IMPORTANCE TO YOU

Girl Scouts Present Jitney Players Tonight

Everyone in Winchester is interested in assisting the local organization of Girl Scouts, and when they present such a group of players as will appear in the Town Hall this evening at 8 o'clock, the interest is two-fold. The Jitney Players, presenting "A Trip to Scarborough," are too well known to the majority of Winchester people to need any extended citation of their ability. That "A Trip to Scarborough" will furnish an entertainment which will give much pleasure to everyone attending is without question. The Scouts and their committee of elders are working hard to make their entertainment a success and raise much needed funds without becoming a nuisance or a burden upon the community. See the Jitney Players at the Town Hall tonight.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester held its regular monthly meeting in Association Hall, Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Mabel E. Bradley presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Radley, and the vice president, Mrs. Gage. At the close of a short business meeting Mrs. Bradley introduced Mrs. Electa Sherman as one of the speakers for the afternoon whose subject was "Parliamentary Law." Her interesting talk was much too short. Mrs. Bradley next presented Attorney General Joseph E. Warner who spoke on "The Primary Law: Its Advantages and Disadvantages." An appreciative audience took part in the general discussion which followed the address.

Mr. Harry Peterson of Russell road suffered the loss of his 12-year-old sister, Florence, of Burlington, who passed away early last Friday in a Boston Hospital after a long illness.

JOHN KILCOYNE

John Kilcoyne, a widely known resident of Winchester and a retired member of the Town's Water and Sewer Department, died Friday night at his home on Chester street, following a month's illness.

Mr. Kilcoyne was the son of Michael and Mary Helen Kilcoyne and was born 75 years ago in County Mayo, Ireland. As a young man he came to this country, settling in Clinton. He came to Winchester at the age of 35 years and during nearly his entire life in town was a valued employee of the Water and Sewer Department, having been retired under the pension act six years ago. He was one of the surviving members of the Fire Department's P. Waldmyer Hose Reel, the old horse drawn reel at the center which was replaced by Hose 1, now Combination 2.

Actively interested in the work of St. Mary's Parish, Mr. Kilcoyne was affiliated with the church's Holy Name Society, the members of which under the direction of their Chaplain, Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, held services at the late residence on Sunday evening.

Mr. Kilcoyne is survived by his wife, who was Miss Kate Courtney, three daughters, the Misses Mary E., Katherine R. and Annie M. Kilcoyne, all of Winchester; and three sons, John J. and Thomas J. Kilcoyne of Winchester and Mr. George M. Kilcoyne, S. J., who is studying for the priesthood at the Jesuit House of Studies at West Stockbridge. Three sisters, Mrs. Anna Gordon of Winchester, Mrs. Bridget Kittredge of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. Mary Burns of Clinton, also survive with a brother, Patrick Kilcoyne of Omaha, Neb., and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the late residence, 21 Chester street, with a solemn requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, was celebrant, Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Conrad Quirbach, sub-deacon. Seated in the sanctuary was Rev. Fr. James H. Dolan, S. J., president of Boston College, James McCraven, Jeremiah Breen, Martin Roche and Bernard Boyle, all of Winchester, Edward Warren of Winthrop and Michael Crampton of Medford served as bearers. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Quigley and Father Dolan.

MARIBEL VINSON THE HEADLINER

Winchester residents will be much interested in the coming ice carnival at the Boston Garden to be given on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 14 by the American Legion through the fact that Miss Maribel Vinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Vinson of High street and probably the one outstanding skater of the New England States, will be the headliner. Miss Vinson, who has appeared before King George and Queen Mary of England and who is the Olympic runner-up, heads the list of ice experts appearing. A hockey game between the B. A. A. and University Club, and a burlesque game between famous Chinese and African aggregations are other features.

The local Post has a block of tickets on sale, and as Post Comdr. W. Allan Wilde is a member of the ticket committee, Winchester people may rest assured that they may secure excellent seats by applying to any Legion member.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Rumors circulated about town this week to the effect that the Whitney Machine Company has closed its plant and would go out of business are reported by officials of the concern as absolutely unfounded. It is stated that men at the shop have been laid off pending the receipt of additional orders, but that a sufficient number will be retained to care for work underway, and as fast as additional work is received the men will be taken back in proportion. It was explained that in past years the Company has retained a considerable force during slack seasons and operated at a loss rather than let its men go. It has now adopted the same policy as that employed by the tanneries, and will employ only the necessary crew to fill orders on hand.

CALUMET NOTESLast Tuesday was bowling day for the ladies.The ladies' bowling party Tuesday afternoon resulted in the following ladies winning the attractive prizes:

High single string—Mrs. W. W. Winship with 96.
High two-string with handicap—Mrs. F.
L. Pitman with 95 and 19, making 114.

High two-string total—Mrs. Warren Maynard with 187.
High two-string total with handicap—Mrs.
C. J. Sittinger with 180 and 18, making 198.

On Feb. 9 we shall have bowling for the men with the Saturday night refreshments; also cards, pool, billiards, ping pong and a general round of pleasure.

On the evening of Feb. 12 we shall be especially favored with an address by Mr. Edwin Markham, poet and lecturer. We had intended to have the Hon. Joseph E. Warner as a speaker but he will be unable to be with Calumet on that day, so the Entertainment Committee was particularly fortunate in being able to secure

Mr. Markham as he would happen to be in Boston on that day. The poet is very familiar on Lincoln and has written a poem which has helped to make him famous. Perhaps he is best known by his poem "The Man With the Hoe" written in 1890. This received world-wide attention, being hailed by many as "The battle-cry of the next thousand years." Mr. Markham in his early days worked at farming, herding cattle and sheep and,

therefore, had the background for a poem of that nature. He has, however, written poems from early boyhood

and besides those already enumerated
he has written "The Shoes of Happiness" and other poems, "California
the Wonderful" and "Gates of Paradise."

It will be an evening affair, open to both ladies and gentlemen, and anyone interested in hearing Mr.
Markham are invited to be present.

On Feb. 14 we shall have a dinner-bridge at 6:30 and we are privileged to say that Arthur Dickson will serve one of those celebrated roast-beef dinners. Those who were fortunate enough to participate in the previous one, know how well Arthur is able to serve such a first-class article. The dinner will be followed by bridge at 8 o'clock and Mrs. Harold Smith will be the hostess. The dinner-bridge takes the place of the one which would usually occur on the 8th.

In the winter bowling tournament
Monday night some very fine scores were rolled, the figures being as good as shown on any night thus far this season. Percy Bugbee rolled a total of 353 and a single of 129; Hildreth got 342 and 118, Harold Bugbee 324

and 125, Lees 315 and 121 and Rossler 309 and 135, which was the best single.

The Blunt Uncompromising Truth

If you will stop and study the situation for a moment, you will realize that the plainest and most outstanding fact in motoring today is that there are no other cars which can be classed with Cadillac and La Salle.

tain roads, or on level highways, or in city traffic, there are no other cars in all the world that can compare with Cadillac and La Salle.

That is because, for one thing, you can not find on any other cars the Cadillac-La Salle Duplex-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes, the most powerful braking system ever developed, yet the easiest and quickest to operate.

On no other cars can you find the Cadillac-La Salle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission which enables you to shift your gears at any speed, under any conditions, without awkwardness or the slightest hesitancy. The operation is almost instantaneous as well as clashless.

The foregoing represent safety features of the utmost importance, as is the improved steering mechanism, but there is also the crystal-clear, non-shatterable Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass. In the event of collision you will not be injured by flying glass fragments; neither will there be any danger from the impact of stones cast up by the wheels of passing cars.

These are some of the new facts to add to those you already know about Cadillac and La Salle. A car will be placed at your disposal at any time so that you can familiarize yourself with them. When you have done so your conviction will be stronger than ever that in all the world there are no cars like these.

In addition to 23 refreshingly beautiful Fisher Bodies for the new Cadillac and the new La Salle, there are 15 exclusive and exquisite custom-built models Fleetwood designed and Fleetwood built.

La Salle prices $2295 to $2875; Cadillac $3295 to $3995; Fleetwood up to $7000—all prices f. o. b. Detroit. Cadillac-La Salle dealers welcome business on the General Motors Deferred Payment Plan.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SUNDAY OBSERVED AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

The Metcalf Union of the Unitarian Church observed "Young People's Sunday" with an impressive service in the church auditorium last Sunday morning. The local service, which was under the direction of Miss Annette E. Mason, was held in conjunction with similar services in Unitarian Churches throughout the United States to usher in "Young People's Week," the observance of which by the Young People's Religious Union is also nation wide.

The church was well filled when the service was opened with a concert upon the new Downs Memorial Chime of bells, played by Miss Marjorie Hayden. The pastor of the church, Rev. George Hale Reed, occupied a seat with the congregation, the entire order of service being conducted by members of the Metcalf Union. Bartlett Godfrey, Richard Woods, Donald Doane and Russell Davis served as ushers and the church quartet was assisted by the Misses Marjorie Hayden, Barbara Locke, Gretchen Stone and Ruth Wadleigh. Frank Barnes, Robert Livingstone, Roger Newell and Benjamin Wild.

Following the organ prelude played by Mr. Karl Switzer, church organist, the young people marched to their places singing the processional, "Forward, Shoulder to Shoulder." Those who participated in the service, William Miller, Miss Catherine Boyden, Miss Elizabeth Sawyer, George Hayden and Miss Annette Mason, were seated upon the platform. Mr. Miller read the opening sentences and also led the responsive reading. Miss Boyden read the scripture and made the invocation. Miss Sawyer announced the hymns.</

Members of the Woburn Woman's Club will be guests of the Club at the meeting on Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the Town Hall. The program will consist of an illustrated lecture on "Old Quebec, the Laurentian Lakes, the Saguenay" by Albert Leonard Squier. Those who heard his lecture before the club last year will remember that his pictures were unusually beautiful. Refreshments will be served by the social committee, Mrs. Winifred A. Bennett, chairman. This is a public meeting.

Community Service Committee
The Community Service afternoon which was announced in the year book for Feb. 12 has been postponed until a later date.

Dramatics Committee
The February dramatics afternoon will be held on Friday, the 15th at 2:30 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. The program is in charge of Mrs. Martha W. Kelley who has chosen to present two one-act plays, "Mail" and "The Dominant Note." The latter play is of especial interest to the club because it is a new play which Mrs. Carolyn Gilpatrick has just written and she is permitting The Fortnightly to see it before it is published. There will be music between the plays and at the close of the program a Valentine tea will be served with Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hall chairman of the dramatics committee acting as hostess.

Literature Committee
A large audience manifested its interest in "Sailing the Sea in Books" by its attendance in Fortnightly Hall on Monday, Feb. 4.

Mrs. Blanche Barnard, chairman of the Literature Committee opened the program by reading John Masfield's "Sea Fever" thereby putting each one in the mood to go a-sailing the sea-in-books.

The program for the afternoon was in the capable hands of Mrs. Maud H. Bridge assisted by Miss Cora A. Quimby and Mrs. Mildred E. Grey. Mrs. Bridge gave an exhaustive paper on the history of boats, ships and sailing from the very earliest record down to the Elizabethan period, 16th century. She told of Marco Polo, Columbus and Balboa, who discovered the Pacific in 1513 and claimed it for Spain. She spoke of the Vikings, the great Vikings and Drake who followed him, and outclassed his master. Miss Quimby then took up the story and read from Sir Walter Raleigh's "English Voyages of the 16th Century"—a most interesting account of voyages and voyagers, tracing the independence of writers and sailors, and voyaging.

Bridge continued the history ps through the 1870's, telling how sails gave place to steam and machinery while the character of the sailor remains always the same, living with danger, thinking naught of it, and always ready for what may come. She called attention to the fact that it was Benjamin Franklin who first suggested carrying oil to still troubled waters and building water tight compartments in the hold of vessels.

It was a disappointment not to have Mrs. Hughes sing the sailor changes, but since she could not be present, Miss Quimby read the chantey, "Captain Kidd," some sailor superstitions as given by John Masfield and also Masfield's "Phantom Ship." She read, too, the greatest story in all literature of a storm at sea from Conrad's "The Nigger of Narcissus." She concluded this part of the program with the ballad of "Little Billy" by Thackeray.

A description of whales and the history of whaling by Mrs. Bridge followed. Mrs. Barnard read five short poems of the sea. Then Mrs. Grey gave a paper on Arctic and Antarctic Explorations. She chose to read excerpts from Shackleton, Peary, Amundsen, and others. She called attention to Amundsen's having said that his great ambition had always been to reach the North Pole while he did reach the South Pole. Later he flew over the North Pole and finally met a tragic death in Arctic regions.

After having sailed the sea in books for an afternoon in the safety and comfort of Fortnightly Hall, Mrs. Barnard thought the audience might like to go on sailing and she gave an excellent list of books in which to sail, books to be had not only in Boston libraries and stores but also here in the Winchester library.

The hall was decorated as befitting the program with pictures of ships, sea shells and other trophies of the sea.

Great Britain Noted for Varieties of Cows

Recently a local contemporary informed its readers that a certain Siamese nobleman, whose interests in the dairy industry are well known and meritoriously popular, has Australian cows. He said that he hadn't, that his cows were Zebu, the Indian humped cow, or the purely native one.

Which leads us to remark that of all the lands on earth Great Britain presumably has the greatest number of breeds of cows. The Royal Agricultural society recognizes the Shorthorn, Hereford, Sussex, Welsh, Longhorn, Aberdeen-Angus, Belted Galloway, Galloway Park, Dairy Shorthorn, Lincolnshire, Red Shorthorn, Devon, South Devon, Red Poll, Blue Albion, British Friesian, Ayrshire, Guernsey, Kerry and Dexter. Which would seem quite a lot for the small area that is their habitat.—Slum Observer.

Patrolmen John Hogan and William Cassidy of the Police Department returned to duty this week after being absent on sick leave.

Gipsy Smith, the world famous evangelist, will inaugurate on Sunday afternoon, March 3, in Boston Garden at the North Station, what is believed will prove to be one of the greatest religious revivals ever held.

Born in a gipsy tent in England 66 years ago. Gipsy grew up as wild as the birds. He was converted in 1876 and from that day Gipsy Smith determined to be a preacher. Enormous difficulties had to be faced and overcome. He had to even learn to both read and write.

For his three years' war work with the British Army he received the decoration of "The Order of the British Empire," and the King personally thanked him for his services.

In 1918, at the request of the British Government, he visited America to assist in the promotion of friendly relations between the two countries.

A chorus choir of about 2000 voices will form the musical background of these notable revival meetings at the Boston Garden, which will be held on Sundays, March 3, 10, 17 and 24 at 3:30 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening.

The immense seating capacity of the Garden, about 18,000 will surely be taxed, to accommodate the throngs which will pour into Boston on the special trains that will be run from all over Massachusetts to hear this most colorful of all modern preachers.

The week day services held from March 4th to 22nd will be held in Tremont Temple every day except Saturdays from 12 to 1 and evenings at 7:30 with the exception of Tuesday evenings when they will be held in Park Street Church.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS SANBORN

Announcement was made last Friday of the engagement of Miss Helen Elizabeth Sanborn, daughter of Mrs. Oren Cheney Sanborn and the late Mr. Sanborn of Boston, to Blount Ralls of New York, Alabama and Mexico City. Miss Sanborn is a former resident of Winchester, the beautiful Sanborn estate, "Aigremont" on High street having been at one time the center of much of the town's social activity. She attended Dana Hall and Miss May's School and since her school days has traveled extensively. An expert horsewoman, she has exhibited at many horse shows and was largely instrumental in originating the Winchester Horse Show which for several years has been run for the benefit of the local hospital. She is the granddaughter of James S. Sanborn, founder of the coffee house of Chase & Sanborn.

Mr. Ralls is a member of the law firm of Hardin & Hess with offices in New York and Mexico City. He is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and also of the University of Bordeaux and the George Washington Law School. He was captain in the field artillery overseas during the World War and subsequently military attaché at the American Embassy in Madrid.

The engagement was announced in Mexico at a luncheon at the Mexico City Country Club. There were present Mrs. H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, wife of the American charge d'affaires; Mrs. William Dawson, wife of the American consul; Mrs. Marion Higgins of Boston, Mrs. Arthur Constantine and Mrs. Frances Boynton. Miss Sanborn left last Friday night for Boston. The wedding will take place at an early date.

"Statue of Freedom" on National Capitol

The bronze statue surmounting the dome of the national capitol at Washington is the figure of a woman and symbolizes liberty. This statue is often erroneously supposed to represent an American Indian, owing to the fact that from a distance the helmet of the figure resembles the headdress of an Indian war chief. In fact the eagle's head and the arrangement of the feathers on the helmet were suggested by costumes of certain Indian tribes. The figure, which weighs 11,385 pounds and is 19½ feet high, was modeled in Rome, Italy, by Thomas Crawford in 1855, from plans adopted in 1850 by Senator Jefferson Davis of Mississippi, who was then chairman of committee on public buildings. Crawford named the statue "Armed Liberty," but ever since it arrived at the capitol it has been officially known as the "Statue of Freedom." The statue was set in place on the dome of the capitol December 2, 1863, and stands on a globe bearing our national motto—"E Pluribus Unum."

Talent Wasted

Dorothea McNagle wanted to get into the movies. She wasn't exactly stage struck . . . but she wanted to get into the movies. She was a pretty girl and reasonably talented, and her parents didn't have any really serious objections so Dorothea set forth to get into the movies.

As you can imagine, it wasn't an easy job. There were lots and lots of girls who wanted to get into the movies as badly as she did, and some of them were even prettier than she was—at least, it seemed so to Dorothea. But she waited and waited, and smiled here, and dimpled there, and blushed a little, and waited a lot more—and finally Dorothea did get into the movies.

And then a horrid old usher made her stand up inside the tape!

WINCHESTER WON FROM LEXINGTON

Lexington High School's big, rugged basketball team, backed by an enthusiastic body of rooters, dropped a Milexex League match last Friday evening to Winchester in the local gymnasium, losing by the close score of 23 to 19.

The game marked the first athletic meeting between the two schools since their memorable football engagement last fall when Winchester fans were far from satisfied with the type of ball shown by the Minute boys. There was a bit of booing in the stands as the game got under way, much of which was apparently directed at Hall, Lexington's star all-around athlete, who plays a back on the school quintet.

Referee Reid stopped the game at the first sign of rowdiness and his brief warning to the unsportsmanlike spectators backed by the local school authorities, quickly quieted the booing.

The teams felt each other out for several minutes before Derby broke the ice for Winchester with a shot from a free try. Captain Kendrick dropped in a pretty basket from the corner to be followed by Gibson who counted on identically the same sort of shot.

Amico and Derby both sank fouls before Lexington scored on Daley's shot from a free try, but McPhee and Peterson counted on goals from the floor to close up the gap a bit. "Pete" Coss shot the final goal of the first quarter after going up the floor and taking a return pass from Kendrick.

The locals were in front, 9 to 5, at the beginning of the second quarter with Amico and Coss adding a couple of points on shots from free tries. Kendrick took a pass from Amico to score from close up before McPhee added two to Lexington's total by making both ends of a double foul goal.

Peterson dropped in a pretty shot from the corner and the game began to take on some of the aspects of a rough-and-tumble. Daley and Watt both shot foul baskets for the visitors but Gibson evened up with a shot from the floor, the half ending with Winchester leading, 15 to 11.

Captain Kendrick shot a double foul to start the new period and "Rog" Derby contributed a couple of pretty goals on long shots from mid-court. Daley and Watt scored foul baskets to close the scoring for the quarter which ended with the locals in the van, 21 to 13.

The going was rather rugged as the boys tapped-off for the final quarter, but Amico kept Winchester's margin secure with a floor goal, on a pass from Kendrick.

Gibson was ruled out on fouls, to be replaced by "Johnny" Murphy, and Kelley went in for Peterson of Lexington. The first named quickly tossed a floor goal and McPhee duplicated his feat immediately after the jump.

Derby was sent to the showers for four personals and Shaw entered the game, McPhee making the free try good for Lexington. The closing moments of the game were scoreless with both clubs battling on even terms.

Between the halves of the first team game the Lexington scrubs defeated the Winchester Jay-Vees, 25 to 12.

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

The executive board of the Central Mothers' Association met Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. Harrison Parker on Main street. The Presidents of each local Chapter gave reports of their activities. Plans for the following months were discussed and it was decided to postpone the annual meeting until May, combining it with the garden party. Mrs. Parker very kindly offered to open her home for a social meeting the first of March, at which we hope to have the Mothers of all the local Chapters together for a social hour with the teachers of the elementary schools. After the business meeting tea was served by Mrs. Parker.

CAPTAIN FRENCH TO SPEAK

The Everyman's Bible Class will turn out 150 strong Sunday morning to honor Winchester's own hero of football, Capt. "Art" French. The Town Hall at 9:30 a. m. will be a magnet not only for men, but for many a boy who wants to hear Captain French speak. The contest is being followed by epoch-making attractions each Sunday of which this week's program is one of the best.

The contest closed giving the Reds the game by a narrow margin of seven points. The Blues fought heroically and passed the penant to the victorious Reds with good sportsmanship prevailing. The Everyman's Bible Class averaged 140 in attendance at each meeting during January and 85 new members were received into the Class during the month. Congratulations on all sides are being passed to president J. W. Gates and captain H. W. Moulton and J. C. Casler.

A feature anticipated with eagerness each Sunday is the crisp, pungent Bible talk given by Harry C. Sanborn. The singing of the great group of men led by Leonard O. Waters accompanied by Charles W. Corey's orchestra constitutes one of the inspiring periods of the morning hour.

WINCHESTER CIRCLE OF FLOR-ENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE
GIVES LUNCHEON-BRIDGE

One of the largest and most successful social events of the season was the luncheon-bridge party given by the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League on Feb. 1 in the Parish House of the First Congregational Church. Every available space in the large social hall was filled with card tables at which 420 ladies were served a most delicious hot luncheon. The hall was tastefully and appropriately decorated with flags and the national colors, in honor of the two great men whose birthdays we celebrate this month. After luncheon the guests enjoyed a social game of cards. During the afternoon candy, nuts and cooling drinks were served by Marjorie Grant, Mercedes Speedie, Marjorie Brown, Mabel Tompkins, Muriel Carr, Elizabeth Adriance, Olive Boutillier and Marjorie Wolcott. This group of pretty girls who were dressed in brilliant red added much to the beauty of occasion as they moved about among the tables. The members of the committee in charge of this affair and to whom the success was largely due were Mrs. Arthur D. Speedie and Mrs. Walter S. Wadsworth, chairmen; Mrs. H. H. Ambler, Mrs. Sanford Mitchell, Mrs. Robert L. Emery, Mrs. Arthur D. Raymond, Mrs. W. A. Kneeland and Mrs. Everett Scammon assisted by many members of the Circle.

WINCHESTER HOCKEY CLUB

GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL MEETING

The Council of the Winchester Girl Scouts held their monthly meeting at the Fireside, Church street on Wednesday. In the absence of the chairman Mrs. Snyder who was ill, Mrs. Walter S. Wadsworth presided. After the meeting Mrs. Wadsworth entertained the 21 members in the main dining room where a most delicious breakfast was served at 12 o'clock, catered for by Mrs. Fessenden.

The Council was honored by the presence of Miss Torrop, Superintendent of the Winchester Hospital as a guest.

EPIPHANY CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE NOTES

The League extends a very cordial invitation to all the women of the Parish to attend the luncheon at the Parish House hall on Tuesday, Feb. 12 at 1 p. m. The speaker will be Mrs. Paul Sterling, who will present the work of the Church Periodical Club, which gives an immense amount of pleasure and help to those who have little reading matter, and is constantly extending its work into new avenues.

On Feb. 26, there will also be a speaker, Miss Eleanor Denman, who has visited the League before. Her talks on "Personal Religion" always bring inspiration to her audience and it is hoped a large number will grasp this opportunity to hear her.

The hour of the Tuesday Bible class is changed from 3:30 p. m. to 10 a. m. beginning Feb. 19.

THE WINCHESTER WELLESLEY CLUB

The Winchester Wellesley Club held a meeting last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stone, Foxcroft road.

The members of the Club and their guests were entertained by Mr. Lawrence Lombard the son of one of their members, Mrs. Manuel Lombard, who gave an interesting and humorous account of his experiences navigating the Atlantic Ocean in a sailboat, no larger than the swimming tank of the Leviathan.

Mr. Lombard's first trip was to England on the Nirkana in 1927 and last August he was navigator on the Nina, the sailboat that won the race to Spain across the Atlantic. Mr. Lombard illustrated his talk with moving pictures of this voyage, most of which he had taken himself.

MISS LILLIAN ROSS

Miss Lillian Ross passed away on Monday, Feb. 4, at the Home for Aged People after a brief illness from pneumonia. She had been a familiar nurse in Winchester for the past 35 years. Keen in mind for humorous situations, optimistic, unselfish, faithful in the performance of duty, warm-hearted and loyal to her many friends, she carried on her work steadily, faithfully and successfully in compliance with an inborn sense of Christian conscientiousness which shone with a steady brightness for her profession and was filled with good deeds.

Her two years at the Home for the Aged were replete with kindly thought of others, showing partiality in the bestowment of helpfulness. She had a courageous outlook on life and imparted unobtrusive strength to all her friends who always saw her at her best.

The funeral services were held at the Ripley Chapel, First Congregational Church, on Wednesday afternoon.

WILBUR F. COBB

Mr. Wilbur F. Cobb of Cheban Falls, Washington, son of the late John R. and Rebecca F. Cobb, died Jan. 19 at a hospital in Wenatchee, Wash., after an illness of a little over a month. He was 65 years of age and was born in Winchester, where he spent his early life, going west in 1884 and later settling in the State of Washington. The remains were brought to Winchester and burial was in Wildwood Cemetery on Monday.

UNITARIANS ANNOUNCE PARISH HOUSE DEDICATION PLANS

The parish house, designed by Smith & Walker of Boston, who were also the architects for the chancel, conforms in style to the modified English Gothic of the main church building. Joined to the original building by a beautiful cloister, opening off of which are the minister's study and a secretary's room, it contains on the street floor a spacious ladies' parlor, a kindergarten, having a separate entrance, and a Sunday School assembly hall capable of accommodating 250. This latter room, open to the roof, is singularly effective in its majestic proportions. Over the ladies' parlor is a large sewing room. In the basement is Metcalf Hall, named after the first pastor of the society. In this is a spacious stage, four dressing rooms, and in the hall itself, with its flooring of oak, some 400 persons may be seated for lectures or recitals. Off this hall is a splendid kitchen and serving room.

The basement of the main church has been most effectively utilized. Part of it was divided to make separate class-rooms, but the principal space of the old Metcalf Hall has been converted into an exquisite crypt chapel. Here the young people will hold their devotional exercises and it will also be used for small weddings and funerals. This chapel and the two manual organ now being installed, are the gifts of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Meyer. In this part of the church is an interesting room to be used as a Men's Club room. It is in memory of Dr. and Mrs. Frederic Winsor, the gift of his children. Dr. and Mrs. Winsor were the founders of this society. The room formerly used as a ladies' parlor has been converted into a Young People's social room.

The principal events of the week following the dedication on Sunday morning, are:

Vesper Service at 4 p. m. with music by the Schubert Club of Malden.

Monday evening. A banquet in Metcalf Hall at which Rev. Ralph E. Bailey of Cambridge, Lieutenant Governor Youngman, Dr. Louis E. Cornish, the pastor Mr. Reed and Rev. H. J. Chidley, will make addresses. Mr. C. F. Dutch will represent the Building Committee and Mr. C. H. Watkins will act as toastmaster.

On Tuesday afternoon the Ladies' Friendly Society will entertain at tea, and Edgar J. Rich, Esq., will make an address on "Lincoln's Attitude Toward the South." In the evening there will be a dance in Metcalf Hall.

On Wednesday at 5 o'clock will come the first of a series of Lenten organ recitals by guest organists. The artist for this occasion will be Mr. H. S. Woodman.

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Men's Club will hold an open meeting. The speaker will be Courtenay Crocker, Esq., who will give an illustrated lecture on Siam. This meeting is open to all men of Winchester. Light refreshments will be served.

On Saturday at 3 o'clock there will be a moving picture show for the children in Metcalf Hall and at 8 o'clock the Metcalf Union will hold an entertainment and dance.

The contractor in charge of the building, who is also a member of the society, is Mr. Frederic C. Alexander. The Building Committee consists of Mrs. H. W. Hildreth, Mr. C. F. Dutch, Mr. J. F. Dwinell and Mr. C. H. Watkins, chairman.

Mr. Ralph E. Joslin is chairman and Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, vice chairman of the Finance Committee. The members of the Standing Committee of the society are Mr. A. L. Danforth, Mr. A. S. Hollins, Mr. H. F. Meyer, Dr. A. V. Rogers, Mr. H. E. Stone and Mr. C. H. Watkins, chairman. Mr. S. W. H. Taylor is clerk of the society and Mr. George B. Cummings, treasurer.

MORTGAGE BURNING

At a recent meeting of the Trustees of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church of Winchester a committee was appointed to arrange for a public service and mortgage burning, in recognition of the fact that all indebtedness on the church property has been discharged. The pastor, officials, members and friends have every reason to be grateful that the mortgage has been paid and this society faces the future without indebtedness on any of its property.

Balloon Well Stored for Atlantic Flight

Food supplies and equipment carried on the first attempted Atlantic flight were not so meager as those of today. Washington H. Donaldson, George Ashton Lunt and Alfred Ford, in loading up their balloon that took off from Brooklyn for Europe October 6, 1873, stowed away six 10-gallon breakers of water, one barrel of hard bread, two boxes of roast beef and mutton ready cooked, one box of champagne and another of salted provisions, box of prepared hominy, and a large number of small packages containing butter, salt, lemons and brandy. They also carried ten carrier pigeons in a wicker basket, a large box of candy, a keg of molasses, several jars of honey, pickles, a hair brush, a jar of preserved plums, a large tin can filled with roast fowls, a packet of toothpicks, several reams of paper, a ham, two cases of eau de cologne, a box of pomade, a pair of shoes, a paper of tacks, a claw hammer, a newly invented flying machine, a bottle of soothing syrup, a paper of chewing tobacco, Donaldson's hat, a case of "S. T.—1890—X," some crackers and a can of preserved oysters, tomatoes and sardines, a patent steam plowing machine, a paper of hairpins and Lunt's boots.

For some reason the balloon came down before it reached its destination. —Detroit News

Sweetness Found in Life's Little Things

It is as great a mistake to expect too little of life as to expect too much. No one is immune from trouble and no one has a monopoly of it, even if self-pity—a most insidious form of mental indulgence—sometimes appears to suggest it.

So many of the sweetest things of life come almost unnoticed. We look forward, says the London Chronicle, all the year to our holidays, but often despite the hours of leisure which, perhaps, are really more important to our well-being.

Retrospection will sometimes make clear how much quiet pleasure a single day has brought—a letter by the morning's post, a word of encouragement which has formed an undertone of harmony to the melody of toll, a child's gratitude for some trifle, even the welcome of our dog "with the soul in the shining eyes of him."

There are, of course, days when duties pall, when friends seem to fail us, when we grow weary of ourselves. There are times of disappointment and bitter sorrow. Yet, on the whole, it is a glad truth that—

In small measures life may perfect be.

Dutch "Found" Connecticut

The claim of the Dutch to Connecticut by right of discovery was well founded. The accounts of the voyages of Henry Hudson in 1609 and of Adrian Bloch in 1614 give the first descriptions which history records of this region.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The goal of every man is to make money faster than his family can spend it.

Many of us put off a lot of things but a good time is seldom postponed.

Some people are of such a retiring disposition that it embar-rasses them to meet their bills.

You can nearly always tell a failure, but you can't tell him very much.

It is said by some doctor that in 50 years from now people will be "too civilized" to kiss.

THE KELLAWAY PLAN

The Star prints this week a full sized plan of the Kellaway scheme for the abolition of the grade crossing in the center, together with the report and description presented to the Town in connection therewith.
This is done that the minds of the citizens may be refreshed in the details and desirability of the Kella-way Plan. It should be borne in mind that this plan was issued a year ago and that its appearance met with instant favor by the Town at large.
The description and explanation accompanying the plan is that taken from the printed report of our Waterways Committee.

It was expected that the STAR
would print this week a list of estimates and figures in connection with the Kellaway Plan. Unfortunately, the engineer collaborating with Mr.
Kellaway died very suddenly last Saturday morning after an association of twenty years. Mr. Kellaway has, therefore, been unable to complete his data for publication in this issue.

TOWN MEETING MEMBERS

Residents of the various voting precincts about town should bear in mind two points; first that they are called upon to vote for 33 Town Meeting Members from each precinct, and secondly that each precinct should have equal and fair representation. It is that in every precinct names
been brought forward in nomination of persons quite unknown to many other residents of the same precinct. This is very natural. Many residents, while very familiar with those residing in their own immediate neighborhood, know little of other members of their voting precinct residing outside their own close circle.

In the selection of names for nomination lists have been made up by those who know their precinct best.
Voters of the various precincts should read their lists as published in this week's Star and make inquiries as to the qualification of the candidates and take steps to become acquainted with them. In no instance should any one group be given preference over another.

Try and see to it that your vote for Town Meeting Members gives your precinct a fair and equal representation.

SEWER, SEWER, EVERYWHERE

The sewer made its customary and frequent visit yesterday. Stores, (and it is reported some dwellings) about the center have their usual cellar-full of this and that. The Star cellar at this point is about waist deep, with none of the several pumps of the various town departments in condition to set to work. The last big flood found the same condition (as regards the pumps) and the contractor from Stoneham who promised his outfit failed to show up. "Tom" Quigley came to the rescue to the tune of some $200, and it looks as though he is going to again jump into popularity. Meanwhile they say the goods in one cellar are bumping against the ceiling and that some 24 places are more or less afloat. Just at present we are lending a kindly and sympathetic ear to those of our neighbors in their difficulties and thanking the powers that be that beyond the loss of our heat and the possible ruination of our health we have nothing to lose in the 12 feet beneath our first floor—for it was all ruined long ago.

We suppose the Assessors will know of the flood anyway, so why keep it secret? No remuneration appears possible, and we can enjoy it as much as the next fellow so long as the money holds out.

P. S.—Anyone who was present
when plumber Wright of the C. W.
Campbell firm appeared and heroically swam through this private sewer would never again crack any of those stale jokes we read about.

P. S. No. 2—We take that back about the town pumps. The Sewer Department has arrived and is performing valiant service. But we wish we had not built a cellar to our building.

MYSTIC LAKE POLLUTION

Matter Again Brought Before the Public by Legislative Bill

To the Editor of the Star:

Last summer the Boston Evening Traveler carried a statement by myself that Sandy Beach at the Upper Mystic Lake was unfit for swimming,
because of its polluted condition.

Because of this highly polluted condition which I discovered at that time through analysis of many samples of water taken from Sandy Beach and other parts of the Upper Mystic Lake,
I have filed a bill in the Legislature for 1929 to correct and remedy polluted conditions all over the State where there is public fresh water swimming or bathing. The condition which exists in the Upper Mystic Lake exists in various parts of the State, although probably in no place is there as high a degree of pollution
as at Sandy Beach.

The samples of water were analyzed
by Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, and Skinner, Sherman and Esselen, Inc., of Boston. These chemists are of the highest standing in the United States, and their results are beyond question.

The results of analysis by both companies showed B. coli in excess of 10 B. coli per cubic centimeter of water at Sandy Beach, that is, 10,000 per quart of water, at the mouth of the Aberjona River, in the Upper Mystic Lake, at the float of the Winchester Boat Club, and at the "gut"
at the upper end of Upper Mystic Lake. At the lower end of the lake, at the Medford Boat Club, at the lower end of Upper Mystic Lake, the B. coli was much less in evidence, although
B. coli was present in all samples of water taken at these last two named points.

Doctor Rosenau of Harvard University states that the limit of safety in regard to water which is swallowed is one B. coli per cubic centimeter. Everybody who swims swallows some water. The American Public Health Association takes the position that the standard for public bathing places should satisfy the following test as to B. coli: "Not more than two out of five samples collected on the same day; not more than three out of any 10 samples collected on different dates should show a positive, presumptive test." In other words, there should be no evidence of B. coli
in any quantity in more than two out of five samples collected on the same day, or three out of any 10 samples collected on consecutive dates.

Every sample taken from the upper end of Mystic Lake including Sandy Beach, whether taken on the same date as other samples, or taken on different dates, showed B. coli in a cubic centimeter of water where none should be shown, to an extent more than 10 times greater than the extent described by Doctor Rosenau
as the limit of safety.

The position of the American Public Health Association was adopted in 1926 as a result of a report made to that Association from a joint committee on bathing places of the American Public Health Association and of State Sanitary Engineers.
This report was made to the Association at its annual meeting at Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1926. The report of this joint committee has also been adopted and approved by the United States Treasury Department. The position of the United States Treasury Department is contained in Public Health Bulletin, No. 169, issued in 1927 from the United States Government Printing Office at Washington,
from the United States Public Service, a department of the United States Treasury Department, under the direction of Hugh S. Cumming, Surgeon General.

The position of the American Public Health Association, as stated above, and the position of the State Sanitary Engineers, as stated above, is contained in the December, 1926, issue of the American Journal of Public Health.

The water of Sandy Beach in Upper Mystic Lake is unquestionably so polluted during the summer season that it is absolutely unfit to swim in and carries danger to every person who goes into it. These dangers include the danger of typhoid, of ear infection, of eye infection, skin infection and according to various doctors includes various and varying other dangers.

It is conditions such as these that I wish to see corrected. I do not wish to stop swimming at Sandy Beach excepting until such a time as the condition is corrected.

The completion of construction of a trunk line sewer now under way from West Medford to Winchester will carry off sewage which now empties into the Aberjona River, when this construction is finished and that will help much to relieve the condition. This trunk line sewer will not be completed, however, in time to relieve the condition at Sandy Beach for the summer of 1929.

Sandy Beach is, of course, a small comparatively shallow beach in a sheltered corner, out of which there is no very active current and there is no "wash-out" by tides, and with the hundreds, sometimes thousands, of bathers there daily, they themselves pollute the water. The pollution resulting from this condition will remain even after the trunk line sewer referred to above has been completed.

This condition can, however, be corrected at a very nominal cost by the use of disinfectants, of which there are many.

The American Public Health Association, the Society of State Sanitary Engineers, and the United States Treasury Department, all recommend the use of chlorine, and the American Public Health Association declares it has been used successfully at other beaches. The City of Woburn now purifies its drinking water from Horn
Pond with the use of chlorine.

We all know that it is next to impossible many times to get to salt water swimming places on some of these hot days in the summer and the result is that with the use of automobiles, the public is turning to fresh water swimming in greatly increasing numbers, and a condition is developing all over the State which requires the strictest supervision of fresh water swimming places.

We can, of course, let these conditions drift until some violent epidemic may be traced directly to some swimming pool, but just as surely as we let the situation drift, that epidemic will come.

I do not foresee much success for my bill this year, but I think it will focus the attention of the Legislature and the Health Department upon the great menace from these fresh water swimming places, and in accomplishing that, I believe I will have accomplished much. I do hope, however, the conditions at Sandy Beach may this year be corrected, or that swimming be stopped at that point. That beach is not large enough and does not have enough change of water to carry the load of swimmers that go in at that point.

Very truly yours,
Lewis H. Peters
West Medford, Mass.

THE LEGION APPRECIATES THE POWER OF THE PRESS

To the Editor of the Star:

The power of the press was brought strongly to the attention of the members of Winchester Post of the American Post of the American Legion, inasmuch as a committee had been trying for a number of months to obtain a collection of war time enlistment posters or Liberty Loan posters
used during the days of 1917 to 1918
by either the United States or its allies with but little, if any, success, until you kindly offered to insert a well known "newsy paragraph" in the Star that such contributions would be very gratefully received by the Legion.

In spite of the fact that this aforementioned newsy paragraph appeared inconspicuously on the rear pages of the Star at least 15 posters have been mailed or otherwise delivered to the Post, many of which are among the most familiar ones used during the days of the war. It is the desire of the Post to particularly acknowledge the posters presented by Mrs. Robert F. Whitney, by Mrs. George Fitch and the beautifully framed French war poster presented by Robert F.
Guild, as well as the many posters received through the mail without knowledge of the senders.

It is the intention of the Legion Post to have these posters suitably framed and hung about the walls of the house so that in the years to come the realization of war time conditions may be more apparent and serve to renew our pledges for permanent and continued peace.

The Post would be very grateful if other subscribers to the Star who did not, by chance, see that previously mentioned article, who have saved War or Liberty Loan posters and desire to have them preserved in the quarters of the American Legion, would communicate with me and therefore help the Post in completing, as far as possible, their collection of these posters which are every day getting more and more scarce.

Yours truly,
W. Allan Wilde,
Commander

LOWER OR RAISE THE TRACKS

To the Editor of the Star:

New red-painted steel girders beside the tracks at the railroad bridge over the river just below the Wedco-me Station are indicative that the Boston & Maine Railroad engineers are at least not considering a future lowering or raising of the tracks through Winchester.

To my mind there are exactly two ways of overcoming our grade crossing nuisance, one, and the best, to lower the tracks, the other to raise the tracks by constructing an architecturally beautiful overhead bridge.

This matter of diverting traffic northward, still does not eliminate a dangerous crossing somewhere and in the end we have only jumped from the airplane into the atmosphere.

Lower the objection or raise it,
those are my suggestions.

MOYNIHAN—HINES

A wedding of much interest in Winchester took place in the rectory of St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham, at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening when Elizabeth Hines of 46 Broadway, Stoneham, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Kerrigan and the late Mr. Kerrigan, became the bride of John Cornelius Moynihan of this town, son of Mrs.
John H. Moynihan and the late Mr.
Moynihan of Winchester place. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Fr.
Leo J. Knapp.

The bride wore Nile green georgette with picture hat to match and carried tea roses. She was attended by her niece, Miss Marion Hanlon of Winchester, who wore powder blue georgette with hat to match and also carried tea roses. Henry Moynihan of this town was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends was held at the home of the bride, after which the bride and bridegroom left for New York where they will sail Saturday on the S.S. President Roosevelt for Havana, Cuba. While in Havana they will be the guests of the bride's brother, Mr. T. A. Kerrigan who is stationed in that city as freight manager for the United Fruit Company. Upon their return from their wedding journey Mr. and Mrs.
Moynihan will make their home in Stoneham.

Both have many friends in Winchester. The bride is a popular member of the Winchester Emblem Club and Mr. Moynihan is affiliated with Winchester Lodge, 1445, of Elks.
During the World War he served in the United States Navy.

MEETING OF WINCHESTER POST, A. L.

At its regular meeting held last evening Winchester Post, No. 97, of the American Legion expressed a sincere vote of gratitude to the Winchester citizens who have so thoughtfully donated the copies of war time enlistment posters or Liberty Loan posters which will be suitably framed and hung on the walls of the Legion House. It was likewise voted that the Post reserve 100 tickets for the American Legion Ice Carnival to be held at the Boston Gardens on Thursday evening, Feb. 14, and that these tickets costing $2 and $1.50 each be offered to Winchester residents in an attempt to have a real Winchester section at this ice carnival to pay the town's respect to Maribel Vinson who,
by her wonderful ability as a fancy ice skater has earned the honor of being the outstanding star in such endeavor in the United States and is to be the headliner on the program at this ice carnival, which program also includes many interesting features and exciting contests, among them a feature hockey game between the B. A. A. and the University Club, a specially arranged speed race between seven of the outstanding amateur skaters of greater Boston and a comedy hockey game between a team composed of members of the leading teams in the Bay State Amateur Hockey League. The program for this carnival is undoubtedly the finest ever arranged for such a spectacle and assures the patrons of full value in pleasure and enjoyment. The carnival is the first actual attempt on behalf of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion to raise money toward the necessary fund to bring the 1930 National Convention of the American Legion to Boston.

Plans were announced for an extensive membership drive inviting all ex-service men to join thereby contributing their membership and support to the work being carried on by the American Legion for our disabled comrades as well as for his own pleasure and for the good of the community.

Applications for membership may be obtained from any member of the American Legion or through Wade
L. Grindle, chairman of the membership committee or W. Allan Wilde, Commander of the Post.

A number of new members in the Post were initiated by a very impressive new initiative ceremony which was used for the first time last evening.

The Post had for its guest and speaker Alex MacLean, a former champion bicycle rider and manager of many prize fighters in days gone
by including the former world's champion, Jack Johnson, and many others of championship calibre. Mr. Mac-Lean told many interesting, as well as, amusing incidents behind the scenes of the fight game of a few years ago as well as the present day.

The Post expressed by its applause,
as well as by vote, its appreciation of Mr. MacLean's having put off a contemplated trip south in order to fulfill his engagement with the Post.

It was announced that at the next meeting of the Post, to be held Thursday, March 7, that our fellow comrade Laurence Lombard will tell with the assistance of moving picture reels,
of his interesting trip in a small sailing boat from New York to Spain in connection with the race conducted last summer on which boat he was the navigating officer and greatly responsible for the success of his boat which was victorious in the race.

Much interest on the part of members was evidenced in the proposed plans for a baseball game between a team composed of members of the American Legion and this year's High School baseball team, to be held June 17, as well as the elaborate plans under way for the celebration of Independence Day, July 4.

There has been some talk of forming a rifle team among the members, and as the interest appears considerable, arrangements for a try-out have been made. This try-out will be next Sunday forenoon from 10 to 12 o'clock at the Woburn Armory, and members of Winchester Post who are interested should meet at that place during the time specified.

WATERFIELD LODGE HOSTS TO PRINCE JONATHAN ASSOCIATION

The Prince Jonathan Association, composed of ten Odd Fellows' Lodges in this district, was entertained Monday evening in Association Hall on Vine street by Waterfield Lodge 231, I. O. O. F., of Winchester. Aside from the Winchester Lodge, representatives of nine lodges were present, the total attendance being about 250.

Arthur Cameron, P. G., chairman of Waterfield's Prince Jonathan committee, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening and introduced first his lodge's Noble Grand, Carl Morse, who made the address of welcome. He was followed by Clayton F. Beach, president of the Prince Jonathan Association, who responded briefly.

Following the roll call of delegates State Past Grand Master Marshall announced that try-outs are soon to be held for those who wish to be candidates for the degree team which is to represent the Prince Jonathan district in competition with the Good Fellowship Association of Lynn for the Governor Fuller trophy, won last year by the local organization. The competition, which covers the initiation degree, is to be held in Mechanics Building during April.

The evening's entertainment was furnished by Rev. W. Bradley Whitney, chaplain at the State's prison, who absorbed his audience with a stereoscopic lecture of life behind prison walls. The first picture which Mr. Bradley Whitney showed was that of the present prison building built in 1805 and the oldest penal structure now in use. In referring to the new building, which is to replace it, construction is now in process of construction at Norfolk, the speaker paid a deserved tribute to Winchester's Lewis Parkhurst whose efforts have been largely instrumental in securing the new plant.

After the lecture a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served in the banquet hall by a committee in charge of Everett W. Hambley.

The general committee in charge of the entire affair included Arthur Cameron, chairman; Ralph Hatch and Franklin Pynn.

REPORT UPON THE ELIMINATION OF THE GRADE CROSSING AT WINCHESTER

Being a Supplement to the Report Upon the Waterways Improvement

By HERBERT J. KELLAWAY

It was not the intention of the waterways committee to consider the question of eliminating the grade crossing at the center of the town, but whenever one makes any plans for the future alongside or near the railroad the question naturally arises how will this fit in with any plans which may be made hereafter for doing away with the grade crossing.

So Mr. Kellaway gave much thought to this as he studied his problem and at length reached a conclusion that there was a way to separate the grades in Winchester somewhat differently from the many schemes heretofore suggested and discussed. His plan has been submitted to able engineers who are familiar with this kind of work, and they report that it is entirely feasible, practical, and especially economical, probably costing less than one-half the expense of any plan thus far discussed.

Inasmuch as the vote under which we are acting empowers us "to report and recommend concerning any matters which this committee may be connected with or related to any of the subjects heretofore specified," we feel justified in granting Mr. Kellaway's request that his recommendations in regard to the elimination of the grade crossing be attached to his waterways report.

Report Upon Elimination of Grade Crossing

In studying the plan for the improvement of the waterways in the Town of Winchester it became apparent that a successful treatment was more or less involved with the Boston & Maine Railroad, located in the center of the Aberjona River valley.

Upon further study it became clear that the elimination of the grade crossing would need to be studied to see if the tracks should be lowered, raised or kept at the present level, as it will affect the height of the bridges needed to be rebuilt under the railroad of larger capacity to take care of the increased flow of water in the river in the future; also to allow boats to pass under for maintenance and canoes for pleasure.

To help determine this knotty problem that has been under discussion for about 20 years with various schemes devised, it seemed wise to present the accompanying plan and photographs to explain how the change in grades will fit into the contemplated improvements. There are three ways of handling the tracks; to lower them, to raise them, or to leave them at their present level. To raise the tracks would make a causeway through the center of the town thereby dividing the town in two parts. To lower them would reduce the height of the bridges needed under the tracks, besides raising all the streets and buildings about the center, a stupendous undertaking. To keep them as at present would allow subways to be built and the center of the town saved from heavy damages and a tremendous upheaval during the raising of the town.

The present existing condition at the crossing is perhaps one of the worst examples of a danger spot in the State of Massachusetts. It requires the employment of several men day and night by the railroad, a police officer on guard constantly, with the addition of electric switching, stop and go lights, and other safety devices and warning signals (Plate A). The congestion at times is so great that little shopping can be done with ease, with the heavily loaded trucks, the street cars on two lines, and other traffic all mixing together before the signals and adjoining streets. The streets in the shopping district both sides of the track are becoming very crowded and dangerous, especially for men, women and the school children as pedestrians and may need constant widening if this congested condition is retained.

It is now considered good Town Planning practice to divert the through and out of town traffic away from the center of the shopping district rather than have it pass through to the detriment of the shopkeepers and the shoppers. Through this district two main highway routes come together in an open square fashion at the crossing; one line leading with street cars from Woburn to Medford and Boston and the other with street cars from Stoneham to Arlington, all coming together at the signal lights or when the gates are down.

This exasperating delay and annoyance to traffic and the proper communication with the town is decried not only by the townsmen of Winchester but by others outside the town who have occasion to use this crossing. Even the town facilities, such as fire and police, find difficulty when the gates are down, and the only way out is to go to Swanton street or Bacon street, or wait. With all these difficulties in mind the following suggestions and plan accompanying are made and suggested for the abatement of this dangerous nuisance.

Beginning at the junction of Main and Washington streets upon the easterly side of the tracks, the main highway route is diverted over Washington street to the junction of Mt. Vernon street near the Town Hall (Plate B). At this point, in front of the Town Hall, the Skillings Estate, fortunately, has been kept intact with all the land open (Plate C). This open land is the key point for the proposed study and gives the town the wonderful opportunity to make the grade crossing change with reasonable expense and with but little interruption to traffic or business during the time the changes are being made. Then by a 70 feet wide highway continuing in a westerly direction, the Aberjona River is shown to be spanned by a single arched bridge at 85 feet wide at the water line, being the same width as the Main street bridge and the Waterfield street bridge (Plate D). Proper connection can be made with the proposed roadway shown upon the Waterways Plan on the easterly side of Judkins Pond. The new location will then pass through some fairly open land and inexpensive houses to the railroad near the switching tower and about at the junction of the main line and the Woburn Branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad (Plate E).

At the railroad a new concrete and steel bridge is shown to be built to let the tracks remain at the present level. Beyond the railroad the location will occupy fairly open land with several inexpensive buildings fronting upon Main street (Plate F). From the railroad the new highway will curve towards the north to Main street towards Woburn.

The highway approach from Arlington to Stoneham is over Church street, and by way of Church street extended through the Parker & Lane Building, a two-story structure that could be easily moved to a new location upon the New Highway (Plate G). Then through an open lot at the rear of the Parker & Lane Building and some old-fashioned buildings of little value to a new filling station upon Main street (Plate H). The buildings shown from the filling station to Church street are of no great value (Plate I). The location then connects with the new bridge proposed over the railroad and with Woburn by an easy curve. On the New Highway land values would improve and the adjoining lands be occupied by new structures of good taxable value.

The street cars would follow the New Highway, and two transfer points could be established: one at the new railroad bridge and the other at the Town Hall corner. The Town Hall could be reached from any point of Winchester near the carline by using the street cars without need for a transfer. Winchester place is shown to be widened to give free access to the shopping district upon both sides of the railroad, as well as give direct connection with the other side of the tracks for the fire apparatus and the police departments. A portion of Main street that would exist on the westerly side of the tracks after the plan is carried out could be abandoned and the land sold for building purposes, thereby increasing taxable property.

There will also be increased value in the land now existing between the center and the new highway; it will enlarge the center, reclaiming much cheap property.

The increase in distance of the new highway in comparison with the present route will be imperceptible in this present day of motor traffic. For from a point at the junction of Main street and Washington street upon the easterly side of the tracks to a point in front of Whitney's Mill upon Main street on the westerly side of the railroad over the proposed new highway is only 400 feet additional distance over the present route.

Likewise, taking a point upon Church street in front of the Parker & Lane Building upon the westerly side of the tracks and over the new highway to a point at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Washington streets on the easterly side near the Town Hall is only 300 feet increase over the present way.

The grades shown upon the plan are to be at a rate of 3 and 4 per cent, which is a rise of three or four feet in 100 feet of highway, a very easy grade. The grade of the highway could be made steeper if desired. The clearance of the railroad bridge is shown to be 18 feet, the minimum that should be constructed, to accommodate the new type of railroad equipment.

A subway is placed at the center crossing so that free access can be had by foot with each side of the town for shoppers, and especially by the school children passing under the tracks to school (Plate A).

Another subway is placed at the railroad station to eliminate the existing and much disliked overhead bridge. This subway will be of great convenience for direct access to the postoffice, the station, churches on either side of the tracks, and to Manchester Field and other parts of the town, going either way upon foot (Plate J).

With the acceptance of the proposed plan the town could then proceed to develop the waterways free from any hampering contingencies of what the railroad change would make upon the work. The grade crossing as planned could be carried to completion in nearly all respects without the interruption of local business or the stopping of the railroad use and traffic at all times. The cost would be at least one-half of any plan recently proposed and would benefit the town, the general public and the railroad, all to a degree that would be hard to estimate.

I would suggest the following points to consider and act upon:

First: Accept the plan, and appoint a committee with authority and power to undertake this crossing project with energy and despatch.

Second: Co-operate with the railroad and other official bodies to accomplish the result in the shortest possible time.

Third: Secure as much land as possible in anticipation of the improvement by purchase or option.

Fourth: Place building lines and other restrictions so nothing will interfere with the carrying out of the plan by unscrupulous speculators.

Fifth: Co-operate with all departments of the Town and push the needed improvement as fast as funds and official co-operation will permit to eliminate this very bad danger spot.

FIREMAN'S BALL HELD LAST FRIDAY EVENING

Capacity Gathering Pleasured With Fine Entertainment Program

The capacity of the Town Hall was taxed to the very limit last Friday evening, the occasion being the concert and dance of the Winchester Fireman's Relief Association, known locally as the annual "Fireman's Ball." Always one of the red letter nights of the winter season in town the ball has been a sell-out for many years past and there was not a vacant seat in the hall last Friday when the curtain arose on the first of several fine acts of vaudeville which preceded the general dancing.

Decorations of palms and flowers lent an attractive note to the stage setting while the appearance of the firemen who served as ushers and aids in their dress uniforms of blue and silver was wholly pleasing.

Miss "Flo" Nickerson acted as mistress of ceremonies for the entertainment program and introduced first Constance & Cappel who were billed as "two men, in a fast dancing act." They proved as good as their advance notice, even if Cappel was pretty much a pocket edition as grown men go. The latter danced a solo clog number which brought much applause.

Franklin and Pierce, a man and woman in a western comedy skit, had everyone laughing and in a good humor for the advent of Mae and June Ritchie, two cute kiddies, who won their audience from the start with their clever singing, unusually good acrobatics and eccentric dancing.

Sang and Chung, introduced as "a couple of boys from Russia," but who looked and dressed like chinamen, sang several songs in close harmony and wound up with a "Heiland Fling," in which Chung showed what the well dressed Scot is wearing in addition to his kilts.

Miss Nickerson, herself, kept the audience happy with a rapid fire monologue and songfest, and if she was a bit hard on Selectman "Harry" Stevens and "E. P." Sullivan, her sketch was no less popular.

"Billie" Williams, widely known radio entertainer who is no stranger to Winchester, gave much pleasure with her artistic playing of her big ornate accordion and as an added attraction introduced Miss Grace Williams, a soprano with a wide range, who was heartily applauded after singing the favorite "Mother Macchree."

The bill was brought to a close by the Pennsylvania Comedy Four, a quartet of colored entertainers and vocalists with good voices and a different brand of humor. A couple of their songs were out of the ordinary and their closing dance in which they imitated a pullman train was one long laugh. We particularly enjoyed their "Sons of Old Black Joe" number.

The only change in the entertainment bill as announced previous to the show was that which substituted Frank Moriarty as pianist for the artists instead of Dora Van.

At the conclusion of the entertainment program the hall was cleared under the direction of Janitor "Ed" Callahan for the general dancing which continued until 1 o'clock Saturday morning. Joyce's Orchestra of Woburn, under the direction of the inimitable "Tommy" Gigliotti, furnished the music. Another Winchester boy, "Bennie" Chitel, played the traps with the team.

Throughout the evening firemen held open house for their friends and visiting firemen at the Central Station where refreshments were served and an opportunity afforded to inspect the apparatus and equipment of the plant. Drivers Everett Kimball and Robert Scanlon with Firemen David Meskell and John O'Melia were in charge of dispensing the refreshments, O'Melia and Ray Hanson filling in as "K Ps." A large delegation took advantage of the firemen's invitation to be entertained, but there was plenty for everyone.

At the hall everything ran smoothly, though it was after 11 before the crowd thinned out enough to permit much of any satisfactory dancing on the floor. Chief David H. DeCorney acted as floor marshal for the dancing. Deputy Chief John J. Gorman was assistant floor marshal. J. J. McCarron, floor director; Hugh K. Sweeney, assistant floor director; and Capt. Edward Fitzgerald, chief of aids.

The aids were:

TAKE THE TRAIN TO THE GARDEN

Sport followers from Winchester and vicinity will find it easy to get to and from the Boston Garden even in the most severe weather that winter can bring, according to the program of "Garden Specials" announced today by the Boston and Maine Railroad for the month of February.

Operating on the schedule which is proving popular with an increasing number of sport fans, the Garden specials will run every night when important boxing events, as well as Bruins hockey games, take place at the Garden.

For the boxing fans, the specials will be operated on three Friday nights during February—Feb. 1, 8 and 15—and for hockey followers on Saturday, Feb. 2, and Tuesday, Feb. 5, 12, 19 and 26.

The sport fans' special trains are scheduled to reach the New North Station at 8 p. m., enabling passengers to reach their seats in the Garden well before the start of the program. On the return trip they will leave North Station 15 minutes after the program ends. On these trains, as well as on regular trains arriving at the North Station any week night after 6:20 p. m. and returning the same evening, the Boston and Maine's "evening excursion" rate—virtually one-half the regular rate—will apply.

When Gasoline Was Dumped into Ocean

In the process of distilling petroleum, the lighter oils, naphtha and gasoline are first obtained, and these were considered waste products for many years. Kerosene, the heavier oils and greases, constituted the greatest demand, and gasoline had only a limited use in exceedingly small quantities, such as the cleaning of fabrics.

Not only was gasoline practically useless in the "good old days," but it was dangerous because of the attendant risk of fire which was ever present wherever quantities were stored. Millions of gallons were loaded into huge tanks on barges, transported far out to sea, and there dumped. This was the fire hazard averted.

The advent of the internal combustion engine changed all this, and gasoline in a few years became the principal product of the petroleum trade. Kerosene lost caste with the coming of the electric light. The development of the automobile made the petroleum industry one of the richest of the nation, and the "dangerous byproduct" became one of our principal articles of trade.

In the early days of the automobile, when fuel was cheap, few manufacturers paid much attention to operating costs of their cars. Automobiles were costly, and the men who purchased them were wealthy. Gasoline was comparatively cheap, and the early automobiles used plenty of it.

Modern times have changed all this, and economy of operation is one of the essential requirements of the present-day automobile. Exhaustive tests are made and every available scientific aid is used in this research.

This is one of the finest pictures ever taken.

There will also be with us on this evening, the Honorable Ralph O. Brewster, ex-Governor of Maine. Mr. Brewster is an able, interesting speaker and a student of nature. He is going to give us a short address which will appeal to every lover of the fast disappearing wild life.

These pictures are of great educational value and are open to the public. They are given under the auspices of the Everyman's Class of the First Baptist Church. The show begins at 8 o'clock promptly and the tickets may be obtained at Hevey's Pharmacy, Butterworth's, Fells Market, Clara Catherine's and at the door. There are no reserved seats. Price is fifty cents each. Come and see this unusual exhibition and help the Building Fund.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

With the coming of each new Emil Jannings picture, theatergoers have fallen into the habit of becoming spellbound while the artist gives one of his characterizations. The sensation is not amiss with his latest film entitled "Sins of the Fathers," which is showing at the big Granada Theater in Malden the last three days of this week. He plays the part of a man that every theatergoer can understand and sympathize with. The sensational theme of bootlegging is handled in a way to which no one will object, because the picture does not glorify the criminal aspects of bootlegging. On the other hand, bootlegging brings tragedy into Jannings's. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville will be an added feature for the last three days of this week.

"Sunrise," one of the outstanding film spectacles of the year, comes to the Granada next Monday, with Janet Gaynor, of "Seventh Heaven" fame, and George O'Brien as the stars. It tells the simple tale of a peasant who hears the song of a city siren and becomes a puppet in her hands to a point where he is willing to drown his wife in order to free himself for the other woman. Almost equally engrossing is his later recovery of himself, his reconciliation with his wife and his joyous celebration in an amusement park.

Mrs. Maud Wolloff as "Aunt Betsy" was especially good. The large audience was appreciative and everyone enjoyed the evening. Mildred Hamilton was coach. Tickets were in charge of Edna Gilchrist and Sadie Fancie. Between the acts there were piano selections by Ruth MacDonald and two soprano solos by Marian Smith accompanied by Miss MacDonald.

PROFESSOR SAYRE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Francis B. Sayre, professor of law at Harvard University, will be the speaker at a meeting to be held in the high school library on Monday evening, Feb. 11, at 8 o'clock. Professor Sayre will speak on "America's Outlook on Foreign Affairs," and will discuss the significance of the Kellogg Peace Pact in the light of the development of the foreign policy of the United States, and of the problems which America will be facing in the coming decade. Professor Sayre has a fund of general information and wide experience to draw from; the fact that he was advisor on foreign affairs to the Siam Government from 1923 to 1925, a responsible position for so young a man, assuring his audience of some interesting data. Professor Sayre has had splendid opportunity for gathering information on his chosen subject, his position as the son-in-law of the late President Woodrow Wilson having given him valuable contacts and an intimate knowledge of men and affairs.

This meeting is open to the public without charge and it is hoped that the timeliness of the subject will have a strong appeal.

TRUCK BROKE WINDOW IN LOCAL STORE

A broken cellar window frame, two panes of glass and slight damage to a Ford truck were reported shortly after 7 o'clock on Monday morning when a Ford truck, owned by John P. Squires of Cambridge and driven by Ralph F. Menard of 114 Kimball street, Malden, crashed into the front of Piccolo Brothers fruit and confectionary store on Main street in the square.

Menard told the police that he was going north on Main street and had reached a point in front of Piccolo's store when another Ford truck, owned by the Marathon Bakery Company pulled away from the curb directly into his path. To avoid striking the latter machine, Menard swung his truck over the curbing against the building. Fortunately no one was injured.

EVERYMAN'S BIBLE CLASS

OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH AT THE TOWN HALL

EVERYMAN'S CLASS SPONSORED UNUSUAL MOVIE NIGHT

Despite the unfavorable weather conditions there was a goodly attendance at the motion picture show staged last evening in the Town Hall under the auspices of Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church for the benefit of the parish building fund. The pictures were unusually interesting and had at the same time a distinct educational value, showing as they did wonderful glimpses of nature and scenes of wild life in the great outdoors.

The pictures were in no sense the stereotyped nature reels but were splendid collections owned and loaned especially for the occasion by Mr. C. K. Howard of the Canadian National Railways and Mr. A. O. Seymour of the Canadian Pacific Railway, both of Canada. The value of the pictures was greatly enhanced by the explanations made personally by Mr. F. G. Poole, director of the Fish and Game Department of the Canadian National. The co-operation of Dr. Charles H. Tozier of Winchester aided greatly in bringing the show to Winchester and the doctor introduced both Mr. Poole and ex-Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine to the audience. Governor Brewster was delayed by a meeting in Boston and did not arrive at the hall until about 9 o'clock. He was cordially received and spoke briefly upon the necessity for the conservation of our fast disappearing wild life.

In addition to the above pictures the Paramount News films of the Arctic expedition of Mr. George Palmer Putnam, New York publisher, were shown through the courtesy of Mr. J. E. Coolidge. Much interest was also evinced in the screen showing of the activities of the winter sports party conducted at Lucerne, Me., at the New Year's holiday season by Doctor Tozier. Many of those who were members of the party were present last evening to enjoy the replica on the screen.

Harry Moulton, chairman of the church reception committee, served as head usher for the evening and was assisted by Lee Ralph, Harold Hammond, Nathan Chapin, C. Elliott Ward and E. H. Butterworth.

The committee in charge of arrangements was headed by H. Wadsworth Hight as chairman and comprised Jerome W. Gates, Harold Hammond, C. Elliott Ward, Charles A. Burnham and E. H. Butterworth.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

At the regular meeting held last Thursday evening at the home of Monitor Quigley, a nominating committee was appointed to bring in names of officers for the coming "Guid Year."

Plans were made to aid financially the Little Sisters of the Poor on Guild Day which this year occurs on March 19. Also on this day the members and their friends are welcome at the Home in Somerville where they can see the fine work which is being carried on to aid the aged inmates at the Home.

Reports of the various committees were read. Also a very splendid report from our financial secretary, Sister Mary Dinneen on the house party held at her home on Jan. 24 in aid of our Charitable Committee. It certainly was a grand success both socially and financially with much thanks to Sister Dinneen who proved a very charming hostess.

MRS. JEREMIAH BOWLER

Mrs. Jeremiah Bowler, formerly of Malden died Saturday, Feb. 9, at the home of her son, Cornelius Bowler of 32 Thompson street. She was well known to older residents of Winchester, having made her home here for many years before moving to Malden. She returned to Winchester about two years ago. Mrs. Bowler was in her 80th year and was born in Scotland. Funeral services were held Monday morning in St. Mary's Church and the interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Miss Anna S. Ekman will spend next week in New York where she will select her new Spring Models and millinery merchandise and obtain the newest ideas for the coming Spring and Summer season.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Winchester Rotarians have long since formed the habit of looking forward to Thursday as a marked day in the week, a day marked by the joyous companionship of congenial souls. Little more than an hour's time is occupied on this day, yet it is an hour replete with those incidents, possibly trivial in themselves, yet thoroughly humanizing, which help mightily in carrying us over the rough spots of the succeeding week.

Last Thursday was such a day. Those present were chiefly members of our own club; we can say without disparagement to our most welcome visitors that it was a distinctly family party. It occurs to the writer that gatherings of this sort are powerful instrumentalities in strengthening the bonds which hold us together. Doubtless we must have variety, but fundamentals are essential. Clearly these home assemblies form one of the main supports of our brotherhood.

We were not without entertainment on this occasion, and it was an entertainment such as Jim Malone of our members, can produce. Pupils of the Wadleigh School were the actors in this exhibition, those pupils who have developed proficiency in the art of music and there were many of them.

It will be recalled that these boys and girls are of the seventh and eighth school grades. That they have made such noteworthy progress speaks volumes for the efforts of Principal Crowell of the Wadleigh School, and for the more intimate instruction of Miss Knighly, Supervisor of Music. By the girls there were two groups of songs in three-part harmony. To the most of us this was a novelty, and decidedly effective. It remained for the boys to glorify that instrument dear to the juvenile heart—the harmonica. We were borne straight back to our youthful days where we would gladly have remained much longer. We assure you, boys and girls, that it was a grand performance and once more we extend our profound thanks.

Next week we hope to greet once more those of our members who have been kept away by illness. We believe that absence from our meetings has been by no means the least of the drawbacks incident to their sickness. A warm welcome awaits them on the 21st.

WINCHESTER LOST AT READING

Winchester High School lost its Middlesex League basketball game to Reading High School Wednesday afternoon at Reading, 18-13. Once again it was a poor first half which beat the locals.

"Nutsy" Amico tossed the only goal from the floor which Winchester was able to register before intermission and also added an extra point from a free try. Meanwhile Reading had rolled up a tally of 10 and the fact that Coach Mansfield's boys outscored their rival during the second half, 10-7, didn't matter.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds outlasted the Reading seconds, 22-10. The summary of the first team game follows:

INTERESTING SPEAKER AT EVERYMAN'S CLASS

The meeting of Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church scheduled for the coming Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Town Hall promises to be one of the most interesting yet held. The class is unusually fortunate in that it has secured as the speaker, Mr. N. E. Peterson, industrial statistician of the First National Bank of Boston.

Mr. Peterson is to speak upon the economic changes of the new industrial era and is especially well qualified to divulge much information of particular interest to business men and others who wish to be well informed upon matters within the realm of Political Science. All men are cordially invited to hear Mr. Peterson and to share in the spirit of good fellowship which has been a feature of Everyman's Class since its inception.

SUNNY SUNDAY SERVICE

The First Baptist Churches of Reading, Milton and Winchester are engaged in an inter-church attendance crusade contest in which the Winchester church is leading by nine points. A feature of this crusade is the exchange of church pastors and choirs between Reading and Winchester Sunday evening. Rev. Wesley G. Huber, pastor of the Reading Baptist Church will bring his adult vested choir to the Winchester Town Hall this Sunday evening at 7 o'clock and conduct one of his famous "Sunny Sunday Evening" services. Mr. Huber will speak on "The Eternal Quest for God" in his own lucid and forceful manner.

Rev. Benjamin P. Browne will preach at the same hour in the Reading Baptist Church taking with him to Reading the Junior Pilgrim Vested Choir and Mr. John Percival, soloist.

NEW UNITARIAN PARISH HOUSE DEDICATED LAST SUNDAY

Lieut.-Governor Youngman Guest of Honor at Opening Banquet Monday Evening

The beautiful new parish house of the Unitarian Society was dedicated with simple but effective services last Sunday morning.

At the conclusion of the regular service of worship and following the sermon, preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. George Hale Reed, on "The Unconscious Dedication," the congregation, led by the pastor and the quartet, marched through the cloister from the church auditorium into the new Sunday School room where the dedication took place.

Mr. Charles F. Dutch, a member of the Building Committee, presented the keys of the new parish house to Mr. Charles H. Watkins who as a member of the Church Standing Committee accepted them for the society. The congregation joined in the brief service of dedication, led by the pastor. Following the chorale, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Bach and the Lord's prayer and response, Mr. Reed pronounced the benediction.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Schubert Club, Mr. E. L. MacArthur, conductor, sang an interesting program at a vesper service with Mr. Horace B. Blackmer as organist. Both the morning and afternoon services were well attended, there being an especially large attendance at the dedication.

About 350 were present Monday evening when the new parish house was formally opened with a banquet held in Metcalf Hall. Preceding the dinner the entire plant was open for inspection, many taking advantage of their first opportunity to view the society's splendidly adequate quarters.

Everything was most attractive but the admiration aroused by the quaint cloister, the charming ladies' parlor, the young people's room, the beautiful little chapel showing clearly a Spanish influence and the men's room with its entirely apropos inscription was especially noticeable.

Lieut.-Governor William S. Youngman was guest of honor at the banquet and the other especially invited guests included Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church; Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church; Rev. Truman Hemmings, rector of the Church of the Epiphany; Rev. Nathaniel J. Morrill, pastor of St. Mary's Church; Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church; Rev. Charles Smith, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church; and Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Seated at the speakers' table with the toastmaster, Mr. Charles H. Watkins, was the pastor of the Unitarian Church, Rev. George Hale Reed, and Mr. Frederick C. Alexander, contractor, and Mr. Edgar T. P. Walker of Smith & Walker, architects of the new parish house; Mr. Herbert K. Miller, superintendent of the Unitarian Sunday School; Mr. Thomas R. Bateman, representative for Winchester; Mrs. Thomas R. Bateman; Miss Annette E. Mason, Director of Young People's Activities; Mr. Ralph E. Joslin, chairman of the Building Finance Committee; Mrs. Ralph E. Joslin; Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell, chairman of the selectmen; Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, Mrs. Frederick C. Alexander, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, Mrs. William S. Youngman, Mrs. Charles H. Watkins, Hon. William S. Youngman; Rev. Ralph E. Bailey, pastor of First Parish Church in Cambridge; Mrs. Ralph E. Bailey, Mrs. George Hale Reed; Rev. Louis C. Cornish president of American Unitarian Association; Mr. Charles F. Dutch, vice chairman of the Parish House Building Committee; Mr. Henry W. Hildreth; Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, member Building Committee; Mr. James F. Dwinell, member Building Committee; Mr. T. R. Godwin, president of the Unitarian Men's Club; Mrs. T. R. Godwin and Rev. Sidney B. Snow, president of Meadville Theological Seminary.

An interesting sidelight of their crossing was the facility with which the Western Union handled a radiogram. The radiogram was sent Mr. and Mrs. Cameron at 9 a. m. to the S.S. Lancaster then in mid-Atlantic and a reply received and delivered by 12:55.

CALUMET NOTES

Those who failed to visit the Calumet Club on the evening of Feb. 12 missed a treat, not only from a literary standpoint, but from an inspirational one as well. Too many such opportunities do not occur in an ordinary life-time; they are the more to be treasured when they do. For two all-too-brief hours the fires of his Genius burned, and pleasure, profit, and inspiration was the reward of all who heard.

Mr. Edwin Markham (yes, "The" Mr. Markham!) was introduced by our genial chairman, Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase. Announcing the general subject of "Poetry," Mr. Markham proceeded to enthrall his audience with an evening of reminiscences touched with humor, anecdotes, philosophy, biography, and best of all, many and generous selections from his own famous works, rendered with all the fire and enthusiasm of a "young man needing encouragement," and interspersed with delightful sallies of his sly and whimsical humor. Mr. Markham won the sympathy and admiration of his hearers at the very outset, and closed amidst loud and prolonged enthusiasm, having stolen the affections of all. To add a final and supreme thrill to the evening, "The Man With the Hoe" was requested, and most graciously and inspiringly rendered.

REV. M. P. G. LEONARD, D.S.O., TO PREACH AT THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

The Rev. M. P. G. Leonard, D.S.O., one of the original chaplains of Toc H, is to preach at the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

One of the Toc H publications answers the question—What is Toc H, as follows:

"It is an international family of young men which in eight years has become world-wide. It was born in Flanders during the great war, but it is in no sense an ex-service men's society. The vast majority of its members are and probably always will be between the ages of 18 and 28."

It exists to keep alive, and to hand on the great traditions of self-forgetting service and brotherhood between men of all classes and types, so conspicuous during the war. It is a living memorial to those who fell. It is an attempt to consecrate the stupendous sacrifice of the World War, and to raise out of that sacrifice a spirit which shall make impossible a reputation of such an outrageous tragedy.

It is a challenge to younger men to join up in the great adventure of building the things that belong to peace, and to do this in the same high-hearted spirit of courage, endurance, and humor as former generations of young men have displayed in war. Toc was the name given to the Letter T by army signallers. T. H. stood for Talbot House, a house in Poperinghe, eight miles behind the imperishable Ypres salient, in which many thousands of men, from 1915 to the end of the war, found refreshment for body, mind and soul. Within that house, full of gay humor and friendships that knew no distinctions, many thousands saw life—and death—in a new light, and many lives were changed. So wonderful a spirit grew up there, that in 1919 many of the survivors determined to see to it that such a spirit should not be allowed to die. By 1920 the movement, retaining the old name "Toc H" as its title, was steadily spreading. It now exists in every continent.

A number of anagrams have been made on "Toc H," the best of which are: "To Consecrate Humor," "To Conquer Hate," "To Create Harmony."

WINCHESTER TEACHERS HEARD IN OPERETTA

Christina of Greenland Presented in Wyman School Hall

Christina of Greenland a musical comedy in three acts with book and lyrics by George M. Brown and music by Harrison Neil, was presented on Monday and Tuesday evenings in the assembly hall of the Wyman School by the Winchester Teachers' Club. Large audiences were present on both nights.

The action centers about the distaste which Christina, daughter of the Danish administrator at Erikshaven, has for a matrimonial alliance with one Lord Doolittle and the secret love which she cherishes for Ralph Winslow, a mere reporter for a Sunday news sheet. Her dread of a title strongly opposed to the desires of her mother but finds favor with her father who desires above all that his daughter shall marry a man. Naturally Christina is triumphant at the final curtain but not until after her efforts had freed her lover who had been accused of plotting against the United States Government and had fastened the blame upon Izorinsky Russovitch, a notorious Russian spy.

The production moved rapidly and was very well done, the music being tuneful and well adapted to the voices of the cast. Some notable solo work was done by Miss Marion Hanlon as "Thelma Larsen" and by Miss Margaretta Centerville who as "Christina" was a real daughter of the Vikings. Miss E. Gladys MacDonald was excellent as the title character, "Mrs. Aalborg" while the rival lover, "Lord Doolittle" and "Ralph Winslow" were well played by Samuel M. Graves and Arthur E. Butters. A real comedy note was introduced by Wade L. Grindle as "Pat" while Melton Wenner and Lois Gibson gave clever portrayals of the unpronounceable esquimolers. The other parts in the play were well taken by James J. Quinn, Otis Leary, Roosevelt Humphrey, Gladys Hornbrook and Raymond Hayward. The splendid work of the chorus should not be overlooked. George V. C. Lord was director of the production and Miss Alice Hunter served as accompanist. W. Lawrence Eager was head usher.

Following is the complete cast and musical numbers:

WAKEFIELD TOPPLED WINCHESTER

Winchester's chances for the Middlesex League basketball championship were knocked into the class of mere mathematical possibility last Friday evening when the locals went down in defeat before the fast stepping Wakefield High School team, losing by a couple of baskets, 22-18. The Winchester seconds won an exciting overtime match from the Wakefield seconds, 22-21.

Coach Mansfield's charges put up a game uphill fight and had it not been for an early game lead, the visitors might well have been on the losing end. Wakefield led at the half, 13-6, but the second half was something else again.

With "Nutsy" Amico doing some very effective sharpshooting, Winchester gradually drew up on Wakefield and outscored them for the half, 12-9. The visitors' lead, however, was too great and the local scoring surge fell a couple of baskets shy.

FUNERAL OF AMMI C. WINN HELD SUNDAY

Funeral services for Ammi Cutter Winn were held last Sunday afternoon at the late residence, 59 Highland avenue and were conducted by the Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church. Miss Jean McLellan of Winchester sang "Not Now, but in the Coming Years" and "When the Mists have Rolled Away." Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Winn died at 2:30 Friday Morning, Feb. 8, he having suffered a shock on Thursday of the week previous. His health had been poor for some months. He was in his 80th year and was born in Burlington, the son of Samuel Frost and Lucy Tufts (Cutter) Winn. His education was received in the Burlington and Woburn schools and for a time following his marriage he made his home in Somerville.

Coming to Winchester 45 years ago he operated for more than 30 years the farm on Cambridge street known as "Wedgemere Heights." Later he had been employed at the Winchester Watch Hand factory, retiring from active business last April. He was a Mason of long standing, having joined as a young man, Gate of Heaven Lodge in South Boston. April 17, 1878, Mr. Winn married Miss Elizabeth Kyle, observing his golden anniversary last year. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Rony Snyder, and two sons, Clarence H. and Edward S. Winn, all of this town. There are also four grandchildren, Doris, Lawrence and Gertrude Winn of West Medford and Nancy Snyder of Winchester.

FILMS TO BE SHOWN AT CALUMET

The smoker at the Calumet Club this Saturday night promises to offer a variety of entertainment which will appeal to all of the members. Moving pictures will be shown which include a one-reel Grantland Rice subject, "Frolics of the Frost," a one-reel sport picture, "Battling With Muskies," and a two-reel Charlie Chase comedy, "Are Brunettes Safe." In addition to these pictures a special picture entitled "The Age of Speed" will also be shown. A large attendance of club men is anticipated.

WINCHESTER GIRLS FIGURED IN NATIONAL TENNIS RANKINGS

The names of five Winchester girls in the official rankings, adopted by the United States Lawn Tennis Association at its annual meeting held in Boston last Saturday.

Louise Packer, former captain and No. 1 singles star of the Winchester High School girls' tennis team which for three years was undefeated in a school match, is ranked eighth in girls' singles with Helen Bidwell, one of the town's most promising younger players, placed 20th. It should be remembered that only those who participated in the national tournament at Philadelphia last fall were considered by the ranking committee.

In girls' doubles Frances Bidwell and Virginia Merrill were placed eighth in the ranking, just ahead of Helen Bidwell and Mary Cutter, a second local combination, whom Frances and Virginia defeated at Philadelphia. Such a showing by local youngsters clearly indicates the sort of tennis Winchester has been and is standing for, reflecting much credit upon those who have nursed the game along to its present high standard here.

NATHAN EDDY

Nathan Eddy, a retired Great Lakes pilot, died Sunday morning, Feb. 10, at his home, 7 Holton street, following an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Eddy was 88 years old and a native of Orleans, Jefferson County, N. Y. His parents were Andrew and Mary (Rathborne) Eddy. He was educated and spent much of his life in upper New York State, making his home in Ogdensburg, N. Y., while engaged as pilot upon steamers sailing the Great Lakes. He had been for some years retired and came to Winchester from Malden about six years ago.

The deceased was the sole survivor of a family of eight and leaves a daughter, Mrs. Watson Blanchard of Gloversville, N. Y., two sons, Clarence N. and Leland M. Eddy, both of Winchester; and a grandson, Eddy Blanchard of Gloversville, N. Y.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church. The remains were taken to Gloversville, N. Y., for interment.

MRS. ELLEN SNOW

Mrs. Ellen Snow, aged 76, passed away early on the morning of Sunday, Feb. 10, at the home on Brooks street of her cousin, Mr. Charles S. Livingstone, following a seven months' illness. Mrs. Snow was a native of Calais, Me., but had spent the greater part of her life in Allston. For 30 years she was associated with the retail department of Otis Clapp & Son, manufacturing chemists of Boston. Mrs. Snow was a widow and is survived only by one sister, Mrs. Carrie McLeod of Phillipsburg, Mont. Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning in the chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, with the Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church, officiating. The remains were cremated.

A very interesting program has been prepared by Miss Eleanor Hayden for her musicale in Lyceum Hall on Feb. 18, under the auspices of the E. P. H. Class of the Baptist Church. Miss Hayden will play the Organ Chimes, Mandola and Vibraphone and will be assisted by a whistling soloist and vocalist. Tickets on sale at Knight's, Hersey's and Miss Ekman's.

MARY JACK KING GETS VALENTINE SURPRISE

Last Thursday was a red-letter day in the life of little Mary Jacqueline King. She had been helping to make the decorations for her Aunt Mabel's party, as she supposed, when, in reality, all the plans were for her own happiness.

At 3:30 her little playmates, many of them accompanied by their mothers, arrived laden with valentines and other good things.

The real surprise came when Miss Mara McDonald read a poem composed by her mother which told of the love all the youngsters in the Noonan district have for Mary Jack. At the conclusion of the poem, Mara presented to the little hostess, on behalf of the children, a very lovely, green leather sport coat "to wear when she goes out."

The sparkle in Mary Jack's eyes and the dear little smile which accompanied the, "Aren't you all too good to me?" brought tears to the eyes of many of those present. Then the fun began and Mary Jack herself, sitting on the piano bench as natural as life sang, "I Fa Down and Go Boom!"

Next Mrs. Mollie L. Maguire, beloved by all the children of the district sang a group of Dolly songs in costume.

A splendid concert followed with Mary's teacher, Miss Elizabeth L. Naven, as guest of honor. Lunch was served at beautifully decorated tables in the center of which were large Jack Horner pies in Valentine style from which each child drew a favor.

The whole affair was a huge success and made one little girl very, very happy.

Those who took part in the entertainment were "Jimmie" O'Connor, Francis Murray, Fred Donovan, Leo Callahan, "Billy" McDonald, Betty McCarron, Dorothy Murray, Susan McGonigle, Helen Swymer, Peggy Prue, Florence Hamilton, Dolly Gibbons, Margaret Mary McDonald, Elizabeth O'Connell, and even Mary Jack herself, gave a solo. Mrs. Mollie Maguire and Mrs. Katherine Walsh also entertained the children. The following is a complete list of guests:

Margaret Poland	Rita Moffette
Veronica McCarron	Florence Hamilton
Myrtle Powers	Francis O'Brien
Ruth McGonigle	Joris McMinamin
Ruth O'Connell	John McMinamin
Mara McDonald	Gertrude Kelley
Dorothy Murray	Bobbie Conlon

Helen Walsh	Elinor Rowan
David Walsh	Mildred Dinneen

JOSEPH A. BURKE

The funeral of Joseph A. Burke, who lost his life in an automobile accident last Sunday, Feb. 10, at Dallas, Tex., took place yesterday morning from the home of his parents, Thomas F. and Mary (Murray) Burke, at 26 Symmes road. A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at 9:30 in St. Mary's Church. Harry Bergin, Edward Cousens, Howard Jenkins, Charles Howe, Richard Anthony, Richard Murray and Henry Browne, all of Winthrop and schoolmates of the deceased at Winthrop High School, were bearers with John Brererton who escorted the body north from Dallas. Interment was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Mr. Burke was 28 years of age and was born in Little Rock, Ark. His boyhood was spent in Winthrop where he was graduated from Winthrop High School in 1918, having been a member of the school baseball and football teams.

A year ago he became associated with the Ameskeag Manufacturing Company of Manchester, N. H., remaining in Dallas as a buyer of cotton. He was a World War veteran.

Besides his parents Mr. Burke is survived by a sister, Mrs. Philip O'Rourke, and a brother, Murray Burke, both of Winchester. The remains arrived in Winchester from Dallas, Wednesday afternoon.

DIVISION OF UNIVERSITY EX-TENSION OPENS COURSE HERE

Appreciation of Art is the subject of the course which the Division of University Extension, Massachusetts
Department of Education, has scheduled to open in Winchester on Feb. 28 next Thursday afternoon. The class will meet weekly at the Wyman School at 4 p. m. and will consist of eight lectures.

Miss Melaine Martha Muller of Jackson College will conduct the course. The purpose of this course is to offer those interested in art a basis for judgment and more complete enjoyment. The method may be said to be two fold: to consider the quality of a work of art as dependent upon its design and construction, and to differentiate the most conspicuous styles and periods of painting, sculpture and architecture.

The subjects of the course will be as follows: prehistoric art of the cave man, the art of ancient Egypt and the near East, the classic period of Greek Art, monuments of ancient Rome, comparative study of the art of the Orient and the Occident, the age of the great cathedrals, the Italian Renaissance, and the great masters of the Italian Renaissance.

Interested persons may enroll at the first meeting of the class on next Thursday afternoon.

WRITING FOR ALL NEW ENGLANDERS

Clemenceau, Henry Ford and Others
In Pages of Boston Sunday
Post

Few papers can claim such a distinguished list of famous contributors
as does the Boston Sunday Post.

In its new enlarged form this paper each week presents a notable list of attractive features of great personal and timely interest to New Englanders.

On next Sunday, for instance, the great French ex-Premier, Clemenceau, uses the pages of the Sunday
Post to show that interesting women are not beautiful. Also there are articles by Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters, outstanding authority on matters pertaining to health; Dr. Joseph Collins, famous physician and author, writes on marriage. Other widely diversified features range from the latest fashions from Paris, as described by Jenny, Lanvin, and Patou, who, as every woman knows, are the leading authorities on women's styles, to features of romance and adventure.

Along with its many other enlargements and improvements, the Boston Sunday Post has added to its "colored comics" two new and captivating pages. The first is the work of Milt Gross, famous humorist, creator of "Nize Baby"; the second on girl life, by Wilfred (Cyr. This makes a total of eight pages of colored comics each week, besides a large, brilliant color feature section and magazine of short fiction and serial stories by famous authors.

PROFESSOR SAYRE'S ADDRESS

Francis B. Sayre, professor of law at Harvard University discussed the foreign policy of the United States in its historical setting last Monday evening in the High School Library before an interested group of the League of Women Voters and their friends. George Washington, during his administration, emphasized the importance of the principle of arbitration to which he adhered in his diplomatic relations with England.
The United States has always clung to this policy which was stressed very strongly during the administration of Roosevelt. As is well known this country was most instrumental in establishing the Hague Court. Mr.
Taft desired to continue to develop arbitration but was balked by the Senate. Mr. Wilson before the war, strengthened the traditional policy
of Washington through the Bryan treaties of which the "cooling off" principle has acquired considerable significance in recent treaties. Since 1913 the United States has taken no decided stand until the present day adoption of the Kellogg Pact which renounces war as an instrument of national policy in settling disputes.
Professor Sayre, while deploring the recent action of Congress in its support of the program for 15 cruisers said that armaments could not be scaled down until the nations agreed to do so. Already the United States is ahead of England as far as modern cruisers are concerned and England is considering the immediate building of two additional cruisers to establish a parity with the United States. Professor Sayre said that the fact of a growing determination on the part of the people that the holocaust of 1914 to 1918 must not be repeated is a hopeful outlook for the future.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Last Tuesday afternoon the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church celebrated the first use of their rooms in the new parish house.
They were extremely proud to entertain their guests from the neighboring churches with a most scholarly and interesting talk by Mr. Edgar J.
Rich of their own Society and a trustee of the town's public library.

Rev. George Hale Reed gave the opening prayer followed by a brief
address of welcome by the president, Mrs. Hildreth. Mrs. Weaver was enthusiastically appreciated with the following numbers on the piano by Mrs. Watkins:

Gavotte and Minuetto..... Cervetto
Melodie..... Gluck
At the Fountain..... Davidsons
Mr. Rich formed an impressive figure on the platform as he stood between a large picture of Lincoln with the U. S. Flag and a large picture of Lee with the Confederate battle flag. It was of these two men he spoke under the title "The Best in American Manhood." In addition to giving his rapid audience a clearer insight into the noble character of these two men he gave an entirely new, authentic glimpse of the turbulent politics which encircled our Union and carried each man forward to a different conception of his duty to his country.

He brought forth the abrupt contrasts of the parentage and home life of the two boys which turned out Lincoln at 20 in a youth, strong in physical prowess, earnest, honest and with a love of human beings; and Lee, the gentleman graduate of West Point, ranking second in his class.
While Lincoln struggled from storekeeper to lawyer and a member of Congress, Lee forsake the luxurious life of ease of his own estate and wife's heritage to engage in engineering far from home and was active in the Mexican War.

In Mr. Rich's mind he was the greatest general ever on the American continent and he hesitates to label him a traitor for views which were inborn, reread from a text-book at West Point and likewise expressed by Webster in regard to Secession.
When he showed Lincoln's true attitude towards the South and his belief in their compensation for the loss of their slaves, which he never lived to bring about, he asked us as Northerners, to look at the South's attitude from their own viewpoint. Mr. Rich closed with a graphic account of his dedication of the tablet placed on the Confederate National Battlefield at Fredericksburg last year.

After the program, Mrs. Hildreth,
Mrs. Damon, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Apsey, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Young, officers of the Society received the guests in the spacious ladies' parlor. Mrs. Dwinell and Mrs.
Briggs presided at the tea table.
Guests were present from the Mission
Union Women's Guild and Western Union Women of the First Congregational Church, from the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church, from the Ladies' Guild of the Catholic Church, Missionary Society of the Second Congregational, Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Episcopal, the First Church of Christ, Women's League of the First Baptist Church, Women's Mission of the Second Baptist Church.

All these visitors were taken on a tour of inspection.

The tea committee chairman, Mrs.
Lillian T. Mason was in charge of all the afternoon's entertainment, assisted by the committee of Mrs. Fiske, Mrs. Drisko, Mrs. Pitman and Mrs.
Orpin.

The following ladies served as

THURSDAY EVENING MUSICALS

The third of the musicales conducted by the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church took place Thursday evening, Feb. 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A.
Kidder, 29 Everett avenue. It was attended by an unusually large audience who seemed to take keen delight in the program offered. The artist of the evening, substituted at the last moment for the operetta, was Mme.
Fania Lurie an interpreter of folk songs. She brought to her performance not only musical skill, but dramatic ability and a sense of humor.
She was accompanied by Richard Malaby.

Mme. Lurie made her interpretations vivid by numerous changes of costume, suggestive of the parts she was portraying. Her program included early American and negro folk tunes, a group of German and Yiddish songs, and a group of Spanish pieces. Mr. Malaby played delightfully the Sibelius Romance and a Malaguena by De Falla in an interlude between songs. As an artist in this particular field Mme. Lurie cannot be surpassed, and it was an unexpected privilege to hear her in this series of musicales.

Herring by the Million

During the herring season in the North sea about 3,000 miles of nets are often let down in a single night.
A season's catch of 300,000,000 fish is nothing out of the ordinary.

HIRAM WELCH FOLSOM

Hiram Welch Folsom, for many years a resident of this town, and widely known among citizens of the town in all walks of life, died Saturday morning, Feb. 9, in the Winchester Hospital, following a two weeks' illness.

Mr. Folsom was born Oct. 3, 1850,
at Cambridge, the son of Charles D.
and Mary E. (Welch) Folsom. He was educated in the Cambridge schools and as a young man spent some years in the middle west before settling in Winchester about 40 years ago.

For many years he made his home on Arlington street, operating a farm and milk route which brought him in contact with many of the town's people. Later he lived for a time on Main street before entering the Winchester Home for Aged People in 1913. He had since been a member of the family at the home,
taking an active interest in community affairs and maintaining in the face of failing sight a cheerfulness and friendliness of spirit which endeared him to those with whom he was daily in contact. He was a familiar figure about the center and many will miss his greeting and interest in town matters.

Mr. Folsom was a member of Putnam Lodge of Masons in Cambridge,
also of Cambridge Lodge of Odd Fellows and of the First Congregational Church. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. M. Ella Denley of Winchester and a brother, Charles E.
Folsom, living in Oregon.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Ripley Memorial Chapel and were conducted by the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church.
There was organ music played by Mrs. William A. LeFavour. Interment was in Cambridge Cemetery.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The Court will stage a minstrel show on the 17th of March. If previous shows have been any indication this affair should be an overwhelming success.

Rehearsals will start very soon and the members are enthusiastic about the plans. Next week's Star will contain further details of interest.

Time Saved by Radio

Much time has been saved by radio.
The custom of cheering a favorite speaker by the hour has been abandoned owing to the fact that the stony stare of the microphone is a reminder that it is hooked up with a cash register.—Washington Star.

With a Static Obligate

Perhaps it's just as well from a humanitarian standpoint that no device has been invented whereby the radio talent can hear its own voice through a receiving set.—Vincennes

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If you do more for the world than it is doing for you, you are a success.

A good command of language enables one to keep still.

Young women should set good examples, for their young men friends will follow them.

The less noise people make about their success, the more likely they are to hear about it.

Counterfeit virtues like counterfeit money have no value.

It takes a clean conscience to iron out the wrinkles of a troubled heart.

WINCHESTER CIRCLE OF THE FLORENCE CRITTETON LEAGUE

The next meeting of Winchester Circle of the Florence Critteton League is to be held at 2:30 on next Thursday afternoon, Feb. 21, at the home of Mrs. Albion L. Danforth, 12 Everett avenue. The speaker is to be Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney who is well known in club and immigration work. Mrs. Gurney's address on "The Girl's Problem" is one of vital interest. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Hildegard Brandegee Livingstone violinist and tea will be served.

CAREFUL, BOYS!

For a little while yesterday it looked as if the joke was on the squad of Winchester police who were attending District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell's school for court procedure at Cambridge. In fact it still looked like they were "out of luck" at a late hour last night, for while the "boys" were listening to ways and means for "getting the crooks" the same crooks were busy appropriating the police Buick which had been parked outside the lecture hall and which was very much missing when the bluecoats got out onto the street. An alarm was sounded and police departments everywhere worked frantically to restore the missing machine to its home garage at local police headquarters. The Buick was finally recovered in good condition early this morning by the police of Station 2 in Cambridge.

BADLY HURT WHEN AUTO STRUCK

Dr. W. J. McNally, a dentist living at 49 Banks street, West Somerville, was painfully injured shortly after 10 o'clock last Monday morning when the Nash sedan he was driving north on Cambridge street collided with a Packard Coupe, operated by Fred L. Pattee of 86 Bacon street, and then struck a tree in front of the Winchester Conservatories. After striking the tree McNally's machine overturned and caught fire.

Doctor McNally was driving north on Cambridge street as was Mr. Pattee, the accident occurring when the former attempted to pass Mr. Pattee's car. Employees at the Conservatories succeeded in extricating Doctor McNally from the wreck of his machine and an alarm of fire was sent in to the Central Fire Station. Engine 3 with J. Edward Noonan driving and the Chief's car responded and the firemen soon put an end to the flames. Patrolmen Edward O'Connell and James Farrell arrived shortly after the fire apparatus and McNally was removed on Engine 3 to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Charles I. Baisley for several bad cuts and bruises. His car was badly wrecked and was towed to the Central Garage.

Equatorial Day

The naval observatory says the length of the day at the equator varies less than one minute throughout the year, being slightly longer at the solstices than at the equinoxes. The interval from rising to setting of the sun's upper limb at the equator is about 12 hours 7 minutes.

Love of Open Inherent

The impulse to get into the open is primitive in us. We love the breath of the spaces not cluttered with houses and rank with the odors of civilized life. Under the stars and the moon we can think clean thoughts. From the busy fields we can drink inspirations unknown to the office and the counting house. In the song of the winds we may hear the cradle lullabies of our infancy or the strange melodies which thus come, different and alone, to the individual soul.—Kansas City Times.

Constant Shifts of Land and Sea Areas

How the mountains of the eastern United States seem to have been in the habit, millions of years ago, of shutting up and opening out again, periodically, like an accordion—a procedure which they may not entirely have given up, was described by Charles Butts, of the United States geological survey, in a communication to the Washington Academy of Sciences.

Studies of rocks formed in different parts of what are now the Appalachian mountains several hundred million years ago, during what geologists call the Paleozoic age, have proved, Mr. Butts reported, that parts of these mountains were alternately under the ocean and exposed to the air.

These records, he said, "a constantly and gently oscillating crust or exterior shell of the earth which caused a continual shifting of the areas of land and sea."

There is no sign of sudden changes, lifting new mountains or engulfing former lands. The hand of nature worked so slowly that had men been there to see it the process might have passed unobserved.—Baltimore Sun.

Prize Hunting Story Offered for Record

The world's record for tall stories is held by the rangers of our national parks, according to the authors of the book about the parks, "Oh, Ranger!" Their prize creation as quoted in "Oh Ranger!" is as follows:

"A ranger doing patrol duty on the boundary line, having run out of supplies and being in immediate danger of starving, grabbed his trusty old gun for which only one shell remained, and, going beyond the park line, maneuvered around carefully, hunting diligently so as to be sure to get the best results with the one shot. Finally he came upon a brace of quail perched in a cluster of brush close enough together for both to be bagged at one shot. Carefully raising the gun, he fired. Imagine his great joy when on running to the spot to pick up his quail he found that he had killed six more, which were on the other side of the bush and which he had not seen. Hearing a great commotion out in a small lake near by, he saw a big buck deer that had become frightened at the sound of his shot and had run into the lake and bogged down in the mud. Dropping the quail, he hurried into the lake and cut the buck's throat. In carrying the deer out, he sank down into the mud himself up over his boot tops. Upon reaching the shore, he sat down and pulled the boots off to pour out the water and found in them a dozen nice fish. Placing the quail, fish and deer together so that they could be more easily carried, he was struggling to get the load on his shoulders. This put a great strain on his suspender buttons, and one of these flew off with such force that it killed a rabbit a hundred yards in the rear."

Officer's Dignity Cut No Figure With Pat

A young man who had spent three years at different C. M. T. C.'s was reminiscing. He told several of his experiences in the camps and wound up by relating the following:

"We were all scared to death of an officer that first day in camp, but not so with 'Pat,' whose name, by the way, was Abraham Levinski. The general rode up on his horse to observe the procedure of our being mobilized into service. On his appearance officers snapped to attention and we remained motionless until the general gave the customary 'At Ease.'"

"Pat" stepped out of line with a camera in his hand and took the general's horse by the bridle and turned it around. The horse shied back and "Pat" turned it around again. Then he stepped off about ten paces, and with much deliberation focused the camera on the puzzled officer.

"Now, smile," "Pat" soothingly requested, while the company broke in to a roar, joined by the general on the horse.

Gardener Lucky When Father Toad "Locates"

If a family of toads take up their residence in the garden it is time to feel that good luck has smilingly descended upon the place.

The toad is an asset. As a worker he does not believe in short hours, but is constantly on hand throughout the 24-hour day. He asks for nothing, only that he be left alone. And his presence means better vegetables and lovelier flowers and richer grass.

One joy in life is his—that of eating. He is at it so continuously it might be regarded as almost a religion. The biggest eater among the field hands is a novice compared to him. In 25 hours the toad will consume insect food of a volume fourfold the capacity of his stomach.

Variety is his long suit, and the majority of the things the toad loves are in their state pests of every man who puts seed into the ground. With few exceptions, everything in the shape of an insect goes where all insects should go—to a stomach oblivion. With the toad if it can go into the mouth it is edible.

Not Quite Plain Enough

A fellow-scribbler tells us that one recent evening, while waiting for a car somewhere in the wilds of Beachview, a mammy who looked as though she had just stepped off the side of a buckwheat flour box came up to him and inquired:

"Pa'den me, sah—but does you all have da time?"

"Why, yes," he replied, and extracted his gold fob from his hip—that is, his vest pocket—he held up the face of the watch, which indicated that it was a quarter of nine.

For a moment she studied the watch in silence and he said nothing. But as he was about to return the chronometer to his pocket, she observed: "Mistah, would you mind speakin' a lil' bit louder. It's somewhat hard o'hearin'."—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Gentle Hint

A Los Angeles sportsman returning from a fishing trip to another county reports finding the following proclamation tacked to a tree:

"Trespassers."

"Trespassers on this here property will be prosecuted to the full extent of two dogs that ain't overkindly disposed to strangers, and adouble barrel shotgun which ain't loaded with pills.

"I'm gettin'—tired of ye."

Wood Used in Carving

The ancient Egyptians used the sycamore and cedar for carving. The Greeks and Romans used cedar. The Hindus used the sandal, the Japanese, ebony; the Swiss, satinwood.

Teeth and Tusks in Sale

Elephant tusks, hippopotamus teeth and rhinoceros horns changed owners in a sale held recently at Antwerp, Belgium. In all, more than 140,000 pounds of ivory, 2,400 pounds of teeth and 280 pounds of horn were sold. Teeth suitable for making billiard balls, and known as "billiard teeth," were in some demand.

America's Gold Reserve

The amount of gold to be held for the redemption of United States notes is fixed at $150,000,000. Should this reserve fall below $100,000,000, the secretary of the treasury may sell government bonds to replenish it.

Removing Walnut Stains

The Department of Agriculture says that walnut stains may be removed from the hands by the use of an ink eradicant, such as is found in drug stores.

Life of Bees

The majority of bees, which are known as "workers," are thought to live from one to nine months. The life of the queen bee is rarely more than three years.

Chemistry and Cotton

The first noteworthy new application of chemistry to the cotton industry occurred in 1844, when John Mercer discovered the process now known as mercerization.

Aurora Borealis Noiseless?

The Carnegie institution says that the dispute as to the aurora borealis making a noise is a moot question, but the evidence of most experienced observers is to the effect that there is no noise accompanying the polar-light displays. Some observers claim to have heard a noise somewhat similar to a faint rustling during some displays.

Blot on Nature's Face

French Guiana is famous or infamous for Devil's Island, the famous penal settlement. Three or four times a year a steamer leaves the prison of L'Île de Re on the coast of Brittany loaded with the most dangerous prisoners gathered from the French prisons. They are taken to the so-called Isles of safety, off the coast of French Guiana, to toll under the tropical sun until they die or their terms are ended.

We Might Be Happy

Our life might be gay and happy if we would; but we eagerly seek subjects of application to render it irksome and melancholy. We pass the first years of this life in the shades of ignorance, the succeeding ones in pain and labor, the latter part in grief and remorse, and the whole in error; nor do we suffer ourselves to possess one bright day without a cloud.—Petrarch.

Progress is the slogan of the world. And progress usually is the result of some one's imagination. It takes broad vision to give us something new, something better. That is why leadership goes to men who can see farthest.—Grit.

"Sea Serpent" Myth

The comparative safety and comfort of the modern ocean vessel may be blamed for the disappearance of the sea serpent, in the opinion of Austin H. Clark of the Smithsonian Institution. The tales of marvelous and fearful sea monsters all belong to the days when sailing the seas was highly dangerous and the large fish could come uncomfortably close to the ship's passengers. A man on the dry, secure deck of the modern vessel lacks the stimulus to his imagination that would make him see queer creatures in the sea, although occasionally even now tales are told in all sincerity of sea serpents being seen.—Exchange.

Inventions by Women

One woman had the idea to make silver forks and spoons with a curving handle, which prevented their slipping into the plate, such a good idea that it is strange no one ever thought of it before. The traveler who finds his portable desk a joy has a woman to thank for the invention. A lock faucet for metal containers is an invention in practical demand for hotel storerooms and an important safety device. The same woman invented also a handy needle threader to use on sewing machines.

Topaz Superstition

Emblem of strength and friendship is the beautiful topaz—your birthstone if you were born in November. The ancients believed the power of the topaz increased as the moon increased; that it banished terrors of the night; protected the wearer during epidemics and strengthened the mind.

Can't Do Away With Kiss

Men have gone to prison for stealing a kiss. The women of Athens once stopped a war by withholding their kisses until their husbands agreed to stop fighting. History was changed when Antony wasted a world for Cleopatra's kisses. And despite the fact that modern medical science inveighs against the kiss, that anti-kissing leagues have been formed and that in Russia the Soviet commissioner of health has forbidden kissing on the ground that it is unhygienic and a bourgeois practice, mistletoe continues to be bought in large quantities at Christmas, and lovers all over the world seem to be following the Biblical example of Jacob when he met Rachel at the well.—Exchange.

Bread From Peanuts

"If the general public were educated to the great value of peanuts as a food for human beings, the farmer in the South could grow more with profit," an expert of the Department of Agriculture declares. "A bread made of a mixture of 25 parts peanut flour and 75 parts wheat flour is a very nutritious and palatable food. In experimental feeding of rats, the bureau found that the rate of growth of animals fed on peanut bread was much greater than that of animals on a diet of whole wheat bread."

CALUMET NOTES

Poetry, he briefly explained, is not a flash of rhetoric or of reason; it is a thing of the feelings; springing like a fountain out of the singing heart of man, forever taking on new colors and new iridescences. What comes out of the emotions is always deep and difficult to define. What comes out of cold reason is readily definable. Science, therefore, is a study of exact definitions. That is the distinction between Science and Poetry, and the word "Poetry" may be broadened to include all Art, because all arts are one at bottom. Indeed, one might almost say there is but one art, capable of being expressed in Music, Painting, Sculpture, or what you will. In the cold light of scientific fact a baby has recently been estimated to be worth about $90. He may die, even, before he becomes a wage earner. The value of a grandpa from scientific standpoints is practically zero. But a poet lifts them up into the realm of spiritual values, where the light of eternity falls upon them, and looked at from that high eminence they are bound to be precious and priceless. Science can furnish us with a few dry facts about our flag—its length and breadth, the quality of the bunting, pigment, etc., but there Science stops. And where Science stops, Poetry begins! Outside the world of cold, hard facts is that great world of the ambitions, hopes, dreams, and aspirations that stir our hearts and quicken our emotions, strengthen our souls, and give meaning and significance to this mysterious episode that we call life.

Hoping that they were not as bad as a certain terrible piece of poetry of which Mr. Markham told us, the author having escaped with his life for good and sufficient reasons, he proceeded to read selections from several volumes of his own poetry, particularly the volume on "Lincoln and Other Poems." He read, among others, "Child of My Heart," written to his four-year-old son, since graduated from the universities of Columbia and California, and now author of a number of mystery stories; "Three Green Eggs," the result of an early argument with his son to the effect that there was nothing in the world that did not have a poem in it, whereupon the youngster brought him a collection of rusty nails, stones, and other unromantic objects with the admonition to "write a poem" about each one. This, fortunately, he was unable to do, thus leaving some subjects for poets of the future. A bird's nest, however, provided needful inspiration. Mr. Markham also read "Inasmuch," based on the words of Jesus in Matthew 25:40, which he considered the "greatest statement in the history of the world." The story was that of a watchman guarding the gates of the Kremlin on a certain stormy and terrible night. "The Joy of the Hills" was a memory of his early boyhood in California, when he took care of his mother's cattle and sheep. Mr. Markham explained in inimitable fashion that this poem was told from the point of view of a donkey, named "Aristotle" because he had the gift of silence and hence the appearance of wisdom, and which he had the "hardhood" to call a horse in the poem "because I couldn't squeeze in the long word 'donkey'."

"Our Isobel" was Mr. Markham's prize-winning poem to Edgar Allan Poe, about the winning of which he showed much unnecessary modesty. "I knew it must be a mistake, but have I time to go around this world correcting men's mistakes?" He characterized the poetry of Poe as "mysterious, beautiful, and chaste." He also painted many little side-lights of character, revealing Poe as a man much misunderstood, much maligned, and one who had undergone great suffering.

Who can easily forget Mr. Markham's delightful quatrains, which he preceded by the famous one of Walter S. Landor, but which suffered nothing by comparison? We were favored with "Duty," "Your Whispered Secret," "The Friends of Poverty," and "The Truth at Last," and, last but not least, the one Mrs. Markham cautioned him specially to omit in this "Home of Intellectuals" just outside Boston—"Outwitted."

Mr. Markham read his prize-winning poem on Lincoln, relating the interesting circumstances of its inspiration and final writing. The poem was personally read by him at the dedication of the great Lincoln Memorial in Washington in 1922, and was unanimously awarded the prize in competition with 500 other contributions.

Especially enjoyable was Mr. Markham's description of the two early teachers to whom he owes so much of inspiration and enthusiasm, his sidelights on Poe, his Lincoln anecdote, his own actual discovery of some "hidden treasure," and Dr. David Starr Jordan's theory about the "Man With the Hoe." Then, to round out the evening, "The Man With the Hoe" itself, was rendered in unforgettable manner by the author.

Mr. Markham is one of those rare spirits that never grow old, who keep eternally young by virtue of their keen and unabating interest in "a number of things." "I'm glad to be here," he said, on being introduced. "Always glad to be anywhere on God's green earth. It's good enough for me." We chuckled at his sly humor; we revelled in the abounding boyish vigor, the fires and enthusiasm of the man; we basked in the light of his genius, and we shook his hand warmly in parting, purchased an autographed poem, and went home walking on air, charged with new enthusiasm from electrical contact with the mind and personality of one of the world's greatest "young" men!

We rose greedily to the bait of the "Lincoln Lyrics" and many other masterpieces which Mr. Markham promised us on his "return encephalogram," and, whenever it occurs, we can honestly say that it cannot be too soon for us!

Tomorrow evening we shall have a smooch and for the chief attraction there will be several moving pictures shown. One of the pictures will be entitled "Age of Speed." There will also be several comedies and sport reels. The whole show will last about one hour and one-half. We hope members will turn out in large numbers and back up the entertainment committee in their endeavor to give Calumet a diversified form of entertainment. The committee assures us that these pictures will be so varied that you will think you are in a regular movie house and they have been selected with the thought of pleasing the various tastes of our members. After the movies, there will be the regular Saturday night lunch and bowling, pool, billiards, ping pong, cards, etc. Members are requested to turn out and make it a big smooch.

Feb. 22 is a regular red-letter day in Calumet history and this year the entertainment committee is making every effort to make the day a memorable one for members and their families. There will be something doing all day and every member of the family will find something of interest. Bowling for the men will start at 10 a. m. and end at 5:30 p. m. There will be regular and "stunt" bowling. It has been the custom on the 22nd of February each year for members to furnish prizes for bowling and they have been very generous. The prizes will serve as entrance fees, so each member is requested to bring something in the shape of a prize, and there ought to be enough for everyone to get something and think of the fun you will have when they are awarded. There will be prizes for about everything. At 3 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. children will be entertained with movies, magic, etc. The movies will be those that will interest the children and give them a good laugh and they will be treated to ice cream and cake, too. At 7 p. m., Mrs. Carl Sittenger, hostess, with a competent corps of ladies will furnish a chafing dish supper. Anyone who has attended these suppers heretofore know what a fine treat it is in store for them. Members are privileged to bring one lady. After the supper there will be dancing until 12 o'clock to music which the entertainment committee assures us will be pleasing to all.

The bowling committee informs us that there will be a Men's Spring Bowling Tournament starting March 18. There will be five men on a team and notices will be sent out soon. There has been a number of requests for a Spring Tournament and the committee is already assured of enough teams to make it a success. Members are requested to send in their names, giving the make-up of their teams or their choice with whom they wish to roll. Anyone who is not so particular will be put on a team with four other good fellows.

NEW UNITARIAN PARISH HOUSE DEDICATED LAST SUNDAY

The tables were attractively decorated by the ladies of the Banquet Committee with spring flowers and pink candelabras. The National and State Colors stood at either end of the head table.

Mr. Watkins was happily chosen as toastmaster for the evening, combining his official duties with a ready humor which proved infectious. Before calling upon those who were to respond to toasts he requested Mrs. Emma L. Pratt of Webster street to stand that all might see one who had been a member of the original 25 to organize the Unitarian Society in Winchester. Mrs. Pratt received an ovation and graciously bowed her thanks.

Mr. Watkins' introduction of the various speakers was absolutely unique and undoubtedly added much to the evening's pleasure. Briefly, he likened the roster to a baseball club, introducing the individual speakers with a bit of verse which was in each case original, characteristic and spiced well with humor.

Lieut.-Governor Youngman was first to respond and quickly made a contact with his blunt good fellowship and ready wit. After bringing the greetings of the Commonwealth to the gathering he paid tribute to the pastor of the local Unitarian Society, Rev. George Hale Reed, and also to Mr. Watkins. He stated that the three pillars of the State are the church, the public school and the town meeting, adding that in his opinion the church should rank first in importance among the three. He would always, he said, be glad to bring the recognition of the State to the church, whenever possible.

Doctor Chidley followed the Lieutenant Governor and once again moved himself master of the art of after dinner speaking. He caused considerable amusement when he first stated that he had been trying for the past 10 years to speak at the Unitarian Church, having on two previous occasions been prevented from so doing by illness. He still hoped to do Mr. Reed exchange with him at a date to be arranged. He was especially glad, he continued, to return the compliment which his Unitarian colleague had paid him by attending and speaking at his own 10th anniversary reception three years ago. On that occasion Mr. Reed had made reference to "bearing butter on a lordly platter" and Doctor Chidley's play upon this quotation occasioned much merriment. In more serious vein the speaker pointed out the strides which Winchester has made in the matter of providing itself with new schools and churches and stated that the time is not now far distant when every parish will own an adequate church home. He stressed the need for parish houses and adequate Sunday School facilities, stating that the church's great problem in the future is to be that of dealing with leisure. People are now receiving more money for less work and there is as a consequence much more leisure for which provision must be made. The Congregational Church he said had witnessed a remarkably increased enrollment in its Sunday School following the building of its new parish house and the speaker felt that the beautiful new home of the Unitarians would bring about the same result in the neighboring society. Doctor Chidley stated that he had every reason to believe that in proportion to population more people are now going to church than ever before and felt that the so-called "Good Old Days" were perhaps not so good after all. In closing he stressed the pleasure he had had in his work in Winchester and referred feelingly to the splendid spirit of co-operation existing among the several ministers of the town.

Rev. Louis C. Cornish, who followed Doctor Chidley, came to the dinner as the president of the American Unitarian Association, and prefaced his remarks with the hope that he might obtain a copy of Mr. Watkins' introductory poems to frame with his diploma. He said that the Winchester Unitarian Church had been used as a model for other churches of the same denomination since the days when he, an undergraduate in divinity school, had been told by his Master, Edward Everett Hale, that the local parishioners were considered just a bit daring in spending between $30,000 and $35,000 for the erection of a church home to replace the one destroyed by fire. Mr. Cornish was glad to note the local society combining truth and purity with beauty in the erection of its new parish home and stressed the importance of beautiful surroundings in promoting diversity of activities within the life of the church. In closing he stated that the local society in the erection of its new parish house had once more set a standard for other Unitarian churches to follow.

Before introducing Mr. Charles F. Dutch of the Building Committee Mr. Watkins digressed long enough to express the pleasure which had been his in serving as one of the group whose labors had ended with the completion of the new building. His good natured jibes at Mr. Dutch's expense led the latter to introduce his remarks with a reference to Mr. Watkins as a "toastmaster." The speaker referred to the days of the old church, mentioning Frank Daniels, Edgar Metcalf, Samuel Symmes and Herbert Dwinell and the part they had played in the development of the society. He told of previous efforts to obtain a parish house and occasioned much merriment when he mentioned the sum of $39, once raised in an effort to procure the sight. He paid high tribute to his colleague, Mr. Watkins, and stated that it was largely through his vision and foresight that the new parish house had come into being. The activity began with Mr. Reed's desire for a new organ and its furtherance was due to the "high pressure" ability of "Charlie" Watkins. In closing Mr. Dutch lauded the contractor, Mr. F. C. Alexander, stating that it was impossible to tell how much more than the specifications called for had been made possible through his interest and ability. The society had built according to its resources and the cost had not exceeded the appropriation.

The pastor, Rev. George Hale Reed was enthusiastically received when he arose to speak. He humorously replied to Doctor Chidley, stating that he felt his own efforts in town had not been wholly in vain since he evidently had taught his Congregational colleague some scripture. He referred to the beauty of the new building and especially expressed his own appreciation of the quiet, restful study provided for his labors. He too paid high tribute to the chairman of the Building Committee, Mr. Watkins, and closed with the reminder that while beauty of architecture and appointments are helpful it is finally the people themselves who make the parish house.

The last speaker, Rev. Ralph E. Bailey, brought greetings from the First Parish Church in Cambridge and expressed his delight in the beautiful new home which the local society had erected. He stressed the need for action if one is to accomplish and felt that in the well known lines, "Build Thee More Stately Mansions, Oh My Soul," the important word is build. He told his hearers that the acquiring of their splendid parish house was only the beginning of the harvest which was to be theirs, the harvest of young people whom the new plant with its facilities for greater and more interesting activities is to attract into the church.

Herbert E. Stone headed the committee in charge of arrangements for the banquet and others on the committee were Albion L. Danforth, Mrs. E. F. Cameron, Arthur S. Hollins, Mrs. R. T. Damon and Mrs. W. N. Homer.

The banquet ushered in a week of activity for members of the local society. On Tuesday Mr. E. J. Rich spoke at a tea given by the Ladies' Friendly Society and in the evening there was dancing in Metcalf Hall. On Wednesday afternoon the first of a series of Lenten organ recitals was played upon the organ in the church auditorium and Thursday evening Courtenay Crocker, Esq., delivered an illustrated lecture on "Siam" in Metcalf Hall under the auspices of the Men's Club. The dedication week is to be brought to a close with motion pictures and a dance in Metcalf Hall on Saturday evening under the auspices of Metcalf Union.

The elevator man looked at the stranger in a perplexed manner and then said, "But how can that be done, sir?"

ORPHEUM THEATRE, MALDEN

Lois Moran and George O'Brien play the leading roles in "Blindfold" the feature picture playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden for today and tomorrow. The story is of a lone policeman's fight against a band of jewel thieves who have murdered the brother of the girl with whom he is in love. How he gets his man makes a sensational story and a thrilling picture. The second feature on this bill is another smashing episode of "The Tiger's Shadow" featuring Hugh Allan and Gladys McConnell.

"Love me, love my dog" may be a good thought, but there are times when the suggestion is a wee more than should be rightfully expected. One case in point is "Honey Moon" the feature picture coming to the Orpheum Monday for a three days' run. Polly Moran and Harry Gribbon are co-featured with Flash, the wonder dog. Bert Roach is seen as the jilted sweetheart who gives his most cherished possession, the dog, to his loved one and instructs the dog to guard the bride with his life. "The Passion Song" the second feature on this program is a brilliant dramatization of a novel theme based on the eternal triangle. Noah Beery, Gertrude Olmsted, Gordon Elliott and Blue Washington leave nothing to be desired. Mr. Washington's personation of Ulambo, the African chieftain, will long rank as a remarkable exhibit of photoplay master-art.

WINCHESTER AND STONEHAM GIRLS PLAY TIE

Winchester High School girls' basketball team bettered its early season showing when it held the Stoneham girls' sextette to a 25-25 tie game in the local gymnasium Tuesday afternoon. Coach Centerville's charges started away like winners and at the half were in the lead, 20-13.

Following the intermission, Stoneham came very fast while a change in its defense seemed to bother the local forwards. Winchester's captain, "Ginnie" Merrill, was the game's high scorer with 18 points on eight two point goals, a single point basket and a shot from a free try. Miss Newhall with 12 points on three two point goals and six one point baskets led Stoneham's offense. The game was very rough and there were plenty of spills to enliven the going.

Between the halves of the first team game the Stoneham seconds defeated the Winchester seconds, 26-24. The summary of the main game follows:

WINCHESTER	STONEHAM
Merrill, 18	Newhall, 12
Reed, 14	Havey, 10
Cutter, 10	Bergholtz, 10
Bradley, 8	Dodge, 8
Pettingill, 8	McKinnon, 8
Score, Winchester 25, Stoneham 25. Floor goals, Merrill 8, Reed 2, Newhall 3, Moody 2, Newhall 6, Moody, Lane 2, Foul goals, Merrill, Reed, Referee, Biggane, Umpire, Turner. Scorers, Moulton, Morey. Timers, Hunt, Carr. Time, eight minute quarters.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "Dream of Love" with Joan Crawford and Nils Asther and "Sunset Pass" with Jack Holt.

"Sunset Pass" is another Jack Holt picture from the story by Zane Grey, the most successful writer of stories of the West and Southwest.

For the last three days of the week the program includes "Craig's Wife" starring Irene Rich and "The Baby Cyclone" with Aileen Pringle and Lew Cody.

MRS. ELIZABETH COBURN

Mrs. Elizabeth Coburn, widow of Henry Coburn and a former well-known resident of Winchester, passed away Friday night at the Masonic Home in Charlton.

Mrs. Coburn came to Winchester in 1880 from Chelsea and made her home in the old Spurr house on Grove street until she accompanied her husband to Charlton in 1926. She was a member of the First Congregational Church and though of a retiring disposition, her strength of character and pleasing manner endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. Mr. Coburn died in March of last year, leaving a half-brother and two half-sisters as the only survivors.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the Ripley Memorial Chapel and were conducted by the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER GIRL, STUDENT AT BRADFORD, GOES ON WEEK-END OUTING IN MOUNTAINS

Miss Mary Alden Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. P. Wright of Winchester, and a sub-senior at Bradford Academy was one of a party which spent last week-end in the White Mountains. Dr. Katharine Denworth, principal of Bradford, led the annual pilgrimage.

Leaving Bradford Thursday, the party went to Intervale, N. H., the base for skiing, skating, hiking, climbing and winter sports in general. The girls returned Sunday evening for regular studies on Monday.

Miss Wright is a graduate of the Winchester High School where she was a member of the hockey, basketball teams and the athletic association.

Bolshevik Cruelty

The animals in the Russian zoo were singled out by youthful and mischievous bolsheviks for practical bolshevist jokes. They hurled razor blades in loaves of bread and pitched them into the cage of a $15,000 elephant. The poor creature died in agony the same day. An ostrich dying mysteriously was found to have swallowed a leather glove. Some one reported having seen a youth throw a rubber fish to a sea lion. The animal died and the rubber fish was found in its stomach. Such diabolical tricks stirred up a hot public resentment and the guards around the zoo were doubled.

THE GIRL SCOUT PLAY

A Trip to Scarborough Well Received

Last Friday evening in the Town Hall, the Council of the Winchester Girl Scouts presented the "Jitney Players" in "A Trip to Scarborough." This 17th century play, written by Robert Brinsley Sheridan, was first presented at Drury Lane Theatre in England in 1777. The scenery, the costumes, the quaint music, the quainter lyrics, proved that the old adage, "backward, turn backward, oh time, in thy flight" could prove amusing as well as historically educational. It must have been particularly interesting to the men in the audience to find that back in the 17 hundreds, the gentlemen of that period were as fond of ruffles and laces, buckles and bangles, as the fairer sex. Surely, the gallant Lieutenant Townley, with his legs bared from knee to mid-thigh and decorated with Cupid's heart and arrow were no more shocking then, than the abbreviated dress of today. Perhaps history will repeat itself, and instead of the "plus-fours" and the baggy trousers of today, fashion may again dictate that the men of tomorrow wear their hearts, not on their sleeves, but on their thighs.

But though fashions may change, human nature remains the same. Penniless Tom Fashion captures the maiden with money, it's done today! The flirtation of the eternal triangle, harmless in the play, is modern in note. Vanity and the love of dress, even to the distress of the tailor and the bootmaker, exists today in both sexes.

The Jitney Players had an able cast. Agile Larry; the simple Miss Hayden, with the dancing feet and the wonder at having so much money to spend on pins; the coquette Amanda; the wistful appealing Berinthia; Lord Toppington the dandy; the bellicose Sir Clumsy with his horrible-looking servant—all the players, in fact, gave a performance of ease and of the grace typical of the period of the play.

Once again, however, the wretched acoustic properties of the Town Hall were evident. Forewarned, the players tried their best to overcome this condition, but with little success. Singers and speakers have the advantage of standing at the edge of the stage, and even then, the audience in the back of the hall have difficulty in hearing. But the action of a play cannot all take place at the brink of the footlights. The Town Hall stage is admirably fitted for one type of entertainment only—pantomime. Perhaps when this building is as ancient as the play the Jitney Players performed, Winchester residents will have an auditorium where those who have ears may hear, as well as those who have eyes may see.

During the acts Mrs. E. Lawrence Shaw of the Educational Committee of Girl Scouts in the Metropolitan District, gave an interesting talk on the value of Scouting. In 1927, she acted as chaperone for the American Girl Scouts at the International Conference in Geneva. She related several amusing incidents that naturally arose from the baffling situation of so many different languages being spoken. She brought out the point that Girl Scouting was one of the means directed toward a permanent world peace.

Under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Speedie and Mrs. H. G. Nichols, candy was sold by the Girl Scouts of the high school troop.

Ushers were Louis K. Snyder, Vincent Farnsworth, Clifton S. Hall, Warren R. Healey, George S. Tompkins and Curtis Nash.

Much credit is due Mrs. Elizabeth Hall for her efficient handling of the tickets. She was assisted by a special committee including Mrs. Theodore Dissell, Mrs. Arthur Loftus, Mrs. Louis K. Snyder and Mrs. Walter Wadsworth and by the Council. The audience was large and very appreciative of the Players.

Whale Was Monster

The enormous skeleton of a 5,000-year-old Greenland whale has been found at Kistinge, near Halmstad, Sweden, by workmen digging a ditch near the seashore. A monstrous jawbone, measuring about thirteen feet in length, has already been unearthed. On account of its size it was first taken by the workmen to be a part of the hull of an ancient vessel.

The bone has been examined by archeologists, who estimate the whale to have lived at the end of the Ice Age, about 5,000 years ago.—Kansas City Star.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The vice-president of The Fortnightly, Mrs. Christine E. Hayden extended a very cordial welcome to the Woburn Woman's Club who were guests of the Club at the meeting on Monday, Feb. 11.

Mrs. Hayden presented greetings from the president, Mrs. Marion P. Powers, and expressed regret that she was detained at home by illness.

Mr. Albert Leonard Squier gave his illustrated lecture on "Old Quebec, the Laurentian Lakes, the Saguenay."

Old Quebec has developed little and that little just the natural growth along original lines, with very little planning. It has the narrowest streets of any city on this side of the Atlantic.

Here in Quebec is to be seen its citadel, its churches, its cathedrals, its houses of parliament with the lovely bronze statue of the Indian on one side, and, dominating the city, its Chateau Frontenac, the last word in hotels.

Dufferin terrace with its commanding view; Montmorency Falls, just outside the city and the Shrine of St. Anne de Beupre all were described in language which for wealth of color almost out did the very marvelous pictures.

From Quebec, Mr. Squier took his audience down the St. Lawrence River, stopping at places of unusual beauty in the Laurentian Mountains to show the lovely lakes, the old guides cooking the meal on the old out-of-door hearth, and the wild beauty of the region.

Then on to the real object of the trip, the Saguenay River. This is a river of many names. Mr. Squier calls it "my Mysterious River" and "River of Sunrises," because he succeeded in getting four very beautiful pictures of the sunrise.

All the way along, mountains come down into the river, the sides of the mountains dotted with tiny villages, and no matter how small the village, the spire of the chapel dominates the picture.

The people are most primitive, living in a land of winter for eight months, making everything they use and wear, and growing everything they eat. Their faces show much character and are attractive. "Easy to look at," Mr. Squier said.

Sailing on to Chicoutimi, and then coming back seeing the same river in the different aspect, one notices especially the two mountains, Eternity, and The Trinity, 1800 feet high, and at least a third as much of that under the water, for there seems to be no measure to the depth of the Saguenay River.

Trinity has three distinct steps on the way to its summit, and on the third, the highest, stands the statue of the Holy Virgin. This was placed there in token of gratitude by a man given up to die, but who was saved by the power of the Virgin. The statue is of wood. The white paint used is such as to preserve it. So there the statue stands, very beautiful whether in sunshine or storm, sunrise or sunset, the only touch of man's hand visible for miles and miles of this wild, gorgeous, uninhabited land.

And so back to the St. Lawrence and Quebec, and Montreal, leaving with the audience a feeling of having had a long and perfect trip.

All except very necessary business was dispensed with. Mrs. Martha Tibbets, chairman of legislation, asked for a large attendance at the hearing on the bill for jury duty for women.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hall, chairman of dramatics, called attention to the meeting on Feb. 15, when two one-act plays will be given in Fortnightly Hall.

Miss Mary Alice Fitch announced a University Extension Course in Art. It was voted that the Fortnightly take out a membership in the Boston Art Museum and the chairman explained the advantages to the club of such membership.

The hall was decorated for the meeting, carrying out the patriotic feeling of the month, and the social committee who had charge of the tea remembered that it was Valentine time.

Those who poured were Mrs. Anna M. Swanson, Mrs. Anna B. Whitlock, Mrs. Josephine Shepard, Mrs. Alice S. Jenkins.

American Home Committee

On Friday afternoon, Feb. 8, in Fortnightly Hall, Mrs. May W. Friend, chairman of the American Home Committee, presented Miss Regina M. Feeney of the Middlesex County Extension Service, who gave her second lecture on "Furnishing the Living Room." A good sized audience, having attended the first lecture on wall and floor finishes, draperies, rugs and furniture arrangement, were interested to hear her advice on pictures, bric a brac and other accessories, which add charm and attractiveness to the living room.

Her first suggestion was that we give more attention to the choice of our window shades, considering the outside of our house as well as the inside, when ordering and called attention to the fact that two-toned shades may now be obtained.

As to pictures, she said there is no better way of expressing beauty in a room than by a few well-chosen pictures. A good picture is a source of inspiration, but bare wall space is preferable to an ill chosen one. If one is fortunate enough to have many beautiful pictures, a few may be used for a time, then put aside, and others hung in their places. A living room which is not changed occasionally is not a living room, as a family has growing interests and hobbies which necessitate changes. She also advised the careful use of photographs and calendars.

Other decorative objects discussed were table covers, lamps, flower holders, cushions and candlesticks. As white table covers are now taboo, she suggested the use of Indian prints and Chinese embroideries to emphasize color and advocated using a cover to correspond with the shape of the table.

Lamps add a great deal to a room. They should be placed conveniently in relation to the furniture. Silk shades belong in more formal rooms, but parchment shades are used more in the cottage type of house.

Mirrors suitably placed often lighten a room and hung skillfully on a dark wall, will add much light.

A good way of bringing color into a room is by means of cushions. Fussy cushions are out of place in the living room, but plain cushions are good when used on figured upholstery. If upholstery is plain, oftentimes cushions of decorative fabrics may be used to advantage. Dull colored cushions will tone down a room having much color.

Miss Feeney exhibited some fine pictures, also some lovely flower containers. The simple, neutral-toned bowls in which any kind of flowers look well were mentioned as being inexpensive and effective.

An opportunity was given at the close of the lecture to ask questions and Miss Feeney was very willing to give aid in regard to personal problems.

Sale at W. K. Hutchinson's Store

The grocery sale which was held at W. K. Hutchinson's store on Wednesday, Feb. 6, from 1 to 6 p. m. was very successful both socially and financially. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Marion P. Powers, the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, first vice-president. The store was appropriately decorated with red, white and blue in honor of the Washington and Lincoln birthdays which are celebrated this month. The display of groceries, meats and provisions was most attractive and found ready customers. A festive note was added by the music from a Zenith radio, model 89A which had been loaned very kindly by the Park Battery Station, 600 Main street. Tea was served by Mrs. A. Beatrice Thompson, Mrs. Martha Tibbets, Mrs. Blanche Barnard and Mrs. Ada von Rosenvinge. Other officers of the club and members of the executive board who acted as clerks were Mrs. Lillian H. Ambler, Mrs. Alice S. Jenkins, Mrs. Anna C. Grosvenor, Mrs. Irene D. Sittiger, Mrs. May W. Friend, Miss Mary A. Fitch, Mrs. Mary J. Gilbert, Mrs. Mildred H. Thwing, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hall, Mrs. Mary E. Siedhof, Mrs. Marion Hayden, Mrs. Edith G. Nelson, Mrs. Ruth G. French, Mrs. Harriet C. S. Hildreth and Mrs. Winifred A. Bennett. The club greatly appreciates the courtesy, co-operation and excellent service which Mr. Little and the other members of the W. K. Hutchinson staff showed them during the afternoon.

GRANADA THEATRE, MALDEN

Joan Crawford, screenland's living symbol of jazzmania, has deserted the ranks of flapperdom for the exotic heights of romantic intrigue in "Dream of Love," which opened at the Granada Theater in Malden yesterday where it will be shown for the balance of the week. The shingle-bobbed, sun-bronzed madcap of cinema-land comes before us in a modern version of "Adrienne Lecouvreur," famous old French play, in which the great Sarah Bernhardt starred for many seasons in European capitals. Fred Niblo sponsored Joan's metamorphosis and screened the 17th century play upon a lavish 19th century scale with a revolutionary Balkan kingdom as the colorful background for the romantic theme. Nils Asther, who has captured so many feminine hearts, is seen opposite Miss Crawford and joins with her in giving performances of striking strength and dramatic power. Certainly, they are magnificently capable as the strolling gypsy player and the ingenito price, and with such players as Carmel Pringle, Warner Oland and Carmel Myers in the elaborate supporting cast, the screen play brings out some splendid character portrayals. The assignment of Miss Crawford to the leading role of Dorothy Farnum's adaptation of the stirring drama is believed to mark a turning point in her career and the young player's determination to justify the producer's faith in her ability is amply in evidence.

"Girls of the Golden West," six saxophone misses, is the headliner of the five act vaudeville program for the last of this week. "Danny" Small the "Dixie Song Bird" and "The Creole Belle" in "Songs and Such" is another act on the current bill which went over big with yesterday's audience.

Pity

Cross-examiner (to murderess on stand)—And after you had poisoned the coffee and your husband sat at the breakfast table partaking of the fatal potion, didn't you feel the slightest pity for him? Didn't the fact that he was about to die and was wholly unconscious of it excite your sympathy? As he sat there, didn't you feel for him at all?

Widow—Yes, there was just one moment when I sort of felt sorry for him.

"What moment was that?"

"When he asked for a second cup."

—Judge.

An Indianapolis family was moving to a new location and the father in describing the house he had rented, among other things, said it had "hardwood floors throughout."

Five-year-old Paul repeated the description to a neighbor, but ended by saying: "I guess we will have to wait till we move there to see what kind of floors we will have because dad says they had all the hardwood floors 'threw out.'" — Indianapolis News.

WINCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce has had several important matters placed before it, of late, for consideration.

We wish to state first that the recovery of the health of our president, after a very serious operation is of the most pleasing nature.

Among the more important subjects considered was that of the report of the new improvement of Winchester by the Water Ways Committee, which only a few of the towns people realize the money making scheme it will prove to be for our town.

We believe that for every thousand dollars invested in this remarkable transformation, our town will receive several thousands in return. The great change for the better will come in the very decided increase of the land value of property that has been dead for many years.

There will be a decided value added by the town owning the land on either side of the outlet of Horn Pond.

When the time comes for the town to grade the strips of land on both sides of this brook and set out shade trees there will be an artistic change hardly believable.

The proposed roadway through this property connecting with Arlington road in Woburn, which skirts Horn Pond, will make one of the best scenic drives in the eastern part of our State.

The grade crossing is still "in the air" and it has been hinted that the State may do as New York State has done in the way of grade crossing elimination, by taking over the whole proposition and settling the whole matter without bias.

The cleaning of the Aberjona River is of great importance and there seems to be a much greater interest among the State officials in relation to this matter.

The destroying of much taxable property at North Winchester is still going on.

The town of Arlington has taken control of such matters by the zoning laws and why can't our town adopt a similar method and save thousands of dollars of taxable property and prevent the depreciation of much other property?

Winter Pond can be saved and made to be one of the beauty spots of our town. There are laws that prevent the destruction of "Great Ponds" that are property of the State. What about this salvation?

There seems to be considerable life among those who wish to construct large apartment blocks in our town. Why not add a beneficial amount of valuable taxes by having such property built and added to our town?

All the above and more will be presented to the general chamber at a meeting soon to be called before the annual Town Meeting.

Most Troubles Fade

When Bravely Faced

Anticipation makes trifles loom gigantic. The thing that frowns, in threatening and terrific guise, often ceases to terrify when we draw closer to it. I saw a picture some time ago which represented a rising storm. Seen at some little distance it appeared as though dark, black threatening cloud-battalions were speedily covering the entire sky and blotting out all the patches of light and hope. But when I went a little nearer to the picture I found that the artist had subtly fashioned his clouds out of angel faces, and all these black battalions wore the winsome aspect of genial friends. I have had that experience more than once away from the realm of picture and fiction, in the hard ways of practical life. The clouds I feared and worried about, and concerning which I wasted so much precious strength, lost their frown and revealed themselves as my friends. Other clouds never arrived—they were purely imaginary, or they melted away before they reached my threshold. "Be not anxious for tomorrow." Live in the immediate moment. Practice the art of omission. Leave out some things and concentrate upon the rest. The best preparation for tomorrow is quiet attention today.—J. H. Jowett.

New Evening Telephone Rates

Out-of-town telephone calls by number, at evening rates, may now be made an hour and a half earlier than before.

Formerly, full day rates applied until 8:30 P. M.

Now, evening rates apply as early as 7:00 P. M.

These new evening rates, which continue until 8:30 P. M., are substantially lower than the corresponding day rates. Generally speaking, they range from twenty to twenty-five per cent. less.

Evening rates apply only to station-to-station calls, best made by number. Particular person calls take full day rates, whatever the hour.

Evening rates are subject to a 35 cent minimum.

Unless the day rate is more than 35 cents, there is no lower evening rate. Put another way, evening rates apply on distances of more than forty miles.

Between 7:00 P. M. and 8:30 P. M., we have been handling at full day rates about 3000 toll calls a day which will benefit directly, as will all new business between these hours.

East Indian View

The stricter code of morality applied to women is really a compliment to them, for it accepts the natural superiority of women. But the modern women, if I may say so, is losing her self-respect. She does not respect her own individuality and uniqueness, but is paying an unconscious tribute to man in trying to imitate him. She is fast becoming masculine and mechanical. Adventurous pursuits are leading her into conflict with her own inner nature.—S. Radhakrishnan in "The Hindu View of Life."

Business Men in Pulpit

A practical way of solving the problem of a shortage of clergy in London is believed to have been found by recruiting from business and professional men. The authorities of Spitalfields parish church started classes last year for business and professional men who wished to become clergymen. Three hundred candidates applied for the course. Sixty were enrolled and will shortly be ordained by the bishop of London.

FISHERMAN'S SUNDAY OBSERVED

Large Congregation Attended Service at First Congregational Church

Eighty-four devotees of rod and reel, 84 lovers of nature and the great out-of-doors, gathered in Winchester last Sunday morning for the 7th annual observance of Fisherman's Sunday at the First Congregational Church. It was the largest attendance yet noted at these services which since their inception in 1922 have attained wide notice, and the sight of such a group of red blooded sportsmen evidently inspired the pastor of the church, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, himself an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton, to preach even for one noted for the excellence of his discourses, a sermon of unusual interest and value.

Doctor Chidley's remarks were naturally addressed to his fellow fishermen in the congregation, but their context was such as to hold absorbed all who were in the church. As an introduction he told briefly of the little group of fishermen who in 1908 started for Maine in quest of their favorite sport, and when in Portland were directed to Marr's Camps at Indian Pond, where they were united with "Mike" Marr, major domo of fishing and hunting in the Moosehead region. The next year found the original quartet new converts and the parties have been growing yearly under the tutelage of "Charlie" Lane who was one of those to discover the rendezvous in 1908. The others in that party were Frank W. Pray of Newton, Edward H. Kitfield of Swampscott and Charles B. Goss of Melrose, while those who were recruited in 1908 were Charles E. Barrett of Winchester, Fred J. Brown of Woburn and Foster H. Goodwin of Worcester. It is of interest that of the seven, six were present at the service held last Sunday, the missing fisherman, Mr. Pray, having died about five years ago.

WINCHESTER GIRL INTERVIEWED

Maribel Vinson of Winchester tells her interesting story of her entertaining skating experiences to championship, in the next Boston Sunday Post. The article is illustrated with colored pictures and photographs.

Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley of this town are guests at the Wardman Park Hotel in Washington, D. C.

AUTO CRASHED THROUGH FENCE INTO LAKE

Prompt action by passing motorists saved Mrs. George French and her daughter, Miss Doris French of 5 Mill street, Arlington, from possible serious consequences after the automobile in which they were riding south on Cambridge street about 9:30 Tuesday evening had crashed through the fence near the Winchester Boat Club and plunged down the embankment, through the ice and into the waters of Mystic Lake.

Police Headquarters was notified of the accident and Lieut. John Harold called Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department for assistance in the emergency. The latter dispatched Ladder 1 to the scene of the accident, accompanying his men in his own machine.

Arriving at the lake the men found the machine tipped over in the lake but no trace of its occupants. The firemen righted the car, a Whippet sedan, registered to Charles J. South of 399 Columbia road, Dorchester and dragged it to the shore of the lake.

Later it was learned that Mrs. French and her daughter had been removed from the car by Gerald G. Dugan of 57 Broadway Arlington, Erskine Kelley of Andover, formerly of Winchester and Frank D. Bowman of 70 Garden street, West Somerville. Another report stated that Edmund Rondina of 121 Highland avenue aided in the rescue. Neither of the ladies was reported as injured in the accident but the car was damaged. It was reported to the police that the accident was caused when Mrs. French's machine was side-swiped by another machine, the driver of which did not stop. Only the meagre account of the second automobile was obtained by the authorities.

UNITARIAN PARISH BRIDGE

Once again the Ladies' Friendly Society rolled up a tidy sum for their parish house when they held a parish bridge on Tuesday afternoon. Simultaneously ten Winchester homes were full of ladies gathered around the bridge tables, and simultaneously the candles twinkled, the flowers nodded and the ladies chatted at the dainty teas which closed the pleasant afternoon. The following ladies were hostesses and opened their homes for this large party: Mrs. Carter of Madison avenue; Mrs. Damon of Everett avenue; Mrs. Meyer of Sheffield road; Mrs. Conant of Bacon street; Mrs. Collins of Lloyd street; Mrs. Kelley of Dix street; Mrs. Waters of Wildwood street; Mrs. Wadleigh of Cabot street; Mrs. Sisson of Mystic avenue and Mrs. Alexander of 5 Lakeview road.

SAVED FROM FREEZING BY HIS DOG

Thomas F. Gilgun of 52 Middlesex street escaped freezing to death in a sand and gravel pit at Lake avenue in Woburn Wednesday when the howling of his dog attracted the attention of nearby householders who discovered the man lying in the snow guarded by a white bull dog.

The Woburn Police were notified and Chief Charles R. McCauley with Patrolman Alonzo F. O'Brien responded to the call for assistance. The officers had considerable difficulty in getting Gilgun into their machine, due to the threatening attitude of the dog who was ready to defend his master to the utmost.

After receiving treatment at police headquarters Gilgun stated that he had fallen into the pit when a cave-in occurred as he was walking along the edge. His faithful dog undoubtedly saved his life.

NOTED RADIO ARTIST ENTERTAINS

The Cornerstone Class of the Second Congregational Church were fortunate in having "Wee Geordie Hardie" Scotch entertainer of Station WBET at their annual oyster supper and entertainment last Friday evening, Feb. 15.

"Wee Geordie", his Scotch songs and humor, seemed to put new life in all of the "Highlanders" that were there. His great variety of songs ranged from "I Love A Lassie" to the "Wiggle Waggle of his Kilt" and then some. When he is on the air again the Highland folks are not going to miss his programs, but are going to tune in full blast.

TWO LETTERS, VIA LINDY'S MAIL, RECEIVED IN WINCHESTER

Mrs. Hester Goddu of Cliff street and her sister, Miss Marjorie Bradford of Mystic avenue, are two of the proud recipients of letters from Panama, Canal Zone, bearing the "special first flight cancellation stamp" and having been carried here by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh upon the opening of the new air mail service between the Canal Zone and United States. The envelopes were stamped at Cristobel, Panama, Feb. 10, and received in Winchester, Feb. 15, a striking comparison with the previous 10 to 15 days necessary to complete the post.

SILVER RECOVERED

Silver at Board of Health office rescued from the garbage: Nine pieces of sterling silver, including tea spoons, butter spreaders, cream ladle, and coffee spoon. Two of butter spreaders have date 1905 with initials. Odd pieces of plated silver, including tea spoons, forks, butter spreaders, table and dessert spoons.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh was able to return to his desk Wednesday after being confined to his home on Stone avenue by illness.

CALUMET NOTES

CALUMET NOTES

The Dinner-Bridge held last week was a very enjoyable occasion. The roast beef dinner, served a la Ritz, under the direction of Arthur Dickson, was extremely appetizing. Dick must know where to buy his beef, for it was nice and tender and there was plenty of it. Those assisting in the serving were Messrs. Chase, Merrill, Kelly, Tuttle and Sittinger. Mrs. Arthur Pitman and Mrs. Ernest Chase also assisted. Bridge followed, with Mrs. C. Harold Smith as hostess.

The smoker held last Saturday evening was another enjoyable affair. There were movies for about one hour and one-half, followed by refreshments and games. Besides the feature picture "Age of Speed" there were several comedies and sport reels. The "Age of Speed" was of an industrial nature and showed how science had speed the means of locomotion and business.

Great preparations are being made for the celebration of Washington's Birthday. As already announced there will be bowling from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., consisting of regular and "stunt" rolling. Members are requested to bring some sort of a prize which will serve as an entrance fee and judging from past years, there ought to be a prize for everybody. The children will be well entertained with movies, magic, etc., followed by refreshments. Paul Razoux will be there with his full magical program and there will be an extra feature of exhibition dancing by the Goodhue sisters, the Misses Dolly and Myrtle of Winchester. The big event will take place at 7 p. m. when a chafing dish supper will be served with Mrs. Carl Sittinger as hostess. Calumet regrets that it cannot give an extended invitation for this supper and will be obliged to confine it to members with one lady friend. There will be dancing after the supper until 12 o'clock.

MARIBEL VINSON HOLDS SKATING CHAMPIONSHIP

Retains Women's Singles Title and Wins in Senior Pairs Championship

Four national figure skating champions retained their titles in the finals of the two-day competition which came to a close at the Ice Club atop Madison Square Garden last Tuesday night. Challenged by some of the foremost skaters in the country, the quartet of champions overcame the hardest sort of competition to keep their crowns.

Four new figure skating champions and one dancing championship pair also were crowned. The former were in the junior events, the titles in which were not defended by previous champions.

The men's national singles championship was kept by Roger W. Turner of Boston; Miss Maribel A. Vinson of this town retained the women's singles title; Thornton Coolidge and Miss Vinson remained as the senior pairs champions.

Miss Vinson, who was a member of the United States Olympic team in 1928 and who captured the women's senior title for the second time Tuesday night, excelled in the execution of the very difficult Jackson Haynes spin.

Miss Vinson is only 16 years old but has been an actual competitor in amateur figure-skating ranks for 12 years, having been initiated into the graceful but difficult art at four years of age by her father, Mr. Thomas M. Vinson, who was a famous figure skater some years ago.

The execution of the Jackson Haynes spin, which is named for the man credited with developing the modern American school of figure skating, by Miss Vinson was the outstanding factor in her performance, yet she displayed a well-rounded program, showing great speed and accuracy in both the school figures and the free skating, in which she brought forth a number of startling new figures.

Teaming with Thornton Coolidge in the senior pairs event, Miss Vinson again showed wonderful skill. This pair, repeating their victory of last year, excelled in speed, executed their figures in perfect unison and then produced a number of rhythmic movements that were judged of the highest type.

The road to the pairs title was by no means an easy one for Miss Vinson and Coolidge, however, for they were forced to compete against that veteran pair, Nat W. Niles and Mrs. Blanchard, who was Miss Theresa Weld. Miss Vinson and Coolidge defeated this same pair a year ago, but Mrs. Blanchard and Niles had held the title for the previous eight years and they have represented the United States in the last two Olympic games as a pairs entry.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SUPPER

The Ladies' Friendly Supper scheduled for Feb. 26 has been postponed till May 14 on account of the recent activities surrounding the opening of the Parish House.

Mr. Clarence Henry of Highland avenue, while fox hunting recently at his farm in Hollis, N. H., sustained a broken ligament in his knee when he fell in the act of scaling a wall to pick up an animal he had shot. He is under the care of a physician at Hollis.

COMING EVENTS

Feb. 25, Monday. Regular meeting of The Fortnightly, 2:30 p. m., Town Hall. Boston Sinfonietta.

Feb. 27, Wednesday. Current Events Lecture by Mrs. A. J. George at 2:30 p. m. in Small Association Hall, Vine street under the auspices of Women's Republican Club.

ATTACKING THE GRADE-CROSSING PROBLEM

The General Court is urged to appoint a board to study the abolition of grade crossings within the Commonwealth. It is an encouraging sign of the times, following suggestions by Governor Allen, the Attorney General and the Department of Public Utilities that something should be done to eliminate as many as possible of the death traps where railway and highway meet, with a view to the ultimate extinction of all of them. The need of action is pressing. If there is to be a general investigation of the kind proposed, it is to be hoped that the legislation authorizing it may be promptly enacted, and so framed that the studies may be immediately begun. The result might be such a mass of melancholy information as to produce a compelling demand for action without further loss of time. Certain things that might be shown suggest themselves.

It is said that there are 1665 grade crossings in the State. A commission of investigation might tell the public at how many of them people had been killed. It would be of interest to know which one among them all holds the worst record. A comparison of the extent of the mortality at the guarded crossing where traffic is heavy and at the unguarded crossing on a country road might furnish some surprising results. More than half the crossings are described as guarded. How often does such protection fail?

A history of the effort to get rid of certain crossings might prove illuminating. There is the crossing in the center of the town of Winchester, for example. Winchester people were holding town meetings to consider it a quarter of a century ago. Is there today. To what extent did the failure of the townspeople to agree upon a plan for its removal. The Great War put an end to such work? To what extent, if any, was the railroad at fault?

Study of the abolition of grade crossings should include consideration of the number that might be eliminated especially in rural regions by abandoning the roads leading to them. They are ways laid out in the days of horse-drawn vehicles. In a motorized age, the longer way round often means little either in time or gasoline, and following it might be an inexpensive way of saving life.

The question of financing the changes is of importance. The present division of expense was determined many years ago. New methods may be desirable now.

But the main thing is to get busy. The longer the delay the greater the number of the dead, the longer the list of the crippled, the more families mourning for those who died because of the existence of those 1665 death traps.—Boston Transcript.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The next regular meeting of the club will be held in Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 27. Nomination of officers for the ensuing year will be in order and a large attendance is a matter of course. Annual reports are due in April.

The penny sale last month was such a success that another is billed for the social hour at this session. Let's hope all the members—not just a few good sports—may avail themselves of this chance to get rid of their superfluous cash. Think of the relief and pleasure it will be to unload the penny savings bank hoard, and be sure to bring a 50-cent gift to dissipate it on. These are very prosperous times—so the newspapers say!

In conjunction with the Rebecca Lodge, a play entitled "The White Shawl" will be staged in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, March 13. The dramatic talent of the lodge ladies is so very well known that the success of this affair is a forecast quite easy to make. The Emblem Club will have charge of business arrangements and the different committees have been appointed by the chairman of entertainment. Further particulars will be published in the Star after the coming session.

The show coming on the first meeting night in March, alters the regular business due at this time; hence election of officers will be postponed till March 27 if there are no further changes in the social program.

Bowling is still the favorite pastime of the club members. That a few have dropped out of the tournament does not indicate lack of interest, but merely "horse-sense." Candidly, some of us are willing to concede the honors to the strong, feeling that competent bowlers are "born and not made." Those who have survived the test of the strenuous life are hard at it as usual every other Thursday night at the Winchester Alleys. Manager Lilla B. Green expects to stage a very snappy contest between the leading teams before the end of the season and we all want to be there to see it.

ENDORSES MR. CLARKE

To the Editor of the Star:

Vincent P. Clarke is again running for election to the Board of Selectmen. I hope he will be successful this year. He came so close to it last year, first winning by one vote and then on the recount losing by one vote, that I think he this year merits election. He has served during the year as a member of the Town Finance Committee and is therefore even better qualified this year than last to serve the town as a Selectman.

I believe that he is the type of public spirited citizen we should have on the Board and I sincerely trust that he will be elected.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The postponed annual meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Winn, 8 Elmwood avenue on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 3 p. m. Please note change of day.

The Federal Council of Churches of America is urging pastors, on March 3, to exhort all loyal citizens to obey the dry law and to support the administration of President-elect Hoover by observing and helping to enforce the prohibition law. The council's statement reads as follows: "In view of the fact that a Federal Administration, pledged to the support of prohibition, assumes office on the fourth of March, next, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America appeals to pastors throughout the country to take occasion on Sunday, March 3, the Sunday before Inauguration Day, in addition to the customary prayers for those in authority, to speak to their people, either briefly or at length, urging total abstinence and voluntary observance of the Federal and State laws for the suppression of the liquor traffic." The Council recommends that this appeal be made on three grounds: First, out of loyalty to our country and its institutions. Second, in order to stem a tide of lawlessness which has manifestly become harmful to national welfare. Third, because of the power of sobriety in a people, and the very great social importance of a successful handling of an evil, the menace of which is recognized by every nation and which all are struggling to control.

The Council believes that men and women who are members of churches, and thousands who are not, will respond generously and unselfishly to those considerations. Those who do social drinking will stop it if rightly approached and for the reasons mentioned. They will also give their voice and personal influence to the support of national and community officials who are joining hands in an effort to make the Eighteenth Amendment effective.

WINCHESTER BOYS COMPLETED HOOP SEASON

With the Lexington game last Friday evening the Winchester High School basketball team concluded its 1928-29 season, a season which has not been marked with the same success which has characterized those of the past two years. The team engaged in 16 games, winning 7, and finishing third in the final standing of the Middlesex Basketball League. Last season Coach Mansfield's team won the circuit championship and two years ago were in the running until the very last minute.

Although its total of victories was not particularly impressive, Winchester was by no means a shabby club and at times flashed basketball the equal of any shown by a local team since the days of "Harpy" Fitzgerald, "Frank" Tansey and "Lead" O'Donnell.

The team suffered a body blow at the very start of the campaign when "Livin" McNeil star forward and the team's high scorer, was declared ineligible having reached the age limit. "Livin's" presence on the court would have made the difference between defeat and victory in many of the games which appear in red ink.

Besides "Livin" the forwards on this year's team were Captain Kendrick, who also played center, "Nutsy" Amico, "Johnny" Murphy, Robinson and "Hoot" Gibson. Amico moved up from center to forward after McNeil left the squad and did well. "Rog" Derby, "Pete" Coss, Achilles Penn and "Bobby" Shaw were the backs. The club was coached once more by Faculty Director of Athletics, Wendell D. Mansfield and managed by "Billy" Allen.

The season's record follows:

CALUMET NOTES

There will be open house on Saturday evening as usual with the usual activities of cards, pool, ping pong, billiards, bowling, etc., and the Saturday night lunch.

On Feb. 26 there will be the regular monthly afternoon bridge.

Wallace Blanchard, chairman of the Bowling Committee informs us that entrants for the Men's Bowling Tournament are coming in. It will start on March 18 and those members who have not already sent in their names are requested to do so at once.

Several of the teams have already finished in the Men's Winter Bowling Tournament. Team 4 heads the list with 37 won and 19 lost, closely followed by Team 2 with 33 won and 19 lost. There is an interesting match to come next Tuesday evening; Team 2 will fight it out with Team 11, another leader. There is plenty of excitement amongst Teams 4, 2, 7 and 11. Team 4 seems to be in a very strong position as Team 2 has to win
all four points in order to tie them and Team 11 will be obliged to win
eight points in order to tie Team 4.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Jere A. Downes and his sister,
Miss Elizabeth Downes entertained
Mr. and Mrs. M. J. "Mike" Marr of Marr's Camps, Indian Pond, Me., last Sunday afternoon at their beautiful home on Arlington street. Mr. and Mrs. Marr were in Winchester to attend the 7th annual Fisherman's Sunday service at the First Congregational Church.

Winchester finally figured in the operations of the mysterious slasher whose activities have been terrorizing women in Boston for some time past. Last Monday morning as Miss Priscilla Nickerson of 89 Mystic Valley Parkway was riding on an elevated train between the North Station and Union street her clothing was slashed by a man who was described as about 25 years of age, short and stocky with blood-shot eyes. He wore a cap and was ugly looking.
Miss Nickerson's assailant is said to have left the train at the same destination as his victim and quickly disappeared.

The new transfer patterns for furniture, lamp shades, etc. are at the Star office.

TWO EGG CAKE

2 Eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoonfuls baking-powder
1/2 teaspoonful each of lemon and vanilla
Cream butter and sugar, add flavoring and yolks of eggs well beaten. Put baking-powder in flour and add to mixture alternately milk, flour and beaten whites of eggs.

Frostings

Spread first with White Mountain cream frostings. When hard, spread with melted chocolate.

WHITE MOUNTAIN CREAM

1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cup boiling water
White 1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Method
Put sugar and water in saucepan;
stir to prevent sugar from adhering to saucepan; heat gradually to boiling point; boil without stirring until syrup will thread when dropped from tip of spoon. Pour syrup gradually on beaten white of egg, beating mixture constantly; continue until right consistency is reached; add flavoring, pour over cake, spreading evenly with back of spoon. Crease as soon as firm. If not beaten long enough, frosting will run; if beaten too long, it will not be smooth. Frosting beaten too long may be improved by adding a few drops of lemon juice or boiling water. This frosting is soft inside and has a glossy surface. If frosting is to be ornamented, do so as soon as spread.

CHICKEN A LA KING

1/3 cup butter
4 tablespoonfuls flour
Few grains Cayenne
1/2 pound cold cooked chicken or 1 small can 2 green peppers
2 tablespoonfuls sherry
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoonful salt
12 small mushrooms
2 red peppers
1 egg slightly beaten
Melt butter, then add flour and stir until blended. Pour on milk gradually, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, add salt and Cayenne. Cut chicken, mushrooms, red peppers and green peppers in small pieces and add to sauce; add sherry and last of all, the egg. Serve on toast. This is best made in the chafing-dish.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday include "The Shopworn Angel"
with Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper and "Give and Take" featuring Jean Hersholt and George Sidney.

In "The Shopworn Angel" Nancy
Carroll as the chorus girl is immense.
Gary Cooper is the doughboy from the sticks who hits New York on his way to France and sees in "The Shopworn Angel" one worthy of his love and undying devotion.

"Give and Take" is a fast moving comedy with Messrs. Hersholt and Sidney impersonating two Germans who have been life long friends. One of them a manufacturer is persuaded by his son, just out of college, to install social democracy in his plant,
then the fun began.

For the last three days of the week
the features are "The Case of Lena Smith" with Esther Ralston and "Sal of Singapore" starring Phyllis Haver and Alan Hale.

"The Case of Lena Smith" is a story showing the brightness and glamour of Vienna. As the spirited Hungarian peasant girl who falls in love with a young army officer, fights to keep her child and sees him grow to manhood only to march off as a soldier, the lovely star of "Fashions for Women" and "The Spotlight" has the most interesting and difficult role of her career.

The story of "Sal of Singapore" deals with the shanghaiing of Sal, a pretty girl frequenter of waterfront dives, by Captain Erickson, a hard-boiled sailor. He has found a child wife, and the two become interested in the child which indirectly is responsible for the subsequent love romance between Sal and the Captain.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

We know a lot of folk here in Winchester who fret over very small trials. This is a foolish thing for them to do. The more a plate of soup is stirred up, the cooler it becomes.

According to Sir Eric Drummond ignorance is the cause of most of our troubles. Those in a lot of of our Winchester homes start when the woman of the house learns something.

A well known Winchesterite claims that educational systems are changing and cites to substitute his contention that, whereas Mary's little lamb was excluded from an institution of learning we now see large numbers of fish in schools. This, we claim, however, is no indication that these creatures have improved any in brain power for, while the lamb had sense enough to linger near the school house, we now find many of the fish
in sein.

The three ages of a normal Win-chesterite: bossed by mother, bossed by wife; bossed by daughter. And as a rule mighty proud of it.

Every citizen should take an interest in Winchester politics, but not a "scrapping interest."

Such is life. A newspaper by the name of the Free Press reaches the Star editorial sanctum which costs $10 per year.

Some men here in Winchester are just like a woodpecker trying to get a living by hammering on a concrete telephone pole.

The optimistic Winchesterite is the fellow who has faith in Winchester
first, last and all the time.

A Winchester High School miss has just painted the picture of a dog and a tree so life like that the Paragrapher cannot distinguish the bark of the dog from the bark of the tree.

Why would it not be an excellent idea to devote a section of the Winchester public library to a permanent exhibition of the superior handwork of the pupils in the local public schools?

A Main street youngster was re-proved by his mother for making a noise when she was sick; but the reproof failed to have the desired effect. As a final resort she told him

he would be sorry he had made so much noise if she should die, and be left without a mother. Then there was a calm. Soon after the youngster was crying, and the mother thinking he had got into new trouble asked him what the trouble was. His perfectly self-possessed reply was:

"You said something to me awhile ago that made my eyes sweat, and they won't stop."

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Grief starts on the surface,
 but when it bores into the soul
 it's agony.

People who boast of their ancestors the loudest, seldom live up to the standard.

A lot of people think they are very cunning until the results come in.

When a woman marries a man and "takes him for better" and then sticks to her bargain has the right idea.

Any man who believes about half what he sees, and nothing he hears, is apt to be endowed with wisdom.

It is reported that the $15,000
 recommended by the Finance Committee under Article 10 of the Town Warrant, applying to the elimination of the grade crossing, is for any necessary expenses in starting suit against the Boston & Maine Railroad in taking active steps to abolish the crossing. The STAR is glad to see this move promising some action in this matter and hopes the sum will be voted. Now that the Town is ready to demand the removal of this death trap it is gratifying to see that those in charge mean business.

Those who complacently believe that there really is no need for eliminating the grade crossing at the center would have had food for thought had they been present Monday morning when an alarm of fire blow just as an express thundered up to the square. Traffic was so headed as to effectively block any possibility of going north and of course with the gates down could not move. The noise of the train with the chugging of many automobile motors deadened the sound of the fire alarm and it is doubtful if many knew that the apparatus was likely to burst into the center at any moment. With the raising of the gates while the traffic headed north and south remained stationary, that headed east and west started moving just as Arrived at the junction of Main and Mt. Vernon streets. At the sight of the fire trucks most of the machines stopped, and those which turned from Church street south on Main street were narrowly cleared by some particularly skillful handling of the heavy engine on the part of driver
 E. D. Fitzgerald. There were no casualties, fortunately, and this brief statement of the existing conditions is made in the hopes that because there were then none, the argument will not be advanced that there never will be any. Had the alarm summoned the firemen north on Main street, they would have met an impass on both sides of the railroad tracks and only a miracle could have prevented a catastrophe which very probably would open peoples' eyes to the danger existing daily in the center as it now is.

It doesn't take an especially vivid imagination to picture the results which would obtain if the fire apparatus should arrive in the center and find a long slow freight on the crossing with a fire in the Gleggarry or Bowers district of the town and a high wind blowing.

All lovers of schoolboy sports in Winchester will welcome the inclusion of Article 19 in the warrant to be acted upon at the coming Town Meeting. Briefly the article provides for a vote by the Town authorizing the proper authorities to take such steps as may be necessary to permit the charging of admission fees to school sports and games, which would include the right to charge all those who occupy the newly erected town stands. The article will be passed and something of the sort should have been done long ago to ensure our high school teams financial support which is at least somewhere near adequate.
 Under the way the field has been operated in the past voluntary contributions only could be asked and as a result the returns have been pitifully small. When one considers that only about $700 was realized from the Winchester-Woburn game on last Thanksgiving Day and this despite the fact that there were between five and ten thousand persons about the gridiron, it becomes easily apparent that there are too many dead heads enjoying our schoolboy attractions.
 The STAR believes that in the long run providing for admission fees at Manchester Field will actually make for larger and better crowds at the contests there, for as the revenue from sports becomes greater more money will become available to increase the seating facilities and better playing conditions at the field.
 There are in Winchester many real followers of athletics who would be glad to pay for the privilege of actually seeing a football game in comfort and nothing but good can result from focussing their interest upon our local high school teams. The Finance Committee has given its approval to Article 19 and it is difficult to visualize any real opposition.

KELLAWAY ESTIMATE

The STAR is pleased to give to its readers and the residents of Winchester the promised figures and data connected and incidental to the Kellaway Plan for the elimination of our grade crossing in the center. The STAR also takes considerable pride in the simple and comprehensive way in which these figures are presented. Nothing is concealed. Every expense is given clearly and every estimate shows the foundation on which it stands. The STAR feels that no public project has ever been presented to Winchester people in such a comprehensive manner before.

It is with further satisfaction that it presents the estimated cost of this plan. The figures fully bear out Mr.
 Kellaway's assertion and preliminary estimates. They bear out the assertion of the STAR that it was difficult to see how this Kellaway Plan could be construed to cost more than raising the whole center of the Town.

With this estimate it would appear that any cost objection to the Kella-way Plan may be immediately removed. It now remains for the people of Winchester to exercise their impartial judgment and give the plan their united approval, that steps may be actively taken towards the elimination of this death trap in our center and proper facilities provided for the conduct of our business.

Ear of City Dweller
 Has No Rest Period

Between beats the heart rests, and between breaths the lungs and diaphragm have an instant's respite. All the nerves and muscles of the body have some time when they are relieved of duty except those of the ear in the noisy city. This is pointed out by ear specialists, who say something must be done about it to lower the amount of deafness.

City noises going on day and night
 keep the ear drum and the tiny bones about it in a constant state of vibration. People accustomed to them sleep comfortably through normal night sounds because the nerves are adapted to something like a temporary disconnection with the brain centers.

Nocturnal periods of rest for the ears seem as remote for the average city dweller as the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow. His days and nights are a bedlam of motor exhausts and horns, the footsteps and voices of passersby and the thousand and one other noises of the city street.

Singing Insects Bred
 as Pets by Japanese

It is in the summer that Japan's traffic in singing insects becomes most brisk. The largest wholesale insect store in the country offers its customers a rich variety of little singing friends.

The emma korogi, or cricket, can be had for the equivalent of a dime,
 but the kutsuwamushi, a noisier creature, fetches a quarter. During the early summer season fireflies cost about a cent apiece, but the price drops as summer advances and 100 of the merry fellows can be purchased for as little as 75 cents.

The chief insect store in Japan maintains three breeding stations in the suburbs of Tokyo, and it prides itself on supplying the imperial house with its indispensable bugs.

A really fine insect cage sells for
 as much as $100, occupants and all.
 Protection of the insects' eggs calls for the highest skill, and under no circumstances are visitors allowed to enter the breeding grounds, whose pampered occupants live on mulberry leaves.—Living Age.

Sun Long Worshiped
 in Egypt and India

Since nothing was known of the rotation of the earth in the days of long ago, one can easily imagine how very real yet mysterious the movement of the sun must have seemed and how naturally it was an object of wonder and reverence. The sun's daily journey, its contest with the darkness and its final victory at the dawn of the new day are ideas which have led to endless stories.

Ra, the great sun god of the Egyptians, was thought to travel in a ship across the waters of the sky by day and return during the night through the kingdom of the dead. This god was always represented either as a hawk or as a man with a hawk's head in accordance with the belief that the hawk always flies toward the sun.

In India the sun was worshiped as the god Agni, who rode in a shining chariot drawn by blood-red horses. In ancient Hindu art this golden-haired god was portrayed as having a double face, seven tongues and seven arms.
 The number seven was held sacred by the Hindus and was thus employed to symbolize the numerous and varied duties performed by Agni.

Firefly's Tail Light
 Diffuses Little Heat

The fireflies, or "lightning bugs," which dance in the twilight, carry torches that burn on the same principle as a lighted candle. That is to say, they combine a combustible substance with oxygen and produce light.
 The great advantage enjoyed by the firefly is that his tail light makes so little heat; it can fairly be called "cold light."

The substance consumed to produce the firefly's light is luciferin. The shining of fireflies, and of other animals and plants, used to be called phosphorescence, because it looks like the light given off by a piece of rubbed phosphorus in the dark.

But it is not caused by phosphorus.
 Luciferin really means "light-bearer."
 By itself it does not glow, but a second substance known as luciferase, present in all luminous organisms, causes it to combine with oxygen, and this makes the luminescence.

Leader and Led

Every man is both leader and led.
 His range may not be of the lowest and narrowest, but if he be not actually defective some other looks to him to lead in some petty concern or employment. His range may be of the highest and widest, but even so he must have advice in many fields, and because of his superior intelligence he relies the more upon competent direction in fields and subjects which he has not himself mastered. The head of a state has his trusted and official counselors; but beyond that circle he is under the social guidance of his wife, takes orders from his physician, follows his guide in the northern woods, and may be as clay
 in the hands of his tailor.—Chancellor Brown of New York University.

Mental Transformation

In the course of some investigations of epilepsy, a French neurologist secured some specimens of writing begun before epileptic seizure and continued during that state. His report is that the part written in a normal and lucid state is correct as to form and content, while the part written in an epileptic state is incorrect in both content and form. The defects in the writing appear suddenly, with no transitional phase, and affect the penmanship and the composition. The letters have become curved, the outlines have been enlarged and the forms have been changed. The composition is a strange, incoherent conglomeration of words and ideas.

Who Has Missing Half of Cullinan Diamond?

When the Cullinan diamond, the largest in the world, estimated to be worth up to $25,000,000, and which is among the British crown jewels, was dug from the earth at the Premier mines at Cullinan, South Africa, in 1905, it was found that one side was so flat and smooth that it was considered to be only part of a much bigger diamond. The enormous half brother, however, has never been found, although scientists, diamond miners, financiers, geologists and thieves have been searching for it for twenty-three years. Its whereabouts and even its existence are one of the world's mysteries.

South Africa abounds with strange stories of the missing half of the Cullinan diamond. One version is that it was found by a native worker in the diamond mines who feared to dispose of it because of the strict law governing the illicit selling of stones.
 A notorious criminal once almost had his hands on it, the story goes, but he attempted to trick the native who was prepared to sell it to him and the native fled with the diamond.

Pumpkin Put to Many Uses in New England

Long ago, when vegetables were scarce, even in summer, and not to be had at all in winter, the pumpkin was put to extraordinarily diversified uses.
 With it New England housewives made pumpkin bread, now a lost art. Pumpkin was also used in the making of beer, custard, molasses, vinegar and pies.

Small wonder the early New Englanders, as it is related in Peter's General History of Connecticut, considered the pumpkin "one of the greatest blessings and held very sacred in New England."

Since earliest Colonial days the pumpkin has been the homely symbol in America of that season of mellow fruitfulness that separates summer from winter. Although its name is of French origin the pumpkin has become an institution typically American.

The etymology of the word can be traced from the French "pompon" in use before the colonization of America, through the stages of "pompon" and "pumpion" to "pumpkin." And except in print and among precise speakers one today will encounter the colloquial
 "punkin" oftener than the literary
 "pumpkin."

Historians Unable to Place Queen of Sheba

The nationality of the queen of Sheba, mentioned in the Bible in connection with a visit to King Solomon is unknown for certain. It is supposed however, that "Sheba" is merely a variation of the word "Saba," which was the name of a country on the Red sea in southwestern Arabia. This region is now known as Yemen. The Sabaeans were dark-complexioned white-people and belonged to the same general family of mankind as the Hebrews. They had extensive colonies in Africa, where they mingled with the Ethiopians, with whom they are sometimes confused. The Abyssinians have a tradition that the queen of Sheba who visited Solomon was a monarch of their country and their royal family claims descent from Menelek, an alleged son of the queen of Sheba by King Solomon. The queen who made herself famous by her spectacular visit to King Solomon was very likely the same person known in history as Queen Balkis of the Sabaeans.—Pathfinder Magazine

Equal to the Occasion

With scarcely a sound the luxurious car pulled before the seaside hotel, and an old gray-haired man descended.

"My doctor advises me to stay where the south wind blows continually," he remarked to the manager.

"Does it blow here?"

"It does, sir," returned the other.

"You are very fortunate to have stopped at exactly the right place.
 The south wind always blows here."

The old man stuck a moistened finger in the air.

"Always?" he repeated. "Are you sure? It appears to be coming from the north just now."

"You're right of course, sir. It's on its way back!"

Wayside Inn

There are a number of reasons
 why Americans have a special sentiment for the Wayside Inn, a tavern at whose doors many notable visitors have asked hospitality.—George Washington, Marquis de Lafayette, Daniel Webster. It was so well known for its good service and good cheer that Longfellow chose it as the meeting place of the friends that recounted the rhymed narratives called "Tales of a Wayside Inn." Longfellow used occasionally to go there to spend the night and to enjoy the companionship of Landlord Howe.

WHAT WILLIAM FEATHER SAYS:

ABOUT A CHECKING ACCOUNT

Some people never wake up to the convenience of modern devices and systems.

The poor man who can least afford to lay off work to deliver a signed paper to a public utility or a lawyer seems unable to learn that he could slip the paper or the application in an envelope, affix a two-cent stamp, and have it delivered by the government.

Today I observed a barber make preparations to deliver an application for gas service. He was as nervous as a bridegroom. In his absence from the shop he probably lost a dollar or two in trade.

There is really very little business that cannot be transacted by mail or telephone, if one maintains a checking account at the bank. Goods can be ordered, bills paid, sales solicited, complaints registered, compliments bestowed.
 A cripple, unable to walk, could conduct a dynamic business.

Why spend time getting money orders or personally paying bills with los-able cash when it is so easy to open a CHECKING ACCOUNT at the

The Proof

It is the final test that makes one truly appreciative of the real value of insurance.

An economically sound insurance pro-

 requirements, is essential to the stability of your business and the safety of your credit.

Some of these requirements may not be easily recognized—nor may some forms of urgently required insurance be under-

Vigilant Law Officer Had Seen 'Em Doing It

Speeding across the country from Los Angeles to New York by motor, two motion-picture celebrities were held up by the constable in a small town and, as usual, the officer had all the advantage on his side. He refused to give them a ticket and finally compromised by taking them directly before the judge.

The constable was very hot under the collar and declared he would make it hot for them, but the couple were hardly prepared for the outraged officer's charge in court.

"Your honor," he announced pompously, "this is a couple of motion-picture people and the charge I'm preferin' against them is arson."

"Arson!" roared one of the accused. "What do you mean! We were never out of our car till you flagged us!"

"You was burnin' up the road, an' I'm preferin' the charge of arson against you," insisted the constable, and even the court had to laugh as he let them off with a five dollar fine.

Truth Handicapped

Start a lie and a truth together. Like hare and hound; the lie will run fast and smooth, and no man will ever turn it aside; but at the truth most hands will fling a stone, and so hinder it for sport's sake, if they can—Ouida.

His Ambition

"Ambition," said Norbert Quinn, "is a funny thing. My friend, Christopher Morley, prince of fantasy and Twentieth-century Elizabethan, confided that he wished that he could draw and also that he could write successful plays."

"Quite in contrast is my little friend William, who is saving up money to buy an airplane. 'It's a very worthy motive,' I told him. 'You are quite an ambitious boy.'"

"You bet I am!" William agreed and added, "You see, I want to fly over Bobby Willet's yard and drop down bricks on him."

Scientific Discovery

The heaviest layer is the layer of ionized air in the super atmosphere. It was first described by Arthur W. Heavyside, a British scientist, who was experimenting with Sir William Preece in 1892 with parallel telegraph lines.

Animal Weather Prophets

The cat always has been regarded by observant people as a reliable weather prophet. When kitty rushes around with her caudal appendage high in the air, they say "bussy has wind in her tail, it's going to blow." Fishermen declare that the cat and wireless as a weather prophet cannot compare with pigs. A pet pig in the codfishing bark Senwell foretold storms in the Far North with such accuracy, they assert, that it saved the lives of all on board three times. Hours in advance of a storm, the pig would run to and fro on deck squealing and leaping sideways. The fishermen made their preparations accordingly, and on each occasion the storm failed to take them unawares.

Paper Watermark

Watermarking is a mark produced in paper by pressure of a projecting design on the dandy roll, in the mold, etc. This makes the paper thinner where it comes in contact with the design and causes the watermark to be visible when the paper is held up to the light.

Finding Square of Number

Suppose you desire the square of a certain number, but discover that you have lost the mental power to multiply. How could you find its square? Begin with one and add as many consecutive odd numbers as there are units in the number to be squared. Suppose you want to find the square of six. Add together the first six odd numbers—1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11. The sum of these is 36, the square of six. The square of seven is equal to the sum of the first seven odd numbers taken consecutively. Likewise the square of ten is equal to the sum of the first ten odd numbers taken consecutively, etc., etc.—Pathfinder Magazine.

THE KELLAWAY PLAN

Feb. 19, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

In the issue of the Star for Feb. 1, 1929, a promise was given that figures would be made for the approximate cost of the elimination of the grade crossing in the center of Winchester as outlined by the Kellaway Plan, so called, that was included by my request in the Winchester Waterways Report of January 1928. In accordance with the above promise calculations and approximate estimates have been made and are presented herewith under the following exhibits:

1. A plan for land taking showing the properties that would be affected by the improvement, numbered to refer to a prepared list.

2. A prepared list of owners, assessed values and an estimated cost for land taking and cost of construction.

3. A letter from J. R. Worcester Co., in relation to the cost of the bridges.

As was stated in a previous issue, the plan was made without the knowledge by the designer of the owners of the property or the valuations, but was devised to go through what appeared to be very cheap property. It has been found upon investigation that the assessed value upon some parcels seems to be surprisingly high. One change is made in the plan as an improvement and as an aid to eliminate a dead end street; Railroad avenue is connected with Winchester place and then with an extra wide street into the new highway. Winchester place will remain the same width up to the point of this change.

It should be noted that the figures given are for the whole cost as outlined from Wedge Pond to Church street and the Railroad, and from the Railroad to the junction of Main street and Washington streets at Johnson Park. There is a proposed widening shown upon the plan for a portion of Main street and a similar widening upon Washington street. These two street widenings shown to be 70 feet, are recommended as an aid to traffic. This will give a ten foot sidewalk on either side of a travelled way of 50 feet in width. The 50 foot width of travelled way will allow for the car tracks in the middle for the street cars and two lines of traffic on either side making five lines of traffic; this will be an increase over the capacity of the present highways, either Main or Washington streets.

Any Board of Commissioners that should be appointed to review plans for the elimination of the grade crossing might consider that the railroad had no interest, (at additional expense to the railroad) in such widening and would decree that it was a local and county matter and should be paid for by them. The plan shows the proposed taking line for a 70 foot street and the side slopes that the filling would take to maintain the new street. This side slope is upon the abutments land and although an allowance is made for such damages of one-half the assessed value of the land, the owners retaining the fee and can build up to the taking line. Such construction along the new highway will give high basements that can be used in perfect safety from floods.

Although the estimates have been made upon scaled measurements from a plan, they have been made with some care, but are approximate only. There may be improvements in the plan and a reduction in cost by further study from actual surveys and by contracts let for construction or for arrangements made with land owners, as to their land damages. Certain portions of the land taken, it is shown, should be allotted to the parks and public land of Winchester.

A hearty co-operation of all public authorities concerned will help solve this most difficult problem in a way that will enhance the value of Winchester property, will add to the beauty of its parks by continuing the beautiful Mill Pond parking and above all will eliminate one of the worst grade crossings in Massachusetts.

Yours very truly,
Herbert J. Kellaway

MADE FIRST ARREST MONDAY

Officer John Boyle, recently appointed to the Winchester Police Department, made his first arrest since going on duty when he took Robert L. Messenger into custody on Church Street at 1:50 o'clock Monday morning. Messenger was charged with drunkenness and with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. In the District Court at Woburn later in the same morning the defendant pleaded guilty to both counts and was fined $50.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Ford of Kenwin road left Wednesday for the training camp of the Cincinnati National League baseball team in Florida. "Hod" has been working out for the past three weeks in the Tufts cage and should be ready to hop into his regular berth at shortstop without too much discomfort. Last season Ford led the National League shortstops in fielding and with Second Baseman "Hughey" Critz established a new double play record. He went south looking "in the pink" and should enjoy another good year.

FISHERMAN'S SUNDAY OBSERVED

In the course of his address Doctor Chidley stated that this year really marked the 21st anniversary of local fishing parties to Marr's Camps and as such was more than passing importance.

The preacher stated that fishing is an expensive sport in comparison with others. In fact he estimated the cost of his own fish caught at somewhere in the vicinity of $10 per pound. It is, however, not in the size or quality of the catch that the value of fishing should be estimated. Rather it is in the character building of true friends in the open, in the contacts made in such mingling and in the relaxation which comes only in getting close to nature.

There is no better place than a fishing camp, Doctor Chidley said, in which to learn the relative value of man and nature, how the first is dwarfed by the second when he attempts to live in opposition to nature's fixed laws. Man is a mere atom in the out-of-doors where nature plans everything and operates in conformity with her pre-arranged plans. As an example he cited the fishing trip at Pierce's Pond last year when out of ten days it "rained eleven," absolutely precluding any sport, despite the fretting and fuming of those who had come to fish. Nature willed otherwise, and Nature prevailed, then, as on a previous occasion when the decision of a band of fishermen to leave Moosehead on a certain day had to be altered until the passing of a storm which forbade going upon the water.

Only as one inclined to nature could he join the camaraderie of the fishing camp, than which there is nothing more enduring or of value in the realm of true friendship. Out in the woods all are subjected to the same discomforts which quickly serve as a real index of true strength of character. There is no room for bigotry around the campfire and a broad tolerance quickly grows from the respect which each soon has for the opinions of his fellows.

As an example of this spirit of tolerance, Doctor Chidley told of the pleasure which had been his upon his 10th anniversary as pastor of the First Congregational Church here to receive from one of his fellow fishermen, a Catholic, six dozen American Beauty roses, and a splendid message of congratulation.

The delegation of 84 fishermen occupied reserved pews at the head of the auditorium. Messrs. Charles A. Lane and Harris S. Richardson acted as special ushers for the party. The church was beautifully decorated with potted cyclamen, palms and roses, the gifts of the fishermen and following the service distributed to many sick and shut-ins in this and other towns and cities. The families of deceased fishermen were all remembered.

Among those who attended the service was Mr. "Mike" J. Marr, proprietor of Marr's Indian Pond Camps, who through his long years in the Moosehead region has a wide acquaintanceship among local devotees of sport. Following the benediction, Mr. Marr held an informal reception in the church, greeting many of his old friends and displaying an uncanny ability to identify those whom he had not seen for many years. Well above the six foot mark and large in proportion, with all the grace of the professional athlete and the easy courtesy characteristic of the veteran woodsman he presented a striking appearance as he stood returning the greetings of the large circle of fishermen. There could be no doubting his pleasure in the whole affair.

Under the direction of Organist and Choir Director Joseph N. Ashton the Chancel Choir sang two specially prepared anthems and the service was brought to an impressive close with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" by the entire congregation.

Following is a list of fishermen present at the service:

Dramatic Committee

On Friday, Feb. 15, a capacity audience gathered in Fortnightly Hall for the third of the increasingly popular dramatic afternoons.

A platform, borrowed from the Town Hall, served as the stage, and it was evident that the committee had spared no pains to provide a suitable setting. A tapestry on the rear wall, antique chairs from Mrs. Kelley's own living room, a beautiful lamp, bowls of flowers, all these made an attractive living room which was the desired scene for both of the one act plays.

Eager expectation was in the air as Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hall, dramatic chairman, came forward and with well chosen remarks turned the afternoon over to Mrs. Martha W. Kelley.

Mrs. Kelley, after a humorous reference to the stimulus to the imagination which plays produced in this manner must necessarily be, announced the play "Mail" by Essex Dane.

The characters were Mrs. Winifred S. Meyer as Mrs. Julia Dunbar, Mrs. Estelle R. Little as Eve Randolph, Mrs. Thelma C. Pitman as Teresa Worth, Eve's friend, and Mrs. Marguerite L. Loftus as Stocker, Mrs. Dunbar's maid.

As the play opens Eve Randolph and her friend Teresa Worth are seated in the living room of the Vermont country house of Julia Dunbar. They nervously await Julia who, Stocker says, will soon return. Their conversation reveals that their purpose in coming is somehow to get possession of the letter, expected in the next mail, which Eve has written to Julia's husband Alan when she thought Julia had sailed for Europe and Alan was here alone. A sudden change of plans had sent Alan to Alaska with $80,000 of his wife's money to invest in a copper mine, while Julia, under the circumstances, decides not to go so far from home.

As the conversation continues more facts are related and certain of Julia's characteristics are brought out. There had been something queer about the marriage of the wealthy Julia and the poor young man. She had never let him forget the difference between them nor allowed him a chance to do for himself.

Eve explains that a crisis had come when, at a party, they sat down to play for high stakes. Julia told Alan that he was beyond his depth, that she would pay her own losses, but not his. He had left the room and Eve followed. He discovered then that Eve cared for him and since then the attachment had grown though no one else knew. The letter, about which Eve is now so anxious, promises that she will come to him.

At last Stocker brings in the mail with her letter marked "Urgent" on top. Soon after Julia arrives. She greets her friends, she sees the letter. There is a tense moment but she is unable to read even the address as her eyes are bad and she has just left her reading glasses in the village. One moment of suspense follows another as it seems evident she will find out the contents of the letter. Finally, however, after receiving a long distance call which leads her to believe that the letter is from the corporation president, she asks Eve to read it to her. Cleverly but haltingly Eve reads an application for a secretarial position. The letter is destroyed as they joke about its being marked "Urgent."

One of the best parts of the play is Julia's revelation of herself as she talks freely of her love for Alan of the trick she had used to get him to marry her, of the use she had made of her money in holding him as the only power she had known. She confesses that she has now written all to him, given him the money for his venture, and offered him his freedom if he desires it. As the play closes Eve tells Julia that she is going abroad for a long time. Eve and Teresa depart. Julia, a bit hopefully, repeats Alan's telegram, "Love and undying thanks."

Mrs. Meyer as Julia was convincing. On the surface candid cold, money-proud as her father had taught her; yet loving deeply till it taught her generosity and fair play. Mrs. Little portrayed an Eve who would give all for love but the man's happiness and not her own was her chief concern.

Mrs. Pitman as the friend was angry that the situation had arisen, yet always ready to help in any possible way. Mrs. Loftus was a capable, superior sort of maid.

Mrs. Kelley, really a part of the program with her delightful introductions, presented Miss Joy Adriance, who sang beautifully this group of songs: "A Birthday" by Woodman; "The False Prophet" by John Trindle Scott; "Do You Know My Garden" by Haydn-Wood. She responded to persistent applause with "Her Dream."

Shorter and quite different from the first play of the afternoon was Mrs. Carolyn Draper Gilpatrick's one-act play "His Dominant Note."

Mrs. Ruth P. French played Henry Spaulding, the smug, self-righteous man; Mrs. Irene D. Sittiger, the attractive wife, Margaret; Mrs. Pearl T. Miller, Mrs. Irving, Margaret's mother; Mrs. Martha H. Tibbetts, Mr. Field, an important figure in the business world; Mrs. Ivah C. Cove his wife; Mrs. Marguerite L. Loftus, Clara, an accomodator.

As the play opens Margaret is arranging a bowl of flowers while her mother sits near a table busy with her hand work. Company is coming for dinner, middle-aged people who, Henry expects will give him compliments because he doesn't drink or smoke. He also hopes for a job from the man.

It soon develops that Margaret is in rebellion against her husband, whose dominant note is his own goodness. Her mother, a bit shocked, reasons with her but she persists in setting forth her opinions. Soon after the husband arrives. He is dull, fussy, complaining. He leaves to dress for dinner.

The imagination passes over three hours of time. Henry is standing in the center of the room holding forth on his virtues. Mrs. Field is polite. Mr. Field plainly bored. It is too much for Margaret. She interrupts her husband's monologue with very pointed remarks. Her husband is shocked. Mr. Field becomes interested. Henry tries to hush his wife that he may continue. The guests think it wise to depart. Margaret shows her husband how ridiculous he has been. He almost sees what she means. Margaret is called to the phone. Mr. Field inquires for her health and then says he is going to take a chance on her husband for the job he wanted.

Mrs. French was good as the self-important husband. Mrs. Sittiger, the wife, once patient is now aroused, vehement, resolved Mrs. Miller, her mother, was sweet and lovely. Though clinging to the ideas of her time, she could, at last, see her daughter's viewpoint. The early dialogue between these two was excellent. Mrs. Tibbetts and Mrs. Cove as Mr. and Mrs. Field, did not have so much to say but their pantomime of glances, nods and yawns, was not lost on the audience. Mrs. Loftus was again a superior sort of accomodator.

The Valentine tea was in charge of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hall. The table was bright with red carnations and red candles. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Gilpatrick poured and the members of both casts served.

FIRE DAMAGED CHESTNUT STREET HOME

Damage estimated at $2500 was the residence of Mrs. C. C. C. at 8 Chestnut street by a fire which was discovered shortly before 10 o'clock Monday forenoon. An alarm sounded from Box 26 at 10:45, and Engine 3, Combination 2 and Ladder 1 to the scene where the firemen found the fire in progress in a blind attic.

The blaze had apparently originated some time before its discovery and the efforts of the men were largely centered toward confining it to the top of the house. The roof timbers were pretty well burned away, though the asphalt shingles prevented the flames from getting out into the open. The firemen succeeded in preventing the fire from getting into the second floor with the exception of a single room, and the damage done from water was not as great as might have been expected.

Mrs. Knapp stated to Chief DeCourcy that she had smelled smoke about the house on Sunday but had been unable to find any fire, and a milkman had seen smoke about the dwelling early Monday morning confusing it with that coming from the chimney.

Chief DeCourcy gave as his opinion that the fire had been smoldering for some time in the attic, the fireproof shingles preventing it from getting into the open. The cause of the blaze was not determined.

Mr. Herbert J. Kellaway,
12 West Street,
Boston, Mass.
Dear Sir:-

In accordance with your request we have made an estimate of the cost of two proposed bridges at Winchester, Mass., in connection with a proposed scheme for eliminating grade crossings. One of these bridges is over the Boston & Maine Railroad tracks just north of the present crossing and the other is over the Aberjona River nearby.

For the bridge over the Railroad tracks, we have estimated the cost to be approximately SEVENTY-SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($77,000.00), exclusive of engineering services. This estimate includes the bridge structure and supporting abutments, but no filling in back of the abutments. For the floor of the bridge we have used a concrete slab topped with 2" of asphalt for a wearing surface; sidewalks to be of granolithic; all steelwork underneath the bridge to be protected by Gunite.

For the bridge over the Aberjona River, we have carried out approximately the lines shown on your study, figuring on a reinforced concrete arch bridge together with wing walls and earth filling to the ends of same. On this bridge we have provided for some first-class pavement on the roadway and granolithic sidewalks together with a reinforced concrete railing. We estimate the cost of this bridge to be approximately FORTY-EIGHT THOUSAND DOLLARS ($48,000.00), exclusive of engineering services.

We trust that the above furnishes you with the necessary information and if there is any way that we can be of further service to you, we trust you will call upon us.

Yours very truly,

J. R. WORCESTER & CO.

WINCHESTER WON BASKETBALL FINAL

Defeated Lexington, 23-13 to End Season

Winchester High School closed its basketball season last Friday evening by winning a Middlesex League encounter from Lexington High at Lexington, 23-13. Coach Mansfield's boys played one of their best games of the year and after the first half the result was never in doubt.

Lexington, on its own floor, gave everything possible to win and the going was very even up to intermission when Winchester left the floor with an advantage of a single point, the score standing, 8-7.

Following the intermission the local machine got going in real earnest and with Amico, Robinson and Kendrick each tossing a brace of goals, Winchester soon drew out of danger.

Watt's three goals from the floor and a single shot from a free try by Dailey accounted for the home team's total. Robinson, after his insertion into the lineup, showed strongly on offense and proved that he would have been a valuable man in the local lineup throughout the season, had he not been under the faculty ban.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds lost a hair-line decision to the Lexington Jay-Vees, 14-13. The summary of the main game follows:

WINCHESTER GIRLS SWAMPED MELROSE

Winchester High School girls' basketball team showed its best offensive of the season last Friday afternoon when it swamped Melrose High at Melrose, 50-6. The local seconds also outclassed the Melrose seconds, 40-14.

Coach Centervall's charges went out in front from the start and with Captain "Ginnie" Merrill and Mary Reed both finding the basket with monotonous regularity ran up a lead of 25 points before the intermission. Winchester led at the half 28-3 and Melrose was unable to better its low score at the resumption of play.

The local defense was functioning very smoothly and the Melrose forwards were effectively bottled up all afternoon. Captain Merrill scored 18 points for her team after intermission, the remaining four being tallied by Mary McKenzie who had replaced Mary Reed at left forward. "Dot" MacKenzie played a nice side center while in the game and "Fran" Pettingell was very effective on defense. Miss Davis at right forward for Melrose scored all but one of her team's six points.

The summary:
WINCHESTER: Merrill, 18; Fahey, 10; Reed, 10; McKenzie, 10; Colbert, 10; MacKenzie, 10; Hedburg, 10; Bradlee, 10; MacKinnon, 10; Davis, 10; Pettingell, 10.

Now that Telephone Dollars Go Farther

On a number call, a dollar used to take you 162 miles by telephone, and bring you back again. Now you can go 174 miles and back for the same sum.

This is just one example of the rate reductions made in our revised toll schedules now effective.

All day rates for toll calls at distances above 128 miles are reduced. Put another way, all station-to-station day rates above eighty-five cents, and all person-to-person rates above $1.05, are lowered.

Reductions begin with a nickel, and increase with the distance. On thousands of calls there are substantial savings.

On a three minute station-to-station toll call that begins and ends in our own territory, you cannot spend as much as $2.00 any more; nor can you spend $2.50 on a three minute particular person call at the same maximum distances. The rates are $1.95 and $2.45 respectively.

You know the place of the telephone in the business and social life of this community. Neighborhood Toll Service duplicates that usefulness in a wider field. With lowered costs and added privileges we make nearer approach to our ideal--New England one telephone neighborhood.

Cold Bath in Morning

California jays are fond of eggs of wild birds or domestic fowl, and are even more partial to newly hatched nestlings, says Nature Magazine. They are to be commended for the care of their own kind and for their habits of personal cleanliness, evidenced by their cold morning bath which is a usual before breakfast performance.

Suppressed Giggles

"When a young man goes to call on a girl he always hears a suppressed giggle from her brothers and sisters in the adjoining rooms, when he first enters the house," says the Altoona Tribune. Only sometimes it isn't very well suppressed.

Manufactured Rubber

There has been manufactured rubber in the world for a little more than a hundred years. In 1819 Thomas Hancock began what is known now as the rubber industry. His first place of business was a little back shop in Goswell Mews, London. Investigations in rubber process also were conducted about this time by Macintosh and Goodyear.

A Land of Faery

A most marvelous sunset this evening, outside the Bab Djedid. The vast plain in its arid desolation gave the impression of a desert, flooded with the gold light of the level sun. The clouds hung over the mauve mountains of Trozza and Serdi, impregnated with purple and rimmed with bright gold. It was a land of faery, dissolving under the enchantment of the sun, whose power drew forth such fantasies in blue, red, green and yellow. Behind us lay the walls of the city, in the rosy light of evening, which fell upon towers and cupolas. Then in the still air, as the world faded under an emerald sky, came the clear voice of the muezzin calling the faithful to prayer, while through the gates the shepherds slowly led in their flocks.—From the Diary of Russell Bensford.

Gigantic Statue

On the island of Rhodes, off the coast of Asia Minor, was erected a statue to Apollo, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. This masterpiece of sculpture was known as the Colossus of Rhodes on account of its size, for it was 100 feet high, the fingers of the god being as long as a man.

Reclaimed by Ocean

The islands on the western coast of Scotland were originally part of the mainland. The whole western coast of Scotland has sunk. The fjords are submerged land valleys which subsided to a considerable depth below their former level. The Hebrides were formerly one with the mainland, but the land between sank and was covered by the ocean.

MRS. SARAH J. DORR

Mrs. Sarah J. Dorr, widow of Dr. Henry Isaiah Dorr who was formerly prominent in Philadelphia Medical and dental circles, died Tuesday night at the home of her niece, Mrs. Thorton A. Snow, 17 Ridgely road, following two years of failing health.

Mrs. Dorr was a native of Bangor, Me., and was 77 years of age, the daughter of John and Abigail (Pierce) Lakin. She was educated in the Bangor school and spent her early life in that city and in Boston. For some years she had her home in Philadelphia, later living in Somerville before coming to Winchester eight years ago. Her husband died April 24, 1927, and she leaves no immediate family.

Funeral services were held this Friday afternoon at the Snow residence with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, and Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church officiating. The remains were taken to Washington, D. C., for interment in Arlington Cemetery.

WINCHESTER BOY ANNOUNCED HARVARD CLASS DAY PLANS

All drawings for these tickets are to be in the hands of the committee by March 17, and free tickets to Class Day will be awarded to the winners.

Words of the baccalaureate hymn, according to the announcement are to be set to the tune of "Fair Harvard," and compositions must be submitted by March 17.

NOTICE

Miss Regina Feeney of the Middlesex County Extension Service will talk on Living Room Improvement in the assembly hall of the George Washington School on Thursday, March 7, at 2:45 p. m. All home makers are cordially invited.

A lecture in the university extension course on appreciation of art was given yesterday afternoon in the Wyman School hall by Miss Melaine Martha Muller of Jackson College. This was the first of eight lectures to be given under the auspices of the University Extension Course and sponsored by the Fortnightly Art Committee.

HARRIS S. RICHARDSON FOR SELECTMAN

The undersigned, registered voters in the Town of Winchester, wish to present to their fellow citizens the name of Harris S. Richardson as a candidate for Selectman at the polls on March 4.

Mr. Richardson is a native of Berkshire, Vt. His family moved to Chelsea, Mass., in 1899. Where he received his education in the public schools, later taking a four-year course at Harvard University with the class of 1909.

The family moved to Winchester in 1906, since which year Mr. Richardson has been a constant resident of the town. In 1909, having suffered the loss of his father, he became proprietor of Richardson's Market on Mount Vernon street, which business he has conducted with marked success for the past 20 years.

Mr. Richardson is a member of the Winchester Country Club, the Calumet Club and the Winchester Rotary Club, and at present is serving as president of the latter club. He is also prominent in Masonic circles, being Past Master of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and Past High Priest of Woburn Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. He has served for three years on the Finance Committee of this Town and is its present chairman.

Obviously here is a man of broad general experience in local affairs and holding intimate knowledge of the machinery of our Town government. He has gained for himself the reputation of being quick to get at the fundamentals of a question and prompt in the use of those methods which will best promote the interests of the public.

The governments of the municipalities suburban to Boston have the reputation of being among the very best in the United States. In this company our town takes a high rank. Doubtless this is due to the fact that we have many exceptionally well-qualified citizens who are willing to spend freely of their time and effort to make sure that our affairs are administered in the best possible manner. Unquestionably Mr. Richardson, if elected, will maintain the standard to which we have been accustomed and he has fairly earned the right to the promotion which he seeks.

We earnestly commend him to your attention and to your votes on March 4.

The deepest sympathy of a wide circle of friends is expressed for Mrs. Frances Gould Mayo in the death of her husband, William Franklin Mayo, 2nd, who died Thursday, Feb. 21, in Boston after several weeks' illness. CALUMET

CALUMET NOTES

Feb. 22 was a gala day for Calumet. Activities opened at 10 a. m. and bowling was continued until 5:30 p. m. The alleys were busy all day. Members were very generous in furnishing the prizes. The entertainment for the young people was especially fine. The hall was filled with children and parents and the older ones enjoyed the entertainment fully as much as the younger. Chairman Chase of the entertainment committee showed several reels of movies to the great delight of the children and Magiclan Paul Razoux entertained with his magic to the wonderment of his audience. The deep-set mysteries and the skillful performance of seemingly impossible stunts fascinated the children and kept them in a high pitch of enthusiasm. His drawing of the magic water from a human pump seemed full of mystery and his cake making ability pleased most when real candy was passed out to them. There was exhibition dancing by the Goodhue sisters, the Misses Dolly and Myrtle of Winchester, and they received much applause from the young folks as well as the older ones. Last, but not least, was refreshments, ice cream and cake, etc., which always seem to please.

A chafing dish supper was served at 6:30 p. m. consisting of fresh creamed sea-food. Mrs. Carl Sittner was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Pitman, Mrs. Robert Emery, Mrs. Vernon Hall, Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. Forest Pitman, Mrs. Walter Winslow, Mrs. Howard Walker and Mrs. Ernest Chase.

METCALF UNION

The dedication of the Meyer Chapel at the Unitarian Church has been postponed until the return of the donors, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Meyer. This Sunday evening March 3, there will be a meeting of the Metcalf Union in the Young People's room. Supper will be served at 6 and will be followed by a short talk by Mr. Charles Roger Greeley of Lexington. LAWRENCE M. LOMBARD TO SPEAK Winchester Post, American Legion, holds a regular meeting on Thursday evening, March 7, at 8 o'clock. Following the usual short business meeting, Comrade Lawrence M. Lombard of the Post will talk, with the help of moving pictures, of his interesting experiences in sailing across the Atlantic Ocean in the 59-foot schooner yacht Nina, in the international race for the cup presented by the Queen of Spain, in which many Spanish and American yachts were entered.

Mr. Lombard, owing to his experience at a Lieutenant in the Navy during the War, acted as navigator, and it is said that the success of the Nina, which won the race, was largely due to his ability in charting a true course.

The Post is preparing for a large attendance and assures its members of an evening long to be remembered.

For Re-election

to the Board of Selectmen

Thos. F. Fallon

More than ever this year it seems vital to elect to the Board of Selectmen candidates whose knowledge of the Town and its needs is more than superficial. It is always desirable to have upon the Board citizens whose business interests are locally centered and who, because of this fact, are more easily available for service in any emergency which might arise.

Mr. Fallon has the above qualifications and in addition has served the Town as Selectman for the past two years. He has been in business in Winchester for more than 25 years, during 20 of which he has made the Town his home. He has a thorough knowledge of Town affairs and is interested only in what seems to him best for the community as a whole.

Believing that Mr. Fallon's past service has been such as to recommend his candidacy, we urge you to re-elect him to the Board of Selectmen at the polls on Monday, March 4.

Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, which recently created something of a sensation in Winchester by attracting more than 100 men to its weekly meetings on Sunday mornings at 9:30 has announced through its president, Jerome W. On succeeding Sundays, commencing Mar. 10, each clergyman of the various local churches is to explain his credal theology and give the reasons why he is of the denomination which he serves.

In announcing the series Mr. Gates stated that he believes the addresses will prove most enlightening and vital in enabling those who hear them to appreciate the point of view of his neighboring churchmen. All men of the town are invited to attend the class meetings which are held at 9:30 in the Town Hall. Dr. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will speak first on Mar. 10, taking as his subject, "Why I Am a Congregationalist." Mr. Charles A. Burnham is in charge of arrangements for the series and announces that a complete schedule of dates will be printed in next week's Star.

REPORT OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE*Work Done in the Town of Winchester for the Year 1928

The Town of Winchester appropriated $200 in support of the Middlesex County Extension Service through the Trustees for County Aid to Agriculture for 1928. The following is a report of the work accomplished during the year.

In Agriculture the principal service rendered this year has been in the form of individual farm visits where requested. This service is given to any individual who desires help in solving problems pertaining to market gardening, fruit growing, poultry, etc.

In Home Economics 63 women attended the Extension Service meetings held during the past year. Forty-seven women of the Highlands Section attended the series of five home improvement meetings, and, as a result, have reported the improvement of a large number of kitchens to save labor and energy. Not only were the kitchens improved but the wall finishes and floor finishes were used in all parts of the house, according to reports. A new section, the Mystic Mothers' group, as well as the Highlands section, carried the series of four nutrition meetings. Forty women attended these meetings and passed on information received to 102 other homemakers who could not attend the meetings. Many report better planned meals and an increase in the use of fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and milk. These groups are now carrying the clothing section and garment finish project.

In Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club work, 82 were enrolled in garden, canning and clothing clubs.

4-H Exhibit
The Winchester "Home Can" canning club and the garden club members held a very creditable exhibit with the Winchester Grange. The Grange gave $4.50 for prizes and this money went to Kenneth Benson, Agatha Shinnick, Bertha Beaton and Christine Russo for canned products and to Charles Eshback, Ivar Hakanson and Americo Marrone for vegetables and flowers exhibited. The canning club has been under the leadership of former State Canning champion, Mildred Benson of Winchester and Mrs. Ruth Howe of theExtension Service.*Competition for Canning Champion Competition for County Canning champion was kept this year as there were 16 girls to be considered, who deserved the honor. They are: Florence and Mary Pillsbury, Ashby; Elizabeth Bean, Ayer; Mary and Matthia Marley, Ashland; Elinor Dutton and Doris Thompson, Bedford; Hazel Colburn, Dracut; Sigrid Dahlroth and Helen Eagan, Framingham; Anna Fox, Malden; Rose Hartley, Marlboro; Barbara Brown and Josephine Armenio, Natick; Claire Ramsey, Somerville; and Agatha Shinnick, Winchester. These girls have canned a total of over 2000 jars of fruit and vegetables and 900 tumbler of jellies and jams.Spirit of Service is Keynote of Speeches, Play and Reports Given Four hundred attended the 12th annual meeting of the Middlesex County Extension Service which was held in the Concord Town Hall, Saturday, Nov. 24. The spirit of service was manifested throughout the day. It was the keynote of every speech and the four act play which was the major feature in the afternoon program. The address of welcome was given by President N. I. Bowditch of Framingham, who presided throughout the day.

Kenneth Benson of Winchester, champion 4-H club boy canner of the County, gave a talk on canning vegetables and fruits. The 4-H canning and garden clubs took part in the Armistice Day parade and won honorable mention on their 4-H club float. Harmon Hall won second prize for boys in the County-wide room beautiful contest. In addition to the above work, the local people had an opportunity to attend several county-wide meetings on the various phases of agriculture and homemaking, as well as received circular letters giving timely information on subjects pertaining to the farm and the home.

"IDEALS OF DEMOCRACY," SUBJECT OF PROF. VAUGHAN

Was Speaker Last Sunday at Union Meeting at Second Congregational Church

Prof. David D. Vaughan of the Department of Social Ethics at Boston University was the speaker last Sunday afternoon at the Union Service of Protestant Churches held in the Second Congregational Church.

The pastor of the church, Rev. John E. Whitley, presided and was assisted in conducting the service by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church; Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church; Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church; Rev. Truman Hemmingsway, rector of the Church of the Epiphany and Rev. Benjamin Patterson, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The augmented choir of the Second Church sang Dudley Buck's Te Deum, No. 5, in B minor, and the tenor solo, "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions" by Lucia Jewell was sung by Mr. Alan Monroe.

Professor Vaughan took as his subject, "Ideals of Democracy," and spoke as follows:

Too often we think of democracy as operating only in the field of politics. Its influence is felt in every phase of human activity. In the realm of scholarship the real democrat follows the leadership of the scientist, rather than that of the dogmatist. He insists on "Truth" regardless of its pedigree or its popularity. He does not recognize the authority of tradition or position. The facts of experience, interpreted by unfettered reason, furnish the basis of his philosophy and his life. Pioneers, who blaze the trail through the unexplored wilderness of untried ideas and methods, are frequently denounced as heretics and rebels. If we were to write a list of those whom we honor today in church and nation, we would have a list of men unappreciated and persecuted in their own day. The conservatives of every generation are but the worshippers of the dead radicals of a preceding generation. Jesus said the same thing in another way when he told men of his day that they honored with sepulchres the prophets that their fathers had stoned. A prophet is a man who takes a step nearer God and tells the people to follow. They usually remain behind and throw stones at him. The world needs independent thinkers. Truth will take care of itself in an atmosphere of toleration and open discussion. New knowledge forces frequent readjustments. Men fear the effect of science on religion. It is true that when facts and theology conflict something must give way, and facts won't. If they did, they wouldn't be facts. There is nothing shocking in this, for theology is not God, but merely men's ideas of God. As ideas change, theology changes. In the field of religion, as in every other field, there is constant enrichment from accumulated experience and wisdom, bringing a larger, fuller conception of spiritual values. One need have no fear of truth for it always leads to the throne of God. One is safe in saying, "I will believe a statement

"Not because it's old,
Not because it's new,
Not because it's orthodox,
But just because it's true!"

Carlyle was right when he said "orthodoxy is my 'doxy,'—heterodoxy is your 'doxy.' Your classification depends altogether on the group with which you associate.

Real democrats are not only lovers of truth, but lovers of "Freedom" and haters of tyranny. Too often we think of freedom only in political terms. There are tyrants outside the field of politics. Disease is a tyrant. One cannot go where he pleases and do what he pleases if he is diseased. Sickness and death constantly put unnecessary limitations on multitudes of lives. We realize this, and guard most carefully the public health that we may insure the liberty that goes with it. Again, men are often bound by poverty. It is almost universal in some parts of the world. If a man is poor, he is a slave. We deal in platitudes if we discuss liberty without discussing income, for freedom is partly determined by income. Furthermore men everywhere are slaves to custom. Picture the tyranny of the foot-binding custom in China, limiting the freedom of women for life. In all parts of the world people suffer limitations through conventions.

These forms of tyranny are not the only ones, nor necessarily the most vital ones. They are merely suggestive of the work to be done if we would follow these ideals to their fullest realization. We might add the tyranny of ignorance, of superstition, greed and appetite, and an open forum discussion would add many more.

Another ideal of democracy is "Justice." We preach the gospel of a "square deal." Gradually the race moves forward by evolution and revolution toward the attainment of this ideal. We insist that justice be meted out in every phase of human life. We have laws protecting unborn infants and safeguarding babies the moment they enter the world. We are interested in the international abolition of child labor and in the regulation of conditions of toil for men and women. We are interested in universal adult suffrage. We seek to insure justice in the courts. We are constantly trying to avoid giving advantages to privileged groups. Any appeal, based on justice, commands our attention.

A fourth democratic watchword is "Equality." Of course men are not born physically and intellectually equal. But we are ever seeking to help the handicapped and to equalize opportunity as much as possible. The public school is an illustration of this ideal. Public libraries, Chautauques, forums and lyceums express this effort in the field of adult education.

Another ideal of democracy is "Fraternity." We have been giving the watchwords of the French Revolution, of the American Revolution, of faithful pioneers who have built so well in Australia and New Zealand and of prophetic pioneers of democracy everywhere. Democracy is based on the two fundamental christian principles of the worth of human personality and the fact of universal brotherhood. The recent war has forced us to think seriously on both. We know that the world will never advance with a gospel of hate, and we are sure that a democracy cannot live if men are divided by distrust and contempt. Democracy is based on mutual appreciation and mutual confidence. As never before this poor hate-cursed world needs this ideal, fraternity.

A sixth ideal of democracy is "Service." A man must himself have personal worth to receive honor in a democracy. More and more we insist that only that man shall receive a reward who has rendered its equivalent in service to the community. Democrats have little patience with parasites. They have accepted the standard fixed by the Master of men. "Let him who would be greatest among you be your servant."

One today must have something besides deeds of valor by remote ancestors if he expects honor from his fellows. If we would take a vote in any community to determine the most popular individual we would discover him to be the one who had been the best servant to the largest number. Service is the watchword of successful modern business, of the church, of the school,—of all modern institutions.

These ideals are not platitudes nor dogmatic standards of Utopian enthusiasts. They are the simple, common sense result of centuries of experience and thinking on the part of the plain people and they are rapidly becoming basic in philosophy in legislation and in conduct. As nations everywhere accept them, world peace will be more nearly realized.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"The Sideshow" the feature picture showing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden, for today and tomorrow, is an unusual drama of the lives, loves and adventures of those in the small tent. Colorful backgrounds, the glamor of the circus, the scent of the sawdust, the excitement, the wit of the Barker, and the lure of the canvas enflame the breast and awaken the emotions as the story unfolds. The hopeless love of a dwarf for the prettiest girl on the lot, the tragedy in the big tent, the burning of the pay car and a plot to kill the girl before an audience are a few of the tense and thrilling situations portrayed in this picture. The second feature will be another gripping episode of the thrilling mystery serial, "The Tiger's Shadow" featuring Hugh Allan and Gladys McConnell.

A domestic drama far removed from the ordinary forms the basic plot of "Craig's Wife," a picturization of George Kelley's play of the same name which enjoyed a spectacular New York success and won the Pulitzer prize as the outstanding production of the year. A wife whose interest is in her house and not her home—a husband whose devotion to his beautiful wife blinds him to the fact that he occupies a lesser place in her attention than the ornaments on the mantel or the priceless rugs on the floor; a young girl whose romance is threatened by her sister's passion for running the affairs of everyone in her family—these are the principal characters of "Craig's Wife" the feature picture coming to the Orpheum next Monday for a three days run. Irene Rich plays the role of the selfish wife. Warner Baxter is the husband who is laughed at by his friends and neighbors. The second feature on this program will be "Sisters of Eve" featuring Anita Stewart and Betty Blythe. In this picture Anita Stewart is seen as an adventuress and is said to have one of the best roles of her career.

FUNERAL RITES FOR ANTHONY GIGLIOTTI

The funeral of Anthony Gigliotti, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Gigliotti of 20 Tremont street, who died at his home last week Thursday night after a brief illness with pneumonia, took place last Saturday morning.

There was a large attendance at the solemn requiem high mass which was celebrated at 10 o'clock in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Fr. Conrad Quirbach. Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt was deacon and Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, subdeacon. The bearers were John McCormick, Walter Crowley, William Garbino, Alexander Munroe, Harry Cheffalo and John Benoit, all of Winchester. Boy Scouts from Troop 2 acted as an honorary escort to the cortege from the Gigliotti home to the church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Anthony Gigliotti was born and had spent the entire 20 years of his life in Winchester. He attended the St. Mary's Parochial and Winchester schools and had many friends among the town's young people. He had been a member of Troop 2, Boy Scouts of Winchester, and had organized a harmonica band among his fellow members in the organization. Besides his parents he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Cuculo, Mrs. Sundiana Landiase and Miss Eleanor Gigliotti and by one brother, Thomas Gigliotti, all of Winchester.

The finest and smartest cars on the streets of the world

It is a very tangible value in Cadillac-La Salle that all over the world Cadillac-La Salle ownership carries with it the unquestioned admission that the owner is driving the very finest motor cars which his highest ambition can attain.

OTHER cars have sought in vain to achieve the high social prestige that has been inseparably Cadillac's for a generation. But you have only to pause where the smartest people congregate, you have only to check the social register, and you will inevitably discover a preponderance of Cadillacs and La Salles.

And the simple bald fact about this is that men and women who know motor cars know too that if they want a car to ride and drive as Cadillac-La Salle ride and drive they must eliminate everything else from consideration.

For the truth of all truths about Cadillac-La Salle, and something that you know full well, is just this: it is because of inherent and surpassing excellence that there is no substitute for the priceless possession and prestige of a Cadillac-built car.

Where else—in all the world—will you find the same measure of comfort, of riding and driving ease?—where else such vital provisions for safety and freedom of mind?

Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass, with which Cadillac-La Salle windows, doors and windshields are equipped, remains intact in the event of collision or if struck by stones flung up from the wheels of passing cars.

Included in the present Cadillac-La Salle line are twenty-three refreshingly beautiful Fisher bodies and fifteen exclusive and luxurious custom models, Fleetwood designed and Fleetwood built, exemplifying the very last word in chic, smartness and luxury.

La Salle is priced from $2295 to $2875; Cadillac, from $3295 to $3995; Fleetwoods up to $7000—all prices f. o. b. Detroit. Cadillac-La Salle dealers welcome business on the General Motors Deferred Payment Plan. Enjoy the car now and pay out of income.

CHARLES RIVER BASIN DEVELOPMENT

An increase in taxes in Winchester will be brought about if the million dollar speedway included in the Harriman plan for the development of the Charles River Basin is not eliminated, it is pointed out in a statement issued from the office of Robert Homans, 53 State street, Boston.

Mr. Homans is counsel for a committee of Back Bay residents who are opposing the section of the Harriman plan which calls for a roadway along the southerly side of the Charles River in Boston, the roadway to be paid for by the 37 cities and towns in the Metropolitan district. Winchester is included in the list.

"The Town of Winchester will have to pay approximately $17,058.28 if this speedway is allowed to become a part of the Charles River Basin improvement plan," says the statement, signed by Homans for the opposing committee. "We are opposed to this roadway because we believe that it is not only an unnecessary expenditure of a million dollars or more, but because we believe that it will be a permanent detriment to the beauty of the Charles River Basin."

"We do not believe that the citizens of Winchester and the 36 other Greater Boston cities and towns who will have to pay for this speedway in Boston yet realize that the speedway provision in the Harriman bill aims directly at their pocketbooks. Citizens of Winchester will have to foot a good part of the expense and we believe that they should study this plan and organize to fight this unnecessary expenditure of their money."

"We are not opposed to the beautifying of the Charles River Basin as we believe that it is a park in which the citizens of Massachusetts take a just pride. The Harriman plan, with the million dollar speedway eliminated, would make it one of the most beautiful recreation spots in the world."

"But assess a million dollars or more on the citizens of Winchester and the 36 other cities and towns in Greater Boston to pay for a speedway in Boston that even traffic experts admit would not relieve, to any great extent, without the expenditure of other huge sums of money, traffic conditions in the Back Bay and downtown Boston, we believe is not right."

"We also believe that this speedway would be no benefit to the citizens of Winchester who, under Harriman's plan would be forced to help pay for it."

"We are therefore asking that every citizen investigate this plan and immediately register their protest with their representatives and their senators and also to plan to have their protest registered at the hearing at the State House early in March."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Greta Garbo, more glamorous and alluring than ever, and John Gilbert, dashing, intense and handsome, give another example of their unique charm as co-stars in "A Woman of Affairs," a Michael Arlen story which heads the screen program the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last half of this week. The great Swedish actress presents another side of her amazing personality in this new film. She has discarded the famous Garbo slink, and the exotic roles, with which she has been identified, and plays a tempestuous young lady of London society. Gilbert, as Neville Holderness, and Miss Garbo have many opportunities for emotional love scenes and eclipse their excellent work in this respect that they did in "Love" and "Flesh and the Devil."

"Flashes of Youth," a sextet of young people who offer a glimpse of collegiate life, heads the five act bill the Granada will offer the last three days of this week. The other acts on the current bill include, Elly, the feminine Samson; Louis Archer and Company in the skit, "The Little Girl friend;" Loma Worth, the versatile girl; and Howard Smith Troupe in a novelty presentation.

Marty Dupree's Musical Follies, the outstanding tabloid show of the country returns to the Granada next Monday for a week's run. Marty with the inimitable Bennie Drohan, comedian, hold the present attendance record for the Granada which they made on their appearance at this house last year. This year they are offering many new features.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "The Red Dance" starring Dolores Del Rio and Charles Farrell and "Waterfront" with Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall.

Teamed for the first time, Dolores Del Rio and Charles Farrell give a remarkable performance in the stellar roles of "The Red Dance." These two young people hold the audience spellbound by their fine characterizations; she as the peasant girl who becomes the famous "Red Dancer of the Revolution," he as the Grand Duke Eugen, whom she tries to save from the vengeance of the people.

"Waterfront" once more brings together Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall in co-featured roles. Miss Mackaill is seen as the daughter of a tug-boat captain and Mulhall as an oiler on a tramp steamer.

For the last three days of the week the features are "The Rescue" with Ronald Colman and "The Kid's Clever" with Glenn Tryon.

"The Rescue" is from the novel by Joseph Conrad. The story is that of

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Probably no other thing stands in the way of a young man's advancement as the constant temptation to pass himself off for more than he is worth.

Most of us forget that sooner or later, the world will know to a hair's breadth how much we measure.

Perhaps not today, possibly not tomorrow, but in the long run we pass for just what we are worth.

We only live once, but if we live right, once is enough.

Replying to a letter of Feb. 7, inquiring what had been done towards remedying the pollution of the Abington River, Commissioner Maurice Dinneen of the Health Department has received a reply this week from the State Department of Public Health announcing that further action will be taken in regard to the general question at an early date. It was previously announced that the sewer which was supposed to relieve the situation would be completed early this year.

The STAR has been asked to correct a false impression which we have been told is somewhat widespread. It is not obligatory to vote only for those Town officials living in one's own precinct. The Town officers are elected just as they always have been. Town Meeting Delegates only are elected by precincts and in this instance there will be no confusion at the polls since the voters will receive a ballot which will include those candidates from whom he is to select his precinct delegates and those alone. There is no change in the procedure of electing the other Town officers.

Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson has always been an especially busy individual just previous to Town Meeting time, but her activity of former years must seem slight in comparison with the amount of work which she has been called upon to do in connection with the election for 1929. Much of the detail attendant upon the installation of the new form of Town government has fallen upon her and how she has managed to get through with her many and varied tasks, preserving at the same time her sanity and sense of humor is something to wonder at.

In accordance with its usual custom the STAR is printing the ballot for the coming Town election in full in this issue. Particularly it is recommended that all voters read it carefully and be prepared to vote for their several preferences with as much dispatch as possible. It is inevitable that the voting this year will take much longer than in the past and we can all expedite matters by knowing in advance for whom and what we are to ballot. A vote decided upon in the polling booth is not likely to be an especially intelligent one.

It is a peculiar fact that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in placing a tax on gasoline effective Jan. 1, 1929, may now step in and demand a tax upon gas purchased one, two or three years previously. All gas on hand the first of the year must be accounted for and a tax paid thereon. When it was purchased is apparently of little moment. It is reported that most of the tank owners in the State are paying their tax under protest, and no wonder, for under such a ruling no one knows what we may be compelled to pay in the way of taxes in the future. The owner who was unable to use up all his gas before the first of the year is out of luck. This matter should be settled. To pay a tax on gasoline on and after a specified date is all right, but to go back and demand the same tax on gas purchased at a remote period before the date of enforcement is all wrong.

THE SATISFACTORY SOLUTION

The elimination of our grade crossing in the center of Winchester is the most important question this Town has before it at the coming annual Town Meeting. The life and safety of our citizens and children and the future growth and convenience of our community are bound up in it. The wonderful and attractive setting which nature has given Winchester must be preserved as well. The longer the question is argued, the greater the cost to all concerned.

There are many factors entering into the plans for the elimination of this crossing and every resident of our Town should consider them carefully. First there is the point that the method of the elimination shall be decided by a disinterested commission. Such a body will consider any plan submitted from all angles—safety, convenience, cost—and, possibly, beauty. In the end it will give its approval to such plan as best meets all the conditions under consideration.

Thus should the Town desire to raise its whole center and the railroad desire to raise its tracks, both of which plans are similar in the point of keeping street traffic as it is, we are more than liable to get the viaduct. No greater detriment to the welfare of Winchester could happen than such a ruling! Yet it is possible. And to offset it the Town would be obliged to shoulder the burden of a big additional cost.

Should the Town and Railroad agree on the Kellaway Plan, there is little question but what the Commission would order it. The street traffic would be but little disturbed, the railroad tracks not at all, and the natural beauties of Winchester would be even more enhanced. Is it not better to attempt to unite on this plan, which already appears to receive the almost unanimous approval of the Town at large? Surely this is by far the best plan proposed from all points of consideration.

The STAR advocates the Kellaway Plan. Probably every plan formulated in the past 25 years has been brought to this office for consideration. Of all the schemes submitted, none has ever met every consideration so satisfactorily.

The costs were given in our last issue. They are presented from the ground up. Every estimate is analyzed. Such criticism as might be made may equally apply to any other plan—to say the least. The cost is shown to be well within a figure comparable with the elimination—to say the least.

The STAR earnestly hopes the Kellaway Plan will be adopted by the Town of Winchester by such an overwhelming vote that work on the crossing may be started at once. Let us not mar the beauty of our town nor start another quarter-century of wrangling.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

We have to announce this week a most pleasing interruption to the routine of our meetings. It was our privilege to be entertained at the Winchester Hospital by the authorities of that institution, who served dinner to the club and afterwards gave us an opportunity to inspect the various departments under their charge.

At the beginning we were impressed with the fact that if all divisions of the hospital work are as well managed as the culinary section, here indeed is the ideal establishment. We were shortly to be convinced that this was a true impression. If there be any who have doubts as to the excellence of the food provided at our hospital we are here to dispel those doubts. Nor do we overlook the table service exemplified by the young ladies, resident at this place. We did not go to criticize but of this we are certain, that he who goes to criticize will be inspired to commend.

At the conclusion of dinner President Harris turned the meeting over to our "Doc" Sheehy, who naturally is familiar with and deeply interested in the affairs of the hospital. We listened to cordial words of greeting from Harold S. Fuller, president of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association, whose vigorous efforts are in large part responsible for the present high standing of this hospital; from Dr. C. E. Ordway, chief surgeon of the Winchester Hospital and from James W. Russell, another one of our citizens who has worked hard and constantly to promote the interests of this institution.

But after all our hospital must fail of its mission should it lack the guiding hand of some individual who is thoroughly familiar, from long and proper experience, with all activities which are desirable and essential in such a place and who has the extraordinary executive ability and ingratiating personality which is necessary to co-ordinate those activities. The selection of such a person as Superintendent in charge, presents a problem of the first magnitude to the officials of any hospital. The management of Winchester Hospital is to be congratulated for having solved this problem in a most satisfactory manner. Miss H. M. Torrop who has served as Superintendent at our local institution since its recent reorganization and enlargement, is possessed of the qualities suggested above. She enjoys the confidence of the management and the respect and loyal co-operation of her co-workers. It was with deep interest that Rotarians listened to her talk in which she described what has been accomplished at the hospital and the work which is proposed for maintaining and improving the health of this community. It is the desire of those in charge at the Winchester Hospital, that it become the health centre of this district to the end that those threatened with illness be enabled to ward it off; that epidemics may be forestalled; that co-operation may be offered to the school authorities and to our physicians, in handling situations with which they are unable to cope single-handed. It is not the modern idea that a hospital is a place to be sought solely by those who are in imminent danger of death. Oft-times its services are of especial value to those who are simply in need of recuperation and cases of this sort are assured of efficient care at the Highland avenue institution. And then that physical examination which all should undergo periodically will be properly cared for here. The above are a few suggestions of the valuable work which is offered to us. We hope that many more of our citizens will avail themselves of these facilities than have already done so.

At the close of the meeting we were conducted through the various wards and apartments of the hospital, and the completion of the up-to-date appointments were surprising to most of us.

A modern kitchen, a cozy dining-room, retiring rooms for nurses and physicians, sun rooms, sumptuous private apartments, a maternity ward, a separate ward for infants, an accident room, immediately adjacent to a special entrance, an X-ray room, equipped with every essential device for carrying on this delicate work and last, but not least an operating room that is the pride of our local surgeons, and a marvel of excellence to out-of-town surgeons who rarely find so many facilities outside of our largest cities.

Our enthusiasm for that which we have seen leads us to ramble on indefinitely. Suffice it to say that Winchester Rotary Club is proud that it has been able to play a humble part in bestowing some assistance upon our hospital. Hospitable to us it has been and our thanks for this are not perfunctory. We express the hope and we feel assured that its present successful service will continue indefinitely.

WHAT WILLIAM FEATHER SAYS:

ABOUT A CHECKING ACCOUNT

Some people never wake up to the convenience of modern devices and systems.

The poor man who can least afford to lay off work to deliver a signed paper to a public utility or a lawyer seems unable to learn that he could slip the paper or the application in an envelope, affix a two-cent stamp, and have it delivered by the government.

Today I observed a barber make preparations to deliver an application for gas service. He was as nervous as a bridegroom. In his absence from the shop he probably lost a dollar or two in trade.

There is really very little business that cannot be transacted by mail or telephone, if one maintains a checking account at the bank. Goods can be ordered, bills paid, sales solicited, complaints registered, compliments bestowed. A cripple, unable to walk, could conduct a dynamic business.

Why spend time getting money orders or personally paying bills with lessable cash when it is so easy to open a CHECKING ACCOUNT at the

SNOW PUDDING

1 box Gelatine or
1 tablespoon granulated Gelatine
1 cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1 cup sugar
1 cup lemon juice
Whites 3 eggs

Method

Soak Gelatine in cold water, dissolve in boiling water, add sugar and lemon juice, strain, set aside in cool place; occasionally stir mixture, when quite thick, beat with wire whisk or spoon until frothy; add whites of eggs beaten stiff, continue beating until stiff enough to hold its shape. Mould or pile by spoonfuls on glass dish; serve cold with boiled custard.

BOILED CUSTARD

2 cups scalded milk
Yolks 3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Method

Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and salt; stir constantly while adding gradually hot milk. Cook in double boiler, continue stirring until mixture thickens and a coating is formed on the spoon, strain immediately; chill and flavor. If cooked too long the custard will curdle; should this happen, by using egg-beater it may be restored to a smooth consistency, but custard will not be as thick.

Sing Sing

Sing Sing is a famous New York state prison located at Ossining, a town on the Hudson river about 30 miles north of New York city, says the Kansas City Times. The town itself was originally also called Sing Sing, supposedly from the Sing Sing or Sint-sink tribe of Indians, who once lived in that vicinity. In 1801 the name of the town was officially changed to Ossining, the old name having become objectionable to the inhabitants because of its popular association with the penitentiary. "Ossining" is merely a different form of "Sing Sing," both words being corruptions of the Delaware Indian word "assinesink," literally meaning "at the small stone." There is nothing to the popular story that Sing Sing was named after a friendly Indian whom the whites called John Sing Sing.

WINCHESTER SONGSTER TO SING BERLIN SONGS

"Billy" Coty, Veteran Soloist, Well Known in Local Musical Circles

The many friends of "Billy" Coty, a former Winchester boy, were pleased to learn of his engagement by Irving Berlin, New York composer of popular music to sing and introduce the latter's newest compositions. A Berlin engagement is always to be prized and "Billy's" latest association marks a distinct step upward. Mr. Coty's tenor voice has won for him many local admirers who have enjoyed his singing in minstrel and musical comedy shows both in Winchester and Woburn while his radio broadcasting has added to his string of boosters. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coty of Washington street and brother of Miss Mabel Coty, herself a singer of ability and organist of the local Court, Catholic Daughters of America.

Following is a comment on Mr. Coty's New York engagement from the pen of Howard Fitzpatrick of the Boston Post:

After many years of consistent broadcasting from Boston radio stations, doing solo work with local dance bands, "Billy" Coty has secured an engagement with the Irving Berlin Music Publishing Company, in New York City, as a staff soloist. Hardly a month ago Carl Moore, another Boston radio artist, was appointed manager of the Boston Berlin music house.

"Billy" Coty will take up his new duties in New York City within the next week. While in this new position he will appear at many functions where Irving Berlin's song hits are in demand. He will specialize in singing such compositions for both recording and broadcasting. When bands come to New York to record Berlin hits minus a soloist it will be "Billy's" job to play the role as vocalist. Undoubtedly in broadcasts, whether over National chains or Metropolitan radio stations where Berlin's music is featured, "Billy" will have a berth on the program.

In most of his broadcasts "Billy" appeared with "Jack" Everson as his pianist, who was known as the "Blonde Pianist" on the Smilers' Club period over the Shepard Station, WNAC. "Billy" was also known as the "Human Voice" by virtue of assisting Arthur Martel, the Metropolitan Theatre organist, in recitals where the human voice was reproduced on the organ. In these performances "Billy" secreted himself in the organ loft, behind the pipes, and as Martel informed the audience that he would play a song "Billy" would take his cue and sing the notes, but not the words, to the song. The effect was perfect; the act drew generous applause.

In spite of the bad storm, there was a good attendance. The president, Mrs. F. C. Alexander presided. A letter of thanks from the treasurer of the Judge Baker Foundation was read, gratefully acknowledging the gift of $25 from the Circle. A motion was adopted to give $300 to the building fund for the new cottage which is to be built in connection with the Florence Crittenton Home. Mrs. Hildegarde B. NEW APARTMENT HOUSES MAY BE BUILT IN WINCHESTER

To the Editor of the Star:

In this issue of the "Star" there is published a notice of a public hearing before the Planning Board on Articles 21 and 22 in the warrant for the annual town meeting. Under these articles it is proposed to amend the zoning map. Article 21 is to see if the town will include in the business zone a strip of land along Vine street and Article 22 contemplates placing the Prince School lot also in the business zone. Both parcels of land are now in the general residence district but are adjacent to the business zone.

The zoning by-law does not permit the construction of apartment houses in the single and general residence districts but they may be built in the business zone. The change in the zoning map is understood to be sought by interested parties who wish to build apartment houses on the Vine street land and the Prince School lot.

The hearing before the Planning Board involves questions of general interest and concern. Are more apartment houses needed in Winchester? Would they benefit the community? To what extent should the town welcome and encourage their construction?

Those who wish, will have an opportunity to express their views on these questions at the hearing in the Committee Room in the Town Hall next Thursday evening, March 7, at 8 o'clock.

MANY LAUGHS IN SELECTMEN'S REPORT

Article on Town Clocks a Humorous Masterpiece

The STAR commends to its readers a careful perusal of the selectmen's report included in the recently issued Town report for 1928. Not alone because everyone should be familiar with the way in which our Town fathers have consumed the business of the community but because a quiet chuckle and hearty laugh are never amiss and there are many of both tucked into this year's story of the Board's activities. Seldom have we seen a better blending of fun and facts. From beginning to end the report is seasoned with real humor and the paragraphs dealing with the problems met by the Board in attempting to keep the clocks in the towers of the Town Hall and Congregational Church functioning properly are worthy of special notice. The STAR is reproducing them herewith, although we are not so pessimistic as to believe with the Selectmen that no one ever reads a Town Report. If succeeding reports are as entertaining as that of this year, we confidently predict the popularity of the chronicle will equal if not surpass that of the Assessors' Book, the Town's hitherto best seller.

Town Clocks and Adjacent Properties

After years of effort the Board finally procured for the clock in the steeple of the First Congregational Church a satisfactory movement. For some months thereafter it was regular. One look at its face was enough to indicate that the money had been well spent. Although the expense of this movement was approximately $600, however, the clock has lately resumed its former irregularity. Oil is being used in liberal quantities, and on the whole we feel that this distressing situation may yet be completely cured.

Incidentally it may be remarked that the dangerous structural condition of the steeple of this church, which has now been remedied by extensive repairs, was first detected through the efforts of the Board to make this clock more serviceable; and was then at their suggestion brought to the attention of the church committee.

In the tower of the Town Hall, in contrast to that of the First Congregational Church, the movements of the Town clock have caused no concern. We wish we could say as much for the pigeons. During the year it became too apparent that these birds had been using the open spaces in this tower for all domestic purposes since 1887. The Board believed that the functions for which the building was primarily intended were public functions. No one with all his senses could believe otherwise. And expert investigations proved that the steadily increasing stress to which the floor timbers were being subjected required drastic action. At a cost of $72.15 the Selectmen have now caused the space to be excavated, and all openings closed with wire netting. The Board has therefore successfully eliminated the previous danger of the contents of the tower caving down through the roof and causing an unsavory interruption to some deliberative assembly.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE ZONING BY-LAW AND NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING THEREON

Notice is hereby given that it is proposed to amend the Zoning By-Law as set forth in the following articles of the Warrant for the annual Town Meeting to be held during the current month:

Article 21. To see if the Town will amend its Zoning By-Law by altering the zoning map therein referred to so as to extend the southwesterly portion of the business district which lies northwesterly of Main Street, or any part thereof, northwesterly toward that part of Vine Street which runs north and south, or do anything in relation thereto. (George F. Arnold and others.)

Article 22. To see if the Town will vote to amend, revise and alter the map referred to in, and constituting a part of, section (1) one of Division (33) thirty-three of the By-Laws of the town, known as the Zoning By-Law, said map being more particularly entitled in said section (1) one as "Town of Winchester, Massachusetts, Planning Board Zoning Map, prepared under the direction of the Planning Board" dated December 1923, signed by said Planning Board and filed in the office of the town clerk, so that whereas a certain tract or parcel of land containing 55,029 square feet, bounded southerly by Church Street, 231.20 feet; westerly by School Street 264.64 feet; northerly by Dix Street, 185.55 feet; and easterly by land now or formerly of Floyd N. Hunkins, Josephine E. Arnold and Charles A. Gleason, 284.78 feet, and commonly called the Prince School lot now appears marked, designated and defined on said plan as being within the general residence district, shall be remarked and defined anew on said map and shall henceforth be included in and made a part of, the business district adjoining said school lot on the easterly side thereof. (William R. Marshall and others.)

And notice is hereby given that the Planning Board, in accordance with the provisions of the Zoning By-Law, will hold a public hearing on the said articles, Thursday, March 7, 1929, at 8 o'clock P. M. in the Committee Room in the Town Hall.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meeting of the Fortnightly was held Monday afternoon in the Town Hall. Owing to the continued illness of the president, Mr.
Marion P. Powers, Mrs. Christine E.
Hayden, the first vice-president, presided. A brief business meeting was followed by an hour and a half of music with the Boston Sinfonietta
under the leadership of Arthur Fiedler.
This organization was on our list
last year, but this season, as before,
it is rightly considered our most important afternoon. Like any other truly excellent group of artists, it bears hearing many times.

The following program was presented:

Overture—"Leonore" No. 3, Opus 72
Ballet Suite Rameau (Mottl) 1893-1764
(a) Minuet from "Platée"
(b) Musette from "Les Fêtes d'Hebe"
(c) Tambourin from "Les Fêtes d'Hebe"
March Militaire Schubert
Music from "Iolanthe" Sullivan
Pavane Ravel
Czardas Monti
March from "Tannhauser" Wagner

Monday afternoon's program was cleverly arranged to suit varied tastes with a judicious mixture of early and modern composers. The really serious numbers were not beyond the appreciation of the moderately musical person, and in no instance in the pieces of a more popular nature did the conductor descend to the merely trite and banal. In fact, it might well be called a "middlebrow" program.

The studied perfection of detail in the performance was worthy of the larger orchestra from which the Sinfonietta springs. One feels that the conductor and the men who compose the group take pride in keeping to a standard above criticism. With six strings, a piano, trumpet, horn, flute, and clarinet Mr. Fiedler is able in most cases to approximate the effects of a large orchestra. In the Beethoven overture the need of more strings was obvious. For the most part,
however, the selections were wisely limited to such as were suited to a small band.

The charming Ballet Suite of Rameau was one of the satisfying things of the concert. The minuet, with its haunting minor strains, and the tam-bourin, with its pronounced rhythms and gay colors, were delightful. The tambourin is a peasant dance originally played on a flute and a small drum, similar to a tambourine. This particular tambourin is familiar to many of us in the version for harpsichord or piano. The March Militaire was followed by a Brahms Hungarian Dance, played as an encore.

The second half of the program was made memorable by a beautiful performance of Ravel's Pavane. The pavane was a stately dance of Spanish origin, and in this composition Ravel has imagined it as being dedicated to a little dead princess. Although written for piano it has been made even lovelier in this arrangement. An encore was demanded after the lively Czardas by Monti, and the Sinfonietta
player Anita's Dance from Grieg's
"Peer Gynt Suite." To the concluding Wagner March another number was also added—"Serenade," by Drigo.
This familiar, but no less ravishing melody, left the audience filled with the joy of listening.

It will doubtless be of interest to all Fortnightly members to learn that Branson DeCou, whose lectures in Winchester aroused such favorable comment, is to lecture in Symphony Hall on March 2 and 9. The subject of his first lecture is "European Wonderlands." On March 9 his topic is "Mysterious India."

Literature Committee
"The Political Novel in England and America" is the topic to be considered at the meeting of the Literature Group on Monday, March 4, at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall. The program is in charge of Mrs. Katherine D. F. Blood, assisted by Mrs. Mabel B. Blank and Miss Alice Shovel-ton.

American House Committee
The American House Committee regrets to announce that the Fashion Show which was planned for Friday, March 8, has been postponed until next year.

WINCHESTER GIRL SELECTED FOR FOREIGN STUDY

Miss Dorothy Wentworth of Winchester is one of 40 Smith College sophomores selected by the French Department to spend next year studying at Grenoble and the Sorbonne in Paris under the direction of the college. She will be one of the fifth group of students to spend the year in France as a part of their work at Smith, the plan, designed to give students who have selected French as a major study a more thorough knowledge of the French language, literature and culture being now a part of the curriculum of the college.

The students who will go to France
next year from Smith have been chosen on a competitive basis. They are students who intend to major in French, are of diploma standing in their college work and have shown distinct ability in their major subject.
The Massachusetts girls chosen, in addition to Miss Wentworth, include the Misses Alice Dunning of Wellesley Farms, Edith Hanson of New Bedford and Louise Ramseyer of Jamaica Plain. Miss Wentworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal S. Wentworth of Calumet road and during her course at Winchester High School played center forward on the girls' field hockey team. She finished her college preparation at Cambridge Haskell School.

The new transfer patterns for furniture, lamp shades, etc. are at the Star office.

FRANK LUKE

Frank Luke, aged 65, a resident of Winchester for the past 15 years and father of Mrs. Frederick S. Mitchell of 13 Winchester place, died suddenly in Boston last Thursday, Feb. 21,
after collapsing while in front of 1134 Washington street. He was removed to the Boston City Hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival. His death was evidently induced by exhaustion brought about by facing the heavy snow storm. The deceased had but recently recovered from a severe case of grippe and had gone to Boston to visit his physician.

Mr. Luke was a native of Steen, Germany, but as a young man settled in Canada, making his home in Halifax, N. S., before coming to Winchester in 1914. He had been a sea-faring man all his life and for 14 years had been in the employ of the Eastern Steamship Company before being incapacitated by an injury which he received in an accident on one of the company's boats about two years ago. He was a member of the Eastern and Gulf Sailor's Association.

Mr. Luke's wife died Mar. 21, 1928 and besides Mrs. Mitchell, he is survived by a son, Frederick Luke of East Boston.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Kelley & Hawes chapel and were conducted by the Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Gentlemen: I thought perhaps you would like to know why we are recommending to use a chair to move around the room

When Should One Telephone "Collect?"

Station-to-station calls may now be placed
"collect" where the rate is 25 cents or more.
It's a saving of about 20% over previous rates for "collect" service. Because of this saving we look for, and are ready for, a greater volume of "collect" calls.

Two considerations, however, should hold this increase within bounds.

The "collect" call is useful chiefly to the business house which is called regularly by its customers or its travelling men. Many such houses accepted these calls at the old rates.

Further, the time it takes our operator to secure acceptance at the called telephone must make "collect" calls somewhat slower than calls prepaid. It is for you to strike the balance between convenience and speed.

We want you to have full understanding of all the ins and outs of this "collect" service. It has its field. We want you to use it whenever it serves your ends.

Yet we are confident that the great volume of telephone toll traffic will move in the future as it moves now—on the basis of calls
by number, charged at point of origin, commanding the unbeatable combination of "fastest service at lowest rates."

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL GAS SERVICE BEYOND THE GAS MAINS—PYROFAX

Note that the gas cocks, gas burners and manifold of this gas range are exactly the same as those on a range used with city gas. You can have Pyrofax installed right away and cook on a handsome, efficient gas range like this no matter where you live, just as you would with city gas.

Thirty years of experience developed PYROFAX GAS SERVICE

Thousands of homes, from coast to coast, endorse the famous PYROFAX reserve cylinder system

THERE is one proved, successful gas cooking service for homes beyond the gas mains. It is Pyrofax Gas Service—used by thousands and thousands of country and suburban homes, hospitals, schools and industries all over the country. It is a product of an organization which has been manufacturing compressed gas and compressed gas equipment for the past 30 years—the largest manufacturer of compressed gases in the world. The manufacturers of Pyrofax start with the raw material (natural gas), make the refined and concentrated product (Pyrofax), manufacture the Pyrofax cooking equipment, distribute them both, and serve the users with an efficient, nationally organized delivery service.

What a difference Pyrofax Gas Service has made in many thousands of homes that did not have city gas service! If you use Pyrofax, you can have any kind of handsome modern gas range you like in the kitchen. Pyrofax is real gas. Not an imitation of gas, not a gasoline, or carbide, or kerosene, or any other liquid fuel. It is genuine gas,

This sign identifies an authorized Pyrofax dealer.

stored in two large steel cylinders and brought directly to your home. Each cylinder contains two to three months' gas supply for the average family.

Once you see its hot, blue flame come instantly to your service at the turn of a gas cock, then you will realize what a perfect fuel Pyrofax is. No delays. No inconveniences. And above all, no odors and no overheated cooking quarters. Pyrofax burns with a clean, sootless flame—one that is easily controlled to give the very best results in cooking. No smudged pots and pans. No odors. Clean, hot gas!

The reason for two cylinders of gas

Every Pyrofax installation is made with two cylinders of gas, although only one is in use. The other is a reserve. With that extra cylinder of Pyrofax, you are always sure to have gas. No waiting for delivery. No chance of being disappointed. There is always one full cylinder of Pyrofax (two to three months' supply) held in reserve, ready when you want it.

Pyrofax is not a new or untried product

Pyrofax is the best known, most widely established and most popular compressed gas for cooking. Have a demonstration of this tried and proved product. See for yourself what a perfect cooking service there is available for homes beyond the gas mains. Installation is quick and convenient. Come in today and have a demonstration.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE STATEMENT

The great increase in motor traffic both passenger and heavy trucking has come to be a very important question and difficult of solving.

In some parts of our State municipalities have purchased land and made public parking spaces free of charge.

Our streets in the center are narrow and it is quite difficult to find a place to park a car long enough to make purchases of our town merchants and of course under such conditions people are liable to, and do go out of town to make their purchases. This, of course, is to the detriment of our town merchants. This is a difficult question to settle but circumstances are forcing us into some kind of a solution.

Is it not going to be a wise move for the safety of life and limb to establish more light signals on the dangerous highway crossings?

The automatic signals of red and green lights are a very great assistance in preventing accidents to a much greater extent than most of us realize.

Some towns are making use of small yellow poles and signs where ever side streets cross main thoroughfares, as a reminder of danger.

We feel that there are many important questions coming before our town at the annual meeting and it behooves those that are to vote to be well acquainted with stable facts.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors and other members at the Chamber of Commerce office, 5 Common street, Thursday, March 7 at 8 p. m. Let us all attend.

President

Mr. F. W. Aseltine of this town, president of the Hill, Welch Company furniture dealers of Lynn was general master of ceremonies and toastmaster at the dinner which was the big feature of the formal opening of the Boston Furniture Mart in the Industrial Building connected with the North Station. CALUMET

CALUMET NOTES

There is great excitement over the "World's Series" roll-off of the three leading teams in Section "A" and "B" in the men's winter tournament. Teams 4, 2 and 7 were the winners in Section A, Teams 19, 27 and 25 in Section B. The first roll-off took place last evening and the other dates scheduled by the Bowling Committee are March 11 and 15. Teams finishing first in each section will roll off for the first and second team prize, teams finishing second will roll off for third and fourth team prize, while teams finishing third will roll off for the fifth and sixth team prize. Team 25 came through in the last match by winning four points, thus placing them in third place and eliminating the chance of a triple tie with Teams 23 and 21. Teams 1 and 5 in Section A were tied for the breadline and will have a roll-off to see which will have the privilege of paying for the eats. This match ought to prove as interesting and exciting as the "World's Series." Teams finishing about the breadline in Section A were 4, 2, 7, 11, 13, 14 and either 1 or 5, while those in Section B were 19, 27, 25, 23, 21, 24, 20 and 29. For obvious reasons, we shall not give the names of the teams below the line. Frank Higgins is champion club roller having made the fine average of 104 25/42, closely pursued by Ralph Purinton with 103 36/39. Doc Priest had an average of over 101 while Hall Gamage and Alfred Hildreth rolled an average of slightly over 100 each. Hall Gamage had the high single of 147 and Earl Goldsmith high three with 369. Team 1 composed of Goldsmith, Gamage, Barnard, Priest and R. Purinton had the high team three-string total, rolling 1597. They were scratch team which makes the high score all the more significant.

APPRECIATION

I wish to take this opportunity to thank each one of my friends who so loyally supported me in the town election.

To have won at all was reward enough for work done.

Your large vote is an incentive to go on and try to do better.

Yours respectfully,
Harry W. Stevens

While riding in an Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway car which left Arlington for Winchester at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon, Mrs. Jennie Mills aged 48, of 644 Main street was taken suddenly ill and collapsed.

She was removed from the car by Officer James E. Farrell of the Police Department assisted by passengers and taken into Knight's Pharmacy where she was treated by Dr. Charles Baisley. So far as could be learned she has no near relatives.

FALL PROVED FATAL

John W. McNutt, a painter in the employ of Carl Larson of Winchester, died yesterday morning of injuries sustained in a fall at the home of Arthur S. Harris, 2 Hillside avenue. McNutt was discovered laying on the cellar floor by Mrs. Harris who had been absent from the home for a short while. Dr. Richard W. Sheehy was notified and Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy with Mounted Officer Ned Shea responded to an emergency call sent in to police headquarters. Medical Examiner Vernon C. Stewart of Woburn viewed the body and pronounced death due to a fractured skull sustained in a fall down the cellar stairs. The body was taken in charge by the local undertaking firm of Kelley & Hawes. McNutt was 61 years of age and made his home in Boston at 35 Laurence street with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Gaughan.

MISS SUSAN PALFERY

Miss Susan Palfery of New Jersey died Thursday afternoon at the home of her brother, Mr. Robert G. Palfery of 28 Lakeview road, after a brief illness. Miss Palfery was 58 years old and a native of Liverpool, England, the daughter of Robert L. and Susan (Morris) Palfery. She had been visiting her brother here for the past two weeks. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Church of the Epiphany with the Rev. Truman Hemmaway officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

MR. KELLAWAY REPLIES

To the Editor of the Star:

I thank you for sending me the report on the grade crossing in Winchester, recently issued by the Selectmen of the town. There is in it much of historic interest to the citizens of the town, but after reading it quite carefully it impressed me as an attorney's plea for the conviction of a criminal. As my name is mentioned 35 times in the article, and nearly always in condemnatory terms in relation to the elimination of the grade crossing, I seem to be the culprit in the case.

I do not propose to enter into any controversy with your Board of Selectmen, for upon the evening of Nov. 21 of last year I was invited to meet with them in the Town Hall. I was very glad to accept their invitation, but when I reached there I found not only members of the Board but, to my surprise, an attorney, Mr. Dutch, and an engineer, the younger Mr. Main of the firm of Charles T. Main, Inc. I explained my reasons for making the study for abolishing the grade crossing in connection with the report that I made to the Committee on Waterways in 1927. I had no data with me nor had I thought about the plan for a year or more. I was questioned in detail, not only by the Board but largely by Mr. Dutch, who appeared to be acting as an attorney for the Board. I answered the questions as well as I was able under the circumstances, and told them I had never figured the cost.

The issue of the Star of Dec. 14, 1928, under the Winchester Chamber of Commerce news, contained this statement:

"It was the unanimous opinion of all present that to carry out the Kellaway Plan would be a serious loss to the business center of the town."

This conclusion was arrived at without my being present or being asked to inform them of my reasons for making the plan. This was an unusual proceeding it seemed to me, and I replied to their attack upon the Plan in your issue of Dec. 21.

In your issue of Jan. 25 it was reported that at a public meeting, called by the Selectmen, Mr. Worthen stated that the Kellaway Plan, so-called, was the most expensive of all, and your paper said that of all the plans discussed that evening none were "panned" worse, one gentleman desiring that a letter of censure be sent me for deceiving the town. Upon seeing this statement in the Star I wrote to the Board of Selectmen upon Jan. 26 asking them for a copy of their figures that were presented, so as to be well informed, and requested them to send me the data right away. To this request I received a reply stating they were about to prepare a report and as soon as the figures were available for publication they would send them to me. I never saw them until they appeared in the printed report. (This report I have received this morning, Thursday, March 7, from the Board of Selectmen).

In view of these statements I went to work and carefully studied my original suggestion, made one or two changes and figured as carefully as I could with the help of J. R. Worcester & Co., well-known bridge engineers, the probable expense of this piece of work. This statement you were kind enough to print in full in your issue of Feb. 22, 1929.

THE SELECTMEN'S GRADE CROSSING REPORT

The report of the Selectmen on the abolition of the grade crossing was issued Saturday, and copies have been left at every house in town. The STAR is unable to give the report in full, but recommends a careful reading by all residents.

The report is quite complete and mentions a number of plans proposed in years past, but devotes its attention largely to a comparison of four—the "Town Plan," the "Stone Arch Bridge Plan," the "Vinal Plan" and the "Kellaway Plan." These comparisons may be digested by the residents without comment by the STAR, other than its reiteration of its decided preference of the Kellaway Plan. There is published in this issue a letter from Mr. Kellaway in which he takes up certain points at variance between his figures and the Board's estimates, together with other important factors upon which they fail to agree.

The Selectmen, in summing up the situation, believe "that vigorous action should be immediately taken to procure the abolition of this crossing at grade." The Board, by reasons set forth in its report, favors the adoption of the Town Plan for elimination. It states further that should the voters abandon their preference (for the Town Plan) and favor any diversion of traffic from the present long established routes, the Board emphatically favors the Vinal Plan in preference to the Kellaway Plan.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Winchester Rotarians gathered for the regular weekly meeting at the Calumet Club House this week. It was our privilege to entertain a considerable number of visitors, so that our tables were well filled. Reports from members who have been on the sick list were favorable, and it will soon be in order to call for another one of those 100 per cent meetings. The monthly letter from District Governor Bert was distributed, from which we learn that the clubs of this district have been active during February and that many interesting events are scheduled for the months just ahead.

The boys from Australia who are about to visit Boston are expected to arrive on March 25th. It is hoped that some of them may be entertained in Winchester. This pilgrimage will be a red-letter event in these young lives, and Boston Rotarians will do their utmost to have the boys enjoy every minute of their stay.

The speaker secured for this occasion was Miss Hunter, who is connected with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston. Miss Hunter's topic was "Mental X-rays." This is the first time that our club has been addressed by a lady. It seems, however, that an agreeable precedent has been established.

Miss Hunter brought it to our attention that electric power is capable of relieving the housewife of a vast amount of drudgery and she was kind enough to give to the men the lion's share of the credit for bringing about this happy condition.

Several of our members who observed Tom's careful inspection of the infants' ward at the Winchester Hospital last week, also noted that he was prominently seated at the head table this week.

Once more we recommend that none of our members miss the opportunity of attending our meeting on Thursday, March 14.

MISS MARIA ANTOINETTE PARSONS

Miss Maria Antoinette Parsons, for more than 40 years a teacher in Winchester, died Tuesday evening at 7 Brooks street, where she had been living for the past five years.

Miss Parsons was born Feb. 20, 1842, in what was then Chauncy place, Boston. She came of old English stock her parents having been John and Marie Antoinette (Woods) Parsons, known among the aristocratic families of the city. Beginning her education under tutors, Miss Parsons later attended a private school on Temple place at the location now occupied by the Provident Institution of Savings.

In 1864 Miss Parsons and her parents removed from Boston to Winchester, she having been selected to teach in Miss Winsor's Private School, then located not far from the center on Mt. Vernon street. The Parsons' home was at the corner of Vine street and Elmwood avenue, the first named having been so called because of the beautiful vines with which the house was covered.

Following her association with Miss Winsor's School, Miss Parsons entered the service of the town as a teacher, and from 1877 until 1899 taught English and French history in the High School. She was a member of the small staff at the high school during the time when Hon. Lewis Parkhurst served as principal. Her popularity with her pupils is attested to by the fact that during the spring of 1925 members of the high school class of 1887 presented to the school in her honor the Maria A. Parsons Scholarship Cup which is awarded yearly to that class having the highest scholarship average.

After severing her connection with the public schools Miss Parsons conducted a private school in the Alice Symmes house at Symmes corner, numbering among her pupils many children of leading Winchester families. She retired from active teaching about 20 years ago. Despite her advanced age she retained through the years in remarkable degree her keen mentality and was able to thoroughly enjoy a party arranged in honor of her last birthday.

Actively interested in community affairs, the deceased was a charter member of the Winchester Unitarian Society, her parents having been among the first group to hold Unitarian services in town. She was also a contributing member of the Home for Aged People in Winchester. She has no immediate survivors.

Funeral services were held this Friday afternoon in the Unitarian Church and were conducted by the pastor, Rev. George Hale Reed. The interment was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

GERRIT A. BENEKER, ARTIST, AUTHOR, LECTURER

Mr. Gerrit A. Beneker is giving his townsmen the opportunity to hear his lecture, "Art a Constructive Force" in Metcalf Hall, Unitarian parish house, the evening of March 19. The lecture will be well illustrated by lantern slides and a few of Mr. Beneker's paintings will be on view. Those who saw his recent exhibit at the Boston City Club realize that here is an opportunity to see and hear the very man who paints these pictures of the industrial life of our great country.

Mr. Beneker is the artist, whose studio is a steel mill in Cleveland, was built by a group of managers especially for him, the first time in the history of either art or industry. And here he used his art as a practical means of communication between employer and employee, between capital and labor.

Mr. Beneker is the self same artist who made the original Victory Liberty Loan Poster, "Sure We'll Finish the Job," of which 3,000,000 sheets were distributed throughout the country.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society will have its regular monthly meeting in the Unitarian parish house, Tuesday, March 12. The Executive Board will meet at 11:30, luncheon will follow at 1, and the general meeting at 2:30. Mrs. Thomas G. Rees, regional vice-president of the Alliance for New England will speak on, "The Road We Travel." Mrs. Malcolm Barrows, district director of the Alliance, will be present and also guests from the neighboring Alliance branches. There will be music.

LEGION BAND TO PLAY FOR VETERANS

The Winchester Legion Band is to visit the disabled veterans at the Bedford Hospital and give a concert on Friday evening, March 22. This entertainment is to be given in connection with a visitation to be made by Winchester Lodge of Elks, which has planned a big evening for the soldier boys. Winchester people are invited to accompany the Elks in their visitation and see how the boys are entertained.

SPEAKING OF FLOODS

Winchester Has Also Known Its Periods of Inundation

With sewerage overflow and surface drainage playing havoc about the center this year as in the past it will doubtless be interesting to readers of the Star to know something of a flood which occurred in Winchester, Feb. 16, 1855, and which according to reports dwarfed anything of the kind which the town had previously experienced for many years.

The Star is indebted to Mr. Charles A. Lane of the firm of Parker & Lane for the account of the flood, written by Dr. Daniel Youngman, Winchester's first Town Clerk and holding that important office at the time when the overflow took place. The Doctor's manuscript follows:

"On the morning of the 16th I arose and found my cellar full of water and running over. The Youngman house was at the corner of Main and Elmwood avenue on the South side, occupied later for many years by P. W. Swan.

"I started for my store, fearing the cellar there might be full also. In attempting to cross the street, I found the water over my rubber boots so went to the railroad track, but the current was so swift, I had a hard job to get across. The water was 14 inches deep on the rails in front of the Depot (then located in front of where the Kelley & Hawes Co. office now is.)

"At daylight the center of the town was a lake. The current was down Main street (toward the corner of Converse place) and the water ran as far north as Cutter's Mill (near the present Lake street). Francis H. Johnson rowed in his boat up and down Main street from the old Harrison Parker Mill near Converse place to the corner of Lake street.

"The water was at its height, between 3 and 5 a. m. Several families living near Thompson street were taken from their windows to safety in wagons.

"The Bacon street bridge over the Aberjona (not the present bridge) was carried away together with other railroad bridges and trains were held up for more than two days.

"Nearly every cellar in the village was filled with water. In the cellar of Taylor & Merrill, general store merchants, the coal, molasses, butter, potatoes, cheese, eggs, salt pork and pickled fish (the latter well freshened) were quite thoroughly mixed.

"The flood was caused by very heavy rains and the melting of the snow.

"This was the worst flood up to that time (Feb. 16, 1855) that had occurred for 50 years previous."

[In reading this story one must take into account that at the time referred to there was no dam at Mystic Lake, therefore the normal height of water was 6 feet lower than the level since the dam was built.]

TWO EVENINGS OF MOVIES AT CALUMET CLUB

Being optimistic regarding the number of people who may want to attend Mr. Chase's movies of Germany and Holland at Calumet Club it seems best to present these pictures on two evenings in order that everyone may have a seat and for that reason the pictures will be put on Monday evening, March 11 as well as Tuesday evening, March 12. Both of these exhibitions and talks will take place at 8:15 promptly and the charge is only 50 cents per person and you may bring as many guests as you desire.

JOHN HEYWARD FIELDS

John Heyward Fields of 79 Cross street died early last Sunday morning March 3, at the Winchester Hospital, following an operation for appendicitis which he underwent the previous Monday.

Mr. Fields was born in Princeton, N. C., 42 years ago and as a young man served for a time as a postal clerk at Mt. Olive, N. C. Coming north, he entered the regular Army and served two enlistments in the Coast Artillery, having been honorably discharged with the rank of corporal at Fort Warren about 15 years ago. Shortly after his discharge he came to Winchester and had since made his home here, first entering the employ of the Puffer Manufacturing Company and later being employed by the Boston & Maine Railroad as a brakeman. For the past six years he had been employed as a mechanic by the Ford Motor Company in Somerville. He was a member of Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows and of the Second Congregational Church.

Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Sadie Arline Fields of Winchester, are his father, John L. Fields of Princeton, N. C., two sisters and two brothers, all living in the south.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church. The Odd Fellows funeral ritual was exemplified by Carl E. Morse, Noble Grand of Waterfield Lodge, assisted by Franklin Pynn, chaplain; and Lee W. Ralph, Vice Grand. J. Albert Hersey, P. G.; George H. Hamilton, P. G.; Ralph W. Hatch, P. G.; Carl E. Morse, N. G.; Lee W. Ralph and Franklin Pynn, all members of Waterfield Lodge of Winchester, served as bearers. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

TIMOTHY CALLAHAN

Timothy Callahan, veteran railroad man and a widely known resident of Winchester, died Sunday afternoon, March 3, at his home on Clark street after a long illness. He was 66 years of age.

Mr. Callahan was a native of County Cork, Ireland, but as a young man came to this country, living first in Boston and later in Woburn, from which city he came to make his home in Winchester 25 years ago. For 41 years he had been in the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad, serving the company first in Lexington and then at Woburn.

During his entire residence in Winchester he was stationed as a crossing tender in the center, winning for himself a wide circle of acquaintances and friends. He was a member of the Railroad Veterans' Union and had retired from active duty at the crossing last July because of failing health.

On April 6, 1899, Mr. Callahan married Miss Elizabeth Lucey, who survives him with a daughter, Miss Lucey M. Callahan, and three sons, Andrew J., Timothy J. and Robert J. Callahan, all of Winchester. Two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy of Winchester and Mrs. Margaret Mulcahy, living in County Cork, Ireland, also survive him.

The funeral was held from the late residence on Wednesday morning with a solemn requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. John B. Murphy, Edward Murphy, Jeremiah C. Dolan, Clarence R. Chamberland, Howard F. Ambrose and Francis R. Murphy were bearers. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

EXHIBITION OF PHOTOGRAPHS

Being Held in Winchester Public Library From Feb. 26 to March 16

An exhibition of "The Prehistoric World" in photographs loaned by the Library Art Club is now being held in the Public Library from Feb. 26 to March 16.

"At the present time the interest in the ancient life of this earth is greater than ever before, and very considerable sums of money are being expended to dispatch carefully planned expeditions to various parts of the world to gather the fossil remains of the animals of the past. That this interest is not merely confined to a few scientific men, but is shared by the general public, is shown by the numerous articles in the columns of the daily papers."—Frederic A. Lucas.

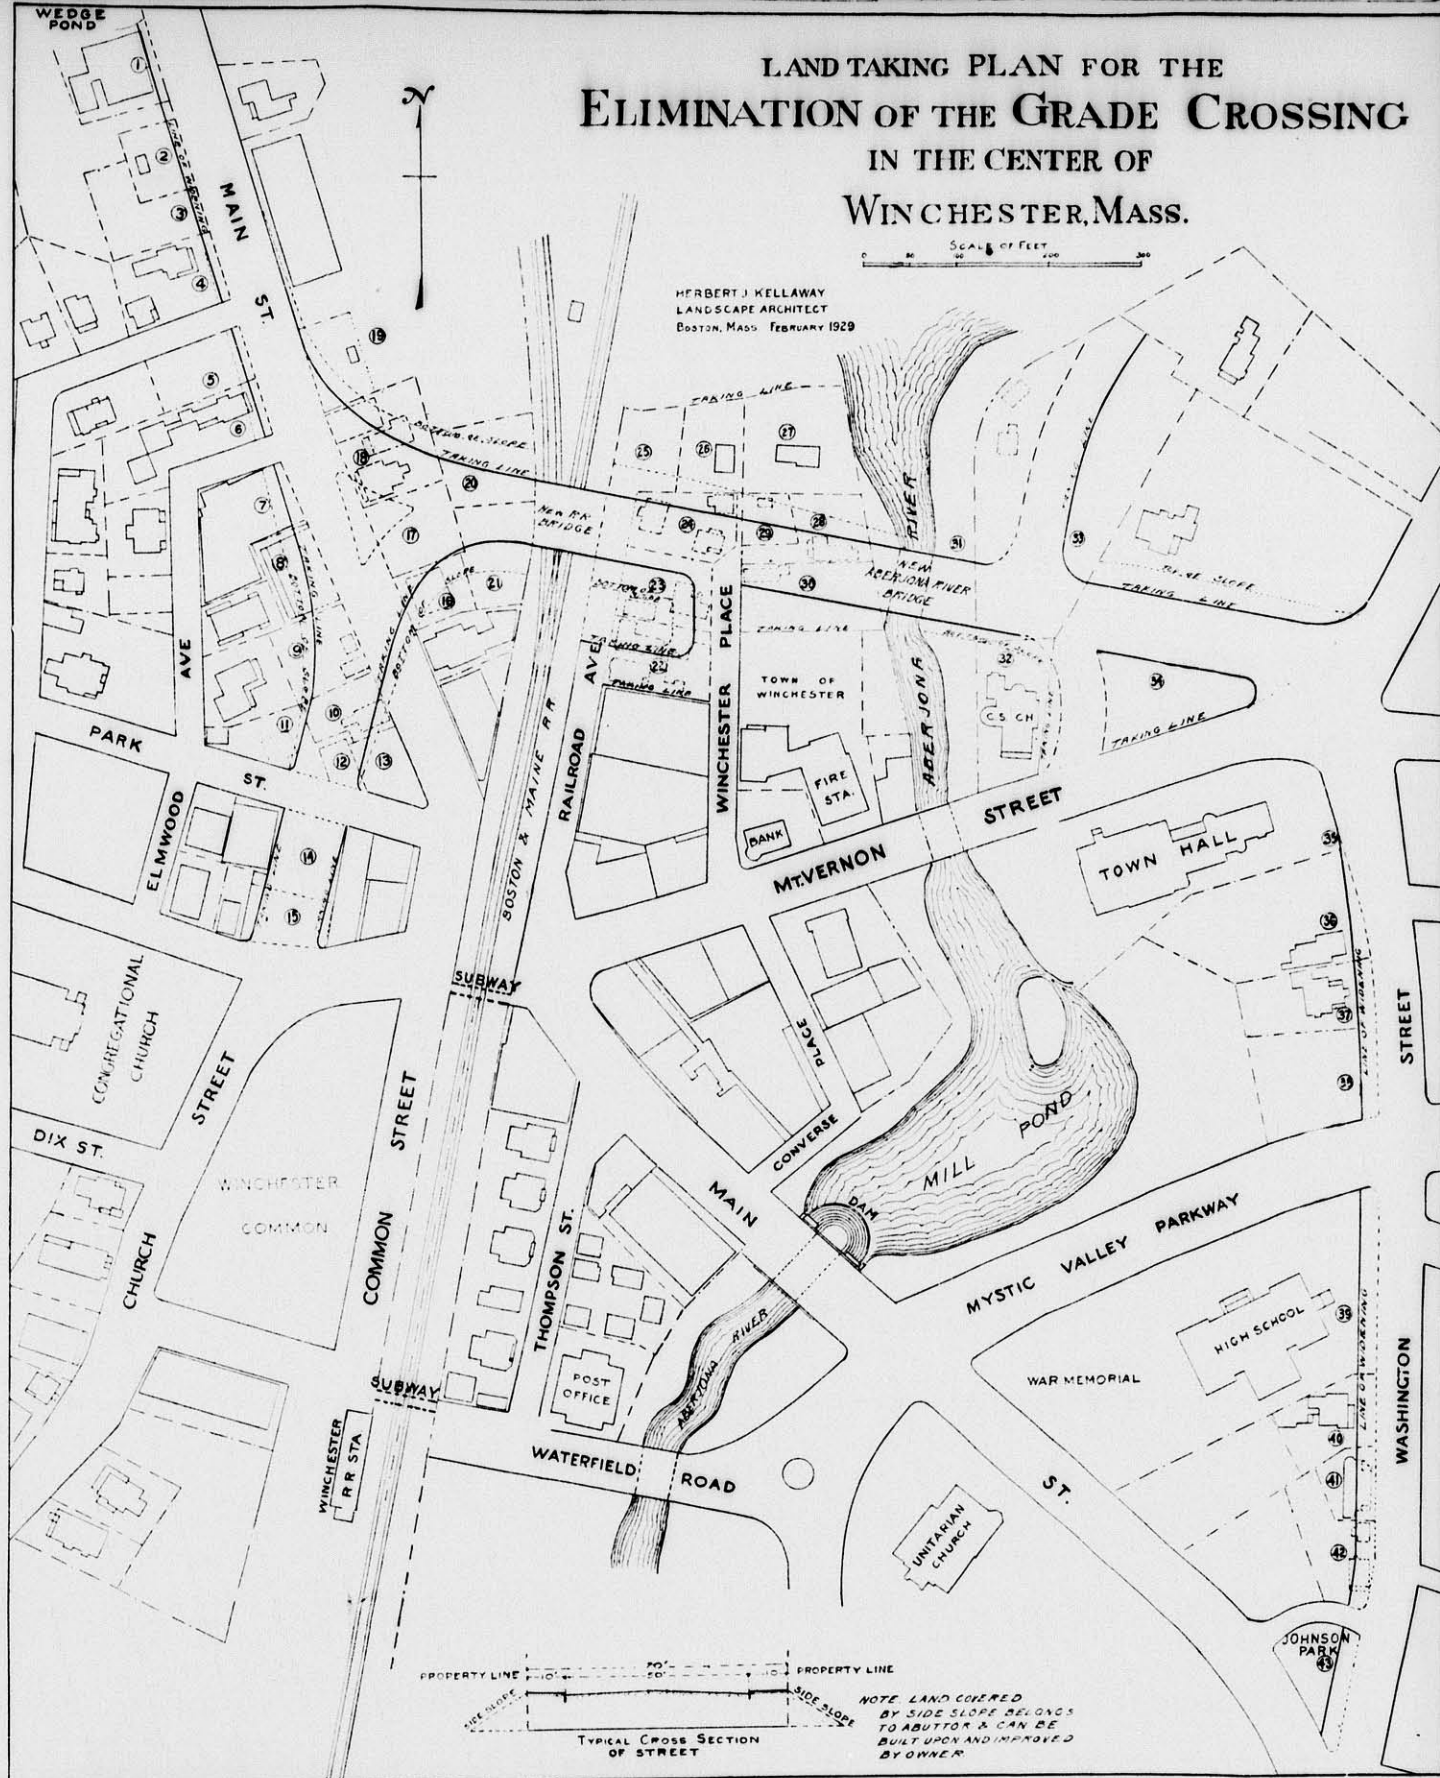

THE EMMIGRATION OF CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLES

About 3500 years ago Thothmes III, King of Egypt, reared himself a tall obelisk at the Temple of Heliopolis, six miles from present-day Cairo. New Yorkers interested in deciphering the cuneiform script covering the obelisk need not travel to Egypt for that purpose. Thothmes' royal monument, for almost 40 years, has raised its head in Central Park, New York City.

A companion obelisk also looks on another world than that of ancient Egypt from the Thames Embankment in London. It is the second obelisk of the pair erected in Heliopolis to commemorate the glory of the god, Amen-Ra.

Called Cleopatra's Needles, the title of Cleopatra's Needle is claimed for both the New York and London obelisks, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. During the lifetime of Cleopatra the two obelisks were moved from Heliopolis to Alexandria. It is affirmed that this removal was by Cleopatra's decree, but that the troublesome times during the latter years of her reign prevented their being raised. While they were lying on the Alexandrian sands, the name, Cleopatra's Needles, was said to have been given them. History does not record valid evidences of Cleopatra's interest in needles of stone or other material. It was during the reign of Augustus Caesar that the obelisks were finally mounted.

presented a novel problem because of its excessive weight. The obelisk was lowered to a wooden caisson in which it was floated to the dock and was placed in the steamship which carried it to America by opening a port in her bow. On its arrival it was transported by rail to Central Park where towers and trunnions were used in raising it. The London obelisk was removed from Egypt in 1880. It had been presented to King George IV by Mohammed Ali in 1819, but no effort was made to remove it for many years. Finally, it was encased in a steel cylinder and shipped to England in the obelisk ship, Cleopatra.

Europe Has Most Obelisks
Although Egypt is the home of the obelisk there are today more of these monuments outside Egypt than in it. The practice of denuding Egypt of her obelisks began during the sixth century B. C. when Ashurbanipal, the Assyrian, removed a pair to Nineveh. At present Egypt has four at Karnak, and also the Mataria and Luxor obelisks. Rome has 12 of various sizes. Constantinople has two and England, American and France each have one. The largest of these is in the piazza of St. John Lateran, at Rome. The material used in the obelisks is a pink granite from the quarries of Aswan, anciently Syene.

Obelisks have always exercised a fascination for the student of Egyptology. Archaeologists have yet to discover how the ancient Egyptians, ignorant of modern methods of transport, moved these huge blocks of granite hundreds of miles and then set them up in the midst of existing buildings.

Watermelon Long Known
According to Master Graves, the watermelon abounded in Massachusetts in 1629, only nine years after the landing of the Pilgrims. The Indians lost little time adding it to their list of cultivated plants. In 1604 the Florida tribes were cultivating it in their fields of maize, and nine years later Father Marquette found among the western tribes melons "which are excellent, especially those with a red seed." The tribes on the Colorado river were cultivating watermelons before the death of George Washington. It is easy to see how the watermelon spread so quickly to all parts of the American continent, because the seeds can easily be carried from place to place and planted, and because the Indians showed a fondness for the fruit from its first introduction.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"The Phantom City," Ken Maynard's latest Western is the current attraction at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. It presents an entirely new angle to western pictures, inasmuch as it is a combination mystery drama and western, with plenty of thrills and laughs. The town of Hornitas, near the Yosemite Valley, was the location used to make "The Phantom City." This town is one of the landmarks of Calaveras County, the locality of many of Bret Harte's stories. Aside from its unusual atmosphere and theme, "The Phantom City" is one of the fastest and most active pictures that Maynard has ever made.

"Red Wine" the feature picture coming to the Orpheum next week Monday for a three days run will primarily a whimsical yarn of life and heart interest is relieved of its solemnity by a golden thread of farcical humor running through the story. It is a sparkling comedy with a kick that gives an original story of modern life showing the fast country club set with both their indoor and outdoor sports. The second feature on this program is "Behind Closed Doors," an absorbing mystery drama, full of adventure, thrills, suspense, surprise and intrigue. There is an exceptionally fine cast headed by Virginia Valli and Gaston Glass.

Great Truth

An Altonna man tells this great truth: "If there is one time more than another when a woman should be left alone, it's when a line of clothes comes down in the mud."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Mary Dupree's Musical Follies and "The Rescue" starring Ronald Colman is the great program the big Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. For amusement value this is one of the finest programs the Granada has ever offered the theater going public. Marty Dupree's Follies, a company of 35 artists, is considered the best tab show in the country.

"The Rescue," the screen feature for the last half of this week is a Joseph Conrad story in which Ronald Colman plays the role of a titled Englishman who has taken to gun running in the Java Seas because he craves excitement.

"The Red Dance," in which Dolores Del Rio and Charles Farrell are co-starred, is to be the screen attraction at the Granada the first three days of next week. "The Red Dance" is splendid not only as entertainment, but as a vivid picture of revolutionary Russia. Miss Del Rio plays the role of the peasant girl Tasia, who becomes a leader of the revolutionists and later known as the "Red Dancer" of Moscow. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville will also be presented on the first three days of next week.

Our Hospital Business

According to the statistical computations the average American may expect to have occasion to enter a hospital for treatment once every twelve years, and the average head of the family pays $300 every three years for hospital service.

WOE AND GLADNESS

(Written for The Winchester Star)

There is a joyous tone that hideth
The bosom's secret strife,
There is a glad smile that hideth
The weariness of human life,
There is a youthful heart that breaketh,
Its veil of smiles beneath;
There is a weary woe that taketh
Its shade from Hope's own wreath,
There is a sunny cheek that falleth
But when no eye is near;
There is a radiant glance that veileth
The fount of many a tear,
There is a gleam of light that falleth
Upon the darkest way;
There is a gentle tone that calleth
The weary soul away,
Thus ever woe and gladness
Together dwell on earth,
And a darksome shade of sadness
Looks within the smile of mirth.

Cord Tire Manufacture

The Rubber Association of America says that a loom is used in the process of making cord tire. It is the last operation through which tire cord is put and, of course, it is to tie the cords together by means of filling threads in the form of a fabric so that the material can be handled in the calenders. Usually the filling threads are very light in construction in comparison with the warp cords and are spaced from 2½ to 6 to the inch.

CALUMET NOTES

The bowling dinner will take place on Wednesday, March 20 and the prizes will be given out.

Tomorrow evening we shall have Open House with the regular Saturday evening festivities of cards, bowling, pool, billiards, ping pong, etc., with the Saturday night lunch.

On next Tuesday afternoon, there will be bowling for the ladies and on next Friday at 8 p. m. there will be a mixed bridge with Mrs. Arthur Kelley as hostess. The usual dinner which we have had beforehand will be omitted this month.

The members are requested to save Tuesday evening, March 12, when Calumet will have a "stage" benefit. By this is meant that there will be movies and a nominal charge which will go towards the procuring of a new stage. Everyone who has tried to make a speech, chirp a song or do a hand spring thereon, knows how much a new stage is needed. Certainly a Calumet audience knows it. The old rasping creaks (not the Aberjona) can be missed and even forgotten at the joy which will come in the advent of a new under-pinning. Members are requested to put their shoulders to the wheel and invite their friends.

On Friday, March 22, the Entertainment Committee assures us that it will be the "season's finest evening." John Daniels and his company in "Tam O' Shanter" will be the attraction. Calumet has had this company before in other Scotch plays and we believe the Entertainment Committee is right in saying that it will be the finest. It is regretted that we could not have our new stage for this entertainment, as it was John Daniels last year who remarked about the difficulty in making his voice heard above the noise of the creaks.

There was a large attendance at the ladies' bowling party on Tuesday afternoon, notwithstanding the stormy weather. Mrs. Parish won the prize for the high single string with 102, and the second prize, for high string with handicap, was won by Mrs. F. R. Young with 96 and 17, making 113. Mrs. Lincoln got the high two-string total with 166 and Mrs. F. L. Pitman and Mrs. Simonds were tied for the high total with handicap. This will be rolled off at a later date.

Consider Now the Added Convenience

New evening rates for out-of-town telephone calls by number do more than save you money. They add convenience and efficiency to your service.

Formerly, day rates applied until 8:30 P. M. Evening rates now begin at 7:00 P. M. and continue until 8:30 P. M.

This hour-and-a-half in the early evening means much at both ends of your telephone line. It's a leisure hour.

In most households the evening meal is over, the evening's engagements still ahead. It's a convenient time to make social telephone calls. And you're likely to find the people you call at home.

Evening rates are substantially lower than day rates; but there are two things to remember. They apply only to station-to-station calls, best made by number. And they do not apply at short distances where the day rate is 35 cents or less.

Even at full day rates we have always had a considerable volume of out-of-town calls during the early evening. We are prepared to handle efficiently the increased business sure to come as the economy and convenience of this new evening service become better known.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY AFFORDED BY EVERYMAN'S CLASS

Everyman's Bible Class, beginning Sunday features a special series of talks on Everyman's Religion. The members wish to gain a better understanding and an appreciation of the other fellow's church and, therefore, have invited leading ministers and laymen to present the following timely topics: "Why I Am a Congregationalist?" "Why I Am a Methodist?" "Why I Am an Episcopalian?" "Why I Am a Unitarian?" "Why I Am a Roman Catholic?" and "Why I Am a Baptist?"

This series will begin Sunday morning at the Winchester Town Hall at 9:30 when Dr. Howard Chidley will speak on the question, "Why I Am a Congregationalist?" Doctor Chidley is known as the dean of the local clergy and his prominence in the affairs of Congregationalism eminently qualifies him to present the point of view of this New England faith to the Everyman's Bible Class.

This new feature of Everyman's Bible Class of the Baptist Church is already evoking favorable comment for its breadth of view and its liberal spirit, and a fine attendance of men is promised for each of the coming Sundays.

PAGE DIOGENES!

Honest Man Found at Last—He's a Motorist Too

Perhaps, on second thought, we better not arouse the well known gentleman who has been so widely press agented through the years because of having solicited the aid of a lantern in his rambling search for an honest man. Because after all he was looking for one of the masculine gender and the recent discovery may prove to be a lady. As a matter of fact we probably will never know, his of her identity, but if the party to which we refer could be located, Mr. Diogenes' search would be at an end for if the one in question is not honest, then no one is, or ever can be.

The Star learned of this honest individual through Town Treasurer, Harrie Y. Nutter who showed our correspondent a letter which had recently come to his office and which served in large measure to restore our wavering faith in human nature.

The communication was dated Feb. 28 and read as follows:

"Town Treasurer,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir,

Please accept this amount of 50c on account of damages made on town property while I was passing through Winchester recently.

I safely estimate the damages to be slight and I am sure this will cover it.

Thank You,
?"

The letter was unsigned and with it Doctor Nutter received 50c in coins in a pay envelope. A feverish check-up of possible damage to Town property had been unproductive of results as the Star went to press.

KATHARINE HALE DUN

On Sunday, March 3, Mrs. Henry Walke Dun, Jr., died of pneumonia after a ten days illness at her home in West Englewood, N. J. Mrs. Dun was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hale of this town. Services were held Tuesday afternoon at Christ Church, West Englewood. The burial was at Wildwood. Mrs. Dun, after two years at the Winchester High School, graduated from the Winsor School and then attended Vassar College. During the war she did secretarial work at the Massachusetts General Hospital and later, Red Cross work at Camp Devens.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Dun leaves three children, Harry Walke 3rd, aged 8; Eleanor Hale, aged 6 and James Kinsman, aged 3. Another daughter, Sarah Hazard, died on Oct. 29, 1927, at the age of 4. She also leaves a sister, Eleanor Hale of this town, and two brothers, Edward Kinsman Hale and Robert Heard Hale, both of New York.

The Wellesley Club of Winchester, Mrs. Ralph S. Vinal, president, presented Jackie Coogan in the motion picture "My Boy" on March 2 at the Lincoln School hall and at the Unitarian parish house. The proceeds from the two performances are to be given to the Student Aid fund at Wellesley College.

ALBERT A. SARGENT

Albert A. Sargent, a former resident of Winchester, died Tuesday, March 5, in Boston at the Hotel Brunswick at the age of 71 years.

Mr. Sargent was born in Boston and was graduated from the Somerville High School. Following his marriage he made his home for 25 years in Winchester on Prospect street. He was a member of the Calumet Club and will be remembered by many of the town's older residents.

He was at one time head of the firm of Sargent & Ham, carriage builders, of Chardon street in the West End of Boston, and was a member of the Boston City Club. For the past eight years Mr. Sargent had made his home during the winter months at the Hotel Brunswick going in the summer to his place in Cliftondale. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Clara Badger of Boston, by a daughter, Mrs. Edward L. Dyer of Washington, a sister, Miss Mary Sargent of Somerville and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held Thursday at noon in the Waterman Chapel on Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

WEDNESDAY ORGAN RECITAL AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

The organ recital at the Unitarian Church next Wednesday at 5 o'clock, will be given by Mr. Henry Gideon, organist and director of music at the Temple Israel. Miss Nelly Brown, soprano and Mrs. Hildegard Brandegee Livingstone, violinist will assist.

Mr. Gideon is widely known not only as a brilliant concert organist, but also as a lecturer on musical subjects. His program will be made up from the works of the following composers: Bach, Callaerts, Dubois, Dubussy and Stoughton.

The Fire Department was called at 1:35 p. m. Tuesday to put out a fire in a rubbish barrel in the cellar of the "Fireside Tea Room" owned by Mrs. Helen I. Fessenden and located at 45 Church street. There was no damage.

MISS VINSON NOSED OUT FOR SKATING CHAMPIONSHIP

Miss Maribel Vinson of this town, women's singles champion of the United States and one of the point winners for this country at the last Olympic games, was defeated by Miss Constance Wilson of the Toronto Skating Club of Canada in the final match for women in the North American figure skating championship competition, held Tuesday afternoon in the Boston Arena.

Miss Vinson was defeated by her diminutive Canadian rival only after the good sized gallery had been thrilled and held spellbound by the closeness of the competition and the marvelous skill displayed by both contestants. Miss Wilson's edge was by no means pronounced, but the judges accorded her a slight superiority over Miss Vinson in the prescribed figure division. In the matter of form and personality the Winchester girl was the popular favorite.

Paired with Thornton Coolidge, formerly of Boston and now of the Skating Club of New York, Miss Vinson placed third in the pair skating, finishing behind Mrs. Charles B. Blanchard and Nat W. Niles of Boston, veteran competitors. Miss Wilson paired with her brother, Montgomery Wilson, also of the Toronto Skating Club, to win the pair championship and Mr. Wilson succeeded in defeating the United States men's singles champion, Roger F. Turner, in the final match for the North American singles crown.

Once again the Canadian competitor's margin was slight, but evident. Frederick Goodridge of Cambridge and J. Lester Madden of Newton placed third and fourth respectively. Miss Suzanne Davis of Waban was third in the women's division. Miss Dorothy Weld and Richard L. Haggood, representing the Skating Club of Boston, were fourth in the pair skating.

THE WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester, was held in Association Hall, Wednesday, March 6 at 2:30 p. m. There was an attendance of 106 members and friends. Mrs. Gage, the vice-president presided. There was a short business meeting. Mrs. Gage announced that Mrs. Arthur Kelley and Mrs. Bradley had secured the famous film, "The King of Kings" and it would be presented under the auspices of the Republican Club in the Town Hall, Saturday, p. m. and evening at popular prices.

The speaker for the afternoon Mrs. Adolph Oscar Krumming of London England was introduced by Mr. William Orr. She gave a most unusual and interesting talk on her relief work in Russia and the Balkans, in connection with the Anglo-American Society of Friends. It was a rare privilege to hear about Mrs. Krumming's work and her personal adventures in Bulgaria and other countries. Tea was served at the close of the lecture under the direction of Mrs. DeRochmont and Mrs. Keepers. Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden and Mrs. M. H. Hintlian presided at the tea table.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

In all misfortunes the greatest consolation is a sympathizing friend.

Life is a grindstone, and whether it grinds a man down or polishes him up, depends on the material he is composed of.

It isn't what one knows more than another that makes the difference, but what one does with what he knows.

Resting on one's laurels
shouldn't mean leaning on them.

Usually we write with a bold hand whatever we wish the world to see.

The first election conducted by precincts is a thing of the past and upon those chosen as Town Meeting delegates rests a distinct responsibility.
These citizens have been selected to represent the town and to act for a great majority of the town's people who are no longer permitted to vote for themselves. The success or failure of our new form of government is in the hands of these Town Meeting delegates who have indicated a willingness to serve. Their presence at the several meetings is absolutely essential and it is the duty of every delegate to inform himself concerning the articles in the warrant to be decided upon so that he can cast his vote intelligently, not only for himself but for those whom he represents. The limited form of government is going to prove more costly than that under which Winchester has functioned in the past and unless the Town Meeting members realize and fulfill their obligations will not prove worth its added cost. Those elected to act for their fellow citizens can alone give us government which is truly representative. They have been chosen and it is now up to them.

Notwithstanding adverse reports,
the Kellaway Plan for the elimination of our grade crossing is creating a stir throughout this entire section.
Winchester people may be interested to know that this office has received many requests from landscape artists, engineers and institutions carrying these courses, for copies of the STAR containing his plans and data.
City planning boards are also deeply interested. The STAR is evidently not alone in its advocacy of the merits of this plan. Imagine bottling all the traffic which passes through our center on a bridge on the top of a hill only 100 feet wide! Imagine our beautiful playground and common down in a hole, to be reached only by a flight of stairs! Imagine our present retail stores all situated on the side hills of our main streets! What a contrast to have the trains pass through our center hidden by trees and shrubs; to stop one's car at a retail store free from congested traffic;
to pass across the center by an easy ramp beneath the tracks; to not only leave our fine playground and public buildings as they are, but to enrich their setting by facing them with a beautiful setting supplanting
the unsightly dumps now facing them on the north! Could anything be more desirable?

TO MR. MULLIN

The STAR prints in another column
a letter from Mr. Francis R. Mullin, member of a prominent Boston law firm and a resident of this town, questioning the assertion of this paper that the Kellaway Plan for the elimination of our grade crossing receives the "almost unanimous approval of the citizens of the Town." Mr. Mullin in general professes to believe that Winchester people are in danger of being stampeded into voting for the Kellaway Plan through published statements of the STAR and voices
his disapproval of the plan.

The STAR has stated repeatedly that it favors and advocates most emphatically the Kellaway Plan. From every viewpoint it appears to the STAR to be the most desirable solution of this vexing problem. The statement that it appears to receive the almost unanimous approval of the residents cannot of course mean anything else than such is the opinion of the STAR, based upon the information and observations it commands.
It makes the assertion solely upon this ground, and assumes that it is in a position to judge public opinion through its position in the community. Winchester people are surely intelligent enough to realize that any statement of preference on such a question could only be actually proven through a ballot vote—and might even be questioned then.

Surely again—the people of Winchester are far too intelligent to be stampeded into voting for the Kella-way or any other plan. This town ranks among the foremost of the State in rate of intelligence. Its people are well able to listen to facts and form their own opinions. As the STAR views the situation, there is far greater danger of a few gifted orators stampeding the new town meeting delegates by oratory on the floor of our coming town meeting into voting against the Kellaway Plan than there ever could be by this paper advocating it. When one reads a printed page the excitement is hardly stirred as by an impassioned speech, and there is plenty of time for sober
second thought.

The STAR has expected and anticipated insinuations of financial gain
in its advocacy of the Kellaway Plan.
This was well considered before it undertook to point out the superiority and advantages Mr. Kellaway offers.
It has seen this factor brought into our town affairs many times during its 49 years of existence, and takes much pride that never before has it been in position to be included in such an argument. It might retaliate, since Mr. Mullin represents many interests, but it feels that such argument has ever produced more bitterness and unfriendliness than allowing the insinuation to pass unquestioned. Someone may receive advantages by any plan, no matter which is selected, and the STAR,
through its central location, may well be much more favorably situated in other schemes for the elimination.

The STAR is glad if it may assist its readers and guide them in reaching an opinion on the crossing elimination. It has endeavored to do so by reciting the advantages of the Kella-way Plan. Any plan may be picked to pieces by an opponent and any plan may be subject to criticism.

The same may be said of estimated damage costs. If the estimate of the Kellaway Plan, based as it has been shown by the chart recently published, may be open to criticism, surely any other plan may be equally criticised!
and the more complicated the plan the greater room for criticism. The assessed valuation may be all wrong for a basis, but if so, the more valuable the property affected the greater chance for error in estimate. Surely our other plans are not based upon thin air and what someone guesses to be a fair figure?

The STAR feels that it will be a decided advantage to our merchants to have trucks and through traffic removed from our square. It is not alone but it does not state that every other merchant feels similarly. Answering the same point the STAR feels that while the merchants should have every consideration given their wishes, this grade crossing question is a matter for the whole town to decide, and if the patrons of these same stores decide to do their shopping in peace and quiet, without having their cars damaged or dodging trucks and what-not, they have a right to do so.

The STAR regrets that it stands opposite to the recommendations of our Selectmen. It has every respect for this fine body of men representing us, and knows that they are giving their best efforts to solving this problem. It does feel, likewise, that in this free and untrammelled country, it may inform and present to its readers its opinions and facts for their digest and guidance.

The STAR continues to advocate the Kellaway Plan for our crossing elimination.

MR. MULLIN OPPOSES PLAN

To the Editor of the Star:
I have read in recent issues of the Star a statement to the effect that the Kellaway Plan has "almost unanimous approval" of the citizens of the Town.

From the opinions that I have heard expressed from the number of people that I have talked with, I am led to ask you what the basis or foundation is for such a statement as that referred to. Naturally a great many people, for one reason or another,
may depend upon the views expressed in the Winchester Star to guide them in reaching an opinion in reference to the matter and are apt to be influenced by a statement such as I have above referred to.

It seems to me that a local newspaper, such as the Star enjoys the confidence of a great many people and the readers are inclined to rely to a large extent upon such published statements. Now plainly it would be a breach of trust and a breach of confidence to influence the people by such a statement unless the facts warranted such a statement. Would you kindly therefore enlighten your readers by telling us whether you refer to a majority of the people that you have talked to; or whether you are really in a position to state that you know for a fact that the majority of the people favor the Kellaway Plan;
and if so, how you happen to know this.

Of course, you will agree with me that the people should not be stampeded into voting for a plan, which the Star favors, by a representation to the effect that it is the popular plan,
and that it has practically the "unanimous" approval of the voters of the Town.

The people should not be led to believe that the estimated cost submitted and published in the Star in support of the Kellaway Plan is not open to very serious criticism. I have been informed by people, who I feel are competent to judge, that the figures for doing the work necessary are unreasonably low, and far from accurate.

As one having had considerable experience in land damage cases, I do not hesitate to criticize that part of the estimated cost dealing with land damage as misleading to the people of the Town, to represent that land damages could be settled, or the amount of the damages fixed by a jury on a basis of the assessed value.
I would appreciate it, if whoever is responsible for that part of the estimated cost would furnish us with any precedents in the form of settlements or verdicts of juries, where the amount given in damages was not in excess of the assessed value. Furthermore, as I examined the estimated cost, I noticed that there were elements of damages resulting from the taking of land, omitted from the estimate.

Finally, I submit that aside from the question that the Kellaway Plan costs more or less than other plans,
it should be rejected because it destroys the business center and would seriously effect the business interests of the merchants and people in the Town and whose money is invested in business in the center. It would be an inconvenience also to the people of the Town. Perhaps it might be less expensive for the Boston & Maine Railroad but that is no just reason why the tax payers of Winchester should adopt the plan.

The Kellaway Plan, if adopted, might leave the Star Building better located, but again, of course, that is no reason why the Kellaway Plan should be adopted, nor is it any reason why it should be favored by the Winchester Star, when the real and true interests of its readers and advertisers might be better served by the adoption of the Town Plan which,
after thorough, careful and absolutely impartial study and investigation has been recommended by the Board of Selectmen.

Yours truly,
Francis R. Mullin

PROPOSES CHANGE IN KELLA-WAY PLAN

To the Editor of the Star:

We are all bent on finding the best solution for the elimination of the grade crossing, the hindrance apparently being the complexity of the problem, which naturally leads to a multitude of differing ideas. Perhaps the prime fundamental to bear in mind is that we have here two birds
to kill with one stone if possible.

The railroad crossing is not the only disadvantageous feature of our center. That center itself is deplorable for traffic and will become worse in future years. It is not a square;
it is a star—or a hub with six spokes
of traffic plus one spoke of pedestrians coming from the trains. An auto approaching the center may be going into any one of five different streets, only one of which it can make without crossing traffic. It is not a formation of streets that should be perpetuated.

The strongest point for the Kella-way Plan is, to my mind, the fact that it untangles this swirl for all time.
What other proposition would do it?
The Vinal Plan might have, but there are obvious difficulties to the Vinal Plan now; and, besides, it lacks the development possibilities that are so rich in the Kellaway Plan.

A first impression, that the Kella-way Plan would be excessively disturbance to business in the center, is not borne out in a closer study of the possibilities. We are creatures of habit and will still trade at out favorite stores. Pedestrians will have the subway; and autoists habitually travel, not the nearest distance between two points, but the easiest distance.
It is no hardship to make a loop to one's destination. Especially if Railroad avenue could be continued straight up to the new highway, west side traffic could swing down upon Railroad avenue, and could go out Winchester place in returning, if ever future years should make one-way routing desirable. The east side could come west with equal ease.

Removing the trolleys from Mt.
Vernon street and Main street, southward, would be damaging and a severe inconvenience, but fortunately it seems unnecessary. Washington street from Main street to Mt. Vernon street does not need a trolley, and through traffic would certainly be thankful for a bit of road without one.

The new road, as planned, begins at the intersection of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets. It makes of that irregular square a five-rayed star.
Traffic would converge from five directions—which does not make for ease and safety. But it can be avoided with a gain in many ways—even in dollars and cents.

Consider the new roadway shown curving from Mt. Vernon street at a point opposite the western end of Town Hall around the eastern side of the Christian Science Church to the new highway. To avoid the five roads combination mentioned above, we could use this new road in front of Town Hall for the main approach to the new bridge highway. The approach instead of having its two sides parallel, could have its eastern side walk a great curve sweeping from a point shown in the Kellaway Plan as a southwest corner of the Skillings estate to the present Mt. Vernon street sidewalk at a point about opposite the eastern end of the Town Hall building. It would take only a triangular piece of land from the Skillings estate, leaving that property unharmed and with a very pleasing proportion to its grounds. With the corner of the Town Hall lot sliced off a bit for easement, traffic from Washington street, both north and south, would have an easy flow to the new bridge highway.

The spacious widening of roadway
in front of Town Hall would lend to that building a commanding dignity of position that it now lacks. Indeed, it would establish a civic center where such center should be. Likewise the Christian Science Church property would gain in importance. With the Wadleigh School and the new Baptist Church at the opposite end of the prospective Winchester would have here an especially pleasant grouping of public buildings.

Our two trolley lines could serve here. The Stoneham-Arlington cars could swing around the big curve and cut upon the new bridge highway.
Over that highway the Woburn-Medford cars could come, curving around
the Christian Science Church to the present tracks on Mt. Vernon street.
Merely a curve of track to connect Mt. Vernon street with Main street at the center would put the cars upon their accustomed way to Medford.
There would be a minimum of new tracks to be laid, and a maximum of service. A transfer station would be between the Christian Science Church property and the Skillings' estate.
From the four different sections of Winchester trolleys would come to the Town Hall, giving us a 100 per cent
service to that central point.

The Kellaway Plan will work many betterments for the town. Present and future citizens of Winchester will,
I feel sure, always find it a matter for congratulation if Winchester at this opportune time comes to a decision in its favor.

Sincerely yours,
Caroline S. Fitts

NOTE—The Star prints this letter from Mrs. Caroline S. Fitts relative to a plan for the grade crossing elimimitted Kellaway Plan. Her plan is not reproduced for the reason that the Star cannot go to the expense of having cuts made of all plans submitted.

In brief, she proposes that the new fire station shall enter Mt. Vernon

Hall, thus avoiding the larger taking of the Skillings property and the square with its five entering streets.
The electric cars running from Med-

by way of the new street to North

URGES WAIT FOR ARGUMENTS

To the Editor of the Star:

In your next issue you will undoubtedly call the attention of your readers to the Special Report of the Board of Selectmen on the Grade Crossing. This report, which has just been distributed throughout the town, is fair-minded and thorough,
and unquestionably deserves careful study by every voter. It contains not only a short review of the various attempts formerly made to abolish this crossing, but also an impartial discussion of the relative advantages and disadvantages of the various methods proposed, with engineers'
plans attached.

It contains also itemized estimates
by Chas. T. Main, Inc., Engineers, of the comparative costs of the plans.
That company, which holds the highest rank in its field, and which was wisely employed by the Board of Selectmen with funds appropriated by the Town for that purpose, finds that the cost of the Kellaway Plan greatly exceeds that of either of the other two principal plans proposed; and the schedules of items by which it reaches that result are attached to the report.

May I therefore strongly urge the voters to reserve judgment as to this important matter until they have read this special report of the Selectmen and heard the arguments to be made on the various plans at the Town Meeting.

Chairman, Finance Committee

MR. KELLAWAY REPLIES

Since that issue the Board of Selectmen have brought out the above mentioned report which you so kindly sent me to look over. I find this report is very informative, especially about the various plans that had a similar location for the railroad bridge to the so-called Kellaway Plan. This was all news to me. Evidently the Braddock Plan and the Symmes Plan, which were mere suggestions, all crossed the railroad at about the same point. Mr. Seeley, a townsman, called upon me a few days ago and showed me a plan of his own with a similar location for the railroad bridge.

On page 3 of the Selectmen's Report reference is made to a Committee of 15 for the Stone Arch Bridge Plan. This committee evidently did not favor the Town Plan as it was one of three considered but not recommended.

Again on page three the report refers to a Committee of Five with Maurice F. Brown as head of that committee, which made the following statement in their report dated June 27, 1911:

"It is probably true that the Town can have any plan for abolishing this crossing that it may elect by merely accepting the provision of the Special Act allowing it to assume more than its 10 per cent maximum, then agreeing to shoulder the balance beyond the Commission's idea of reasonable cost; provided however, that the plan so favored does not interfere unduly with established grades of the railroad. That the town must accept the Act mentioned in order to get either the Guild (Town Plan) or the Redfern Plan is hardly open to doubt; but the mere fact that the Town did vote to accept the Guild Plan in 1907 and have failed subsequently in getting a decree from the Commission in its favor should prove to be evidence enough to convince the most skeptical.

"Admitting the foregoing and saying only at this time that your Commission is not disposed to recommend that the Town shall accept the provisions of the Act above referred to it is clear at once that the Guild (Town Plan) and Redfern Plans are removed from the necessity of further consideration by your Committee on account of their excessive cost."

"It appears to your Committee that if the Town Plan is so much more desirable than any plan the Special Commission deems reasonable that the town is willing to assume the excess in cost thereover, amounting to about $200,000; then the Town Plan is strong enough to plead its own cause and should be decreed on its merits. Conversely, if the Town Plan has no such apparent superiority then the Town is not warranted in entering into the $200,000 obligation necessary to its execution; and certainly would otherwise have no chance of having it recommended by the Special Commission."

On page four of the Selectmen's Grade Crossing Report the following statement is made therein:

"The Commission on December, 1914, found that public convenience and necessity did not require so expensive an abolition as was suggested by the Town Plan."

Apparently the Town Plan was never favored by the Public Service Commission and never favored by the railroad, whose wishes in the matter must be given some consideration as they are to pay one-half or more of the cost.

I am not a citizen of Winchester. I have never been in the employ of the Board of Selectmen. It would appear that in making the gratuitous contribution to the Waterways Report I have unintentionally crossed the trail of some person or persons who seem to feel that nothing but the Town Plan will answer—no matter how many committees or how many able engineers declare it to be impractical, expensive, and likely to leave in its wake a long list of damage claims which would be difficult to estimate in advance. The Selectmen's Report closes by saying that they emphatically prefer my plan least of all of those heretofore considered, and ask for $15,000 to continue the struggle commenced some twenty or more years ago for the Town's Plan. This seems unnecessary, as co-operation, not strife, is needed to carry on any such improvement.

When Mr. Seeley called a few days ago he asked me who was to present my plan to the Town Meeting. I replied that I had no one and was primarily interested in the completion of the waterways. I cannot afford to engage an attorney to argue my plan because I am not concerned enough whether or not it is adopted, except for the advancement of the best interests of all. I will, however, take this opportunity to make a few comments upon the report as I read it. I trust you will reprint the map issued in the Star of Feb. 22 in order that the following comments may be readily understood:

2. The Boston & Maine Railroad land of half an acre is listed as $4125. This may have been an error in tabulation as the one-half acre is assessed for only $300.

3. In the list of construction costs an allowance for piling is made. This may be necessary upon investigation and boring, or may not. The sewer plan of the Metropolitan Commission shows hard gravel at the location of the Aberjona River bridge.

4. Filling under highway, etc.—42,400 cubic yards plus 14,000 cubic yards=56,400 cubic yards. The price allowed is $3.50 per cubic yard. This is an exorbitant price, as any good contractor will agree for such a free and open piece of work as outlined in the "Kellaway Plan," but it would probably be the price necessary to pay for the filling required upon the Town Plan in such difficult and contracted areas with the mingling of traffic and business during the work. If figured at $1.25 per cubic yard the saving would amount to $126,000. One dollar or less per cubic yard would be a reasonable cost for this kind of filling.

5. Temporary crossing at depot $20,000. This would not be needed as there is already an overhead bridge at the station.

6. Abandoning street car lines and new street car lines—$14,400 plus $29,300=$43,700. This may be necessary but it all depends upon the town agreement with the Street Railway Company as to repair of street and relocation of tracks. In Newton where I live I understand the railway pays this cost.

7. To analyze the Town Plan estimate may be quite illuminating. In the property affected, the plan is based upon an existing width of 60 feet as compared with a proposed width of 70 feet upon the "Kellaway Plan." If the Town Plan were made 70 feet in width the additional cost would be considerable.

8. No allowance is made for use and occupation charges while the construction is going on. Probably a good portion of a year's business would be affected, offering a chance for some expensive suits to be handled by some one who might make quite a goodly sum in fees.

9. The lowering of the track allowance is 4270 cubic yards which at 3 feet deep and 66 feet wide would give a distance of 600 lineal feet—as a matter of fact this lowering of the tracks would need to begin near Bacon street and probably continue to near Winchester Highlands upon the main line and to at least Swanton street upon the Woburn Branch. This cost would all be part of the change in grade crossing.

10. The cost of lowering the railroad tracks and rebalancing for a long distance has not been included. Quite a considerable sum.

11. Railroad Station. No cost has been included for the alteration necessary at the Railroad Station caused by lowering the grade in front. New retaining walls, steps, and platform would need to be built at additional cost.

12. If the rails are lowered 3 feet and possibly 4 feet the track would be about on the water level of Upper Aberjona River. This would necessitate taking down a portion of the beautiful dam at Main street, say 4 feet. No cost of this is included in the amount.

13. If the tracks are lowered the culverts over Aberjona River upon the main line and the Woburn Branch will need to be lowered. No cost of rebuilding these culverts is included in this amount.

14. If the water is lowered in the Aberjona River above the Mill Pond, a new dam will be needed at Wedge Pond to hold the water level as at present. No cost of this is given.

15. As stated in the report upon page 14—Mt. Vernon street should be widened on the North and the Selectmen would advise such widening if the Town Plan is adopted. No statement of cost is made for the town to pay as an additional amount contingent upon the grade crossing change.

16. Upon page 15 of the report a statement is made about the Skillings property, that it may not be worth much more on account of the land being above the street. With the new improvement I should expect to see the hill cut down, the filling sold or used in public work, say about the waterways, and the land brought to a level. This would enhance the value of the land for business purposes to equal any now existing in the town.

17. A good deal of space is given upon page 18, devoted to loss in future taxes and the capitalization of this loss as a part of the cost to the town. This is open to question to say the least.

Any non-resident realtor would say that property on both sides of a new 70 foot street, largely through vacant and relatively low-priced land, would increase tremendously in value, and further that if the street cars and heavy traffic were removed from Main street, allowing the pedestrians and autos to come freely to the stores along the street, even the value of this property might also increase. Likewise, Washington street would increase in value if widened on either side from Johnson Park to Mt. Vernon street.</

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

A group of Emerson College students known as the Shirley Girls will give a program consisting of a one-act play and various individual numbers at the regular meeting of the club on Monday, March 11 at 2:30 p. m. in the Town Hall. There will be a food sale before and after the meeting.

Dramatics Committee

A program of special interest to the club has been arranged by Mrs. Marguerite Loftus for dramatics afternoon on Friday, March 15 at 2:30 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. Two one-act plays are to be presented one of which "The Last of the Jones" was written by Mrs. Lura W. Watkins, a well-known member of the club. The other play, "The Rosenfelt Float" is the work of Mrs. David Wilcox, a member of the Friends of the Drama Club of Arlington. Tea will be served at the close of the program.

Literature Committee

The Literature Committee chose a most timely subject for its meeting on Inauguration Day, "The Political Novel in England and America."

Mrs. Blanche Barnard presented the subject and introduced the chairman for the afternoon, Mrs. Katherine D. F. Blood who was assisted by Miss Alice Shovelton and Mrs. Mabel B. Blank. In the brief time allowed them they covered the topic in masterly fashion.

Mrs. Blood gave her audience a delightful picture of Disraeli as the earliest writer of this type of novel. She briefly sketched his early life and struggle for education and recognition, then his final success and accomplishments. Even his early writings were clever, popular, and shrewd, and all pointed to social reforms, and toward solving problems of church and state. Outlines of five of these books were clearly given interspersed with interesting bits about the author himself.

Miss Shovelton, in a finished and scholarly manner contrasted the work of five prominent English writers and touched the high spots in their portrayal of character and their influence on English life and politics.

First, Anthony Trollope's contribution in six delightful volumes combining charming romance with vital questions of his day. Then George Eliot, who knew so well the sufferings of the poor, and through her novels attacked the evils which caused them. George Meredith was a liberal who showed aristocracy in a new light and stirred up much controversy by writings. Mrs. Humphrey Ward in two strong political novels touched vital questions and still thrills her readers with the truth of her message and the charm of her narration. Last, and best of the five, H. G. Wells was shown to be the strongest of all political novelists. Especially forceful is "The New Machiavelli" perhaps partly his own life story, which shows most clearly that no leader, unless fortified from within, can ever be truly great, that no political system can endure unless well rooted within, and that the vital training of youth must be control of body, mind and spirit.

Mrs. Mabel Blank recalled to her listeners the work of two of our outstanding American novelists, Winston Churchill in "Richard Carvel," "The Crisis," "Coniston" and "Mr. Creve's Career" has given a panorama of American History, picturing certain periods, and presenting particular problems in political and social life all interwoven with absorbing romance. Paul Leicester Ford's novel, "The Honorable Peter Sterling" is said to portray in part the life of Grover Cleveland. The hero, through living amidst the very poor and appreciating the serious problems of the masses, was willing to make great sacrifices to alleviate suffering and right the wrongs of the oppressed in New York City.

The afternoon was a treat and an inspiration.

FOR RHEUMATISM TAKE

BUXTON'S RHEUMATIC SPECIFIC

Gentlemen: I thought perhaps you would like to know why we are recommending your Specific. For six weeks I had been troubled with Rheumatism in my feet which were swollen badly, and for over a week I could not step on them. I had to use a chair to move around the room even after getting up from bed. Some kind friend must have sent you my name as I received a booklet. After reading the same I decided to give the Specific a trial. Before I had finished one bottle I was better. Your Specific has given me a complete cure.

Yours truly,

JOSEPH W. WORTHEN
Re-Elected, Selectman

WINCHESTER HAS FIRST ELECTION WITH PRECINCT VOTING

This year's election witnessed only two contests upon the ballot, for town officers, most of the interest centering about that for places upon the Board of Selectmen. Four of the Selectmen were candidates to succeed themselves and of the four three were successful. Harry W. Stevens, Joseph W. Worthen and Walter H. Dotten were returned to office, the defeat of Thomas F. Fallon coming as something of a surprise. The latter was defeated by two newcomers, Vincent P. Clarke and Harris S. Richardson, the last named receiving the second highest vote accorded a candidate for Selectman at the election. Mr. Clarke, after an exceptional showing a year ago, proved easily successful last Monday. Mr. Stevens, following a year's service with the Board, polled the highest vote for Selectman, receiving 1745.

WALTER H. DOTTEN
Re-Elected Selectman for Seventh Term

In the other contest upon the ballot, that for Constable, Chief of Police William R. McIntosh and Edward F. Maguire were returned to office with something to spare, but the other previous incumbent, Michael J. Foley, was given stern opposition by a new-comer, John M. Deloria, who polled within 62 votes of his more widely known adversary. Mr. Maguire with 2 votes more than Chief McIntosh was the winner of the individual contest for votes.

VINCENT P. CLARKE
Elected, Selectman

The distinction of receiving the greatest number of votes cast in the entire election was won by Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, who polled 2116 in running unopposed for the Board of Public Welfare. The veteran, George T. Davidson, running unopposed for the Park Board was second with one vote less than Miss Sullivan's total.

In the various precinct contests some close voting resulted, especially in the matter of selecting the candidates for one, two and three years. Several tie votes resulted and another ballot will be necessary to determine the length of time which the deadlocked members are to serve.

Town Engineer James Hinds and Harry W. Dotten, Superintendent of the Water Department, were tied for the honor of receiving the highest vote in precinct 1, each getting 278. Ex-Selectman James W. Blackham, with 331, carried off the honors in precinct 2, Richard Parkhurst, a member of the Board of Health, got 315 for high in precinct 3, ex-Selectman Arthur A. Kidder had 272 for the best showing in precinct 4, President George F. Arnold polled 286 for top honors in precinct 5 and George W. Kitchen was a double winner, his 338 giving him a win in precinct 6 and also the distinction of polling the high vote accorded a precinct candidate in the election.

CONCERT BY NATIONAL ASSOCIATED STUDIOS OF MUSIC

Another delightful concert was presented at Waterfield Hall on Wednesday evening by the Winchester branch of the National Associated Studios of Music.

Mrs. Pearl Bates Morton, local director of the Associated Studios was one of the feature artists and delighted her audience with a beautifully rendered program.

Mr. Hans Ebell, eminent Russian pianist, always popular in Winchester was received most enthusiastically when he played two Liszt solos and Chopin's "Ballade" for an encore, his selection was the well known "Minute Waltz."

Miss Helen Merrill, danseuse, in attractive costumes assisted with dance numbers, a Spanish dance to Espana and a Waltz, Bluetie by Drigo.

A Trumpet solo "Evening Star" by Wagner was beautifully rendered by Mr. F. Sidney Walls with orchestra accompaniment.

The Association's Concert Orchestra of 15 pieces opened the program with the overture "Oberon" by Weber. Mr. Ebell conducted and his interpretation was interesting and the number brilliantly played by the orchestra. The "Coronation March" by Meyerbeer an old favorite was also pleasing.

Mrs. Morton's first group of soprano solos with orchestra accompaniment were popular favorites, the audience particularly enjoying "Rim-pianto," the familiar "Serenade" by Toselli. Her second group of nicely contrasted songs were beautifully rendered with insight into the spirit and mood of each number. Especially delightful was "Tes Yeux" of Rabey.

The program closed with the orchestra playing "Finlandia" by Sibelius a difficult number but most creditably done.

Mrs. Morton's patronesses were as follows:

Mrs. Christopher Billman
Mrs. Elwell R. Butterworth
Mrs. Burton L. Gale
Mrs. Albert Haskell

FIRST SESSION OF TOWN MEETING HELD

Raise in Police Salaries Voted—More Than $800,000 Appropriated

Winchester held its first town meeting under the new representative form of government on Wednesday evening in the Town Hall. Aside from a good attendance of town meeting delegates who occupied a specially reserved section of seats in the front of the hall there were relatively few present, the total attendance being estimated at less than 500 which is small for a town meeting "first night."

According to the checkers 201 town meeting members were present with 100 needed for a quorum. The meeting was orderly with none of the confusion which some predicted the new order of procedure would bring forth. Robert H. Sullivan, veteran election official, with William Eben Ramsdell, Warden of Precinct 3, were at the door and the police escort included Patrolmen Edward O'Connell, James Donaghey, John Noonan and James Farrell. Town meeting members were admitted to their section of the hall by ticket.

Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson first swore in Moderator George B. Hayward who in turn swore in such town officers as had not previously taken oath. The town meeting members were not sworn.

Mr. Hayward explained the new form of government at length and ruled that the meeting would employ the procedure in use during past years insofar as it proved applicable to meetings under the new form.

The meeting was opened at 7:55 with the customary reading of the warrant. The reports of the town officers and finance committee were accepted and placed on file and under Article 2 $65,372 was appropriated to meet the payment of town bonds and notes, the amount to be taken from the excess and deficiency fund. Under Article 3 $593,710 was voted to pay expenses incurred during the year 1928 under several headings and the meeting then moved to the consideration of Article 4, relating to town expenses.

On the whole the delegates showed a marked tendency to abide by the decisions of the Finance Committee with relation to appropriations for various expenditures and it was evident from the start that the Finance Committee was in an economical frame of mind. Chairman Harris S. Richardson, who chose to remain with his committee until after the town meeting despite his recent election to the Board of Selectmen, announced early in the evening that should the meeting choose to accept the finance committee's recommendations the tax rate would be $26.81 and evidently the reduction sounded sweetly in the voters' ears.

The first brush of the evening took place when Harry T. Winn, chairman of the Board of Assessors, entered the lists to ask an increase of $300 for the Assessors' clerk. Mr. Richardson opposed the raise and Mr. Winn's amendment to raise the Finance Committee's figures was lost.

So too was an amendment offered by Selectman Joseph W. Worthen, who attempted to secure a salary raise of $100 for the clerk in the Town Clerk's office. Once again Mr. Richardson led the opposition. Mr. Worthen was also unsuccessful in trying to obtain an increase of $100 for the rod man in the Engineering Department. Mr. Richardson arguing for the smaller amount.

It had been rumored that an attempt would be made to increase the appropriation for the Fire Department to include a salary raise for the firemen, but nothing materialized and the Finance Committee's figure was accepted without a murmur.

Under the article dealing with Parks and Playgrounds the Finance Committee announced that its original figures of $12,603 were not large enough to include new tennis courts at the Loring avenue playground and the amount was raised by the meeting to $14,603.

A slight brush took place when John Carr of the Finance Committee advocated the cancelling of the town's policies under the Workmen's Compensation Law, the cancellation being opposed by Frank E. Rowe. The meeting supported Mr. Carr and voted $12,579.27 only for insurance premiums in accordance with the town meeting vote of 1927.

The nearest approach to fireworks produced during the meeting was when Mr. Worthen took the floor to champion a raise in pay for the members of the Police Department. He was seconded by Roland H. Sherman, Frederick S. Snyder and Nathan Thumim. Alexander S. MacDonald led the Finance Committee's opposition which seemed rather half-hearted and the meeting voted to raise the appropriation from the committee's figures, $44,025 to $45,505, making the average wage of the town's patrolmen $6 per day.

Thereafter the meeting moved along

WINCHESTER LEGIONAIRES HOSTS AT BOWLING DINNER

The annual dinner of the Middlesex County Bowling League was held Wednesday evening in Winchester at the Legion Headquarters on Washington street. WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

We are at the threshold of spring, a season particularly typical of the principals for which Rotary stands; a season when the blood tingles with renewed vigor and the spirit of youth is abroad, a season no doubt when the first poet first saw light and when, alas, others with poetical aspirations are abroad in the land; a season ushered in with tender memories of that Saint beloved of all, and especially dear to loyal sons of Erin.

We have been moved to this vernal effusion by reason of the appearance on our table of a marvelous bouquet of carnations which exhibited a most ravishing hue of green. Our first feeling of intense admiration being succeeded by one of curiosity, we queried George as to the derivation of this most exceptional species. George looked wise and doubtless he was, but absolute facts which we could secure for publication were meagre and tenuous. All of which did not bother Pat, who walked off with the carnations.

We had the pleasure of listening to an address by our fellow-townsmen J. Lawton Whitlock, on matters pertaining to insurance.

Mr. Whitlock has a well-nigh inexhaustible fund of knowledge about this subject, which has been a lifelong study with him; moreover he has an intelligible and convincing manner of presenting his facts which is very appealing.

His remarks dealt chiefly with automobile insurance and the attitude of the insurance companies on various measures which are subjects of legislation in this Commonwealth. Mr. Whitlock was particularly effective in handling questions from his audience and there is no doubt that the majority of our members spent a very profitable hour in listening to him.

At our next gathering spring will be here in fact. The meeting may or may not be as colorful as it was this week, but it surely will be worthwhile. We hope to greet all of our members on the 21st.

BISHOP SLATTERY IN WINCHESTER SUNDAY

The Rt. Rev. Charles Lewis Slattery, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Massachusetts, is to visit Winchester on Sunday morning when he will administer the rite of confirmation to the new communicants at the 11 o'clock service in the Church of the Epiphany. The opportunity to see and hear Bishop Slattery is eagerly sought throughout his diocese and the fact that he will be present at the regular Sunday morning service instead of in the evening as has been customary in the past should ensure a large congregation at the Epiphany.

BUSSES TO STONEHAM

The proposal of the Town to rebuild Forest street to the Stoneham line has resulted in the street railroad stating that it proposes to replace the electric running to Stoneham by busses. The electric cars will run as at present to the Forest street turn-out, but from that point the busses will carry passengers.

The proposition to rebuild Forest street, straightening the curves, etc., was too expensive for the street railway company. Winchester will be aided in the cost of the work by the County and State.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

We record with great satisfaction the passage of the Jones-Stalker bills, the measures which provide for higher penalties of the Volstead Act, for which the United States Government has asked over a period of several years.

Contrary to the impression one gets from reading some of the newspapers, the need for these higher penalties was presented by the Department of Justice and Treasury and not by the drys alone. Conservative Federal judges have declared there should be such penalties provided under the Federal prohibition law so that it would be unnecessary to proceed to secure convictions under the Conspiracy Act. Following is an excerpt from the report of the Senate Committee on the Jones' Bill:

"It will be observed that the maximum punishment for a first offense for the manufacture or sale of liquor is a fine of $1000 or imprisonment not exceeding six months. In the other cases, aside from the manufacture and sale, as prescribed, the penalty for the first offense is a fine not to exceed $500.

"These penalties are adequate where the commercial element is not present, but they are absolutely inadequate when applied to professional bootleggers and other large scale operators. This fact makes advisable an amendment to the Prohibition act.

"Such an amendment should not operate harshly upon the casual violator. Its object is to reach the professional, commercial operators, who profit financially by their criminal defiance of the law. This bill does not increase minimum penalties and, as amended, does not disturb the civil penalties nor the minimum penalties already prescribed for offenses subsequent to the first."

The maximum penalties which may be imposed, not mandatory, under the Jones-Stalker Bills are $10,000 fines and five-year terms in jail.

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, under whose division prohibition prosecutions are directed, is confident that the higher penalties will make possible more effective enforcement of the law.

The vote of the House on the Stalker Bill was considered a big victory for prohibition, the vote being 283 for the bill with only 90 against it.

JOSEPH W. WORTHEN

New Chairman of Board of Selectmen

Joseph W. Worthen of 46 Glen road is the new chairman of the Board of Selectmen, he having been elected to this important post by his colleagues at the first meeting of the Board last Monday evening in the Town Hall.

Mr. Worthen is especially well qualified to assume the duties of the chairmanship, combining a wide experience in town affairs, gained through his two years as Selectman and his previous experience as chairman of the Finance Committee, with unusual ability as a public speaker. He is a graduate of Dartmouth and of New College at Oxford and is a practicing attorney associated with the Boston law firm of Holmes & Worthen. He is vice president of the General Alumni Association of Dartmouth trustee of the Winchester Savings Bank and holds membership in William Parkman Lodge of Masons, Winchester Country Club, Boston Chamber of Commerce and University Club of Boston. He has made his home in Winchester for the past 10 years.

FREDERICK ORREN SNOW

Frederick Orren Snow, for many years a respected resident of Winchester, died Wednesday afternoon, March 13, at his home, 39 Forest street after a ten days' illness.

Mr. Snow was in his 87th year and was the son of Silas and Phoebe (Thatcher) Snow. He was born in Eaton, N. H., and spent his early life there, coming as a young man to East Boston where he remained until settling in Winchester in 1876. He was engaged in the manufacture of metal screens, maintaining for a time an establishment in Boston and later conducting his business in Winchester until forced by failing health to retire. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. W. S. Hatch, Miss Grace M. Snow and Miss Hattie E. Snow, and a son, Frederick O. Snow, Jr., all of Winchester. Eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive. Mr. Snow's wife who was Miss Harriet Hatch died about 25 years ago.

Funeral services will be held this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence and will be conducted by the Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, of which the deceased had been a member. Interment will be in Willwood Cemetery.

CALUMET NOTES

Tonight marks the closing of the "World's Series" roll-off of the three leading bowling teams in sections A and B of the Men's Winter Tournament. Teams 4 and 19 have clashed and 19 won out and took first prize honors, Team 4 being relegated to second place. In the match between Team 7 and 27, 27 won and thus took third prize with Team 7 taking fourth. Teams 2 and 25 will fight it out tonight for fifth and sixth prize. They have already rolled two matches and stand on even terms.

In the roll-off between Teams 1 and 5 for the privilege of paying for the bowling dinner, Team 5 won and Team 1 has, therefore, the privilege of settling the debt.

The bowling dinner will take place next Wednesday evening at 6:30 sharp. We are promised a fine layout with a good dinner and high class entertainment. The prizes will be awarded that night. We shall have as guests two teams sent down by our friends in Lexington from the old Belfry Club and they will be matched against two teams from Calumet's best.

The list has closed for the Men's Spring Tournament and the first matches will be rolled during the early part of the week of March 25. There are eight teams of five men each and each team will bowl one match a week. It is hoped in this way the tournament will end early in May.

WHAT WAS TO BE SAID

To the Editor of the Star:

At the first session of the annual Town Meeting held on Wednesday evening I arose to address the intelligent electorate present in regard to a small increase in wages for the police officers. I remained silent till every voter expressed his or her views, when I rose to speak, the debate was closed.

In order that the police officers and others would like to ascertain what your humble servant was going to assert, it is this:

The Police Department of the town of Winchester consists of a Chief, one Lieutenant, two Sergeants, 14 Patrolmen and 17 special police officers. Under the supervision of the Chief, the police department has in my opinion developed into one of the most efficient police departments in this Commonwealth during the past 25 years. Some of the most noted criminals in this country have paid a visit to Winchester to commit their depredations. They have all been captured, tried and convicted. They are at the present time guests of the warden at Charlestown State Prison serving terms from 5 to 25 years.

It seems to me that if we grant the increase that is requested it will have a tendency to create harmony and more efficiency in the department, and I trust that the voters assembled here tonight will prove to the chief and his department that we recognize the efficient service that has been rendered during the past 30 years under the supervision of the present chief of police, and we certainly expect at all times manly conduct of our police officers.

The above few words are what I intended to assert when the debate closed. Thanking your Mr. Editor for the above space.

Yours very truly,
Patrick H. Craughwell

Chairman Harris S. Richardson of the Finance Committee, Chairman Joseph W. Worth of the Selectmen and Chairman George T. Davidson of the Park Board were the speakers at the meeting held for town meeting members of Precinct 6 last Sunday afternoon in the Noonan School Hall. Mrs. E. C. McDonald presided.

It is reported about town that the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston and the Winchester Trust Company have completed negotiations for the purchase of the local institution by the Boston bank, the transfer to be officially consummated next week.

At 8:40 yesterday morning while turning from Main street into Lake street, a heavily loaded Mack truck crashed into the fence surrounding the building owned by G. W. Blanchard & Co. The accident was caused when the steering gear of the machine became jammed. The truck was owned by H. H. Maguire of Stoneham and driven by J. C. Strob of Everett. A large section of the fence was smashed as was the mail box at the corner of Main and Lake streets. The truck was only slightly damaged and no one was injured.

THE MUSIC GARDEN

The regular monthly meeting of the Music Garden was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Barnes on Wildwood street on Monday evening. It was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

This meeting was the first to take place under the direction of the officers recently elected for the coming year; it was an auspicious beginning. We particularly wish to congratulate the new program committee; it seems that they will be successful in maintaining the excellent standard established by their predecessors. It also appears that we are well on the road to the accomplishment of a long-cherished ambition, namely the foundation of a worth-while orchestra. Certainly our instrumentalists showed by the performances of Monday evening that they have done much work and the results are most encouraging. One has the feeling that they will carry on.

We were pleased to greet our new member, Miss Caroline Hill, on this occasion. Miss Hill favored us with a piano solo which assured us that she is to be a highly valued member of our circle.

WINCHESTER GIRLS DROPPED FINAL GAME

Winchester High School girls' basketball team, playing without two first string performers, lost its final game of the 1929 season Wednesday afternoon at Swampscott, being defeated by the Swampscott High girls 36-32.

As the score would indicate the locals put up a hard fight and led at the half, 18-13. Following the intermission the Winchester defense was less successful in its attempt to bottle up the Swampscott sharpshooters, Crosby and Whitney, the home team gradually drawing ahead. Captain "Ginnie" Merrill of Winchester was the individual star of the game, accounting for 25 points of her team's total, on nine floor goals and seven shots from free tries. Tiny "Dot" MacKenzie also played very effectively at side center.

Between the halves of the first team game the Swampscott seconds defeated the Winchester seconds, 42-22.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

On Wednesday last the executive board of the Winchester Mothers' Association held a tea for the teachers and mothers of Elementary Schools.

Mrs. Harrison Parker, who is a charter member of the association, opened her lovely home on Main street for this occasion. To her we owe much for the success of the afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Farnsworth, the president of the board, welcomed the guests. Each of the five schools was represented by teachers and mothers in goodly numbers, and the spirit of the afternoon was most cordial and friendly.

The committee in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. Hollis Nickerson, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Leon Hughes, Mrs. Royal Hallowell, Mrs. L. W. Blaisdell and Mrs. George Ledue. Mrs. Clifford Towner poured.

HAD SHOWER FOR MISS LEWIS

Miss Margaret Randall gave a miscellaneous shower last week Thursday evening at her home, 19 Everett road, in honor of Miss Edith Lewis of this town whose wedding to Mr. Ervin Tracy of Winchester is to take place this evening in the Ripley Memorial Chapel.

The shower was delightfully informal and took the form of a bridge with the cards "stacked" to ensure the winning of first prize by Miss Lewis. Her prize consisted of a collection of charming and useful gifts for use in her new home. Second prize was won by Miss Bertha Kelley.

Cut spring flowers made attractive table decorations and during the evening dainty refreshments were served. Several piano selections played by Mrs. Donald Heath added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

Mr. Charles H. Watkins notified the police shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday evening that his Chrysler sedan had been stolen from where he had left it parked in front of his residence at 2 Ridgely road. The authorities recovered the car in Somerville and returned it to Mr. Watkins.

RESULTS OF RECOUNT IN PRECINCT 1

Many Errors Found But Few Changes in Delegates Selected

The recount of the election for Town Meeting Members in Precinct 1, while disclosing many errors in the original tabulation of votes, failed to materially change the results announced in last week's issue of the Star. In losing 4 votes on the recount, John R. Russell of 32 Harvard street is now tied with Frederick W. Trombly of 18 Brookside avenue for the final place as delegate, Mr. Trombly having dropped five ballots. The other change placed T. Price Wilson of 6 Wilson street in the class of delegates for 3 years, replacing George W. Franklin of 7 Fairmount street, the latter's vote having dropped 3 while Mr. Wilson's vote gained 7. A meeting will now have to be called by the Town Clerk of the members of the Precinct to determine whether Mr. Russell or Mr. Trombly is to be the 33rd Town Meeting Delegate for the Precinct.

The complete result of the recount follows:

PHILATHEA CLASS PRESENTED
COMEDY

"Apple Blossom Time," a three act
comedy, was presented last Monday evening under the direction of Miss Edith Johnson in Lyceum Hall by the Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church. A capacity audience thoroughly enjoyed the screamingly funny production which was of the farce type, scant as to plot but rich in witty lines and humorous situations.

The action centered about the adventures of Betty Ann Stewart (Miss Eileen Rockwood) who mistook Bob Mathews (Clifford Mobbs) for her guardian, only to find in him an irresistible suitor.

An especially capable cast made the local production notable, each and every member contributing his or her bit to the general excellence. It might be well, however, to mention the clever comedy work of Ernest Butterworth as Cal Pickens, the village constable. He gave the audience many a laugh! Between the acts canny was sold under the direction of Miss Nellie Ralph who was assisted by Miss Eda Knowlton, Miss Esther Smith, Miss Almira Pierce
and Miss Virginia Egan. Radio entertainment was also provided by the Park Battery Station.

Proceeds from the show go to swell
the church building fund and it has been announced that the Philathea Class has been invited to put on the comedy April 2 in Woburn for the benefit of the Woburn Baptist Church.

The cast follows in order of appearance:

Polly Biddle, caretaker of Tad Forrest's home
Nancy Prescott, a pretty neighbor Edna Ralph Cal Pickens, the village constable Bernice Woodford
Charles Lawrence, a go-getter friend of Ernest Butterworth
Bob Matthews, an unwilling visitor to the Arnold Walker crossroads Clifford E. Mobbs
Betty Ann Stewart, a human little whirlwind Eileen Rockwood Malvina Kurtz, whose ambition is to have a Helen Nutter
beau Spauld McLosky, direct from Sunshine Valley Victor Gavel Mickey Maguire, also from Sunshine Valley Vernon Rockwood
Loretta Harris, the prettiest girl in the village Mildred Thomas Mrs. Forrest, the haughty sister-in-law of Tad Forrest Mary Stevens Annabel Springins, the village old maid Charlotte Browne Time, the present. The month of May.

lage of Benton.

LOCAL LEGION POST CONDUCT-ING INTENSIVE MEMBER-SHIP DRIVE

Winchester Post, 97, American Legion has launched an intensive membership drive which has as its objective the enrolling of every eligible World War veteran in the local organization. Comdr. Allan Wilde is exercising general supervision over the work of the campaign which is being carried out by the membership committee under the direction of Chairman Wade L. Grindle. Following is a copy of the letter which is being sent to 125 prospective Legionnaires living in Winchester.

Dear Comrade:

We know of your interest in those things in which the Legion is interested. Probably you have often thought that you should assume membership in this great national organization of ex-service men. By enclosing an application and an addressed return envelope, we are attempting to make it as easy as possible for you to signify your desire to stick with the Legion.

The cost of a year's membership in this Post is only $3.50 including your local, state and national dues and including a subscription to the American Legion monthly magazine, a fine readable magazine. Our local Post holds monthly meetings at which interesting programs are provided. We also, as you know, annually put on Memorial Day and Armistice Day programs and in this way remind ourselves and our fellow-townpeople of the sacrifices that have been made to make our nation what it is and reemphasize our duty to those wounded and suffering of our comrades who are less fortunate than ourselves and for whom the war will never be over.

You, Comrade, ought to be having a part in all this. Eligibility in the Legion is a precious privilege. Thousands who are not eligible to be with us would give much to be able to join

this great national organization,

membership in which is evidence of service to our country in time of war. Sign and returned the enclosed application blank in the envelope provided for your convenience and thus indicate your willingness to stand by the Winchester Post No. 97 of the American Legion.

Cordially yours,

W. Allan Wilde, Comdr.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Last Tuesday the Ladies' Friendly held their regular monthly meeting in the Unitarian Parish House. This was the occasion of their first luncheon in their new quarters and they celebrated with the entertainment at luncheon of guests from 24 neighboring branches of the General Alliance.
After the program these guests were taken on a tour of inspection of the whole church and parish house.

The executive board met at 11:30 followed by a spring luncheon at 1 o'clock which was served to 200 ladies. Metcalf Hall looked very gay with potted tulips at every table.
Mrs. Reed said grace in the absence of Mr. Reed. Mrs. Mansfield under whose direction the luncheon was arranged, was congratulated on her delicious luncheon and able management of the new equipment.

Mrs. Hildreth opened the meeting with a brief welcome to the guests.
Then the ladies were delighted to welcome back to this program Miss Sargent at the piano. Miss Sargent seemed to charm her listeners twice over first with her charming personality and again with her pleasant
music as follows:

My Joys Franz Liszt
Dancer in the Patio Charles Repper Dance Noire Cyril Scott
Alt. Wein Lodowski
Mrs. Malcolm Barrows, district director of the Alliance and also a member of the State Legislature brought the ladies a few words of greeting and explained the Founder's Fund of the General Alliance.

Mrs. Thomas G. Rees, regional vice president of the Alliance for New England and also district directors of Massachusetts Federated Women's Clubs, talked to the ladies on "The Road We Travel." It seems on the road she traveled to reach the Unitarian ladies that day, she pulled up at the Winchester Congregational parish house and she was full of praise for the kindness of those ladies in loaning her a machine to reach her Unitarian destination.

Mrs. Rees was extremely bright and witty as she described the changed conditions and the varied path we travel today. She hoped that all these modern inventions would not strip the world of moral growth. And she urged the ladies to touch life in all its points, to be awake to their political duties and have a wider circle of friendship which in the end would tend toward world peace.

And in their work she wanted them
to employ greater neighborliness, cheerfulness, team work and never to shrink from changes which might be an open door to better things, and to leave to the future something in addition to all the past has left to them.

NEW COMPANY SETTLES HERE

The Cheney Company of Melrose, a Massachusetts Corporation, has just purchased the two-story cement factory at 959 Main street, Winchester, and as soon as machinery can be installed will manufacture Cheney Interlocking Wall Flashing, which is one of the newest improvements in building construction, and which is a positive method of preventing moisture from seeping through parapet and other masonry walls.

The flashing, which is of copper, is built into the mortar joints of the brickwork in such a way that the bond is not broken or the wall weakened, and so as to prevent efflorescence which is so prevalent in present-day brick buildings.

Cheney Interlocking Wall Flashing has been adopted by practically all the important architects and engineers in New England, and is installed in the new North Station and Boston Garden, the new Sears Roebuck buildings at Boston and Cambridge,
as well as a great many other important buildings throughout New England.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Any man who dashes into the thorny tangle of life and tries to force his way through will get badly scratched.

What we actually are can be told by the shadow that follows us.

Trouble is just like a big bully, tackle it and it runs away, run from it and it will pursue you.

Foot prints on the sands of time are not made by sitting down.

The man who marks time seldom makes any other kind of marks.

The STAR finds many people who are much inclined to favor the changes introduced in the Kellaway Plan by Mrs. Caroline S. Fitts, outlined in her letter printed last week. Her plan shows much thought and a clear conception of the existing situation. According to our experts, any plan submitted may be subject to change in details, and Mrs. Fitts points out some very pertinent features which her suggestions remedy.

In view of the fact that other requests for salary raises were given such consideration, it seems a bit strange and rather unfair that the advance which members of the Fire Department were seeking should have been so utterly ignored by last Monday's town meeting. It was quite evident that the firemen themselves had taken no steps to secure a champion for their cause and the Selectmen evidently felt that the police had the prior claim to their particular support in opposition to the recommendations of the Finance Committee. We have no quarrel with the Selectmen's desire to recognize the service rendered by our Police Department, but why leave the firemen out in the cold?

Notice has been issued to the town meeting members of voting precinct No. 1 that a special meeting will be held on the evening of March 22 at the Washington School to fill a vacancy existing in the town meeting members body. At the recent recount of votes in this precinct a tie resulted between Frederick W. Trombly and John R. Russell for the 33rd place. As a result of this tie, a vacancy has been declared which the remaining members are requested to fill. The situation is peculiar, for if the meeting so wills neither of the two gentlemen in the tie may be elected, notwithstanding they were the chief choice of the electorate.

While it was to be expected with so many new election officials working at the polls that more than the usual number of errors would be made in tabulating the vote cast at the recent Town Election, it does seem that the recounts have shown the percentage of mistakes to be unusually high. The recount in Precinct 1 showed 154 errors in a total vote of 26,245 and that in Precinct 2, 144 in 21,257. Last night's recount in Precinct 6 showed 174 errors in a vote of 32,088, making in all 472 mistakes in counting, with no check-up in the remaining three precincts. This record will admit of much criticism.

We hope when the next session of Town Meeting takes place that the police officers who are obliged to remain in the Town Hall during the evening will be suitably clothed for their job. Just a glance at the patrolmen Wednesday night was enough to make even the casual observer break into a gentle perspiration. A hot hall is emphatically no place for a man to wear a heavy overcoat buttoned to the chin.

The membership drive now being conducted by Winchester Post, 97, American Legion should engage our interest even in the midst of the annual town meeting. A really representative organization of ex-service men can be a distinct asset to the community and we should all lend the Legionnaires our support in their efforts to enroll every eligible World War veteran in the local post. Despite a substantial growth in recent years, there are still, it seems, many men in Winchester who should hold Legion membership and to them the Post membership committee is making a strong appeal to "join up." It is hard to see why the average individual should need much urging. Winchester Post offers in return for nominal dues many opportunities for beneficial social contacts which alone ought to make membership desirable. It is a live organization. Its program for the observance of last Armistice Day demonstrated beyond a doubt, its ability to organize and successfully carry out any project which it may undertake. Possibilities for real service in civic affairs and especially in the great field of soldiers' aid and welfare work should attract to the Legion all those who would be identified with such worth-while interests. A high percentage of membership is absolutely necessary, if the Legion is to occupy the place which it should in this and other towns and cities. Its influence in future matters of importance will depend largely upon the numbers in its fold. Legion membership is a privilege not open to everyone. Only those who have worn the country's uniform in some capacity are eligible to enroll and the STAR believes that those who are not now members of Winchester's Post will decide upon mature reflection that they should belong.

KELLAWAY THE BEST

The STAR prints for the edification of its readers this week a sketch of our center as it is conceived by Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase after the Stone Arch Bridge has been built to eliminate our grade crossing. Mr. Chase's letter accompanies the sketch.

How this sketch was made is a mystery, for it certainly must have been drawn between two and three o'clock in the morning as only one automobile is passing beneath the bridge, and the street cars, trucks, autos and mud are only left to the imagination.

Having only the friendliest feelings towards Mr. Chase, the STAR hates to state that it considers this Stone Arch Bridge Plan positively the worst of the hundred and one schemes presented in eliminating this crossing. This plan, dividing our town through the center by a gravel embankment, was rejected in 1907 by the overwhelming vote of 202 to 5. It would give us a good view of B. & M. rolling stock but little else.

Winchester people should note two important features with regard to the Kellaway Plan, which the STAR advocates. The first is that this plan is the only scheme for the elimination yet put forth by an outside person holding no interest in Winchester other than a desire to beautify and assist it in solving the problem. He was not paid for the plan nor requested to make it. He worked from an entirely disinterested viewpoint other than that mentioned. The second point is that his plan so favorably impressed our Waterways Committee that it felt it should be incorporated in its report.

When the plan appeared it jumped instantly into popular favor. In fact it seemed so universally preferred that it was with great surprise that the STAR learned upon the issuance of the Selectmen's Report that that body had not only not been working for its presentation, but had condemned it.

Had the Selectmen favored the Kellaway Plan, the STAR does not hesitate to state that in its opinion this Town would have solidly voted it.

Under present conditions it appears that once more our Town is approaching chaos in voicing a united preference of any plan suggested. This is to be regretted. The STAR still feels, with apologies to Messrs. Mullin and Chase and the Selectmen, that the Kellaway Plan still holds the favor of the majority, and that if this plan is presented at Town Meeting, and if our representative delegates are not stampeded, it can be carried.

TO BE ABSOLUTELY EXACT

To the Editor of the Star:

In looking over the Star of March 8 I find that I have made an error in the figures given upon page 8 under note numbered 1. The F. H. Sargent listed is evidently the same person as shown in my list as Frank H. Sargent and shows partial damage. Not all the land is taken.

There is, however, a compensating amount in the Beacon Oil Company property as listed as damaged at $35,156 for the whole property, whereas it will be seen upon examination of the plan printed upon page 3 of the Star that only a small corner of the property is taken at an estimated damage in my list of $6753 leaving the rest of the building intact.

Yours very truly,
Herbert J. Kellaway
March 9, 1929.

ACCEPT KELLAWAY PLAN

To the Editor of the Star:

When the Kellaway Plans were distributed, I felt that at last we had a practical as well as artistic solution to our crossing problem. After a study of the splendid report of the Selectmen, it seemed as if either plan they approved might be satisfactory until, while waiting in the center, I tried to judge the height of that 17 foot bridge of the Town Plan.

If 17 feet could be measured and marked on each of the railroad gate arms with bright yellow, we could all tell how high that bridge would be. We could imagine all the buildings and streets raised accordingly and the Common about as it is now.

It seems as if the center would have the appearance of a village of miniature skyscrapers, with the Common below street level on three sides.

A sunken garden has a charm of its own, but it would be hard to imagine a sunken common that that would be attractive! Would it ever be used?

Then, too, the rush and roar of the trains, especially the fast ones in and out of the tunnel will be far more disturbing to one's nerves than a surface crossing. For this reason, the vibrations will be felt through the whole body at the same time that the pent-up noises of the tunnel will be heard through the ears. In other words people will get the full benefit of all the noise. It seems as if we should be in a cloud of cinders and dust a good part of the time.

If the Vinal Plan is considered we have only to look at the overhead bridge at the station and think of it as almost 20 times as wide with street approaches at each end. In that case Manchester Field will have the appearance of being sunken as well as the Common.

In the clause "D appearance," page 16, last paragraph of the report, it explains how through the Vinal Plan, the elimination of buildings on Thompson street would do away with back yards and necessary ash cans and rubbish. It would seem rather an expensive way of disposing of these necessary articles.

However, would not the dikes on both the Vinal and Town Plans act as a screen so that travelers on trains would not know what was there? Many of the really beautiful features of the center would have to be torn down and rebuilt.

Whatever solution we accept will mean a great expense. Surely it would be far more wise to spend the money on an unattractive portion of the center than in disturbing what is attractive already!

If the Town calls for widening Mt. Vernon street to Washington, why not widen Washington to Main streets instead?

I sincerely hope the Town will accept the Kellaway Plan, for when all that money is spent we shall have something of which we may be justly proud. Surely in the Kellaway Plan the railroad tracks might be lowered three feet if necessary for safety. Then with a good fence and right planting, the travelers on trains would know that this is an attractive Town in which to live.

Very sincerely,
Harriet C. Richardson

IT CERTAINLY IS THE TIME TO CLEAN UP WEDGE POND

By Thomas Dreier

Our creative thinkers whose job it is to develop plans for making Winchester more beautiful have worked out something for the improvement of Wedge Pond that has in it none of the features to which residents on the shores of the pond objected when a previous plan was shown to them.

In the previous plan there was a walk which ran along the shores of the pond and the residences. Such a walk would not only cost a great deal of money but would actually lessen the value of the real estate in certain places by robbing several homes of privacy.

The plan now offered calls for nothing more than the purchase of the land at the lower end, bounded by Main and Lake streets the demolition of the shacks now on that land, and the creation of a small park.

At the present time, on the Lake street side, the shore of the pond is little better than a dump. This end of the pond is a perfect breeding place for mosquitos. The buildings now on the Main street side are eyesores, fire traps, and certainly no advertisement of "Beautiful Winchester."

In its persuasive, convincing way, the Waterways Commission has been at work for months and has secured options on the property at prices that undoubtedly are lower than they ever will be again. One does not have to be a prophet, or the son of a prophet, to foretell an increase in property values on Main street.

My good friend, President E. M. Hopkins of Dartmouth College, sent me a copy of a speech he made to the undergraduates in which he said there was less need in this country for education for leadership than there was for education which would train men and women to appreciate the work of leaders.

To follow intelligently, to give deserved support, to be wise enough to recognize the wisdom of leaders in what the majority of us citizens of Winchester are called upon to do. Now certainly, is the time for us to manifest in no uncertain terms our approval of the unselfish, painstaking work done by those who have developed the plan which will result in the cleaning up and beautifying of Wedge Pond.

Never again will it be possible to do the job at such low cost. If the options on the land expire there is little question but that the property will be sold to private owners and new business buildings, (possibly some more gasoline stations) erected. This must be prevented.

Every citizen of Winchester gives thanks to those citizens whose labors in the public interests gave us Manchester Field as a substitute for what was there before. Those who opposed that development are forgotten. Doubtless those opponents themselves wish to forget the part they played as obstructionists.

We who have not played any part as creators of the plan can now share in the good work by giving the plan our whole-hearted support, so that the old buildings may be torn down and the little park enjoyed by all of us before another year slips by.

Every improvement made in the town, no matter where it is made, adds to the value of real estate in every other part of the town. Good work anywhere in the town rewards all citizens of the town. As citizens we are not dependent, not independent, but are interdependent. Here is an opportunity to play "Follow the Leader" which will result in good for all of us.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

With Ramon Navarro in "The Flying Fleet" as the screen feature and Babe Eagan and her Hollywood Red-heads as the stage headliner, the big Granada Theatre in Malden is certain to be the most popular place in this vicinity the last three days of this week. Ramon Navarro's new picture, "The Flying Fleet" is the biggest hit of his career. It is splendidly done and affords some of the best "air shots" that have yet been seen on the screen. Ramon Navarro gives a perfect portrayal. He is immense as the youth of ideals and shining courage. His two fellow aviators are portrayed by Ralph Graves and Eddie Nugent both favorites with screen fans. Anita Page, a little girl who is destined to become a big star, is the leading lady in the picture.

Babe Eagan's "Hollywood's Red-heads," a red hot jazz band composed of nine girls who live up to their billing, is one of the most popular stage orchestras in vaudeville. They come from California and have burned up the East on every appearance. This act is a whirlwind of rollicking mirth and rhythm.

Entertaining and amusing gags and bits of business are sprinkled liberally throughout the continuity of Adolphe Menjou's newest starring vehicle, "Marquis Preferred," which will be shown at the Granada the first three days of next week. The story of "Marquis Preferred" concerns a bankrupt nobleman who agrees to let his tailor, his valet and his chef find him a wealthy wife. Just as they accomplish this feat the Marquis falls in love with a penniless American girl and his efforts to reconcile his love with his promise make up the amusing theme. Nora Lane is Mr. Menjou's leading lady. Much of the comedy in the picture is furnished by Chester Conklin and Dot Farley. The regular five act bill of selected vaudeville at the Granada is headed by Jack Trainor & Co. in "Girl Wanted" will also be shown the first half of next week.

ORPHEUM THEATRE, MALDEN

"Sal of Singapore" featuring Phyllis Haver and Allen Hale is a maritime film story that is radically different from any sea story ever produced. The action for the greater part takes place aboard a tramp steamer in the Pacific. "Sal of Singapore" is packed with colorful dramatic scenes of tremendous interest and appeal. The second feature on this program at the Orpheum Theatre for today and tomorrow is the last chapter of "The Tiger's Shadow" the thrilling mystery serial featuring Hugh Allan and Gladys McConnell.

"The Baby Cyclone" featuring Lew Cody and Aileen Pringle will be the feature picture at the Orpheum for the first three days of next week. A dog, two love affairs and a hilarious collection of trials and tribulations are the enlivening features in "The Baby Cyclone" which has been adapted from George M. Cohan's famous stage play. "The Man from Headquarters" the second feature on this bill is a story centering around the activities of a secret service agent in the capital city of Washington. This gives a series of adventures that are tense and thrilling from the opening scenes to the dramatic climax. Cornelius Keefe and Edith Roberts play the leading roles with distinction.

To the Editor of the Star:

A few weeks ago I took the liberty of suggesting that the railroad tracks, over which there is much discussion, be either lowered to a virtual subway or elevated.

The excellent report on the grade crossing subject, issued by the Selectmen, I have studied with considerable care and I am more convinced than ever that none of the plans suggested, are for the best interests of the town, neither will the citizens accept any one of them.

Believing that could people visualize the way an elevated bridge over the square would look, that they would then consider this method of solving the problem, I have drawn such a structure across the square, looking from the corner of Church and Vine streets down toward Mt. Vernon and the results are shown in this issue of the Star.

A beautiful two arch concrete covered steel bridge would in my opinion, beautify the square and solve for all time the grade crossing menace. Where now arise a motley assemblage of barber pole gates, (when they are up) telephone and telegraph poles with all their unsightliness, we shall have a double archway where cars and people may pass at the will of the traffic officer, who would of course continue to guide an even increasing throng of motor cars and pedestrians.

That is not all, a fine arched bridge would allow Waterfield road to be extended over where the tracks now are and a new depot with easy graded ramps, would connect with the platforms on the track level above.

Below, Mystic avenue could be extended over the Aberjona, under an arched railroad bridge and into the Rangeley section thus increasing property values tremendously.

Bacon street would of course be thrown under the tracks at Wedgemere and just below the depot at the Aberjona, the proposed cut off of the Parkway could be planned for.

Now, this elevating of the tracks will not produce an unsightly partition of the town, for its concrete walls can be beautified by stucco on which ivy will be glad to grow. I can see this whole structure as a thing of utility and beauty.

It undoubtedly will cost more than any other plan but it will be worth tremendously more; it will not penalize any resident or property owner, as would any other plan suggested and as I said in the beginning, it will solve the whole problem for all time.

THE GREAT FLOOD OF 1855

March 12, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

In your paper of March 8, you tell of the great flood of Feb. 16, 1855 and at the close you say "In reading this story one must take into account that at the time referred to there was no dam at Mystic Lake, therefore the normal height of water was six feet lower than the level since the dam was built."

The fact is there was a dam not far below the railroad bridge which spanned the river, and just a few feet up stream from the present Parkway bridge. This dam made the water level several feet higher than it ever has been since. The dam was blown up and destroyed by the City of Charlestown in 1864.

Then we must remember that the river ran westerly just north of Bacon street to the line of the railroad, thence southerly by the railroad to the site of the present crossing bridge, which at that time was only a few feet above the water level. The course of the river at this point was obstructed by ice cakes, floating logs and other debris which of course, set the water level much higher.

We must remember also that the granite aqueduct was still in existence where the Middlesex Canal crossed the river, and it too, must have blocked the flow of the flood waters.

Very truly yours,
Samuel D. Symmes

EPIPHANY CHURCH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

On Saturday, March 9, the children of the church school of the Church of the Epiphany entertained their friends with a circus, side-shows, trained animals, acrobats, bareback riders, Indians, Japanese dancers, chariot race, lemonade ice cream and pop corn, clowns and ring-master each contributed a note of realism and added an amusing feature to the affair.

The large audience was responsive and enthusiastic and incidentally, helped the children to add a substantial amount to their Lenten Mite-Box offering.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Flanders of Lakeview road left Wednesday on the SS. France for a six weeks' trip on the Mediterranean.

THE exotic setting of Palm Beach—famed for its splendor, its display of wealth, and its sophisticated unimorality—forms the background of this brilliant story of love and adventure, through which flashes Lucy Harkness, known because of her unconventional and spectacular escapades as "Devil-May-Care." She is sought after for her beauty and riches, but far more for the wild and tameless spirit of her. Men battle for her, literally that—go out of their heads for love for her. One, a young lawyer—another a famous surgeon—another a blonde giant who kidnaps her on his yacht. And from the hectic hurly-burly of it all, Lucy Harkness emerges to find herself at heart an old-fashioned girl after all.

WINCHESTER BOY SCOUTS

This is the busy season for the winter activities of the Winchester Boy Scouts. Each of the five troops reports keen interest and competition on the part of the boys.

Arvard Walker of Woodside road has been appointed Assistant Troopmaster of Troop 2. During recent meetings of the troop Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Basil Burwell of Madison avenue west, who is adept with the foil, has instructed the Scouts in the use of that weapon.

At one of the recent meetings of the Troop, held at Scout Headquarters, the time was devoted to boxing, wrestling and fencing with Louis Goddu acted as boxing instructor. At a Troop officers' meeting of Troop 2 the following were present: Scoutmaster Victor S. Bridge, Burwell, Patrol Leader Wellington Stevens, and Patrol Leader Warren Harkness. The meeting was at the home of the Scoutmaster.

Sargent Hill, of Troop 3, recently passed his music merit badge. At the last meeting of the Troop each patrol put on a short skit. Messrs. Thwing, Grosvenor and Howard acted as judges and awarded first place to the patrol headed by Bob Barr.

The news from Troop 4 is that Walter Burns has passed several merit badge tests, Leonard Notemeyer has become a second class Scout, several new members are working hard and steady progress toward second class badges is being made by Scouts Hichborn, Doucette, Murphy, Oliverdoty and McCann. Bernard Gaffney claims he is going to finish his second class requirements within a few days.

Under the direction of William E. McDonald, Jr., chairman of the Troop committee, and Scoutmaster Frank P. Zaffina, Troop 5 had a frankfurter roast at Scout headquarters in the Fells recently.

Boys of the Troop, including Peter Doherty, Charlie Pabst, and John Flynn, are regularly taking part in the hikes and passing their merit badge tests. In the near future there will be a Troop 5 hike.

"Billy" Coty, Winchester's well-known soloist joined Major Bowes Capitol Theatre Family last week and made his initial radio appearance with that celebrated group on Sunday night. Many Winchester friends heard him and all agreed that his singing was a feature of the program which will prove an added attraction.

Bridgman, by unanimous vote of the judges, was awarded the $10 gold piece, offered by the President, Mrs. Marion P. Powers and received the honor due her for writing not only the words but also the music. Miss Bridgman, holding before the Club her vision for the Fortnightly, first read the song and then it was sung by a group of Fortnightly members accompanied by Miss Bridgman. The words follow:

Refrain
O Women of Winchester,
Yours the song we sing:
The Fortnightly is calling you,
Come under her broad wing.

Verse 1
Her banner cry is Progress
Through seed to root and flower;
Her lamp is lit for Service,
Her pathway leads to Power.

Refrain
Verse 2
Her step is marked with Music;
She gives her hand to Art,
And lofty aspirations
Uphold her noble heart.

Interesting and colorful reports of the mid-winter State Federation meeting were given by Mrs. Ada von Rosenvinge and Mrs. Lillian H. Ambler.

The "Shirley Girls" from Emerson College presented the varied program of the afternoon. Miss Hewitt and Miss Shirley gave an amusing skit, "Spring"; Miss Brown read, "In a Royal Garden"; Miss Krock sang, "Smilin' Through"; and "Trees." Other readings were, "Portrait of a Disciplinarian," "The Flower's Ball," "The Usual Way," and "Free." Parts were especially well taken in the last number, "No Men Wanted," a one act play. These young ladies are excellent in this form of entertainment.

A food sale in charge of Mrs. Alice S. Jenkins, second vice-president was held before and after the meeting. The committee wishes to thank all those who contributed to make the sale so successful.

MEETING OF PRECINCT 1

A meeting of the voters of Precinct 1 was held last Friday night in the auditorium of the Washington School on Highland avenue. Mr. William M. Titus, president of the association, presiding. There was an attendance of over 100, and Mr. Lewis Parkhurst of the Waterways Committee was present and outlined the plans his committee is desirous of putting through this year and in the future. Chairman Harris S. Richardson of the Finance Committee explained some of the findings of his committee in connection with certain articles in the Warrant, and Selectman Walter H. Dotten spoke on town affairs.

An interesting point brought out was the possible abandonment of the Stoneham car line in favor of busses, and there was a discussion of the advisability of placing a traffic sign at the junction of Washington and Swanton streets.

Following the discussion of town affairs, a vocal solo was rendered by Miss Jean MacLellan and hot coffee and sandwiches were served by the following committee:

Coffee
Mrs. Anna W. Lochman, Chairman
Mr. and Mrs. George A. Daley.
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Anderson.
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald K. Richardson.
Sandwiches
Mrs. Gertrude E. Scammon.
Mrs. Alice B. Winn.
Mrs. Lillian W. Snyder.
Mrs. Emily S. Bell.
Mrs. Ida M. Belichon.

FROM NINTH TO FOURTH PLACE IN SIX MONTHS!

What TWIN IGNITION Does

THE New Nash Twin-Ignition motor has two big aircraft spark plugs for each cylinder, instead of the ordinary single plug, as you can see in the simplified diagram above.

Both plugs fire simultaneously. The gas vapor is ignited at two points instead of the usual one. One effect is quicker combustion, which produces more power, more speed, much faster acceleration.

Another result is, more uniform com- bustion, which helps to create the very noticeable smoothness and rhythm of Nash motor performance.

And still another result of Twin Ignition is more efficient combustion, which prevents wasted fuel.

With Twin Ignition, instead of single ignition, higher compression is practical, and the same Nash motor produces 9½ more horsepower, 5 miles an hour more speed, and 2 extra miles from every gallon of gasoline you buy.

DEMONSTRATION TRUCK OF THE WHITE OAK COAL CO.

All the Way From West Virginia

Considerable interest has been aroused in the appearance in Winchester this week of the demonstration truck which has been touring through New England in the interest of the White Oak Coal Company of Macdonald, West Virginia. The truck made the trip North from its home office over the road and spent the past week in Stoneham, this week having been devoted to demonstrations in Winchester and Woburn.

The truck is in charge of Mr. Edward Shea of Arlington who is accompanied by Mr. T. M. Stickley, a representative of the White Oak Coal Company which has offices in Chicago, Detroit, New York, Indianapolis and Richmond as well as in Boston and Macdonald. The machine is equipped with a complete kitchen range tea kettle and all in which practical demonstrations of the burning qualities of White Oak Coal are convincingly made.

White Oak Coal according to its distributors, is "The Dependable Household Fuel," efficient because highest in heat value, economical because reasonable in price and convenient because low in ashes with no clinkers. White Oak is a low volatile coal which means of course a small quantity of smoke, resulting in greater cleanliness.

Although the demonstration truck is in this district to interest householders in White Oak Coal it is also concerned with showing prospective customers and those who have been burning this coal the proven methods for obtaining the best results in heater and range.

White Oak Coal, "The Dependable Household Fuel," is distributed in and about Winchester by the local firm of J. F. Winn & Co., members of which have been co-operating in the demonstrations here.

NOTICE

Householders Warned of Fake Salesman

The Star has been requested by Chief of Police William R. McIntosh to warn its readers of the activities of a man who has been operating throughout this district as a salesman of silk stockings and sweaters. He represents himself as an agent of the Fasheen Mills of East Boston and has given his name as Harry Stone of 19 Parker street, Everett. He has also used the names Harry Parker and Harry Johnson.

The man is not in the employ of the Fasheen Company but is an impostor his usual procedure being to take orders for silk stockings or other merchandise, collect the money with the assurance that the goods will be delivered. There is of course no delivery and already the authorities here have been notified of one case of a Winchester woman having been swindled. The man is wanted by the police in many cities and towns in Massachusetts and out of State. He is described as about 38 years of age, 5 ft. 10½ in. in height, weight 160 pounds, blonde hair, salt weight 160 pounds, wearing a checked low complexion, wearing a checked suit and overcoat or blue chincilla overcoat and soft hat. He carries a sample case and order blanks and has the general air of an experienced salesman.

Householders are asked to report any salesman answering to this description, or other about the identity of whom they are in doubt to the police at once.

Massachusetts is honored in having resident within its bounds the honorary president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Robert R. Cotten of Farmville, N. C. According to the North Carolina Bulletin Mrs. Cotten recently closed her home at Cottenale and is living with her daughter Mrs. Wiggins of 7 Ridgely road, Winchester. Mrs. Cotten is over 80 years of age.

RHEUMATISM BANISHED BY BUXTON'S RHEUMATIC SPECIFIC

Dear Mr. Buxton: I wish to say a few words of praise for your Rheumatic Specific. My wife and I both had Rheumatism in arms and shoulders and suffered a great deal of pain. Your Specific banished it entirely and every twinge disappeared. My friends to whom I have recommended the Specific received the same good results. I think that Buxton's Specific is a wonderful Rheumatic Medicine and a fine tonic as well. You may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish.

Sincerely yours,

With Pyrofax, every home in this territory, no matter where, can have a tried and proved cooking service with real gas and a genuine gas range

Thirty years' experience developed the nationally successful Pyrofax system

WHAT a difference Pyrofax Gas Service will make in a home that does not have city gas service. When you use Pyrofax, you can have any kind of handsome modern gas range you like in the kitchen. Pyrofax is real gas. Not gasoline, or carbide, or kerosene, or any other liquid fuel. Genuine gas stored in large steel cylinders and brought directly to your home. Each cylinder contains two to three months' gas supply for the average family.

Once you see its bright, hot, blue flame come instantly to your service at the turn of a gas cock, then you will realize what a perfect fuel Pyrofax is. No delays. No inconveniences. And above all, no odors and no overheated cooking quarters. Pyrofax burns with a clean, sootless flame—one that is easily controlled to give the very best results in cooking. No smudged pots and pans. No odors. Clean, hot gas.

Is it any wonder that hundreds of country and suburban housewives—and husbands—write us with voluntary enthusiasm about their discovery of Pyrofax? For example, from Ohio comes this comment: "I want to thank you for putting on the market a product like Pyrofax that makes life so much more enjoyable." From New York: "I am very proud of my gas range and have called in all the neighbors to show them my comfort." From Michigan: "I can't say enough about Pyrofax Gas. I think it is wonderful." From Minnesota: "I find Pyrofax Gas very good, very hot and clean." From New Jersey: "My range is so easy to operate and the oven is a joy to use. Since installing Pyrofax I never have a burned cake or pie."

This sign identifies the Pyrofax dealer in your vicinity.

Pyrofax is a product of one of America's largest manufacturers—the world's largest producer of compressed gases.

You can have the utmost confidence in the quality of Pyrofax and in the highest possible standard of service to users. A small down payment is sufficient to have Pyrofax Gas Service and a handsome range installed in your home immediately. Convenient terms are arranged to distribute the cost over a year, if you like. Pyrofax equipment, including the gas range of your choice and complete installation, is surprisingly low priced.

Everyone who lives beyond the reach of city mains should know about Pyrofax—how easily and quickly it is installed and how convenient it is to use. Visit our showrooms or telephone for a demonstration in your own home.

Why Pyrofax is so successful

Pyrofax is a product of the world's largest manufacturer of compressed gases—a national organization with 30 years' experience in this special field.

Pyrofax has been on the market for years—it has thousands and thousands of enthusiastic users. The national success of Pyrofax is due to the superior quality of the product and to the fool-proof, reserve cylinder system which makes certain that a Pyrofax customer does not run out of gas.

ARE IN BOSTON AFTER BRIEF BRIDAL JOURNEY ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Blount Ralls, the latter formerly Miss Helen Elizabeth Sanborn of Boston, have just returned from their brief wedding journey abroad, on which they started immediately after their marriage on Feb. 8 in New York City, where the ceremony took place in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church.

Immediately after the wedding Mr. Ralls and his bride sailed on the White Star Line steamer, Majestic, for Europe. They have just returned in the Cunard Line steamer Berengaria. Mrs. Ralls is the daughter of Mrs. Oren Cheney Sanborn of Boston, at whose home at 101 Chestnut street, Mr. and Mrs. Ralls are present guests. While abroad, they visited Naples, Rome, Florence, Vienna and Paris, among other places.

Mr. Ralls, who is a Southerner, is a member of a New York law firm having important interests in Mexico City, where he will represent his firm, for a large part of the year, dividing his interests between that city and New York. He and his bride will go to Mexico City as soon as the present political troubles there become settled.

SIX FIRES OVER WEEK-END

The coming of spring has already resulted in increased activity on the part of the Fire Department, members of which made six runs to various parts of the town over the past week-end.

Friday evening at 8:15 the department was called to put out a chimney fire at the home of Mr. A. A. Kidder on Everett avenue. Saturday afternoon at 2:50 there was a grass fire on Woodside road and shortly after 4 o'clock Engine 1 and the Chief's car made a hurried trip to the office of Dr. Chester Wolfe in the National Bank Building. In the latter instance the trouble was caused by a gas stove which had been left burning and which had burned through an asbestos protector and set fire to a shelf. The damage was slight.

At midnight Sunday the men were called to put out a grass fire at Ginn's field and at 10:29 the same morning a second fire started at the same place. At 3:50 Sunday afternoon there was a brush fire on Woodside road.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT AT WALNUT STREET

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock while going south on Highland avenue an Autocar owned by the J. F. Winn Company tipped over while backing up at Walnut street. The machine was to deliver a ton of coal at a residence on Winthrop street extension and had gone past the entrance to the street. In backing up the machine tipped over the banking at Walnut street.

The driver, Thomas McNulty of 32 Lockman street, was not injured and the truck was able to leave the scene of the accident under its own power. Righting the big machine, however, proved a difficult task and a wrecking crew was obliged to work until 7 o'clock in the evening before the work was completed.

CALUMET NOTES

The mixed bridge was held last week with Mrs. Arthur Kelley as hostess. The first ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Warren Cox, second by Mrs. Kingman Cass and third by Mrs. Fred Aseltine. George Purrington won the first men's prize, R. M. Sawyer, second and Walter Chamberlin, third.

Quite a tidy sum was realized for the benefit of a new stage in the movies given last Monday and Tuesday evening. The chairman of the entertainment committee, Ernest D. Chase, was kind enough to give the reels on both Monday and Tuesday nights and there was a good sized crowd present on each occasion. They were movies of Germany and Holland taken while Mr. and Mrs. Chase were traveling in those countries last year and were fine productions of some of the most important places through which they traveled. The club was very fortunate to have Mr. Chase come to the rescue of the stage in such a painstaking and unselfish way.

The smoker which was scheduled to take place on Saturday, March 16, has been changed to March 30. Full particulars will be given later.

On Tuesday, March 19, the afternoon bridge for ladies will take place at 2 p. m. and Mrs. William Little will be in charge.

On Friday evening, March 22, Calumet will be favored with the presence of John Daniels and his company. This aggregation of high class talent has been with us before and has always played to crowded houses. The entertainment will be the well known Scotch play "Tam O'Shanter" which is a one-act sketch based on Robert Burns' poem and written by John E. Daniels himself. The author has constructed a musical comedy which takes the audience back to the time of the Ploughman-Poet and presents some of the scenes upon which Burns based that masterpiece. With rare art has been portrayed an evening at the inn, in the town of Ayr, such an evening as Burns may have spent in the jovial and congenial society of Tam O'Shanter, Souter (the cobbler) and the landlord. Famous songs of old Scotland are introduced such as "A Highland Lad," "Mary of Argyll," "Bide Ye Yet," "Ye Banks and Braes," "Hurrah for the Highlands," "Corn Rigs," "Will Ye No Come Back Again," "Bonnie Mary," "Willie Brewed a Peck o' Maut," "A Hundred Pipes." The presentation is crowded with humor, with here and there a wee exquisite bit. Mr. Daniels feels that this is one of the best he has ever done. These well known singers are in the cast: Victor Gilbert, tenor, as Burns; William Wilson, tenor, as Souter, the cobbler; John E. Daniels, baritone, as Tam O'Shanter, and Leverett B. Merrill as basso, as the landlord. Mr. Merrill was formerly with the Bostonians. He has a deep, rich and strong bass voice that is exceptionally pleasing. Mrs. Wilson will be at the piano. This will be an entertainment for ladies and gentlemen.

For those who appreciate something different and better, Kelley & Hawes Co., has purchased an entirely new lot of the wanted "gold" chairs which may be hired for bridge parties, receptions, etc. Tel. Win. 0035 or 0174. mhl-tf

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB NOTES

Phil Hight and Capt. Ed Sandberg have probably broken the record for early starts in paddling a shell on Mystic Lakes. Last Sunday afternoon, notwithstanding the strong March wind, the above mentioned paddlers dusted off their double blades and eased the "peanut" shell into the icy waters. They received quite a baptism of spray and the water was not of a July temperature, we are told. Well, it can't be long now!

Many club members and others who frequented the boathouse last year, may regret to learn that Boozo, Stew and Charlie Roger's, big, playful, black, Newfoundland pup will not be a familiar sight at the club this year as he had to be shot recently because of distemper. This is quite a blow to Charles, as he thought a great deal of the big fellow.

For the second consecutive year, team 19 of the Calumet Club, Winter Bostin-pin bowling league is winner of first place honors and all that goes with it. This outfit is known as the Boat Club team because it is made up entirely of members of the Winchester Boat Club, all of whom are actively in the paddling game. Two of them, Ed Sandberg and Al Hovey have for several seasons made up the tandem double blade combination which has kept the name of Winchester Boat Club in the win column. The others, too, have done their share with the blades. Their lineup as they bowl follows: Ed Sandberg, lead-off; Al Hovey, 2; Win Palmer, 3; Capt. Doc. Blanchard, 4; Ken Pratt, anchor.

CARS COLLIDED AT BACON AND CHURCH STREETS

H. M. Chadwick of 17 Joy street, Malden, reported to the police that while he was driving his Dort touring car with the "go" sign across Church street from Bacon street into Fletcher street last Sunday, his machine was struck by a sedan owned and operated by Auswald Eastman of 2 Clairmont park, Boston. Chadwick told the authorities that Eastman was going east on Church street and drove through against the red "stop" signal. Both machines were damaged and Chadwick's had to be towed to the Central Garage.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL, BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

An important meeting of the Winchester Council, Boy Scouts of America will be held next Tuesday evening, March 26, at the Winchester Country Club. The gathering will be the regular monthly meeting of the council. The Scouts hiked to Camp Glenison last Saturday and many of them passed tests.

A list of those who went on the hike with Scout Executive Arthur E. Butters and the names of the tests they passed follows:

Troop 1: Robert Dotten, second class cooking; Howard Streeter, first class cooking.
Troop 2: William Aseltine, Edward Brown, tracking; John Costello.
Troop 3: Prescott Peterson, William Garage, Albert Wilson, firefighting and tracking.
Troop 4: Hal Knowlton, Barney Gaffney, Walter Chamberlain, William Goodnough.
Troop 5: Bennie Newlands.

The next Scout hike will be March 30 to Shaker Glen and in connection with the scouting activities there will be an inter-troop baseball game.

Harold Smith and Iva Hakanson have become the new patrol leaders of Troop 4 and Hal Knowlton and Walter Burns have become the assistant patrol leaders of the troop. The appointment of these boys came as a result of a new troop policy, whereby officers are to be made of the boys who attain the highest rankings in tests, wearing of the Scout uniform and general good behavior. The efforts of the new patrol leaders to win merit badges aided them materially in their being selected for the new honors.

This week's meeting of the troop to be held tonight, Friday, will be at Scout headquarters and it will be for the purpose of acquiring proficiency in knot tying, compass drill, signaling, bandaging and first aid.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Miss Georgiana Barbara Such will give a lecture on the topic, "Biskra and Beyond" at the regular meeting of the club on Monday, March 25 at 2:30 p. m. in the Town Hall. Mr. George Wheeler will sing two groups of songs.

Art Committee

Members of the club are reminded that the visit to the new wing of the Museum of Fine Arts is scheduled for April 3. Those wishing to attend are requested to meet the Art Committee at 2 o'clock at the Museum.

The committee also announces a lecture by Mr. B. F. Letson of Carbone's on the topic "Flowers." This lecture will be held on the evening of April 12 in Fortnightly Hall. There will be no music, the committee feeling that the time remaining after the lecture may best be enjoyed by a social hour (with light refreshments) in the company of our men-folk, a somewhat unusual privilege at a Fortnightly affair.

Dramatic Committee

The dramatic committee apparently decided to leave their audience in a cheerful frame of mind, for their last program of the season, which was in charge of Mrs. Marguerite Loftus, consisted of two very amusing one-act plays. The first play, "The Last of the Joneses" was of special interest to Fortnightly members because it was written by one of their own talented members, Mrs. Lura Watkins. The scene of the play was the library of the Wessex Genealogical Society and the characters in order of appearance were Miss Hook (Mrs. Christine Clarke), secretary to Professor Jones and quite indispensable to him although she annoyed him by insisting on keeping his desk tidy; Professor Jones (Mrs. Anna Grosvenor), who was compiling a monumental work—the history of the Jones family; Myrtle Joanes (Mrs. Dorothy Slocum), who was seeking information about the Joanes family; and Mrs. Abbott (Mrs. Mollie Keepers), who hoped to inherit her second cousin's fortune. The plot of the play is well-constructed and the characters, particularly, Professor Jones are well drawn. The professor's absent-mindedness and concentration on his work are typical of his profession and his aversion to tears is a characteristic of his sex. Very amusing were his requirements for a wife. She must not smoke cigarettes use talcum powder, or be too tidy. Apparently Myrtle Joanes met the test although there was some doubt about the talcum powder. The parts were all well taken and the play evoked many hearty laughs from the audience.

The second play, "The Rosenfeld Floot" was written by Mrs. David Wilcox of the Friends of the Dramatic Club of Arlington. It deals with the attempt of employer of the Rosenfeld department store to arrange a patriotic float for an Armistice Day parade. Mr. Rosenfeld's aim seemed to be to do this with the least possible expense and the minimum of time off from work. There is little plot, but the characters are vivid and true to type. The following cast laid aside their dignity and entered into the spirit of the farce with remarkable success and to the great amusement of the audience:

Mr. Clarence Wahl, clerk. Mrs. Mary Lass. After the program, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Margaret T. Hintlian. In the absence of Mrs. Lena Moran she was assisted by Mrs. Grace Holmes. The writers of the two plays, Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Wilcox presided at the very attractive tea table.

The Fortnightly is greatly indebted to Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hall and her committee for the very enjoyable afternoons they have provided this season and the increasingly large attendance would indicate a desire on the part of the club to have these programs continued another year.

Absolutely, Why Not?

FIRST ADJOURNED SESSION OF TOWN MEETING HELD

its and Mr. Blaisdell added that in comparison with neighboring cities and towns, Winchester is not paying the going rate for firemen. Mr. Fallon spoke in favor of the raise and Mr. Ives in an evident reply to Mr. MacDonald stated that he for one would rather have a soft head with a heart of the same consistency than to own a hard head with an "ivory dome." The motion to amend was carried by the close vote of 98-82 and the increased amount for the salary raise was voted 115-54.

Concluding Article 4 under water construction $48,837.83, ($40,000 to be raised by bond issue) was appropriated; $15,000 for the construction of a sandpipe on the Symmes property and $33,837.89 for laying and relaying mains. An additional appropriation of $22,541.23 (to be raised by taxation) was appropriated for the extension of the water supply system.

The sum of $32,556.59 was voted for Water Maintenance and $1300 for expenses incurred under the Workmen's Compensation Laws, concluding the consideration of Article 4.

Mr. Davidson then introduced a motion to consider Article 16, the same being voted at once. Under this article it was moved and seconded to empower the Selectmen to acquire the property on Lake street, substantially that formerly occupied by the Bay State Saw and Tool Company for the use of the Water and Sewer Department and to appropriate $14,300 for the purpose. An additional $200 was asked for machines, equipment, tools, etc., and the total sum of $14,500 was voted without opposition after the Selectmen and Finance Committee had voiced their hearty approval of the project.

Under Article 6 the Selectmen were empowered to employ a town counsel for certain specified duties and also to employ special counsel to assist the town counsel when it shall be deemed necessary.

Under Article 7 the Selectmen were empowered to employ a town engineer and also to fix the number of measurers of wood and bark at eight, with the power to appoint the same. Robert F. Guild was chosen local director under Article 9 to serve in co-operation with the Middlesex County Trustees for County Aid to Agriculture. The sum of $200 was appropriated under this heading.

It was voted at the request of Mr. Worthen to postpone the consideration of Article 10, relating to abolition of the grade crossing, until Thursday, March 21, and Articles 14 and 15 were also held over until the same evening. These articles had to do with the acquiring by the town of certain parcels of land north of the center and Mr. Davidson felt that they should be considered rightfully after the grade crossing discussion.

Another article which was postponed until Thursday was Article 19, dealing with the right to charge admission to athletic games, etc., on Manchester Field.

The report of the committee on the enlargement of the square at the junction of the Parkway, Washington street and Winthrop street was accepted and the committee discharged with the committee on the Wyman School addition, whose report was accepted, with thanks. Under this Article, 11, the report of the Waterways Improvement Committee was received and placed on file.

It was voted under Article 12 to transfer the unexpended balance of $1035.84 from the Highland District and Wyman School building accounts to the William J. Noonan School building account. Mr. Allen championed the motion and also the motion which was passed under Article 13 by which the sum of $17,300 was voted to be expended by the Noonan School addition committee for altering and purchasing original equipment for the school building. Both motions were passed without opposition.

Under Article 17 it was voted to authorize the town to dispose of the Water & Sewer Department property on Vine street and also the so-called "Hose 3" property on Swanton street after the Selectmen had announced that in their opinion the town no longer needed either.

The sum of $75 was appropriated under Article 19 for the acquisition of certain small parcels of land adjacent to Horn Pond Brook for the purpose of a public park or for any other purpose.

The vote on the motion under Article 20 introduced by Mr. Rich provided for the appointment by the Moderator of a committee in addition to that now existing to be known as the Library Plan Committee to prepare plans and estimates for the cost of erecting a library building on the town hall lot at the corner of Washington street and the Parkway. $1000 was voted for the use of this committee.

Some little debate occurred under Article 21 inserted, briefly, to see if the town would alter its zoning map so that additional land at Vine street might be brought into the business district specifically to permit the erection of an apartment house. Mr. Newman spoke in favor of the motion to amend the zoning map and stated that the only objectors to the change at the hearing previously held was a representative of the Congregational Church who felt that the proposed apartment house would minimize his church structure. He asked a postponement of the article so that the voters could go to the common and visualize the appearance of the new building. Mrs. Woodside did not feel that such procedure was necessary to oppose the proposed change and Mr. Parsons of the Planning Board voiced the stoutest opposition to the change. The motion was put and lost by the vote of 5 to 164. The meeting then adjourned at 10:47 p. m.

FROM NINTH TO FOURTH PLACE IN SIX MONTHS!

World's Easiest Driving Control

NO OTHER CAR in all the world controls quite so easily—with such complete lack of effort—as the new Nash '400'.

Nash engineers have developed a new steering mechanism to achieve this result. An ingenious arrangement of roller bearings and a roller-tooth traveling in a worm gear, reduces friction to a minimum hitherto thought impossible.

Women drivers find new help and gain new confidence in parking. Little effort is needed to bring the "400" up to, or away from, the curb.

Gear shifting is just as easy. The "400" clutch pedal depresses at a touch, scarcely resisting the weight of your foot. The conveniently placed shifting lever moves smoothly, easily, from one speed to another.

If you ever find that driving a car tires you, try driving a Nash "400". It will give you an entirely new conception of how effortless, how pleasurable, motoring can be!

A SICKNESS SURVEY OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

Part I—General Morbidity

HERBERT L. LOMBARD, M. D., M. P. H., FELLOW A. P. H. A., Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Boston, Mass.

In the spring of 1927, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health conducted a morbidity study in the Town of Winchester, Mass. This town, one of a group of cities and towns which comprise Metropolitan Boston, is about eight miles north of downtown Boston. Winchester is largely residential, although there are a few manufacturing, industries, and small stores. The estimated population of the town in November, 1926, was 11,890. It has a 55-bed hospital, and a very active Visiting Nurse Association. The schools of Winchester are among the best in the state, and for a number of years they have used the physical examination records which comply with the standards set forth by the State Department of Education and of Public Health. The Board of Health is a most progressive one, and is doing a very satisfactory piece of work. There are 24 physicians living in Winchester, 14 of whom practice in the town.

Method of Approach

The surveyors made a house-to-house canvass of the town and obtained from each person interviewed the following information concerning every member of the family: the name, address, and position in the family, the country of birth, the age, sex, whether or not the individual was a wage earner, the present illness and illnesses during the past year, the type of treatment secured, and the amount of time lost from work. For all individuals under 20 years of age additional information was sought relative to diphtheria, chicken pox, German measles, mumps, scarlet fever, measles, and whooping cough. A history of any of these diseases necessitated questions concerning the type of treatment and the year in which the disease occurred. An estimate was made of the economic status of the family, classifying all families in one of four groups: poor, moderate, comfortable, or wealthy.

If no member of the family was at home, blanks were left requesting that the desired information be forwarded, as the time allotted to the survey did not permit return visits. During one week of the survey, the practicing physicians in Winchester reported to the department the number of sick individuals whom they attended. This information, together with the records of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association, was compared with the data collected by the investigators to check on the reliability of the survey. The death records were tabulated similarly to the morbidity records. A study of nursing and hospital facilities was made by consulting the records of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association and those of the Winchester Hospital as well as by the questionnaire method. The contagious disease records of the Winchester Board of Health were obtained to ascertain the number of diseases that were reported and the number hospitalized. The data contained on the physical record forms used in the Winchester schools were studied in relation to school absenteeism.

General Discussion of Results

Records were obtained from 9746 individuals. This comprised 82 per cent of the estimated population of the town at the time the survey was made. A census of the surveyed population is shown in Table 1.

Winchester has an older population than the state. The proportion of foreign born population is less than that of the state as a whole, although the proportion of Irish and Italian is higher in Winchester than in Massachusetts as a whole. The sex ratio of Winchester differs materially from that of the state proper, since Winchester has 80.8 males for every 100 females, while Massachusetts has 96.3 males for every 100 females.

It is impossible to state mathematically the degree of reliability of the Winchester sample. The surveyed individuals were well distributed throughout the town, and in all probability furnish a very fair sample of the whole town. The accuracy of the answers given to the investigators varies considerably with the different questions. In the contagious disease part of the study the householder was asked specifically whether or not the individual members of the family had had the given diseases. The answers to these questions were largely correct, although there was some confusion between measles and German measles. The follow-up question regarding whether or not a doctor had seen the sick child was not so accurately answered, as many householders evidently confused the call of the Board of Health with that of the practicing physician.

are more accurate in the more severe conditions than in the minor ailments. But, as the survey was primarily intended to ascertain the extent of real illnesses rather than to catalogue the many aches and pains which are present in the majority of individuals, it is felt that the main object has been attained, and that the Winchester survey gives a representative picture of the extent of real illnesses, as well as some indication of the extent of minor ailments.

During the year preceding the survey, 3152 individuals were reported as sick. This comprised 32.4 per cent of the surveyed population of Winchester. About one-sixth of those sick had more than one illness during the year, at 2581 reported one illness, 465 reported two illnesses, 87 reported three illnesses, and 4 reported 5 illnesses.

The nomenclature of diseases is that which was furnished the investigators by the householder. No attempt was made by the surveyors to make these causes conform with those of the International Classification of Causes of Death. The morbidity nomenclature tells what the people, themselves, complained of as sickness. Of striking interest is the fact that only one-half of the mothers who bore children during the year considered normal childbirth an illness. Upon questioning, mothers would repeatedly say that childbirth was a normal function and that they were not sick. In the Italian district this was particularly marked, as only one-seventh of the childbirths were reported to the surveyors.

During the period covered by the survey, 149 residents of Winchester ratio of the death rates among females to that among males in Winchester for the past 23 years is 0.94. Females apparently have more sicknesses than males but the death rate is less. The relation between sickness and time lost is shown in Table 4.

The total number of days lost from illness in Winchester was 12,904. Accidents accounted for 2898 days, respiratory diseases 2570 days, intestinal diseases 1244 days, stomach complaints 965 days heart affections 923 days, and the remainder were distributed among various other conditions.

The types of illnesses were studied in relation to the economic status of the individuals. When all diseases are considered collectively, there are significant differences between the rates for the various economic groups, the poor having the lowest rate, and the comfortable and wealthy, the highest. Whether this depicts real differences or merely indicates that more minor complaints were reported by the well-to-do is difficult to ascertain. The only individual diseases where significant differences were found were in the respiratory group, accidents among males, and rheumatism and stomach complaints among females. In the respiratory group the reporting of colds for both sexes increased with better economic conditions. Accidents among males were more common in the moderate wage groups. This would be expected, as mechanics, electricians, and men exposed to hazardous occupations are largely in this group. Stomach complaints and rheumatism are both significantly high in the similar number of cases to those who furnished reports there would have been 548 cases attended by physicians during that week. If this represents 78.4 per cent of all the cases there would have been 699 people ill in Winchester at that time. Our surveyors found 705 illnesses at the time the call was made. This gives added weight to the conclusion that the data collected are fairly representative of the true conditions in the town.

An attempt was made to determine the hospital and nursing facilities in Winchester by studying the records of the Visiting Nurse Association by ascertaining the number of admissions to the Winchester Hospital and by questioning a sample group of the surveyed population. The results indicate that Winchester is meeting the present demand for hospital and nursing care.

In the last fiscal year the Winchester Hospital admitted 365 patients who were residents of the town, comprising about 3 per cent of the population. The proximity of Boston leads to the belief that many other patients went to other hospitals. Of these admissions 87, or 23.8 per cent of the total Winchester admissions, were for childbirths, comprising 44.3 per cent of the births in Winchester. An additional 19.1 per cent of the births were hospitalized in out-of-town hospitals, making 63.4 per cent of the births in Winchester hospital cases. The per cent hospitalized by nativity is shown in Table 8.

Since the numbers are so small, the maternal death rate by nativity is not included, as unwarranted inference for or against the quality of increased with the economic status. 11. Nursing and hospital facilities are apparently adequate to the present demand in Winchester.

12. The findings of this study emphasize the advisability of conducting similar surveys in connection with larger populations in order to eliminate the errors of chance fluctuation. Note: Acknowledgment is made of the valuable aid given by the surveyors: Anna Grivello, Mary Cronin, Mrs. Philip Forsbeck, and Dr. Florence Hopkins. Without their indefatigable and intelligent services, together with their enthusiastic co-operation, this survey would not have been possible. Recognition is made of the assistance rendered by Estella L. Power in the compilation of the various tables, and by Dr. Carl R. Doering in their analysis.

Wife "Raises" Husband

Wives are able to supervise the raising of their own husbands in China, according to Copper's Weekly. It is not uncommon, says the paper, for a Chinese boy of twelve to be married to a woman of twenty or twenty-five. Usually she is selected by the bridegroom's mother, who then uses her daughter-in-law for a household assistant. If her husband's mother dies, the wife then assists her father-in-law in bringing up the boy in a way that will turn him into a model husband.

died. These cases represented morbidity during the year but were not included in the tabulation of the survey. In order to obtain the correct morbidity rate, the mortality rates have been added to the morbidity rates obtained from the survey in Tables 2 and 3.*

The incidence of most of the diseases is too small to make adjusted rates for age and sex. The same applies to nativity adjustments. In Table 3 an attempt has been made to give some idea of the age and nativity distribution in all types of illness. This table shows that the Irish and the Italians have lower rates than the native born and the Canadians. While these differences for "total all ages" are statistically significant, it is believed that other errors than mere chance enter in, as we find that the total time lost from sickness for these respective groups is larger among the nativity groups that give the lower incidence. The error, doubtless, is due to the probability that the Irish and the Italians reported only the more severe illness, although it is admitted that there may be real differences.

comfortable and wealthy, female groups, but this again may only indicate differences in reporting. The rates for the diseases with significant differences are given in Table 5.

There are slightly significant differences in the per cent of cases that employed physicians in the different groups (Table 6).

There is no significant difference between the percentage of sick males and females who consulted physicians; the respective rates being 78.8 for the males 77.8 for the females.

Of the total cases of sickness 78.4 per cent employed a physician. There are no significant differences between the various nativity groups in regard to the employment of physicians but the Italians and Canadians show lower rates than the other groups. There is a possibility that if the native born children of these various nativity groups were included with their parents, these differences might be significant. The percentage of physicians employed varied considerably with the different complaints. Table 7 shows this for the more common diseases.

In the morbidity study, the question whether the individual had any illness in the past year was asked and the answer depended on what the person answering the question considered an illness. Some considered the slightest pain an illness, while others did not consider themselves sick unless they were confined to bed; consequently, the morbidity figures male genitals. This ratio (1.20) shows that sickness is more common among women even under these conditions. This phenomenon is not confined to Winchester alone. Sydenstricker shows in his morbidity study of Hagerstown that the ratio of sick females to males was 1.28; and omitting childbirth and diseases of the female genitals the ratio was 1.16. The

ICE OUT OF MYSTIC

The ice went out of Mystic Lake on Tuesday, March 19, seven days earlier than last year. The lake was frozen for the shortest period this winter than in years, and there was but one short period that it could be used for ice boat sailing, Frank Trott, the veteran skipper being the only sailor to have a boat out.

Of historic and forecasting interest are the following dates recording the clearing of the ice in the lake:

NOONAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Chapter enjoyed the first of a series of lectures on Wednesday afternoon by Miss Regina Feeney of the County Extension Service.

In spite of much sickness in the district the Kindergarten was taxed to its capacity to contain all those who wished to attend.

Miss Feeney's talk on the "Backgrounds for Rooms" proved most interesting and instructive. Her next talk on "Floors" will be given on April 5. On April 12 there will be a third talk on "Hangings and Drapes" with two of our own members, Mrs. May O'Neill and Mrs. Valerie O'Connor as leaders. Following the meeting those present inspected the new addition and found it well worth visiting.

The reception to Miss Lyons and later a bridge and whist will be conducted in the assembly hall soon after its completion.

"ART IN EVERYDAY LIFE" BY GERRIT A. BENEKER

Last Tuesday evening Mr. Reed introduced Mr. Gerrit A. Beneker to a large audience in Metcalf Hall, for with for the benefit of the Unitarian parish house fund and the intense interest of the listeners Mr. Beneker launched forth on the subject so dear to his heart.

Mr. Beneker explained several definitions of Art, "Art is the employment of some end," and told that he had reached the conclusion that the greatest kind of Art is the art of living, or the Art which suggests how to live. He claimed that all pictures teach and preach and only the good in Art can bring out the good in us who see it.

Mr. Beneker thinks very lightly of the majority of Art as seen displayed on Fifth avenue, New York. He went to the masses to get his subject matter. Then he explained briefly of his studio in the Cleveland Steel Mill, where he attempted to apply Art to the human element in industry, to labor, to capital, and to the management of the two.

Mr. Beneker showed a series of pictures that he had made in this mill studio and gave his audience the true sermon each preached to humanity. The first of these, the famous "Liberty Loan poster," "Sure We'll Finish the Job." Explaining in brief his message that the working men of America were not only the greatest workers, the greatest consumers, but also had the greatest amount of money in our banks. And so he went down the line explaining the message that each paintable fellow carried, to even that of the widow independent by her past husband's participation in the mutual benefit.

Besides his pictures of industrial subjects, he showed portraits of Cape Cod's typical workers, their homes and surroundings. On exhibit were some of Mr. Beneker's paintings and reproductions of much of his work. He showed that it was only by reproduction in records and over the radio that music could be appreciated by the masses and this he believed true of Art, Art to be appreciated by the masses must come by reproduction.

Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols, collector of taxes for the Town of Winchester, has been elected for the third consecutive year to serve as secretary and treasurer of the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association. The organization is reported as in a healthy and growing condition with a membership of 180.

"LOADED FOR BEAR"

Man Arrested by Police Well Armed

A revolver and a pair of brass knuckles were found in the possession of a colored man who was arrested at 11:45 last Sunday morning on upper Main street by Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department. The man was stopped by Officer Farrell when the manner in which he was operating a Ford coupe north on Main street at Hemingway street left his sobriety open to suspicion.

At Police Headquarters the man gave his name as Robert L. Walden of Lowell street, Burlington. He was charged with drunkenness, with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and with driving a car without license or registration. He was said to have a license to carry a revolver.

Walden was admitted to bail and appeared in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning when his case was continued until Friday.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Some men divide their time equally, one half making promises, and the other half making excuses.

Learn to divide each day in proper proportions, sleep, work, rest and enough happiness for a harmonious day.

The world is really improving,
the time is not far distant when an honest man will actually command respect.

Mix with people who are successful. We are all creatures of environment and we take on qualities of those we rub against.

The STAR again finds it necessary to call attention to its rule regarding the publishing of anonymous communications. No letter sent this office for publication will receive any consideration whatsoever unless accompanied by the name and address of the writer. If a letter, accompanied by such name and address, meets with the approval of the Editor, it may be printed with such signature as the writer designates.

The STAR has received at this time several letters for publication pertaining to town affairs, and while all have been such as to meet with the Editor's approval, they were not accompanied by the writer's name nor address as a guarantee of good faith; hence they have been omitted from our columns.

The STAR does not approve of anonymous communications. If a writer has sufficient interest in any public matter to desire to voice his views in the Town paper he should at least be willing to accompany his letter by his name and address—if not by signing his name to the article.

The STAR does not share the opinion expressed by some town meeting members after the Monday evening session that it should not be necessary for delegates to express their preferences on matters to be decided by raising their hands or by standing so that all may see how they are voting.
We have been informed that some members have announced that they will not continue to serve if they are obliged to declare themselves so openly upon each issue. Any one who feels that way ought by all means to resign, for a delegate who is ashamed to have his stand on town affairs known is of no use to the community in its new form of government. It is, of course, with the limited town meeting much easier for everyone to see just how the various members line up, for or against a project and the STAR believes this is as it should be. The delegates should remember that they are representing many more than themselves at the town meeting sessions and that naturally those for whom they are voting are interested to know how their votes are cast. If there is one right which non-members have left them under the new form of government it is the right to know how their predict delegates are representing them on questions of importance. We hope that Moderator Hayward will continue to call for other than aye and nay votes. In fact, going further, we hope he will call for at least an occasional rising vote so that the town meeting members may get an opportunity to stretch their legs.

The Star prints this week the summary of the health survey conducted in Winchester a year ago last Spring
under the auspices of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.
As Winchester was the first place to have such a survey, being selected at that time as a typical town of the State with a population warranting this first experiment, the results are interesting in several ways, and Winchester people will doubtless be eager to read the report.

Just a little word for Chairman
Joseph Worthen of our Board of Selection—if you were present at last night's town meeting you must have felt a thrill of pride that Winchester is represented by such a type of citizen. He deserves the satisfaction he doubtless feels over that vote of confidence which carried $15,000 with it. And he has a good Board to back him up.

KELLAWAY VS. TOWN PLAN

To the Editor of the Star:
The factors of comparison are many but they can be summarized under three main heads, expense—traffic control—and town improvement. According to the conflicting schedules made public the Kellaway Plan will cost either almost exactly 11 per cent more (Kellaway, $1,185,- 500—Town, $1,065,700) than the Town Plan or 26 per cent less (Kellaway, $787,900—Town $1,065,700).
It is worth noting that the decisive element in the figure accepted is the viewpoint on the essential requirements of the plan.

The situation may be clarified if we forget the expense temporarily and judge the plans by their other factors.
The greatest advantage claimed for the Town Plan is the preservation of existing traffic routes. It seems to me this advantage succeeds or fails in the measure that our increasing burden of traffic is adequately cared for. Accepting the traffic count in the Selectmen's informative report,
there now passes over the grade crossing a daily average of 7,900 automobiles (all kinds) and 150 elevator cars. Under the Town Plan of raising the Center ALL of this traffic must shuttle through a 100 foot bottle-neck perched on the top of a hill! With the right of way given to the trolleys, the fire and police department machines it is hard to conceive of any more deplorable condition in a busy district already over-congested. In Mr. Kellaway's plan

the through traffic would be diverted,
giving local buyers using machines easy access via a short loop to both sides of the Center. Pedestrians would cross freely through the subway.

There is the same difference of opinion regarding the net change in property values resulting from either plan as exists over expense. The argument that the Kellaway Plan injures Center property by offering easy access around the grade crossing instead of difficult access over it is hardly impressive. The Select-men's Report cites property damages
as follows:

	Property	Building	Totals
Town Plan	$ 66,100	$325,300	$391,400
Kellaway Plan	$ 481,700*	$7,600	$489,300*

*These figures include $160,376 for property which Mr. Kellaway says his plan never required. His total thus reduced is $378,924.

In the Kellaway Plan the damages are offset by the removal of less desirable buildings and the improvement of vacant land. This Plan will do much to enhance the appearance of North Main street, the one approach to our center that is decidedly unattractive. Damages under the Town Plan are offset by the retention of most of the affected properties and the possible erection of new buildings instead of raising the old ones.
But the raising of the entire center involves a new factor none the less serious because it cannot be definitely calculated. The job will take many months and we are told it will seriously interfere with a year's business. With 18 pieces of property to be raised this offers some interesting possibilities in law suits. Let us remember the town has only recently settled (or has not yet settled?) a property claim at the center after many years of controversy (including unsolicited telephone pole publicity).
Is it wise to open the door for wholesale litigation? In the light of present information the Kellaway Plan seems to be the one that best solves
the traffic problem without disturbing properties at the center, improves unattractive areas and has at least an equal chance on cost.

Wallace V. Plummer

FROM MR. CRAUGHWELL

To the Editor of the Star:

At the second session of the annual Town Meeting the voters were informed of the wonderful skillful-ness and heroism of our firemen, fighting a conflagration under difficulties. One of the difficulties was the intense cold weather.

Now Mr. Editor, to prove to the inhabitants of Winchester that we have been fortunate in having skillful firemen at all times, I refer you to the Welcome house fire that occurred in the early morning of March 12, 1891. The thermometer registered 4 below zero and the wind was blowing a gale. The Welcome house was situated on the site where Hutchinson's Market is now located.
It was surrounded by a livery stable and tenement houses. All buildings were saved except the upper part of the Welcome house, which by the way, was a hotel with a tonorial parlor on the first floor. At that time the Fire Department consisted of a chief, two assistants, six horses,
"Mary Ann," one hook and ladder and four hose carriages that carried 500 feet of hose each. One was located on Swanton street, one on upper Main street, one on lower Main street and one on Cambridge street.

Each company carried a crew of 10 men. We hauled the apparatus to the fire and went to work with a vengeance.

By the way, lest I forget, the hose company from Cambridge street did not respond. They most likely did not hear the whistle or bell, due to the fact that the wind was terrific.
The chief of that period sent some of us over to fetch the hose carriage down to the Central Fire Station.

Some of the farmers on their way to market, discovered that their pet hose carriage was stolen and immediately reported it to the police.

After the fire was extinguished it was necessary to cut the coats off our backs. We were covered with ice and perched on the top of 30 foot ladders.

We were call men, not permanent men and received $25 a year. Then along came a good Samaritan and increased our wages to $35 a year.

Sad to relate, the good Samaritan passed on from an ailment that some folks call enlargement of the heart.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

Some Side Lights

Fred Scholl prepared a bounteous feast and there was plenty of it. We hope those below the headline got their money's worth. We feel quite sure those above did.

The boat club team composed of
W. A. Palmer, Allen Hovey, K. M.
Pratt, F. M. Blanchard, E. B. Sandberg, won first team prize again this year. Their success cannot be laid wholly to their handicap. They are young fellows and the strain of competition seems to make them all the more accurate. The best reason probably is that their team comprises five members every time they roll.

Team 3, made up of A. H. Hildreth,
J. E. Gendron, W. F. Flanders, J. E.
Corey, W. J. Brown, which have come to be known as the "old reliables" did not finish so well this season as in years gone by, taking a position below the headline.

Harry Fellows, well-known Guess
Radio announcer, often heard over WBZ and WEI was song leader and had a difficult time in bringing out the Calumet warblers until "Sweet Adeline" and then what volume and harmony.

Helen Barr was as pleasing as ever giving us "I Can't Help Loving That Man," "I Can't Give You Anything
But Love," "One Alone" and "Forever." She was particularly pleasing in "One Alone" from the desert song, her sweet voice in that showing to perfection. She was forced to respond with several encores.

There were 13 members of the Old Belfry present as guests, including President John E. Gilchrist.

We thought by the size of the prizes won by Team 19 that they had been awarded canoes.

Warren Cox was unable, on account of the rules to take home but one prize. Although he won both the highest individual average with handicap in Class B and high single with handicap.

"Doc" Wolfe left his Hudson car engine running. Guess he intended to make a short call.

The turkey was very tender. Fred says they were chicken turkeys, killed especially for the dinner, but a few days before.

Harry Moulton, a club member,
furnished the Baby Ruth candy.

The ginger ale was furnished by the Simpson Spring agency.

The bowling match between two teams from Old Belfry and Calumet resulted in a clean sweep for Calumet.

Scores were as follows:

high single of 138 and high three string total of 353.

The afternoon bridge was held last Tuesday with Mrs. William Little in charge. Prizes were won by Mrs.
Bowe, Mrs. Pilkington and Mrs. Wills.
Tonight, John Daniels and his company will give the well known Scotch play, "Tam O'Shanter" written by Mr. Daniels. It is a musical comedy based on the poem by Robert Burns.
The entertainment committee, in sending out the notices says that this is the most expensive entertainment presented this season and that if a price was charged it would have to be $1.50 per person, but it is free to Calumet ladies and gentlemen. The new stage is in readiness and will be used to good effect tonight. If rare literary and musical talent can be appreciated, the hall should be packed to the doors.

There will be open house on Saturday evening with bowling, billiards, pool, cards, etc., and a regular Saturday night lunch.

A smoker will be given on March 30. We are unable to announce the

No Insurance for Your Sake

A fire insurance rate can only measure the danger of fire damage to a building in which people are seriously interested in preventing fire.

No rate can measure gross carelessness or negligence! Knowing this, sound stock fire insurance companies after an inspection will not insure the "questionable" property for your sake! This inspection encourages fire safety, discourages carelessness and keeps the rate on your property the true measure of your own fire risk.

The pilgrims leave this country on

FIRESIDE NOTES

The attendance at dinner last Sunday was the largest since the place opened.

Having well known women of the town act as hostesses during the tea period has been discontinued. There seems to be very little demand for afternoon tea during the present era of dieting.

Miss Mary Lyons had a very pretty party given in her honor at the Fireside by her associates of the William J. Noonan School Thursday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. Sylvester Taylor entertained luncheon guests Friday of this week.

At Home

At the supper table a discussion was brought up about a neighbor who had been in a wreck. It had not been the neighbor's fault, but he found out that he would have to pay for having his car fixed.

The elder son exclaimed, "I'll bet Mrs. G— is up in the air about it!" "Oh, no," spoke up five-year-old Charlotte, "she's at home!"

The cost of the World war has been fixed by a League of Nations committee at $362,500,000,000.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The next regular meeting of the Club will be held in Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening, March 27, at 8 o'clock. The regular routine of business will be taken up and election of officers for the ensuing year will be in order. At the last business session the following members accepted nominations for office:

President—Mrs. Caroline L. Conkey, V. P. Vice-President—Miss Lillian S. Nicholson, Treasurer—Mrs. Bernice F. Gorman, Recording Secretary—Mrs. Kathryn T. Griffin, F. S.

Financial Secretary—Mrs. Mae B. Fitzgerald, Treasurer—Mrs. Doris L. Fitzgerald, O. G. Inside Guard—Mrs. Gertrude Horn, Past President—Mrs. Anna M. Hanlon.

As a custom established during the regime of our first president, who was essentially fair in all things, further nominations will be in order at this session. The new board will not function until inducted into office. This ceremony is scheduled for April, the exact date as yet undecided on account of changes in the social program.

The play by the Dramatic Committee of the Rebecca Lodge, which was scheduled for March social night has been postponed until April. In fact, April promises to be a very busy month, if events run true to form.

Announcement of a series of home whists at the last meeting included the following: March 5, at the home of president A. M. Hanlon; March 19, at the home of Mrs. Mae B. Fitzgerald; April 3, at the home of vice-president C. L. Conkey.

Those who attended the last session were certainly gratified, outwardly and inwardly, by the splendid luncheon served by Chairman Gordon Horn and his "big brother" helpers. This is the second time the Club has been favored by the Board of Stewards of the local Lodge of Elks, and one and all are deeply grateful for such friendly and genial service. Brother Gordon can tell most of us "how" when it comes to putting on an appetizing menu and his Lodge ought to feel in luck to have such a cheery caterer.

And apropos of banquets and such the bowling teams expect to stage one in the near future. Although bowling no longer, the members are still expected to keep up the banquet fund. Full particulars of the royal finish may be forthcoming from the director, Mrs. Lilla B. Green. The scores of some of us may best be buried in oblivion, or whatever they bury such things in, but we'll all be there in the flesh for that banquet whenever the director decides to ring the dinner bell.

SPRING BOWLING STARTS TUESDAY

The spring bowling tournament at the Calumet Club starts on Tuesday, March 26, with an entry of eight teams of five men each. Matches will be held up to May 8. The usual rules heretofore in force will govern the tournament and two teams and two individual prizes will be awarded the winners.

The composition of teams and schedule of the first four matches follows:

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The Court conducted a most successful shamrock whist and bridge on Monday evening. The Misses Mary E. Martin and Dorothy Kean were responsible for the success of the party.

At the next meeting on April 4, there will be a food demonstration. This same demonstration has been given for the Reading and Stoneham Courts and the members of these organizations are loud in their praise of the entertainment and instruction that the project furnished.

Many of the Court Sisters who have been ill are reported by the visiting committee as being on the road to recovery.

Plans will be completed at the next meeting for the Court's annual Communion Sunday on Mother's Day.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual dinner and meeting and election of officers April 23, at Association Hall on Vine street.

Winchester of today is largely the result of united co-operation of many men and women during the last 75 years.

Do you realize that we are living in one of the most up-to-date towns of the 340 cities and towns that constitute the State of Massachusetts? Some of our resources are as follows:

The standard of citizenship in our town is very high. Nature has been lavish in many of her most beautiful conditions. The hills and valleys, the streams and springs, the ponds and those that are to be intermingled with the plains and ledges are gifts of unmeasured value.

Forty miles of macadam constructed highways and many miles of sidewalks.

Man has given his part in the most sanitary soft water system in the State. Our sanitary conditions are second to none in the State, having the largest percentage of homes connected to the sanitary sewerage system of any town in the Commonwealth.

In this beautiful town of ours the Chamber of Commerce has been, for the past eight or ten years, a prominent factor in its betterment. Our Chamber of Commerce is not a charitable institution and is not so considered by substantial business men. The Chamber of Commerce is a positive factor in its influence for better conditions, asking alms of no one and giving value received to the community.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce, through their financial support, are investing in the community's prosperity.

The Chamber of Commerce acts as an agent for those who have a desire to do things which would be of benefit to the community.

The Chamber of Commerce is your organization. It can succeed only in proportion to the support you give it. By withholding your financial assistance, you are not retarding the community's prosperity and welfare.

The membership dues are but $5 per year. There are no paid officers. The Chamber is glad at all times to call on members for the benefit of our town by a request of its citizens.

Give us your hearty co-operation.

"BE KIND TO ANIMALS"

Plans are being made throughout the town for the observance of "Be Kind to Animals Anniversary" which occurs this year April 15 to 20, with Humane Sunday, April 14. The following "Humane Code of Honor" by W. F. H. Wentzel is offered for the consideration of everyone:

1. I will apply the Golden Rule in dealing with man or beast.
2. I will give up my pleasure or gain to aid a creature in distress.
3. I will unselfishly respect the rights and feelings of others.
4. Anything which gives pain to another will not be pleasure to me.
5. I will be considerate, and merciful in all my acts.
6. I will seek to change sadness or suffering to happiness or comfort.
7. Though others scorn, I will resist all acts of cruelty.
8. I will seek humane excellence above selfish desires.
9. I will fill my life with deeds of kindness and acts of love.
10. I will be "A friend in time of need," even to the humblest of creatures.
11. I will speak for those who cannot speak for themselves.
12. I will seek to keep alive within me that spark of human greatness called sympathy.

WINCHESTER GIRLS IN NATIONALS AT LONGWOOD

While Winchester's entries in the National mixed doubles tournament at Chestnut Hill last week did not fare especially well it should be remembered that the local girls were competing out of their class against much older opponents.

Frances Pettigell, Catherine Boyden, Mary Cutter and Virginia Merrill are all juniors and were not expected to get very far against the more experienced senior competitors. The important thing is that they were considered good enough to have their entries accepted for a tourney of such class. Aside from the Winchester girls, the only junior entrants were the famous Palfrey sisters of Brookline, Mianne and Sarah, who have been cleaning up regularly in their class for several seasons.

The local girls were paired as follows. Frances Pettigell competed with Donald Frame, a Harvard freshman and Catherine Boyden with another Harvard frosh, Charles Wadsworth of Winchester. Mary Cutter played with Dr. Robert Blackler of this town and Virginia Merrill was paired with Hall Gamare, also of this town. The latter team won by default in the first round, but was unable to compete thereafter.

THE COST OF VACANT SCHOOL SEATS

What is the cost to our school system of seats vacant because of intermittent absence of pupils? Parents as a rule are not conscious of the loss involved when their children absent themselves from school—loss through insufficient use of full-time facilities, loss through interruption of the child's progress and loss through hindrance of classroom advancement.

The waste in money and opportunity is large and school administrators have, like other business executives, had to guard against it. Business makes a strong point of looking after the health and morale of its workers. This attitude is not only humane but profitable. Loss of time through illness or other preventable causes is expensive to both employer and employee.

It costs the taxpayers no more to operate a classroom with 100 per cent attendance than it does with a 90 per cent. In the latter case the schools are being operated at a 10 per cent loss. The importance of this fact may never have occurred to parents. There are those who are even inclined to consider the school meddlesome if it tries to keep close check on absences. They regard it as an encroachment on their individual rights. They consider the schools a place where children are to be taught when it is convenient for them to attend.

The financial loss is not the only consideration. There is the handicap to the pupil through scattered absences, as well as the lowering of the efficiency and progress of the entire class. No business enterprise would tolerate the percentage of absence and tardiness experienced in the schools. It would be too disorganizing to be profitable. Parents should be impressed with the importance of punctual and regular attendance, not only as a benefit to the child, a duty to the regular attendants and a service to the community in getting the maximum value out of school funds, but also as a factor in habit-training. It helps build a sense of responsibility and dependability in the pupil.

The great burden of responsibility for attendance now falls, necessarily, on the teacher. She has, of course, co-operation from various agencies, such as the visiting or home teacher, attendance officers, etc., yet the major part of the task of keeping the classroom filled is on her shoulders. She must face the monthly attendance percentage, a barometer registering the interest generated in the classroom and the vigor with which the teacher follows up absences and insists on prompt and regular attendance. When the energy of the teacher is directed towards the attendance problem, it is being diverted from that supply which should be applied to her teaching power, or else is depleting the reserve energy, as essential in a business or industry. It would seem, therefore, that the home should take more seriously this shifting to the teacher of an added burden. It remains hers to do if the home does not do it. If she has concern for her own record, for the interests of other pupils and for the community making school finances possible, she has no alternative.

Educating the child should be a co-operative labor divided between school and home. The responsibility of pupil attendance rests on the parent and ought not to be shifted on the school.

WINCHESTER GIRLS CLOSED
HOOP SEASON

With the Swampscott game at Swampscott last week Thursday afternoon, the Winchester High School girls' basketball team closed its 1928-29 season with a record of four victories, six reverses and one tie game. One of its defeats was at the hands of a strong Alumnae group at the start of the schedule, serving largely as a try-out for new candidates for the high school sextet.

Winchester's chief difficulty this season has been a physical one. The girls have literally been too short to compete on even terms with many of the clubs which have beaten them decisively. Height is even a greater asset in girls' basketball than it is in the game as played by boys and the locals numbered but one tall girl in its entire group.

The bright spot in the Winchester season was the consistently fine work of Captain Virginia Merrill at right forward. "Ginnie" was her team's high scorer and in but two games were opposing guards able to keep her total below 15 points. Winchester as a team tallied 331 points for the season and 296 of them were accounted for by its smooth working captain.

Teaming with Virginia on the forward line were Mary Reed, Marjory Kendrick and Mary McKenzie. Mary Cutter played jumping center and Dorothea MacKenzie and Nancy Bradley, side center. Mary and "Dot" were both letter players to start the season as was Frances Pettigell, the team's left guard. Florence MacKinnon teamed with Frances at the other guard position. Caroline Nichols, guard, and Helen MacKinnon, jumping center, were other girls to play in more than one game. The team was managed by Charlotte Morey and coached by Miss Margaret Centervall who in her first season at Winchester did well with her material.

The season's record follows:

Winchester	34	W. H. S. Alumnae	38
Winchester	30	Marblehead	51
Winchester	23	Stoneham	48
Winchester	35	Swampscott	30
Winchester	33	Melrose	21

ORPHEUM THEATRE

The brave men who conquered the wilds of the Western country with its roving Indian bands, in order to stretch the first telegraph wires from the Mississippi Valley to California, are the glorified heroes of "The Overland Telegraph" the current attraction at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. More than 450 Blackfoot braves assisted in recording the gripping incidents of the time, and the production not only teems with red-blooded action and originality. The second feature on this program will be the first chapters of "The Vultures of the Sea." This is a new dramatic sea story featuring Shirley Mason, Johnnie Walker and Thomas Santschi.

The feature picture coming to the Orpheum next week Monday for a three days engagement will be "Three Week Ends" featuring Clara Bow. This is the story of the trials and tribulations of a poor but attractive girl of a cabaret chorus whose entertainment is contributed by the playboys of Broadway during the weekends. It contains many colorful sequences of night life and also interesting parties in and around the country places of the wealthy. "Daughters of Desire" is a melodrama of family life. It has an appeal to every man woman and child, presenting as it does, a situation more or less common to many. Irene Rich plays the role of a second wife, a woman who marries a widower with three children. How she meets the difficult situation which faces her from the outset, how she meets a tragedy which ensues through no fault of her own, marks a story brilliantly devised and enacted with consummate skill. Richard Tucker has the leading role opposite Miss Rich.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Flippant Alice White and handsome smiling Jack Mulhall lend their combined sparkle to the new picture "Naughty Baby" which heads the screen program the big Granada Theatre in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. "Naughty Baby" is a typical story of life in New York City and its surrounding resorts and is directed with the zip and humor for which Mervin Le Roy is noted. The story works out delightfully and is as good entertainment as the Granada has had in many a month.

"The Sin Sister," starring Nancy Carroll and Lawrence Grey, will be the feature for the first three days of next week. The theme of this picture is that civilization is but a thin veneer, and some people under primitive conditions revert to type, becoming little more than beasts. In the picture a ship is wrecked in the far North and the survivors are six ill-assorted companions. Living under primitive conditions a daughter of wealth becomes a vicious, unkempt coven; a small time vaudeville dancer proves to be the real heroine and wins the love of a man who is about to sell his family name in a money marriage until he is brought face to face with the raw realities of life. Nancy Carroll and Lawrence Grey have big acting roles in this picture. The regular five act bill of selected Granada vaudeville will also be offered the first three days of next week.

Miss Annette E. Mason of this town attended the joint meetings of the Wheaton Alumnae Council and the College Association held last Friday and Saturday at Norton.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

On March 6 a testimonial volume containing greetings from 31 national prohibition and law enforcement organizations was presented to and accepted by President Hoover. The greetings read as follows:

"We felicitate you upon your election to the Presidency of the United States. We congratulate the American people." We pledge to you our co-operation and support in the discharge of the obligations of your high office.

"The unity of the temperance forces in the campaign for your election was without a precedent in reform history. To achieve prohibition those we represent have lived and wrought. To the complete accomplishment of the great objective represented in the 18th Amendment, we stand pledged.

"We believe that the great majority of the American people agree with you that prohibition is an experiment, noble in purpose and that it was enacted for the protection of the American home. We believe that they, with you, wish prohibition to succeed. In the name and on behalf of our whole constituency, we bear this greeting and present this expression of confidence and esteem."

This was signed by the following executive committee and many heads of organizations: Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Edwin C. Dinwiddle, Ernest H. Cherrington, Mrs. Lena L. Yost, Carlton M. Sherwood, Dr. Arthur J. Barton, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Clinton N. Howard, F. Scott McBride, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, Col. Raymond Robins, Fred B. Smith, Oliver W. Stewart, Clarence True Wilson.

Wealth From "Scrap"

By the system of reclamation of the scrap pile now being generally followed by nearly all the railroad companies, bright new tin buckets, cups and other articles are being manufactured from old metal roofing, empty powder and carbide containers and other junk salvaged. Old broom handles are made into staffs for signal flags, old canvas is transformed into curtains for the locomotive cabs and coaches, steam-pipe coverings and aprons. Thrift practices such as these save the carriers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

WINCHESTER SALE

Papers have gone to record on the Haven property at 212 Main street, Winchester, from Sarah K. Haven to Dr. Arthur H. Jackson who will occupy at once as a home. This is one of the few genuine old colonial houses in Winchester, having been built in the year 1806 by a member of the Symmes family. The title has been in that lineage until about four years ago when it was purchased by Roger M. Haven, an architect, who modernized the house and restored the old features. The property is located on Symmes corner on a lot of 13,000 feet. D. Bradlee Rich & Co., represented the seller and the Arlington office of Walter Channing, Inc., the buyer.

More Speculation as to "First Americans"

Did the natives of the New world communicate with the inhabitants of the Old world before the discovery of America by the Norsemen about the year 1000? This is always an interesting question for speculation, says Pathfinder Magazine. Carlos Mercedo, a Latin American investigator, reports that near Esmeraldas, in Ecuador, he excavated pieces of pottery containing inscriptions resembling Egyptian hieroglyphics, Arabian numbers and drawings indicating Greek, Phoenician and Mongolian characteristics. These articles were found in the ruins of an ancient Indian civilization.

Mercedo states that he spent seven years excavating with a view of unearthing valuable metals. More than 10,200 archeological pieces were discovered. One piece is described as resembling a reproduction of the tower of Babel, and a stone figure suggests Samson embracing the fragments of two stone columns. The pieces also contain what seem to be Aztec or Mayan inscriptions.

Coral Islands

A key is a low island, especially one of coral, along the coast. The small islands along the coast of Florida are called Florida keys because of their location and because they are low and of coral formation.

EVERYMAN'S BIBLE CLASS NOTES

Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church will celebrate "Methodist Day" on Sunday when Rev. H. W. Hook of this town will answer the question, "Why I Am a Methodist?" This continues the series of lectures on different denominations by well known leaders, a feature of the spring program of the Everyman's Bible Class held at 9:30 Sunday mornings in the Winchester Town Hall.

Rev. Mr. Hook is so favorably known in Methodism by his wide experience in large pastorates that his talk is eagerly anticipated by the men of this lively class.

The sweeping movement which John Wesley began in the 18th century and which has had so profound an influence on the history of the English-speaking world will have a most able modern apologist in the person of Doctor Hook in his forthcoming lecture. All men are cordially welcomed at this democratic meeting.

Forty Years After

Two boyhood playmates met in a Brooklyn court. One was the judge, the other the prisoner, a ragged, nerve-wracked picture of failure. "Tom do you remember me?" the judge asked. "Yes," answered Tom, his hands shaking and his voice quavering. He was being arraigned for the eighteenth time for intoxication. He had been in the workhouse five times. He was fifty-five. . . . "You and I were playmates," the judge recalled. "You were going to be a great lawyer and I was going to be a truck driver."

Wild

Dave and a group of other country lads were spending the afternoon trying to yoke up a couple of calves. Try as they would, they could catch only one calf, so Dave volunteered to be yoked up with it. The frightened animal immediately bolted, as soon as the straps were tightened, taking the yoked and helpless Dave along with it. Away they went, careening into trees and banging against fences, bumping and thumping. As soon as the other boys could recover a little from their gales of laughter, they set out to capture the assorted pair, and were advancing toward them, when the human half, in a warning tone, begged "Come up easy, boys! We're wild as heck!"

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Rotarians gathered at the clubhouse on Thursday for the regular weekly meet. It is encouraging to see so many of our members in attendance each week. We believe that none of them would willingly forego the cordial handshake and word of greeting, which more or less unconsciously has come to be an essential part of our fraternal life.

There was a talk this week as usual, it was delivered by one of our own number, George Welsh. George is well qualified to handle the subject which he chose, i. e. "Truck Farming." Before coming to Winchester he held an important executive position on one of the largest truck farms in suburban Chicago. It did not "just happen" that George attained eminence in his chosen field. Rather was it due to the well-directed efforts of the most of his previous life, together with a distinct genius for making "two or more blades of grass grow where one grew before."

But the City of Chicago is a lusty young giant and in no great period of time arose and swallowed the entire farm of several hundred acres where George had won his spurs, which was a fortunate circumstance for Winchester and its Rotary Club.

To those with little knowledge of the large scale distribution of food products in this country, this talk was very illuminating. At its close George was greeted with the usual shower of questions and was fully equal to all demands on his extensive fund of information. We feel that we have had a very appropriate and entertaining introduction to the spring of 1929.

This being the season for preparing the ground for the coming harvest and conditioning the hardy perennials, would it not be a good idea to apply a drastic pruning to that forest of black pins on Loring's chart. Think it over and act!

SHOWER FOR POPULAR MEMBER OF EMBLEM CLUB

Mrs. Bernice Gorman entertained at her home on Warwick place last evening in honor of Mrs. John Moynihan, a popular member of the Winchester Emblem Club, who was before her marriage Miss Elizabeth Hines of Stoneham. The affair took the form of a surprise shower, Mrs. Moynihan being presented during the evening with a handsome solid mahogany sewing table. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Cora LaPuri Quinn and Mrs. Lena DeYong and dainty refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Moynihan were married Feb. 6 at Stoneham and are making their home in that town.

FAST WORK

At least, that's the way John A. Leo of 16 Blind Bridge street felt about it when he reported to the police at midnight last Friday, stating that his machine had been stolen from the runway of the G. W. Blanchard building at the corner of Lake and Main streets. Leo told the authorities that he had left his Ford sedan on the runway while he went a few feet away to open his garage door. When he turned around he saw his car speeding north on Main street. The police recovered the sedan, abandoned on Main street opposite Salem street some little time after hearing Leo's report at Headquarters.

Corals Reefs Inland

Mention of coral reefs brings to one's mind a picture of palm-dotted islets girt with white sands in a tropical sea, but geologists find coral reefs in the midst of great continents. These, of course, belong to a past age of the earth's history but on that account they are the more interesting. Within late years several remarkable reefs of fossil coral have been explored near Bainbridge, on the Flint river, in Georgia. In one case a very large portion of the reef exposed consisted of coral heads, some of which were more than a foot in diameter. Between 25 and 30 species of coral have been recognized in these reefs. They are ascribed to the Tertiary age.

Unwise Selection

To commit the execution of a purpose to one who disapproves of the plan of it is to employ but one-third of the man; his head and his heart are against you, you have commanded only his hands.—Colton.

CALUMET NOTES

CALUMET NOTES

The largest crowd of the season turned out to greet the Scottish musical comedy in "Tam O'Shanter" last Friday evening. The characters were as follows:

Geordie Tamson, the landlord. Leverett B. Merrill, basso Souter Johnny, a cobbler. William Wilson, tenor Tam O' Shanter, a farmer. John E. Daniels, baritone
Robert Burns, the poet. Victor E. Gilbert, tenor Alice Pillsbury Gilbert. At the Piano

The play was a one act sketch based on Robert Burns' poem and was written by John E. Daniels who took the principal part. Mr. Daniels is not a stranger to Winchester. He is not only an author but an actor and possesses a rare tenor voice. His solos were very pleasing and he was exceptionally good in "Bide Ye Yet" and "A Hundred Pipers." His clear tenor voice was also heard to advantage in the quartet. Leverett B. Merrill's deep basso voice was used with telling effect particularly with the quartet and also in "Hurrah for the Highlands." William Wilson was good in "Bonnie Mary." Victor E. Gilbert was best in "Will Ye No Come Back Again." The quartet's work was fine and the rich blend of voices made a most pleasing effect. We liked "Ye Banks and Braes" the best. The Scotch hornpipe dance brought down the house.

"Tam O' Shanter" the poem upon which the sketch is based was written by Robert Burns about the year 1790. "Tam O' Shanter" was a farmer and a great friend of Burns, the poet. The scene is supposed to be in a room of the Inn in the town of Ayr on an evening of a market day, such an evening as the ploughman-poet may have spent in congenial and convivial society of the characters made famous by his pen. Mr. Daniels, the author, has constructed a musical comedy and with rare art has portrayed a mixture of comedy and music such as would be akin to a meeting of four typical Scotchmen, around which much gossip and songs prevailed. Other songs were "A Highland Lad," "Mary of Argyll," "Corn Rigs" and "Willie Brewed a Peck o' Maut." The generous applause which the actors received was a pleasing indication of the attitude of the audience.

The first match of the Spring Bowling Tournament for men took place last Tuesday evening. Teams 5 and 6 crossed swords and also 7 and 8. The scores were small doubtless due to the fact that spring is no near at hand. Team 6 took three points from 5 and 8 took three from 7. Davidson got a string of 101, Cameron 105, Wallace 100, Pratt 107, Clark 102, Hunkins 103. Davis had the highest strike 113.

The mixed tournament is moving swiftly. Teams 4 and 10 lead, each with 14 won and 4 lost, followed by team 10, 13 won and 5 lost, team 2 with 12 won and 9 lost and team 3 with 11 won and 10 lost.

Next Saturday evening, there will be given a movie entitled, "Herbert Hoover the Man." Jack Lemeris, who has been in intimate touch with Hoover for some years, having been with him during the War, while he was in Russia on food relief and various other places, will explain the pictures. Lemeris was held as a prisoner in Russia and escaped with much difficulty to Vienna. He was in many of the countries of Europe during the troublesome days and will tell about his perilous adventures. Regular Saturday night luncheon, followed by cards, pool, billiards, bowling, ping pong and a general good time.

FIRESIDE NOTES

Among those entertaining special dinner parties this week were Mrs. Sylvester Taylor, Miss Natalie Jewett and Mrs. Walker Jones entertained her bridge club at luncheon.

Hereafter, there will be a regular luncheon and luncheonette special served at noon, also catering for luncheons. At night there will be two price choice of dinners. Sunday dinner is also served from 12:30 to 2:30.

The Fireside is ideally laid out to take care of luncheons, afternoon or evening entertaining, having two dining rooms, large reception hall with good floors and three fireplaces. There seems to be more demand at present for home cooked food to take out than for inside table service and plans are being considered to take care of that type of business.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE

The Easter Sunrise service which created so much favorable comment a year ago is to be repeated by the Young People's Inter-Church Federation this Sunday morning at 7:30 a. m. at the entrance to the Fells just opposite the headquarters of the Winchester Boy Scouts. Everyone is urged to be present and participate in this unique service.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

List of Contagious Diseases reported to the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, March 28 as follows:

Disease	Cases
Dog Bite	1
Pulmonary T. B.	1
Lobar Pneumonia	1
Mumps	14

Maurice Dinneen, Agent

The mission for men which closed last Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church was as usual very well attended. It was conducted this year by the Dominican Fathers.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Easter services at the Second Congregational Church will be made doubly enjoyable this year by the appearance of handsome new hymnals which are up to date in every respect. A special "christening" service for the new books is being arranged by the pastor of the Second Congregational Church, Rev. John E. Whitley, for next Sunday, April 6.

The old double row of seats which for some years have stood along the first and third base lines of the diamond on Manchester Field have been removed by the Park Department. They are to be replaced by the stands which have been used for football and the change will be welcome.

Mr. Bert Pease is reported to be critically ill with blood poisoning at his home on Myrtle street.

Miss Wehmelina Knapp was able to return Wednesday to her home on Chestnut street after being confined to the Winchester Hospital for four weeks with a broken ankle.

John Conlon of Somerville, who for the past six months has been stationed as one of the day gate tenders in the center, left town yesterday afternoon, he having been transferred to a new location by the Boston & Maine Railroad. As an appreciation of his efficient service and unfailing good nature he was presented shortly before his departure with a handsome pipe and large carton of tobacco by his friends about the square.

There was a good attendance at the regular luncheon and meeting of the Rotary Club of Winchester yesterday noon, with visitors from Woburn and other clubs present. Plans for a coming ladies' entertainment were discussed, and it seems very possible that the club will entertain at the Wayside Inn within a few weeks. Several matters of club business were discussed.

A friend of the Second Congregational Church who wishes his name withheld has volunteered the money to provide granolithic sidewalks in front and at the side of the church edifice at the corner of Washington street and Kenwin road. When installed these walks will add much to the attractiveness and accessibility of the society's property.

The box, taken from the recently discovered cornerstone of the old Prince School building with the voting list which was contained therein will be on exhibition in the window of the Star Office through the courtesy of Mr. Walter H. Dotten of the Board of Selectmen until Monday evening.

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Arthur Withersell Reynolds of 13 Everett Avenue and Gwendolen Brooks of Porter road, Andover.

Another set of files has been installed in the office of the Town Clerk, the old equipment being inadequate to care for the influx of data made necessary by the new form of government.

Miss Cora M. Quimby, Town Librarian is still confined to her bed by illness.

Miss Bara Baugher of Rangleey left this week for several week's stay in Bermuda.

Mr. J. Gordon Hindes returned Wednesday night from Dartmouth for his Easter vacation.

Plans are being made to accommodate a capacity attendance at the annual installation ceremonies of Winchester Lodge of Elks, to be held on Tuesday evening in Lyceum Hall at 8 o'clock. The installing officer is to be Edward F. Burns, P. E. R., of Cambridge Lodge and suite, with Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton acting as Grand Esquire. Fred Strachan and his Elks' Orchestra will furnish music.

F. H. Beldoen of Bacon street has been awarded honors for the last quarter at Exeter Academy.

The Fitzgerald brothers, big "Jim" and "Nicky," are candidates for the varsity nine at Tufts, the former having been the leading slugger of the Jumbos for the past two seasons. "Harpy" has a bit of difficulty with the college office to iron out before he will be able to take his regular place in the lineup. Both he and "Nicky" are candidates for the first base job.

Traffic Officer John H. Noonan of the Police Department was this week presented with a new stool for his "sentry box," the gift of an admirer Woburn friend.

John W. Page of this town was one of the freshmen recently initiated into the Zeta Psi fraternity at Williams College.

Anthony V. Bruno of 24 Chester street reported to the police that while he was driving a Ford sedan north on Main street at 5:45 last Monday afternoon his machine was in collision with an Essex coach which was about to enter the Mayflower Gasoline Filling Station and which was owned and driven by W. E. Cox of 8 Myrtle street.

Postmaster and Mrs. George H. Lochman of Kenwin road are entertaining this week Mrs. Walter Clafin and her two daughters of Kennebunk, Me.

A Ford coupe, owned by Archie MacDonald of 968 Main street and in charge of his brother, Augustine, of the same address was in collision last Saturday evening on upper Main street with a Ford truck, the property of Richardson's Market and driven by James Hall of Glen road. According to MacDonald's report to the police his machine was standing at the side of the road when the accident occurred.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hammond of Vine street are expressing much regret over losing such quiet and kindly neighbors. The couple expect to occupy their new home in Cambridge next week, and all join in wishing them happiness and prosperity in the venture.

WINCHESTER MEN HOSTS TO AUSTRALIAN BOYS

Six young men, members of the Young Australia League, who are in this country on an American-Canadian tour, were guests in Winchester this week, having been entertained at the homes of Messrs. Alfred H. Marchant, Arthur T. Downer and George E. Willey. The local men are all members of Boston Rotary which sponsored the visit of the youthful "Aussies" to Boston. The young visitors were received by the Governor in the Hall of Flags at the State House and otherwise extended the freedom of the city. In Winchester the boys were paired at the Marchant, Downer and Willey homes, Mr. Marchant drawing in addition the care of the Burro mascot, presented the young Australians while they were guests in Arizona and which arrived in Winchester wearing a blue blanket bearing in gold the words, "On My Way to Australia, a gift from Arizona." The special train bearing the boys to Montreal last night was stopped on its way through town, its advent being heralded by the prolonged shrilling of the engine whistle. District Governor Albert K. Comins and Past President Alfred H. Marchant of the Boston Rotary burned red and green flares on the grounds of their estates while the train was met by delegations from the local Rotary.

Previous to leaving Boston the youthful Australians were guests of President C. F. Adams at the Boston Bruins—New York Rangers hockey game at the Boston Garden.

FEELING OF APPRECIATION

To the Editor of the Star:

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my highest gratitude and thanks to those who voted for me in Precinct 1 as a Town Meeting member. As we all know of the keen interest and the close competition of the many candidates in trying to gain a place in our new form of Town Government, and of myself being just one vote short of election, I found it feasible and only right to demand a recount in Precinct 1, and at this recount the result was changed and I gained one vote which tied me with the 33rd member, Mr. Frederick W. Trombly. This seemed to confuse things all the more, and the situation had to be settled by a majority vote of the remaining 32 members. On last Friday evening at the George Washington School, 20 of the 22 members present voted for me to be elected, for which I wish to thank them most heartily. I consider this a positive proof that the members wished all persons in the precinct to have a fair representation. I fully sense the situation and I hope all those whom I represent do likewise.

It is often said that self-praise is half scandal. Right here I would like to scandalize myself a little by saying that all my life I have tried to put the best foot foremost and I have generally succeeded. I was captain of the baseball and track team at Higgins, my prep school in Maine, and also represented it on the debating team. I represented the high school here in Winchester on the baseball team. I also played on the Town baseball team. I still hold the interscholastic broad jump record in the State of Maine. While still managing my mason contracting business I attended Harvard and for four years the Suffolk Law School. But of all the things enumerated above, I can say with deep sincerity that none of them afford me so much feeling of appreciation as the fact that those big minded members of Precinct 1 almost unanimously elected me to be one of them, which I shall not forget. All I can say is that I thank you.

EDWIN L. BOOTH

Edwin L. Booth, a successful Boston contractor, passed away yesterday afternoon at his home, 18 Sheffield road, following a painful illness of more than a year's duration.

Mr. Booth was born 59 years ago in South Boston. He was educated in the Boston schools and made his home in Dorchester before coming to Winchester about five years ago. He was a Mason and had other affiliations of a business and social nature. His sterling character had won for him the esteem of a large circle of friends.

Besides his wife, who was Miss Margaret Smith, Mr. Booth leaves a son, Edwin C. Booth, a senior at Harvard; two sisters, Mrs. Harry Stark of South Boston and Mrs. Frank Moore of Brighton and a brother, William Booth of Dorchester.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late residence. Interment will be in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE

The Young People's Inter-Church Federation will hold its annual Easter Sunrise service, Sunday morning at 7:30 a. m. in the Fells opposite the Boy Scout headquarters. The service will start promptly and will consist of familiar hymns sung by all. Printed leaflets will be furnished with hymns and order of service. The singing will be accompanied by a saxophone of the town will take part in the service. This service should be of interest to all the townspeople. Make a point to get up and be present. This is a fine way to start the holiest day of the year. The Young People's Inter-Church Federation stands for a closer union amongst the various denominations and here is one of its theories in practice. The meeting is in charge of Gordon E. Gillette, president; Deborah Gilbert, Donald Bates, Olive Seller.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID DATES ANNOUNCED

Concord, Belmont and Maynard, New Teams on List

Winchester High School's football schedule for 1929, recently made public by Faculty Director of Athletics Wendell D. Mansfield lists ten games five of which are to be played on Manchester Field. Several changes appear to make for a stronger schedule next fall than that played during the past season.

The locals, as usual, will open with Stoneham but instead of engaging Reading in the second game of the season will oppose Concord High School on Manchester Field. Winchester has been booking Concord in baseball and track during past seasons and the appearance of the Concord eleven in Winchester should arouse much interest. Reading felt after the game last fall that Coach Mansfield's boys were too strong for its club and scheduling Concord seems a happy solution of the problem from all angles.

The Arlington game next fall will be followed by what will prove another tough engagement with Belmont High. Winchester's rivalry with Belmont in basketball and baseball has been keen for several years now and the addition of a football game between the two schools is most desirable. Local fans have wanted Belmont on the high school's schedule and will be pleased to see "Polly" Harris' boys on Manchester Field.

Belmont replaces Lexington, and it goes without saying that the game in the historic town last fall had plenty to do with Winchester's decision to make a change another year. The sort of football shown by Lexington in 1928 is not the sort against which Coach Mansfield wishes to send his boys.

Wakefield, Melrose and Watertown follow Belmont in that order and then occurs another change in the local list of engagements. Maynard High School will play on Manchester Field next fall in place of Howe High of Billerica and once again the new seems preferable to the old booking.

So far as we can recall Maynard has never played before in Winchester and from that standpoint its game should prove interesting. They grow 'em big and rugged down Maynard way and the newcomers ought to prove much more difficult than Billerica.

Saugus at Saugus should give the locals a breathing space before the Woburn game which will be played in 1929 at Winchester on Thanksgiving Day.

The complete schedule follows:
Sept. 28—Stoneham at Stoneham.
Oct. 5—Concord at Winchester
12—Arlington at Arlington*
19—Belmont at Winchester
26—Wakefield at Wakefield*
Nov. 2—Melrose at Melrose*
9—Watertown at Winchester*
16—Maynard at Winchester
23—Saugus at Saugus
28—Woburn at Winchester*

NORWICH BOYS AT HOME

"Joe" Tansey and "Lead" O'Donnell are in town with the latter's brother, "Charlie," to enjoy their spring vacation from Norwich University. "Muggins" and "Lead" are sporting handsome gold footballs, the gift of the University and emblematic of the Vermont State football championship which was won last fall by the Cadets.

It is seldom that a town can point at the same time to a captain and a captain-elect of a college varsity eleven, yet Winchester has been able to do so for two years now with reference to Norwich. O'Donnell will be succeeded as captain of the Cadets' eleven next fall by Tansey while the leader whom "Lead" followed was "Ty" Sherman, also a Winchester boy.

While the string will be broken next fall, it is not rash to expect that two years hence Winchester may have another captain-elect at Norwich. "Spike" O'Donnell played a stellar game at end for the yearling eleven at Norwich last fall and has the necessary fight to follow in the footsteps of his older brother.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL, BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Ralph B. Dibble of 14 Park avenue and Richard J. Clark, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 3, were unanimously elected members of the Winchester Council, Boy Scouts, at the regular monthly meeting of the Council held at the Winchester Country Club Tuesday evening. Mr. Dibble was assigned to the publicity committee.

The Council voted to hold its summer camp this year, as usual. Definite plans have not been made, but the camp will probably be near Belfast, Me.

The Scout Executive, Arthur E. Butters, was directed to investigate the possibility and advisability of establishing new troops in Winchester, especially a troop centered at the Unitarian Church and a troop made up of colored boys.

Plans were discussed at the meeting to have the boys do reforestation work, either near the Winchester reservoirs or at some tract distant from Winchester. The possibility of annual reward hikes was also discussed. These hikes would be held each year to the White Mountains or some distant point and the boys who were highest in the scout work would be permitted to go.

Plans were made for the Scouts to take an active part in the Easter Sunrise service to be held in front of the Scout headquarters, at South Border road. The headquarters will be open, the flag will be flying and probably the new Scout band will play.

The Council authorized the transfer of David Fitts from Troop 2 to Troop 3.

There will be a Scout hike to Shaker Glen and an inter-troop baseball game tomorrow, Saturday morning.

Bernard Gaffney, Troop 4, has become a second class Scout.

Because this is Good Friday, Troop 4 will not meet tonight. The last meeting of the Troop showed, according to the Scoutmaster, that the Troop will need to emphasize its work on accuracy in signalling.

In the recent festival of the States parade at St. Petersburg, Fla., a Winchester lady, Mrs. Mary B. Fleming of Glen road, was the queen of the float of the Shuffle Board Club. This float was one of the show pieces of the parade and took third prize.

TRACK MEN START WORK AT HIGH SCHOOL

Winchester High School's track team, which made such a good showing last year, has been hard at work in-doors for the past two weeks in preparation for the opening of the outdoor season April 29, when the locals will engage in a dual meet with Arlington High at Arlington.

Coach Mansfield has two letter men from last year available for his team in Shaw and Dean. Haley, West, Allen, Razee, Hammerstrom and Brown were all members of the squad a year ago.

Not much of a line can be obtained on the new material until regular outdoor work has been inaugurated, but with a large squad taking unusual interest it is safe to expect several good men to be developed.

Following is the complete list of candidates: W. Abbott, N. Whiting, K. West, W. Allen, V. Tarquine, R. Dean, W. Stacker, W. Hickey, A. Razee, W. Brown, P. Shiverick, P. Welburn, G. Crosby, W. Morrison, W. Weldon, S. Jackson, W. Anderson, J. Lutes, R. Shaw, J. Haley, W. Roberts, H. Purcell, W. Moore, R. Whiting, R. Yeo, P. Gaffney, F. Hitchcock, L. Latremore, D. Hammerstrom, E. Hitchborn, H. McCormack and B. Burwell.

The schedule includes:

April
29 Arlington at Arlington.
May
12 Watertown at Winchester.
17 Harvard Interscholastics.
17 Wakefield at Wakefield.
21 Concord at Concord.
24 Mystic Valley Interscholastics at Arlington.
Woburn, Lexington and Melrose pending.

WESTERN MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETING

The Western Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church will meet on Thursday April 4, from 10 to 4. The ladies are requested to bring their own box lunches. Coffee will be served. Strangers are always welcome.

Mrs. S. W. H. Taylor of Bacon street and Miss Helen M. White of Manchester, N. H., sailed from Boston last Saturday for Norfolk, Va. After visiting Richmond and Charlottesville, they will motor to Boston stopping at Washington and New York.

METHODIST CHORUS HEARD IN STAINER'S "CRUCIFIXION"

The chorus choir of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church under the direction of Organist and Choir Director J. Albert Wilson, presented "The Crucifixion" by J. Stainer on Palm Sunday afternoon in the church auditorium. The soloists were Raymond Graham, tenor, and Walter Kidder, bass. The church, with the exception of the very front benches, was well filled.

Palm Sunday marked the first appearance, other than at a regular church service, of the Methodist choir since Mr. Wilson assumed direction of the group and its initial effort was noteworthy.

The chorus sang intelligently, with splendid balance, fine tone and a nice appreciation of attack and phrasing. The fidelity to pitch in the unaccompanied passage, "God So Loved the World" was remarkable and with the tonal shading in "The Processional to Calvary" displayed the painstaking training to which the chorus has been subjected.

Mr. Graham exhibited in his solo work a pleasing tenor voice of great possibilities. When it is recalled that but a few years ago he was singing as a choir boy under Mr. Wilson at the Church of the Epiphany his performance Sunday may be considered exceptional. A much more experienced tenor might well have suffered by comparison with the magnificent voice of Mr. Kidder.

This last named eminent basso sang with all the beauty of tone and splendid diction which has characterized his previous appearances in Winchester. Mr. Kidder's artistry and voice control were admirably displayed, alike in his solo passages and in the duets with Mr. Graham. Once more last Sunday as a year ago he thrilled his hearers with his splendid singing of Faure's "Palm Branches."

Mr. Wilson, under the most trying of conditions, played organ accompaniments which greatly enhanced the effectiveness of both ensemble and soloists. As a prelude he played the Con Moto Maestoso, Allegro and Allegretto movements from Handel's Concerto in C Minor. As a postlude he played the "March Pontificale" by Widor.

The Poppy

According to mythology, the poppy was created by Ceres in order that she might forget grief in the sleep it produced. The Romans regarded the flower as a symbol of death and dedicated it to Somnus, god of sleep.

Superstition looks upon the poppies that bloom on battlefields as the blood of the slain soldiers. A strange fact about the flower is that it does not agree with other blooms, and if placed in a bouquet with them will either wilt itself or cause them to wilt, or both.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL UNDER WAY

With the first baseball game with Lexington scheduled for Saturday, April 6, Coach Wendell D. Mansfield has been keeping his high school ball tossers pretty much on the jump for the past week in an effort to size up the new material upon which he must depend to fill the gaps left by the graduation of Halwartz, Murphy, McNeil, Knowlton, Ghirardini, Taylor, Franklin and "Archa" Amico.

Winchester is not especially well off for veterans this season, there being available as a nucleus only Capt. "Pete" Coss, first baseman; "Skinny" Kendrick, second baseman; "Dusty" Ambrose, center fielder; and "Olio" Lee, pitcher. Amico, Emery, Lynch, Colpas and Kerrigan, catchers; Robinson, pitcher; Godfrey, Tompkins, Dolan, Diminico, Smith, O'Connell, infielders; and McCue, Rushworth, Murphy and Elliott, outfielders are promising candidates with at least a year's second team experience who should make strong bids for first team jobs this spring. McKeering, Procopio, Barksdale, Donovan and McKee are freshman candidates who look good.

It is largely upon the good right arm of "Olio" Lee that Winchester must depend to get its nine very far along the winning way this season. The club at best will lack experience and has no batter in sight to equal the reliable McNeil. In Lee, however, if one is to judge by what this sturdy youngster showed last summer, the locals have easily the best pitching prospect in the Mystic Valley League and if a catcher, capable of holding him can be produced, Winchester's opponents will find it plenty hard to bunch their worth-while bingles.

While working for the Town Team during last vacation Lee held his own with much better batters than any he is likely to face in schoolboy competition and allowing for improvement "Olio" should rank the circuit twelfthers this spring.

Pitching alone will not win ball games and Coach Mansfield is giving his charges plenty of batting practice in an effort to bolster his club's offense. The boys are to have the advantage of a new batting cage this spring which should help.

Following is the complete schedule for 1929:

April
6 Lexington at Winchester.
13 Stoneham at Winchester.
21 Concord at Winchester.
27 Arlington at Winchester.
30 Reading at Reading.
May
4 Wakefield at Wakefield.
8 Winchester at Lexington.
11 Woburn at Winchester.
15 Watertown at Winchester.
18 Arlington at Arlington.
22 Melrose at Melrose.
25 Wakefield at Winchester.
29 Watertown at Watertown.
June
1 Woburn at Woburn.
5 Melrose at Winchester.

INTERESTING FINDPrince School Cornerstone Yields Treasures

The finding of the cornerstone of the old Prince School, formerly the high school of the town, last Monday revealed documentary treasures of by-gone days which will prove of interest now and in the future. Old newspapers and reports, dating from the first printed documents of the town up to the month of May 1866, the time of the laying of the corner-stone of the school, are now in the possession of the Selectmen, who are selecting a suitable place to store them.

The cornerstone was discovered by Selectman Walter T. Dotten and Town Engineer James Hinds. They were looking over the old cellar with a view of salvaging some of the granite foundation stones before filling the hole up and grading it over. Engineer Hinds spotted the stone, which he remarked had the resemblance of a cornerstone. Securing a sledge hammer he soon had the cavity in the top open, revealing a copper box about 5x5x16 inches.

The box was taken to the Town Hall and opened. Its contents were in only a fair state of preservation, for the box was not absolutely sealed, its edges being only crimped and not soldered. Dampness had destroyed some of its contents and mutilated others. The contents were carefully removed and spread out on tables to dry.

Included in the decipherable contents of the box were:

A voting list dated March 2, 1866 and signed by the Selectmen, D. N. Skillings, O. R. Clark and S. W. Twombly.
"Daily Evening Traveller" of May 21, 1866.
"Boston Post" of May 21, 1866.
"Boston Morning Journal" of May 21, 1866.
"Boston Daily Advertiser" of May 21, 1866.
"New York Tribune" of May 19, 1866.
"New York World" of May 19, 1866.
List of Town Officers of 1866.
Reports of School Committee from 1850 to 1866.

Valuation Lists from 1850 to 1866.
Town Reports from 1850 to 1866.
A book of State or County reports.

The list of town officers was somewhat decomposed, but the following names could be deciphered:

Selectmen D. N. Skillings, O. R. Clark, S. W. Twombly.
Town Clerk, George T. Brown.
Treasurer, Stephen C. Cutter.
Collector of Taxes, Milo Cushman.
Assessors, Albert Ayer, Charles Pressey, A. H. Field.

Auditors, Stephen Thompson, E. A. Wadleigh, A. K. Joy.
Constables, F. H. Johnson, John Oliver.
School Committee, Dr. E. Windsor, Dr. Chapman, Rev. H. Hinkley.

Other names are attached to this paper which cannot be read.

There was no program of exercises relating to the laying of the corner-stone other than a part of a printed program with the words "Congrega-tional Church." It is thought possible that this may be the program of exercises.

There were evidently papers in the box other than those mentioned, but these were too far decayed to be made out.

There was no bottle in the box and evidently no liquor was stored away. The Prince School was used as the High School for many years. Upon the erection of our present High School in 1904 it was used for inter-mediate grades, and in 1925 was razed upon the completion of our new schools now in use.

JOHN R. RUSSELL ELECTED IN PRECINCT 1

At last Friday evening's meeting held in the George Washington School John R. Russell was elected to complete the quota of 33 delegates to the limited town meeting from Precinct 1. Mr. Russell, at the polls on March 4, failed of election by a single vote and asked a recount. On the recount he was tied with Fred W. Trombley and last Friday's meeting was held to decide the tie. Mr. Russell, by vir-tue of his election, becomes the first colored man to serve the town as a precinct delegate.

The meeting held in the Wyman School last Friday evening to deter-mine the tie existing among Fred C. Alexander, Charles A. Lane and Wil-liam S. Packer for three year terms as delegates from Precinct 4 resulted in Messrs. Alexander and Packer be-ing chosen. Mr. Lane automatically becomes a delegate for two years.

Precincts 2, 3 and 5 were unable to decide their existing ties as a result of having no quorums present at their meetings last Friday evening. Meet-ings for the delegates in these three precincts have been called for Monday evening, 2 and 5 to meet in the Town Hall and Precinct 3 in the Mystic School.

STOLEN TRUCK RECOVERED IN WINCHESTER

While patrolling his beat in the center last Saturday night Officer Henry P. Dempsey of the Police De-partment noticed a White truck stand-ing on Waterfield road, without lights and apparently abandoned.

A check-up at headquarters dis-closed the fact that the machine was the property of the Joseph Burnett Company of South Boston, manufac-turers of flavoring extracts. Through the police of Station 6, South Boston, General Manager A. D. Lawrence of the Burnett Company was located and from him the local authorities learned that the truck was supposed to be in its garage. The machine was taken to the Central Garage to await its owners.

A further investigation disclosed that it had been stolen, apparently to transport four drums of alcohol which had also been stolen from the South Boston warehouse of the Burnett Company. The thieves abandoned the machine after transporting the alcohol to its destination.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

In "The Case of Lena Smith," which opened a three day run at the big Granada Theater in Malden last night, Esther Ralston has her greatest dramatic opportunity and she grasps it with all the talent which has made her one of the outstanding mo-tion picture actresses of the day. James Hall, the popular young lead-ing man, has the chief supporting role and the versatile Fred Kohler has an important role. The color, the life, the people of gay Vienna are faith-fully represented. The feature of the five act vaudeville bill for the last half of this week is John Agee's Lib-erty performing horses. Mr. Agee was for 20 years the ring-master with Ringling's Circus and his act is one of the most beautiful on the stage. The huge bull which was at one time the property of Rudolph Valentino also appears on the stage and goes through a routine of tricks.

"Lady of the Pavements," with Lupe Velez and William Boyd as the stars, will be the special screen fea-ture the Granada will offer starting Easter Monday. This Velez girl has been the sensation of the year in film circles. William Boyd is the man of her choice and he makes a striking figure in court uniform. "The Hill Billies," featuring Art Hall, a company of five men who present a slice of life in the raw, will be the vaude-ville feature for the first three days of next week. These men come from the heart of the Ozark Mountains and up until six months ago they had never seen a railroad train.

WINCHESTER EXHIBITORS WON AT WORCESTER SHOW

Entries from the stables of Harry Good and A. K. Danforth of this town won the lion's share of awards in the sixth annual indoor horse show of the Turkey Hill Polo and Riding Club, held last Friday and Saturday evenings at the Oread Riding Club, Worcester. Nearly all of the blooded sad-dle horses, jumpers and ponies of Worcester and vicinity were entered but in most cases were outclassed by the local entries which were put through their paces by the Misses Ruth Good, Marjorie Danforth and Martha and Joan Harding. Little Joan, who observed her 10th birthday on the Saturday previous to the show, was as usual the darling of the gallery who loudly applauded the Winchester girl's skill in the handling of her mounts.

A successful golf club boy said, "Learning to keep records has been one of the most important lessons to me." Some of the rest of us might profit by this remark.—Exchange.

His First Chance

The foreman of the roadmenders had been taken ill suddenly, and his right-hand man, Patrick O'Casey, was duly promoted to the post temporarily. On the foreman's subsequent return he was surprised to find Patrick the only man working, and inquired as to the absence of the others.

"Where's all the boys, Pat?"
"O' sacker I'vey man o' them," replied the Irishman, with a grin. "It's not often Oi have a chance of show-ing the authority; but, bedad, Oi made the most of my opportunity yisterday to be sure"—London Answers.

Legend Shows Indians' High Sense of Humor

A stoic he may have been but in many of the hardships that made him stoical the American Indian displayed a humorous appreciation of the de-sperate situation that ranked him with the best of all philosophers—those who can and do laugh at life. Wit-ness his legend of the naming of Tusquittie Bald, a mountain in western North Carolina.

Long, long ago a great drought seared the very heart of summer in the Appalachian country, many moun-tain streams drying up so that large numbers of fish and animals perished. One day a hunter, throat parched, but canny in seeking a deep-water hole where there might be sustenance, his arrows could obtain, heard strange voices nearby. Stepping in that di-rection, he discovered it was two water dogs. They were walking about on their hind legs on the dry bottom of their pond and discussing the drought.

One of them said to the other, "Where is the water? I am so thirsty that my apron (meaning his gills, pre-sumably) hangs down almost to the ground and I fear I shall tread upon it."

Then both water dogs laughed. "It's just a means, therefore," "Where the water dogs laughed."—Detroit News.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meeting of The Fortnightly was held March 25, the vice-president Mrs. Christine E. Hayden presiding. Mrs. Alice S. Jenkins reported the receipt of $82.14 at the food sale held at the previous meeting. Mrs. Annette Hughes gave a most interesting account of the Youth Conference held at the Hotel Statler. It was voted to adopt as the official song of the Fortnightly the new club song, the words and music of which were written by Miss Amy Bridgman. This song had received the prize offered by the president, Mrs. Marion P. Powers, and awarded through the Literature Committee. The song was then sung by Mrs. Hughes.

Mrs. Harriet C. S. Hildreth gave the report of the Nominating Committee. Very sincere regret was expressed that Mrs. Marion P. Powers finds that her health will not allow her to assume the duties of president for the coming year. Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, who has so ably and graciously filled the office during Mrs. Powers' illness, has consented to allow her name to be used on the ballot.

The program for the afternoon opened with the following group of songs by Mr. George H. Wheeler of Boston accompanied by Mrs. Leona Beck: "I Hear You Calling Me"..... Marshall "I Passed By Your Window"..... Brake "Until"..... Sanderson

In response to the very cordial applause he sang "The Little Lilac Garden" by Osgood.

Miss Georgiana Barbara Such, the lecturer upon the subject, "Biskra and Beyond" appeared in the picturesque costume of a bride of the African tribe of which she had been made a member. She chose Biskra as her point of departure into desert places, and her intimate knowledge of the country and the people was gained through months of close contact and study. Her work of establishing a hospital in this country where dirt and disease have been unchecked and ignorance and prejudice prevail, was a most enlightening story. Her actual experiences brought very vividly to her audience the evils of the customs among the tribes and especially the degradation of the women and little girls. A keen appreciation of human nature, a sense of humor, and a knowledge of what seemed an impossible language, saved many a difficult situation for this unusual explorer and messenger of good. In closing, Miss Such made an eloquent appeal to American women to appreciate their privileges and their power to influence a Christian country in bearing its high responsibility in the world at large.

Literature Committee
The final meeting of the Literature Group for this season will be held on Monday, April 1, at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall. The subject under consideration will be "American Humorists of Yesterday and Today." The program is in charge of Mrs. Irene D. Clarke assisted by Mrs. Anna M. Swanson and Mrs. Myrtle L. Hodge.

Art Committee
Members of the club are reminded that the visit to the new wing of the Museum of Fine Arts is scheduled for April 3. Those wishing to attend are requested to meet the Art Committee at 2 o'clock at the Museum.

WINCHESTER GIRL HONORED AT WHEATON

Miss Katherine Carlisle of this town, a junior at Wheaton, has been elected president of the college athletic association for the coming year. After an unusually brilliant athletic career in high school "Kay" has continued her successes in the realm of college sports and has been an outstanding performer in field hockey, tennis and basketball at Norton. During the past year she has captained the varsity basketball sextet and was a member of the college field hockey eleven. From a non competitive angle she has served as treasurer of the college athletic association and her election to the presidency comes as an honor fairly earned. Miss Carlisle is to spend the summer at the Harvard summer school where she is to be assistant coach of basketball, having held a similar post a year ago. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Carlisle of 1 Mt. Pleasant street.

WAS FORMER PASTOR OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. John R. Chaffee, aged 59, who died Monday in a Lowell hospital, following an operation, was formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Winchester, serving here from April 1907, until April 1911, when he was transferred. He had been for 34 years a Methodist minister, holding pastorates in Springfield, Forest Hills and other New England communities. At the time of his death he was pastor of the Highland Methodist Episcopal Church in Lowell. Following the operation many of his parishioners submitted to blood transfusions in an effort to save Rev. Mr. Chaffee's life.

MISS AVERY CLOSES HER LECTURE COURSE

Miss Eunice Avery, on March 26, gave her last lecture of the season. After paying a tribute to Marshal Foch and touching briefly on the royal marriage uniting the families of Norway and Sweden, Miss Avery spoke on the Mexican situation and the World Court.

Miss Avery is sailing on April 24 for a trip to India and hopes to bring back much interesting information from that fascinating, and to many of us, mysterious country. In the fall she will start her eighth year of lectures in Winchester.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

Training School News

The Superintendent of the Winchester Hospital is very appreciative of several steps that have been taken recently in recognizing the importance of a training school in a community.

A well equipped training school becomes an educational unit of great value. It has quite outgrown the old idea that student nurses were gathered together merely to provide an inexpensive way of caring for the patients. It must now give its students a very comprehensive and worth-while course of study.

A recent gift of $100 from a patient and her husband is to be used, at their request for the training school. Such a generous gift gives practical proof of this new appreciation of modern conditions.

The Alumnae of the Winchester Hospital are planning to help future students by giving equipment for the practical classroom. This will be a unit to be used in instructing the nurses in their care of patients and will consist of an up-to-date hospital bed, bed-side table, chair and additional practice equipment.

The Alumnae are going to hold a dance at Waterfield Hall on April 5 in the interest of the hospital.

The student nurses at the hospital believe in helping improve their classroom. They, in turn, are hoping to raise money to cover the cost of buying three teaching models that will supplement the work in the lecture room. These are to be magnified models of the eye, the ear and the brain.

They are giving, for this purpose, a large bridge on Thursday evening, April 11 at the Nurses' home. The tables are $5 apiece and there are still tables to sell for the evening. Tickets may be obtained from the Superintendent of the hospital.

Take your wits and your brains to the Nurses' home, April 11 and meet the student body of the Winchester Hospital. They will give you a royal welcome.

Power of Field Glass

The magnification of a field glass is never given in terms of the distance through which one can see through the glass, which depends upon conditions of the atmosphere, quality of the field glass, and size of the object in the field. The power of a field glass ranges usually from six to sixteen times.

Earliest Use of Gold

The use of gold as ornaments first suggested its subsequent use as money and that finally made it the standard upon which the coinage of the world is based. Cubes of gold employed by the Chinese may have been the earliest coins, but modern authorities accept the theory that gold as coins was first used by the Lydians.

Mud Walls of House Defy Time's Ravages

Near Stella, Amherst Island, at the eastern extremity of Lake Ontario, is a mud house erected 100 years ago and probably the only one of its kind on the North American continent. It should be of archeological and historical interest because it differs from the adobe brick houses of the South west in that the mud walls were molded in one place. They were evidently built in a form, and the clay, mixed with straw, was tamped into place with saplings imbedded about six inches apart. A correspondent of the Toronto Globe says the house was built for a British army officer who sent to Ireland for a mechanic skilled in such construction. In the latter country there are many similar houses, other building material being scarce.

The walls of the Amherst Island house were made eleven feet high and four feet thick and were originally plastered, but now are protected by clapboards. Other than that no changes or repairs have been made in the century of its existence.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

How many Winchesterites remember when this was a popular song: "Do they miss me at home, do they miss me at home?"

It would be an assurance most dear, To know that someone was saying: I only wish he were here.

To feel that the group at the fireside Were thinking of me as I roam, O, that would be joy beyond measure To know that they miss me at home."

How many Winchesterites are able to recall the days of old when the dictates of etiquette required a gentleman to ask permission before smoking in the presence of the fair sex?

We agree most emphatically with the remark of one townsman, that one of the compensations of March is the absence of mosquitoes.

Once a Winchesterite's skin and ribs were skinned, Now they know a rounded fatness. He'd exchange his little tummy For a bit of boyish fatness.

Diet articles—this Winchesterite reads them. Helpful hints they are advertising. Pass the pork and beans! He needs them! Pork is kind of appetizing!

Butter on his bread? Why, no, sir! An uncompromising fact. Order noodles from the grocer! A Winchesterite is on a diet!

How many Winchesterites remember the days when Monday was wash-day and Tuesday ironing day and Saturday our Winchester housewives baked bread?

And by the way, do you remember when it was considered a musical accomplishment to play the zither?

"Star Reader" writes in to inquire if we have seen a husband and his wife going together to a barber shop for a hair cut. No, we haven't but we are sure there would be something intimate and sweetly suggestive of perfect unity in such a sight.

Ominous news comes from New Jersey, where a woman has testified that a medium helped her find her lost violin. Pretty soon, we suppose, some medium will be doing the same for some Winchester saxophonist.

It is not surprising that the Winchesterite who thinks a lot of himself has so poor an estimate of others. The contemplation of his own greatness makes everybody, by comparison, appear small and cheap.

That Winchesterite who improves his time and his opportunity improves himself.

It is a mistake to say that everything has gone up. The price of liberty is still the same; the wages of sin are still the same; salvation is free as it always has been, and the price of The Star is still seven cents a copy.

All the good men of Winchester do not belong to the church, and on the other hand, all the bad men are not out of the church.

WINCHESTER "CASEYS" HELD COMMUNION BREAKFAST

The 32nd annual communion breakfast of Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus was held last Sunday morning in Waterfield Hall. Members of the Council received Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass in St. Mary's Church, marching in a body at the conclusion of the service to the hall where the breakfast was served by a caterer.

Grand Knight Arthur E. A. King acted as toastmaster and those who responded to toasts included James M. Clarke, Edward F. Maguire, Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, P. G. K., Philip J. Gallagher of Woburn, district deputy and James J. Mullen, assistant clerk of the Municipal Court in Charlestown. In the course of his remarks Grand Knight King announced that an extensive membership drive would at once engage the attention of the Council.

Those seated at the head table with the toastmaster, Doctor Sheehy, Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Mullen were Arthur W. Day, deputy grand knight; John Lynch, Edward F. Maguire and Thomas Lynch, charter members of the council; Frank Rogers, P. G. K.; Luke P. Glendon, P. G. K.; Patrick Kennealey of Malden, P. G. K.; Frank Davis, P. G. K. and Frank Dinneen.

A FINE TESTIMONY

Writing to the State Commission for the Protection of Children and Animals, Charles H. Kelly, Chief of the Pasadena Police Department, says:

"In my years of experience as a patrolman, detective, chief of detectives and chief of police, I have become firmly convinced that one of the greatest influences for the prevention of crime would be to have the public schools instill into the minds of the young that they be kind and sympathetic to all persons and all helpless creatures. Teach them the doctrine of love and sympathy for every living thing. This will have a greater moral effect on the minds of the young than any other element of training. An impression made on a child between the ages of 6 and 16 usually has a lasting influence either for good or evil during its entire lifetime."

We are glad to announce that Mr. Quinn Superintendent of Schools states that this year as in former years the anniversary of "Be Kind to Dumb Animals Week" will be fittingly observed in our schools.

Your committee is soliciting pictures of pets to be placed in the store windows about town. Further information later.

Drastic English Law

The "act of pains and penalties" is an act of legislation passed in England providing for the imposition of punishment without trial upon anyone clearly guilty of treason or similar serious crimes. No capital punishment, however, can be imposed under this statute. In the United States such legislation never has been enacted, nor ever could be, since there is a constitutional clause forbidding all bills of attainder.

TOWN MEETING CONCLUDED WARRANT

One hundred and seventy-seven precinct members attended Monday evening's session of the annual Town Meeting which concluded the consideration of the warrant for 1929.

In opening the meeting Moderator Hayward announced that the members of Precincts 2, 3 and 5 would hold meetings on next Monday evening for the purpose of resolving existing ties which the lack of quorums prevented from being decided last Friday. There seemed to be some doubt as to whether under the new Town Meeting act quorums were necessary at such meetings, it being finally judged that they are.

Following the opening of the meeting, Mr. John Carr of the Finance Committee moved that Article 4 be reconsidered insofar as it referred to the item, insurance. The motion was successful and it was voted that of the amount, $12,579.27, appropriated under this heading, $8,733.75 be raised by revenue for insurance premiums and $3,845.52 be transferred from the excess and deficiency account to meet assessments which might be levied by mutual insurance companies.

Mr. H. Earl Richardson attempted to have the meeting reconsider the item, Assessors' Department, under Article 4 so that a salary raise might be granted the assessors' clerk. Mr. Harris Richardson opposed the reconsideration on behalf of the Finance Committee, stating that this matter had already been debated and settled. The motion to reconsider was put and lost, 40 to 100.

Article 19, postponed from the first session of the meeting, was next discussed and a motion, favored by Chairman George T. Davidson of the Park Board, was passed, authorizing the Park Board to secure from the Metropolitan District Commission the right to permit athletic associations, under the jurisdiction of the School Department, to charge admission to the seats or stands on Manchester Field when games or sports are in progress on the playground.

The meeting voted to indefinitely postpone the consideration of Article 23, relating to the disposal of the Prince School lot.

It was then voted, under a motion made by Mr. Parsons, to take up Articles 24 and 25 together, referring the subject matter to the consideration of a committee of three to be appointed by the moderator, said committee to report at the next Town Meeting. The two articles dealt with the acceptance of certain sections of the General Laws of the Commonwealth, referring to pensions for widows and children of deceased policemen and firemen, it being deemed wise to study the sections more closely before advocating their acceptance or rejection by the Town.

Article 26, relating to the authorizing members of one Town Board to serve in another Town Office until May 1, was indefinitely postponed.

Under Article 27, inserted to see if the Town will determine to what extent the term "laborers, workmen and mechanics," as used under the Workmen's Compensation Statute, shall include foremen, sub-foremen and inspectors of the town. The subject matter was voted referred to the consideration of the Selectmen for report at the next meeting.

A motion to amend the Town's building laws was introduced under Article 28, said amendment providing for plumbing construction requirements to greatly enhance the safety and sanitation of the community. Inspector Maurice Dinneen of the Board of Health spoke in favor of the motion and there was no opposition.

It was voted to defer the action on Article 29 until after the consideration of Article 39, it being deemed better to conclude the debate on street acceptance before attempting to rename the streets affected.

Following the articles on the acceptance of the streets it was voted to change the name of that portion of Madison avenue west, running north-easterly from Main street, to Madison avenue. It was also voted to change the name of Holton road to Englewood road.

Starting with Article 31 the building lines and street layouts of Cabot street, Canal street, Curtis street, Dix street, Grove place, Holton road, Hutchinson road, Lawrence street, Madison avenue west, Maple road, Middlesex street, Oxford street, Pierrepont road, Pine street, Sargent road, Swan road, Valley road, Wildwood street and Yale street were accepted by the meeting with the following appropriations for street layouts: Grove place, $2360; Holton road, $5900; Madison avenue west, $3500; Maple road, $3082; Middlesex street, $6400; Pierrepont road, $9230; Sargent road, $7611; and Valley road, $3888.

Just previous to the consideration of Article 35 it was voted to authorize the town to make slope easements in connection with such new street layouts as might require them.

Under Article 55 the sum of $65,000 was appropriated for repairs and alterations to Forest street, $34,600 to be raised by taxation and $30,400 by a temporary loan or loans. Messrs. Harris Richardson, Hinds and Doten, all spoke in favor of the appropriation.

The subject matter of Article 57 was indefinitely postponed. This article had to do with an appropriation for the original construction of public ways in town, accepted by the meeting.

Under Article 58 $59,115 was appropriated as follows: $15,000 for surface drainage and $44,115 for sewer construction. The sum of $12,115 is to be raised by taxation and $47,000 by a bond issue.

The subject matter of Article 59, inserted to see if the Town would appropriate money for the interest coming due during 1929 on loans authorized at the meeting, was indefinitely postponed and the meeting was dissolved at 10:13 p. m.

Immediately following the dissolution of the meeting Harris S. Richardson was sworn in as Selectman, he having served during the several sessions as chairman of the Finance Committee.

HIGH SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Demonstration of Physical Education

Although the third regular meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association competed with an adjourned Town Meeting last Monday evening, a large number of interested parents were present to enjoy the program which was in charge of Mr. W. D. Mansfield and Miss Margaretta Centervall, Directors of Physical Education. Under their direction about 50 pupils of the Winchester High School took part in nine exhibition numbers including dancing, apparatus work, gymnastics, tumbling games, concluding with a floor drill by boys.

Miss Centervall started the program with a squad of girls who executed gracefully a Russian dance. The next feature was apparatus work by the boys. They vaulted the parallel bars in several ways, climbed ropes to the top of the "Gym" and swung on flying rings. Somersaulting over parallel bars brought forth considerable applause.

A group of girls next showed how the setting-up exercises are done. Alternating again, the boys spread mats on the floor and displayed great skill in tumbling, doing the double forward roll and the fish roll.

The boys wished to show that they could dance as well as the girls so Mr. Mansfield put them through "Rigs O'Mario." The girls came back with apparatus work, showing the difference between their use of the apparatus and the exercises demonstrated by the boys. Both boys and girls played games suited to the gymnasium. Director Mansfield brought the evening's entertainment to a close with the regular football drill.

The exhibition was a great credit to both directors.

THE WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester will hold its annual meeting, April 3 at 2:30 p. m. in Association Hall on Vine street. This is one of the most important meetings of the year when the election of officers for the ensuing year is held. Every member is urged to be present.

The committee in charge has arranged a most interesting entertainment. Mrs. Stella March Cushing will give a delightful program portraying her native country, Czechoslovakia. It will be both educational and entertaining and our members are privileged to hear it. Miss Joy Adriance and Miss Virginia Randlett will sing a group of songs. Refreshments will be served by the social committee at the close of the entertainment.

On Saturday, March 23, the Club sponsored the presentation of the motion picture "The King of Kings." The committee was very anxious that nothing should detract from the beauty of the story. For this reason, no other film was shown with the exception of the current news reel and pictures of the inaugural ceremonies. In a picture of this character, it seemed especially desirable that the thread of the story should not be broken and the added expense of a second operator and machine to eliminate the changing of reels proved very worthwhile.

The members of the Club, all those in fact who saw "The King of Kings" owe a debt of gratitude to Mrs. F. C. Alexander and Miss Mabel Wingate, pianist and violinist, who played during the afternoon and evening the difficult musical score arranged originally to accompany the picture.

For the loyal support of the church, the Club is most grateful. Their interest makes the committee of which Mrs. A. S. Kelley and Mrs. W. A. Bradley were chairmen especially glad to have been able to bring this beautiful picture to Winchester.

WILL HAVE COLONIAL GARDEN

Tuesday, March 26, was the 176th anniversary of the birth of Count Rumford.

In the house in which he was born the Rumford Associates held their annual meeting that day and elected their officers for the coming year.

Together with the up-keep of the fine old house and property the Association has undertaken the restoration, so far as possible, of the Old Colonial gardens, similar to what is being done at Washington Headquarters at Valley Forge. One of the gardens known as the "Wheel Garden" was nearly completed last year. A copy of the landscape design of the gardens made by Mr. Heber Bishop Clewley, L. A., can be seen at 24 Church street, Winchester, by those who are interested.

The speaker at the Rumford meeting was Mr. Frank C. Brown, a member of the Tercentenary Commission for the State. He gave an interesting outline of the tentative plans for the proposed Tercentenary celebration.

The Rumford House which is always open to visitors and its contents are well worth seeing.

Bachelor's Lament

Reunion night at a certain club had brought two old friends face to face after an interval of some years. In the meantime, one of the two had taken a wife.

"Well, Harry," he remarked, "tell me why you've never married."

"It's like this," replied the single one. "When I was quite young I resolved that I'd never marry until I met the ideal woman. I was difficult to please, but after four years I found her."

"Lucky beggar! And then—"

"Oh, she was looking for the ideal man," came the heart-broken reply.

Personal Work

Years ago C. H. Spurgeon, advocating personal work, said:

"If you had one hundred empty bottles before you, and threw a pail of water over them, some would get a little in them, but most would fall outside. If you wish to fill the bottles, the best way is to take each bottle separately and put a vessel full of water to the bottle's mouth."

Mutual Taste

Little Leslie had been dispatched to the village grocer's and told to purchase dog biscuits for the new pet. He returned half an hour later, and offered his father eightpence change out of half-a-crown.

"You see, daddy," little Leslie explained. "I thought I might just as well get somethin' doggie an' me could both enjoy."—London Answers.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

On the road to Hades one can see some fine scenery, but it isn't much of a place after you get there.

No man can be 100 per cent American by always cheering the flag and then lie to the tax collector.

I found a good definition the other day for detour, i. e. the roughest distance between two points.

How can a man be always anxious and expect to add years to his life.

To Moderator George B. Hayward belongs the distinction of being the first officer to preside over our town meetings under the new form of government, and he is receiving many felicitations upon the able manner in which he conducted the meetings and carried forward the business. He has proven a very satisfactory officer in a very difficult position, and has won the friendship and respect of every town meeting delegate.

Word has been received by Winchester relatives and friends that Mr. Albert Robinson, formerly of Highland avenue, this town, and who is now on a world cruise with one companion in a 32-foot sailboat, has reached the South Sea Islands. He and his companion left New York on their cruise around the world last June. Mr. Robinson, who is a nephew of Mrs. H. T. West of Mason street, is writing a description of his cruise, and his first article has just appeared in the March issue of Rudder.

At the recent dedication of the new Unitarian Parish House Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, stated in the course of an address that church attendance is on the increase in Winchester. To those who may have felt that his view was just a bit too optimistic he now offers statistics in support of his statement. During the something better than 13 years of his pastorate the First Church has doubled its membership, while its Sunday School has also shown a substantial growth. Nothing in the 90 years' history of Winchester's oldest religious body has been more spectacular than its recent membership increase, an increase which has every appearance of permanence. It does seem, that, despite the popular notion, people ARE going to church.

After strenuous efforts the old matter of the pollution of the Aberjona River has been brought up again, along with the Woburn sewer and the matter of settling a date for the completion of the connecting link of what ever it is the authorities agree upon as the remedy. Woburn spent $300,000 on a new sewer in the neighborhood of its leather factories, and now it has turned out that the line will not even keep the water out, to say nothing of keeping the sewer in. Nine law suits of varying nature, all flavored with sewage, also add to the interesting muddle. The so-called connecting link, heralded as providing relief for Winchester cellars now used for sewer storage, will be completed, so it is said, in 1930, and the Metropolitan Sewer Division will not allow the new Woburn sewer to dump its water into the main line! They say now that the remedy for the whole thing is a bran new sewer. Meanwhile efforts are being made to "clear up the situation!" As the STAR views it the trouble is that not enough contracts are let for new sewers. It seems impossible to build one sewer large enough to care for existing and future use, so why not build a dozen or more progressively, allowing each succeeding contractor to start just as soon as his predecessor gets his dirt shoveled back and his equipment carted off? This would just about keep the sewers one jump ahead of the requirements and might quiet the present argument that Winchester centre should be raised to eliminate the grade crossing in order to dry the sewer out of its cellars. One argument is about as good as the other. If we could only get "Herb" Hoover here and have him size up the situation and give us a sewer big enough to drain off the sewage for the next twenty-five years, it would save an awful lot of wear and tear on the courts and dispositions.

Those members of the High School Parent-Teacher Association who attended the showing of gymnastic exercises in the high school gymnasium last Monday evening by boys and girls of the school under the direction of their instructors, Miss Margaret Centervall and Wendell D. Mansfield, in addition to spending a pleasant evening, came away with the idea that their children are being taught to improve their physical well-being in a way which provides much more fun than drudgery. No one could doubt the enjoyment of the pupils as they went through their paces, yet everyone realized that some of the "stunts" done as a matter of course during the evening would have been well nigh impossible for anyone having had no instruction in physical education. There was nothing of the exhibition about the whole affair. The floor work, dancing, tumbling and games were not perfect, but they were interesting as an example of the new order of things in the field of athletics; namely, the sacrificing of individual excellence for group participation and profit. It is very likely that both Miss Centervall and Mr. Mansfield, by selecting certain of their more apt performers and working largely with them to the exclusion of the less gifted for the edification of the gallery a much more finished showing of the work they are doing in the schools. Instead they chose to display a true cross-section of the every-day instruction which their department is offering to each boy and girl, whether gifted athletically or not. We like their theory and enjoyed our brief view of it in practice. The Department of Physical Education in our schools is doing work which the STAR believes is noteworthy. The results of its efforts are being yearly shown in the increasingly large numbers of girls and boys who are laying the foundation for better health and its accompanying greater happiness by active participation in properly supervised athletics.

Happy States of Mind

A general loftiness of sentiment, independence of mind, consciousness of good intentions, self-oblivion in great objects, clear views of futurity, thoughts of the blessed companionship of saints and angels, trust in God as the friend of truth and virtue—these are the states of mind in which I should live.—Channing.

People We Hate

I have known a certain man forty years, and although there is nothing much against him I cordially dislike him. I have heard that he is my friend, which I greatly regret, for he puts me in ill humor every time I meet him. He hasn't a mannerism, opinion or way I do not dislike; I would rather take a whipping than have him talk to me, which he never does, if I see him first. . . . We are all that way about some people; occasionally a man is that violently opposed to his wife, or a wife to a husband.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Pompeii's Tragic Hour Draped City in Gray

Perhaps it is natural that nearly every tourist who visits the Roman remains which have been dug out of Pompeii, dreams of seeing "Pompeii Red" in all the glory of original design and color, which modern Pompeii hotel balconies have made popular all over the civilized world. Except for a chance bit of ancient mosaic or frescoes on a few walls, the sight of the wonderful carmine is so rare as to be startling.

The prevailing color impression of Pompeii is the lava gray which old Vesuvius painted there at the time of its destruction. This is the color which shades walls and streets from the moment you enter the Marine gate, as you wander past the temples of Apollo and Jove or even enter the house of the Vestal. It is fittingly so, for whatever our expectations may have been, the tragedy of that awful day needs a gray draping more than the artistic glory of brighter hues.

What Use Are Clocks That Strike at Night?

To all those who are victims of insomnia, the distress caused by the striking and chiming of clocks (and especially those which occur every quarter of an hour) is well-nigh unbearable and is calculated to postpone indefinitely the chance of recovery, a writer in the Kansas City Star asserts. The vicar of a large church known to me, which has a loud chiming clock, the chiming occurring every quarter of an hour, has been recently obliged, in deference to the strongly expressed wishes of those having the misfortune to live in the vicinity, to have the chiming entirely taken off during the night hours. What is the use, or the supposed use, of a striking clock at night? I fail to see one single use for it. It ought to be as obsolete as the old watchman of bygone days, whose duty it was to call out each hour and the state of the weather. Those clocks having mechanism controlling the striking movements which is not capable of being switched off for the night hours should have their striking mechanism "scrapped."

See Root of Idolatry in Worship of Trees

Today among some of the tribes of Africa there is to be found a form of tree worship where certain members of the tribe are said to acquire a very intimate communion with certain trees in the forest and to receive messages through them from another world. Nearly all nations have had at some time a sacred shrub, plant or tree, and appear to have been guilty of a species of idolatry in worshipping it. It is even conjectured that the adoration of idols sprang from this practice, the idol being made from the wood of the sacred tree.

It was the custom in the south of France to sprinkle wine over the Maypole at the annual ceremony of its uplifting. This, it is believed, was derived from the ancient practice of sprinkling wine over sacred trees. In England there is a mysterious reverence for the oak, though it may be traced in a measure to the use of its wood in the construction of ships.

The mistletoe, from growing upon the oak, partakes of a sacred character. It is considered that Isalah alludes to this plant, which he makes symbolical of the Messiah. Our Christmas tree had its origin in Egypt. It was used long prior to the Christian era, at the time of the winter solstice, as a symbol of the ending of the year.

Goose Is Little Known

The Emperor goose, which breeds in small numbers on the Yukon delta in Alaska, is the most handsome and least known of all the wild geese of North America, ornithologists declare. Formerly abundant, the ranks of this goose have been badly reduced by the inroads made by Eskimos during the nesting season.

And By the Way

An Oxford undergraduate, a son of a vicar, discovered that he was uncomfortably short of money, so he spent some time concocting a letter which should have the right effect upon a somewhat severe and pious parent. When finally completed, the letter said:

"My Dear Father—I wonder if you will oblige me very greatly by sending me a copy of this month's Parish magazine, also $25. P. S.—Don't forget the Parish magazine."

Grass Grown in India to Make Match Sticks

The fact that lumber for the making of match sticks is becoming scarce in this country lends special interest to a report from British India to the effect that a grass is being successfully employed there for such purposes.

At Sholapur there is a factory that is making match sticks from a growth called Surya grass, abundant in some parts of India. The grass is cut into two-inch lengths, winnowed and screened to obtain uniform size, and then boiled in a revolving drum. Twenty-four pounds of Burma paraffin is sufficient for 7,000 boxes of matches.

Shaken through a horizontal sifter, the sticks are deposited in horizontal layers, which are secured in a frame for the dipping of the ends, and dipped in a solution of chlorate of potash, sulphate of arsenic, potash of bichloride, powdered gypsum and gum arabic. Six pounds of this mixture provide for the 7,000 boxes of matches. By an ingenious contrivance some of the closely packed stems are forced forward in the dipping so as to avoid the sticking together of the compact mass. After drying the matches are packed in cardboard boxes. Materials are so cheap that matches sell for 20 cents a gross.

Fine Artificial Flowers

The Japanese artificial-flower makers, than whom there are no more skillful manipulators, have of late years been sending to this country extraordinary imitations of such flowers as occidentals most affect. The particular species that the Japanese are now sending are the American beauty, the bridesmaid and La France. An exquisite white species called the Empress is also imitated by them.

Wrong Number!

A telephone operator inherited a fortune and lost it at Monte Carlo. That's what the habit of wrong numbers will do for a person.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

A Way Out

That Frenchman who complains that inheriting a fortune has caused him a lot of annoyance could stop it all if he married one of the girls.—Dayton Daily News.

Same Fix

He was too young to be in school. He seemed very lonesome since his playmates were gone. While he sat with his head bowed and a downcast look on his face, a shaggy, dirty, little dog ran up to him whining. The dog was friendless and forsaken also. "Aw doggie," called the little lad, pathetically. "I'll play w' yo'. Me and you are in the same fix."

Cat's Long Walk

A black cat which accompanied a family from Annan to Stranraer, Scotland, disappeared the next morning, and eleven days later arrived at its old home. The distance is about a hundred miles.

Thousands of pairs of goggles for dog motorists are being sold in London. Fond owners have learned that their pets love motorbikes, but dislike the grit that gets into their eyes.

The Opinion of Hon. Andrew W. Mellon

"No greater service could be rendered the country than to increase the number of homes owned by those who occupy them. Building and Loan Associations*, in countless instances have made such ownership possible, and, in so doing, have rendered invaluable aid in the campaign which the government is conducting to promote thrift and encourage sound investment of funds that would otherwise be lost through speculation, fraud and carelessness."

Famous Old Italian City

The city of Pisa, Italy, was probably of Etruscan origin. It became subject to Rome in 180 B. C. At the height of its greatness, in the Twelfth century, it is thought to have had a population of 150,000. In the Sixteenth century its population had dwindled to about 8,500. It is now in a thriving condition, with a population in the commune of about 70,000.

Alumni Associations

The organization of those who have been students is characteristic of American schools. The first alumni association was established at Williams college in 1821. For many years alumni organizations were chiefly social, affording opportunity for the reunion of friends. As these associations developed, however, they proved to be useful, not only in welding former students together in friendship, but in maintaining interest in and in some cases supplying funds for the various schools and colleges.

"Adventure" was the name of the ship commanded by Captain Kidd. This famous pirate sailed from Plymouth, England, in April, 1699, in the galley Adventure, carrying 30 guns and a crew of 80. Magnet Draws Bullet

For nearly ten years a Canadian war veteran carried a bullet in his lung. Although located by X-rays, it was in such a position that it could not be reached by forceps.

It was removed at last by holding a powerful magnet over the patient's chest and drawing the bullet to a point where it could be seized with forceps through the windpipe. The nickel coating of the bullet provided the necessary magnetizable element.

SEWER PROBLEM CONFRONTS WOBURN

City Asks for Hearing by State on Aberjona Work

The Attorney General's office will attempt to get an immediate hearing for the city of Woburn on the suits now pending against the contractor, bonding company and others in connection with the unfinished Aberjona Valley sewer. An important conference was held Tuesday in the State House between Mayor Johnson, City Solicitor Stephen S. Bean, Supt. Henry V. Macksey of the Public Works Department, Ex-Mayor William H. Henchey, attorney Robert J. Gallagher of Boston and representatives of the State Department of Health and the Attorney General's office.

Dr. X. W. Goodnough and Dr. George H. Bigelow of the State Health Department and Assistant Attorney General Simoneau represented the State.

There have been complaints from the Town of Winchester and others that the tanners in the valley have been polluting the river in violation of the Acts of 1911. It is contended that the pollution consists of an albuminoid ammonia, an organic compound which develops the bacteria in the river.

The city of Woburn has been attempting to straighten out the situation for years and finally obtained authority to borrow $300,000 to build a sewer in the valley to connect with the Metropolitan sewer at Winchester. One-half of it is built, but the leakage is so great that the Metropolitan Sewer Division will not permit it to be connected with the main line.

Since the construction of the Aberjona was started it developed, also, that the sewer lines through Winchester to Boston are now overloaded and that even if the Aberjona sewer were acceptable, it is doubtful if it could be connected until a proposed additional line starting from Winchester is built. Plans are already under way but it will not be ready before June 1930, according to the estimates of the State authorities.

Mayor Johnson pointed out the perplexing position in which the city of Woburn is placed. There are nine suits pending in connection with the failure to complete the sewer satisfactorily, and he urged that the State authorities co-operate with the city in an effort to have the cases heard as early as possible so that the city can do something toward making the sewer line acceptable.

Mr. Simoneau promised to co-operate with Solicitor Bean in an effort to have the matter given immediate attention.

Ex-Mayor Henchey appeared for the John J. Riley Company, leather manufacturers, and Mr. Gallagher for the Crescent Tanning Company. Both declared that the leather men are anxious to comply with the wishes of the State authorities, but in their present situation, there is no way they can avoid polluting the Aberjona River except by shutting down the plants. Doctor Bigelow assured them that the State did not desire to have that eventually forced on them, but the same time he wanted the situation cleared up as far as possible.

Master's License

Joseph Conrad's knowledge of English, literary and colloquial, need not here be praised. But there were certain words which he, so to speak, declined to learn. One very odd example was the word "vowel" he transcribed the "v" and "w" sounds, so that it became "vowvel." I have been told that he would even write it so. He pronounced "used" as two syllables, something like "ush."—London Fortnightly Review

DEDICATION OF CHANCEL WINDOW IN THE UNITARIAN CHANCEL

On Easter Sunday, March 31, the Dwinell Memorial window recently installed in the new chancel of the Winchester Unitarian Church will be dedicated.

The window is the gift of Alice Brimmer Dwinell, in memory of her husband James Herbert Dwinell who for many years was deeply interested in the activities of the Winchester Church, devoting himself especially to the Sunday School, and the music side of the church life.

The memorial was designed and made by Reynolds, Francis & Rohnstock of Boston.

Architecturally speaking the window is composed of four lancets with small tracery openings above, and the design of the glass is Gothic in spirit in harmony with the architecture of the building. The arrangement of the design is simple and effective. In the two central lancets are single figures, Christ as the Teacher and John, the Beloved Disciple, and beneath them and in the two outside lancets are medallion subjects.

The main theme of the window is given forth by two texts; underneath the figure of Christ, "God Is Love" and under the figure of John, "Love Is of God."

The pose of the figure of Christ is dignified and majestic. He holds the book in his left hand and his right hand is raised in the attitude of speaking. Surrounding the figure in the background are various small symbols, the Lamp of Faith; the Lion of Judah; the Peacock for Immortality; the Phoenix, symbolic of the Resurrection; and the Anchor, emblematic of Hope.

John, the Beloved Disciple and Evangelist also holds a book. In his right hand he holds aloft the cup, emblematic of love and remembrance. In the background are several symbols relating to the legendary history of John.

Underneath the figure of Christ is the Nativity in which Mother love is exalted. Under the figure of John, Christ commends his mother to the care of his best loved disciple.

In the right hand lancet incidents from the Old and the New Testaments are used to express this great theme of Love; at the top, the love of David and Jonathan; then, in Ruth and Naomi the affection found in family relationship; and again in the parable of the Good Samaritan, the love of one's neighbor.

In the left hand lancet, paternal love is shown forth in the parable of the Prodigal Son; love of little children is expressed by the gentle act of Jesus when he spoke to them and blessed them; and again in the subject of Christ in the Home of Mary and Martha love which ministers to the spirit is shown to be greater than that which serves merely physical needs.

In the tracery openings are figures of ministering angels.

The chief glory of a stained glass window lies in its rich and splendid color effects. This window is notable for the beautiful blue which dominates the composition. Its beauty is enhanced by the ruby, green, gold and white which are woven throughout the design.

NATIVE CUSTOMS DYING IN NEW ZEALAND

New Zealand, that far away group of islands of Australasia, has its sociological problems like Europe and America as is evidenced by the heated contest against prohibition that attended the recent elections there. Press dispatches relative to the election reveal that political science is a game which the New Zealanders play with the same finesse as older nations of the earth.

Doubtless there are some Americans who still picture New Zealand as a rather primitive country with its tattooed Maoris much in evidence, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Maoris Are Moderns

But modern New Zealand is just as modern as Main street and as prosaic to the adventurously inclined. True the Maori is still in New Zealand but his number is sadly depleted and he is much changed. The warrior of today has forsaken his war canoe for a motorboat and his tribal wars for law-suits. The Maori woman has replaced her ceremonial cloak of kiwi feathers with the sophisticated garb of the European and even the famous haka and poi dances threaten to disappear before the onslaught of modernity.

It is only among the confines of tribes who stay within the confines of their "pas" or settlements, that the customs of the past have been retained. Even these are modified through unavoidable contact with the paheka, the white man.

Maoris Rub Noses

One old custom, strange to western eyes, is that of "hongi," nose rubbing. Among the Maoris this dispensed with kissing and handshaking. Another custom, frowned by the young, other custom, frowns on the young. In former days the well-dressed Maori had his face chiselled in artistic designs, and the lines filled in with blue pigment. Patches of black around his eyes gave a final touch of swaggar. The young women of the past understood that tattooing of the lips and chin greatly enhanced their appeal.

Intermarriage Countenanced

While intermarriage between whites and Polynesians is generally frowned upon, no great censure attaches to the white New Zealander who takes a Maori wife or husband. The better class natives occupy much the same status as the whites. There are Maori members of parliament and Maori doctors and lawyers, plumbers and grocers.

The Maori are gradually being assimilated into the civilization of the overwhelmingly larger white population. In the cities they drive the same kinds of cars, go to the same churches, see the same movies and receive the same radio programs as do the English-born New Zealanders.

Whole Lump Leavened

When we speak of a peculiarity in a man or a nation, we think to describe only one part, a mere mathematical point; but it is not so. It pervades all. Some parts may be farther removed than others from this center, but not a particle so remote as not to be either shined on or shaded by it.—Thoreau.

Tar Keeps Rats Away

A small quantity of tar of the sort that is used by roofers for closing seams will effectively drive rats away from their lairs under porches and similar projections. The tar is simply coated on the inside of the holes done by the rats, and if periodically applied will result in the disappearance of the pests.

Quaint Fishes Found on Coast of Britain

When strolling among the rocks by the British sea coast, you may often see a quaint, bullet-headed fish, basking in the sunshine well up above water level. It breathes quite naturally in the outer air and without apparent discomfort. This is the blenny, called by fisherfolk the "umbrella fish." To get a good view of it you need to be extremely cautious, as the fish will dive at the slightest suspicion of danger. Another little known British fish is the pipefish, the fastest swimmer in the sea; while the sunfish, looking like a huge bodiless head, is to be seen along the Cornish coast. The suck-fish, supposed by the ancients to be capable of holding up a ship by its power of suction, is also caught by British fishermen; another oddity being the nassfish, which angles for its meals with the aid of a fin that attracts small fry. But perhaps the most curious specimen is the red gurnard, which emits a sound strongly reminiscent of the first vocal efforts of a young cockerel.

Damascus Well Named Pearl of the Desert

The "Pearl of the Desert" the Arabs call Damascus, and the name is well chosen. The thousand and one domes of mosques, the towers and spires, around which cluster, like grapes, white painted houses surrounded by orchards and gardens, seem like so many necklaces of pearls, one within another, rippling out to the ancient walls that circle the city.

The not-too-distant Mediterranean softens the dry, harsh air blown from the desert. At night the blue sky is divided in two; golden from the reflection of the yellow sands of the desert and deep blue where the sea mirrors itself.

The Pharaonic founders of Damascus must have had a vision when they looked down from the heights of the Gebel Salahiya on the Anti-Lebanon into the valley in which the city is now set. Builders with vision, those Pharaohs!—Konrad Bercevic in Century Magazine.

Just a Few Promises Young Bride Required

"Will you let me have my way in everything?" she asked.
"Of course I will, darling."
"Will you permit me to go home to mother whenever I want to?"
"I should never think of being cruel enough to keep you away from your mother when you wished to see her."
"And may I have a regular allowance to spend just as I like?"
"Certainly. I shall be as liberal in that respect as possible."
"And may I call you up on the phone during business hours?"
"I should be unhappy if I did not hear your sweet voice every little while."

"I'm afraid you will forget your promises after we are married."
"No, I won't. Is there anything else you want me to promise?"
"I can't think of anything just now. Oh, yes. There's one other thing. Will you promise not to be cross if I sometimes call you by the name of some one else I've been engaged to? I'm so forgetful about such things."—London Tit-Bits

Flying Fish Settles Point Long Disputed

A flying fish which, by a supreme effort, made a successful landing on the deck of the Aquitania has won for itself a place in the annals of natural history.

For a number of years the dispute raged as to whether a flying fish was a mere glider which propelled itself out of the water with a rush and then skimmed through the air on the planes of its wings, or whether it was a true heavier-than-air machine which sustained itself by the beating of these wings like a dragon fly or a helicopter.

The Aquitania's flying fish seems to have answered the question. The deck was 40 feet above the water line, and no rush out of the water, whatever the force of the leap, could, it is argued, lift a flying fish so high as that if it had to depend merely on floating on its wings, without using them to lift itself higher.

Those who have believed that the wings do move, though their movement is so rapid as to be very hard to perceive, are now justified, and this flying fish, which was the focus of its kind (the first flyer of its race), should enjoy a sort of immortality for its effort.

The ordinary flying fish seldom moves more than a few feet above the water and is generally found only in warm seas, and the Aquitania's flying fish was no ordinary adventurer.

Tattooing

Tattooing is very ancient. It had reached such a pitch once that the Jews were forbidden to tattoo. The order is in Lev. 19:28: "Ye shall not print any marks upon you."

"Majority" and "Plurality"

A candidate for office may be elected by a plurality, though he does not receive a majority, which is more than half of the votes cast in an election. "Plurality" is defined as the "excess of the highest number of votes cast over the next highest number." To illustrate, supposing 10,000 votes are cast in an election in which there are three candidates. The winner may receive 4,000 votes, the runner-up 3,500 and the third man 2,500. The winner would then have a plurality of 500 votes over his closest rival, but would have less than a majority of all votes cast, which would be 5,001 or more votes.

Albinos Unexplained

Three "white Indians" from Darlen were brought to New York in 1924 and examined by distinguished anthropologists and ethnologists. Although the men's science are not entirely agreed on an explanation of the strange blondness of these people, the weight of opinion is that they are probably albinos—or, as Mr. Marsh, who brought them to New York, put it, pseudo-albinos. Apart from their color they are like the San Blas Indians, among whom they were found, and show no indication of any Caucasian blood. That blondness of the sort should be common in Darlen seems improbable, for albinism is nowhere common; but there is no other solution of the problem that seems so likely.

Red Indians Made Use of Reed Decoy Ducks

Before Columbus ever sighted the West Indies the natives of America were decoying the ducks and geese to the lakes and ponds where they became targets for swift, flint-headed arrows. Joel Barber gives a brief account of the history of duck decoys in Field and Stream.

He reveals that the first dummy ducks were made of reeds cleverly tied together to the shape of a duck. These reed models were then neatly shingled with feathers of the fowl in such a manner that they oddly duplicated the living bird. On the floor of a dried lake bed in Nevada near caves where specimens of the reed decoys were found many flint arrowheads have been discovered. This points to an extended practice of duck hunting with decoys long years before Columbus ever sailed the ocean blue, declares this Field and Stream writer.

A SUGGESTION FROM MR. CRAUGHWELL

To the Editor of the Star:
At one of the sessions of the annual town meeting there was some discussion as to the advisability of insuring our fire station or installing a burglar alarm on our police station. Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to ascertain from the Finance Committee through the columns of the next issue of the Star, if the hose house and hose carriage and all the paraphernalia that was necessary to maintain that hose house and hose carriage that was situated on Cambridge street, adjacent to Foxcroft road and Wildwood street that was burned flat to the ground, carried any insurance and if so, how much insurance.

It seems to me, Mr. Editor, that if we had a burglar alarm installed on that particular hose house it might not have been consumed as you are most likely aware of the fact that police officers patrol the streets at night when the firemen sleep fast and tight.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

Dear Sir: Please send me by return mail six bottles of Rheumatic Specific. I can't recommend the Specific too highly. I was laid up for three months with Sciatic Rheumatism, was unable to stand on my feet during the time. I secured a bottle of your Specific and after taking it was able to return to work. HISTORICAL STATEMENT

On Thursday evening, April 20, 1871, the first service in Winchester under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held in Union Hall, over Mr. Sanderson's store. Rev. C. L. Eastman of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Woburn preached the sermon. From June 13, 1871 meetings were held informally in the home of Mr. J. C. Mason for a period of time. In this same place on February 21, 1872 the following stewards were nominated subject to the approval of the Quarterly Conference: Messrs. J. C. Mason, G. E. Cobb, Ferdinand Scudder, Robert M. Armstrong and James O. Owen. In March regular religious services were instituted in Union Hall, and a Sunday School was organized with Robert M. Armstrong, Superintendent. The First Quarterly Conference, with Rev. Dr. Sherman as presiding Elder, was held on April 25, 1872, and the Board of Stewards was approved.

For two years, students supplied the pulpit. In April 1874 this society applied to the New England Conference for a regularly appointed pastor. The request was granted, and the Rev. D. S. Coles began his duties April 19, 1874.

In the summer of 1875, Mr. J. C. Mason, acting for the society, purchased a lot on Pleasant Street, (now Mt. Vernon Street) and Mead and Mason & Co., church builders, were employed to build a church.

In 1891, during the pastorate of Rev. George H. Perkins, additional land was purchased and the building turned to front the street. A Ladies' Parlor was furnished and a new organ installed in the auditorium.

During the pastorate of Rev. L. W. Adams, 1912-1913, $1,700 were spent on repairs and improvements and Mr. F. E. Crawford, with the assistance of the Ladies' Aid Society discharged a mortgage of $5,000 that had been on the Church property for about thirty years. This edifice was used until 1921.

In April 1920, during the pastorate of Rev. A. B. Gifford, the present site was purchased. The old building was sold November 19, 1920 to the Winchester Laundries, Inc. In June 1921, the old church was vacated and religious services were held in Waterfield Hall until the new structure was ready.

At the time the Board decided to dispose of the old building, it created the following planning committee: Mr. Frank E. Crawford, Chairman; Rev. A. B. Gifford, Messrs. R. M. Armstrong, R. W. Armstrong, G. R. Baneroff, A. B. Bent, L. E. Crouch, George T. Davidson, John N. Mason, A. D. Nicholas, H. B. Seller, E. I. Taylor, J. F. Tuttle, A. P. Welburn, J. Frank Hodge, Sherard Clay, N. H. Seelye and Norman V. Osborne. Later, Messrs. V. P. Clarke, O. W. Billings and Thomas Quigley were added to this committee. This committee retained Hutchins and French of Boston as architects for the new church. In June 1922 the Quarterly Conference authorized the Board of Trustees to appoint a building committee. The committee appointed was as follows: Messrs. F. E. Crawford, R. W. Armstrong, J. N. Mason, L. E. Crouch, N. V. Osborne, J. F. Tuttle, A. P. Welburn and George T. Davidson. Messrs. Crouch and Osborne were given charge of the work of building the edifice.

The cornerstone was laid October 7, 1923, by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes. After some delay, due largely to lack of funds, a mortgage was negotiated and the building sufficiently completed to allow this society to abandon Waterfield Hall and occupy the church with the exception of the auditorium.

An event of unusual interest to the members of this church, as well as to the Ladies' Aid Society occurred Thursday, Dec. 11, 1924, when the beautifully furnished Ladies' Parlor, the gift of Mrs. F. E. Crawford, was dedicated.

In April 1925 Rev. William H. Hook was appointed to this charge to carry on the work begun during the pastorate of Rev. A. B. Gifford. A gift of $25,000 was received from the estate of Mr. George E. Henry for the purchase of a church organ. At this time $15,000 was needed to complete the auditorium. This sum was raised, the auditorium completed, and the Church dedicated on October 10, 1926 by Bishop William F. Anderson.

At the time of the dedication there was a mortgage of $40,000 on the Church building. Through the co-operation of organizations within the Church and the aid of a substantial gift from the Maynard estate, the mortgage was reduced to $30,000. Mr. Frank E. Crawford covered $15,000 of this sum with a Life Insurance Policy. On Easter Sunday, April 1928, Mr. F. E. Crawford made an Easter offering to the Church of $15,000 cash. In appreciation of this gift the Quarterly Conference held April 9, 1928 "Voted: Whereas, the name of this Church is now the Methodist Episcopal Church of Winchester, and

Whereas, the Quarterly Conference of this Church desires to express its appreciation to Mr. Frank E. Crawford for his generous contribution toward the completion of this beautiful edifice, and

Whereas, we hold in loving memory the name of Winnifred L. Crawford, because of her many good works and love of this Church,

Be It Hereby Resolved:

1. That the name of the late Winnifred L. Crawford be memorialized by naming the Church after her.

2. That the name of this Church shall be and hereby is changed to the CRAWFORD MEMORIAL METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF WINCHESTER."

On New Year's Day, Jan. 1, 1929, Mr. Crawford cancelled his Life Insurance Policy for $15,000 and gave the Trustees enough money to discharge the mortgage and pay the interest on the same.

Easter Sunday, March 31, 1929 was decided upon as the most fitting time to express public appreciation to Almighty God for a Church without a debt. Bishop William F. Anderson has been selected as the Speaker for this occasion. The District Superintendent, C. C. P. Hiller, Ph.D., is present to assist in the service and Robert W. Armstrong, Treasurer of the Trustees will burn the mortgage.

PUBLIC REQUESTS LISTED IN WILL OF MARIA A. PARSONS

The will of Maria A. Parsons of Winchester, who died March 5, filed at Cambridge Registry of Probate Saturday, disposes of an estate of $35,000.

The public bequests include $1000 to the church extension fund, American Unitarian Association, and $600 to the Sargent-Murray-Gilman House, Gloucester settlement. There are private bequests to relatives and friends, and the unnamed residue of the estate is to be divided equally between the Morgan Memorial, Boston, and the Home for Aged People in Winchester. The Winchester Public Library and the town's high school are to share equally in disposition of decedent's library.

Patrolman Archie O'Connell of the Police Department succeeded in locating a Ford coupe which its owner, George Marsh of 57 Madison street, West Medford, reported had been stolen from in front of a Swan road residence about 11 o'clock last Sunday night. Officer O'Connell discovered the car not far from where Marsh said he had left it.

Mr. Samuel S. Symmes had the distinction of seeing a white robbin on his farm Monday. During his long life in Winchester Mr. Symmes states that he never before saw a similar bird. The robbin was with a flock of its mates and all but he were garbed in the usual colors. The birds were all hunting worms and there appears no question regarding the breed of the albino. Mr. Symmes called the attention of several neighbors to the strange bird.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

The remarkable progressive spirit of our town, in many ways, is very noticeable.

With three new and very attractive church buildings, and with large and expensive additions made to three other churches it is doubtful if there is another town of our size that is possessed with nine modern and up-to-date places of worship.

The amount of money expended for the religious worship in our town must approximate well toward a million dollars. Church attendance is decidedly increasing.

Our school educational system is in a most flourishing condition, with five new and up-to-date school buildings equipped with the most modern improvements.

Our town holds an important position, in an educational way, among the towns in the Commonwealth.

Our recreational improvements in the four public parks are of high order, also 12 tennis courts, baseball and football fields, running track and bathing beach. We now have the use of Winter and Wedge Ponds for ice games and skating under park management.

Our town, last year, purchased land for a new park on what is known as Turkey Hill. This is the second highest piece of land in the town, a very attractive location, wild and grand in nature's beauties, with much ledge and boulder formation. A most attractive pedestrian spot for lovers of nature, comprising about 10 acres of land.

Winchester is, and has been, a most attractive location for those who are home lovers with many of nature's advantages.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

For seven days beginning Sunday you can hear Richard Barthelmess sing and talk in his greatest picture "Weary River" at the University. On the same program is that cute, likable farce comedy from the story by Booth Tarkington, "Geraldine."

Richard Barthelmess, the universal favorite in the silent drama with his "Tollable David" and "The Patent Leather Kid," has risen to new heights in this singing and talking picture. And not only Barthelmess, but Betty Compson, who has won added distinction by her work in the talking movies, and the entire cast give a performance worthy of the standard set by the star himself. It's an intensely interesting, human story of a young man who finds himself while serving time in a state penitentiary.

"Geraldine" is the amusing story of a dowdy, bespectacled girl who develops into a dancing flapper under the tutelage of Eddie Quillan.

Remember, seven days, beginning Sunday.

PARISH OF EPIPHANY NOTES

Two entertainments will be given on Saturday, April 6 in the parish house of the church of the Epiphany.

The first, for very young persons, will be an amusing movie show at 2:30 p. m. Two reels of the funny sort that the quiet good person delights in will be shown.

In the evening at 8 p. m., a more sophisticated program will be presented. A comedy movie, "The Fighting Coward," will be given. The larger end of the evening will be reserved for dancing, with several new and intriguing stunts by way of novelty.

Mrs. Bowen Tafts is chairman of the committee in charge which means of course, this is something you really must not overlook.

Pumice Stone Used as Substitute for Razor

If your razor is used by the wife to sharpen a pencil or by a young hopeful for a screwdriver, use pumice stone to shave yourself with.

Samuel Leps used pumice stone. Writing on Sunday, May 25, 1642, the diarist says: "To trimming myself, which I this week have done every morning, with a pumice stone, which I learn of Mr. Marsh, when I was last at Portsmouth; and I shall continue the practice of it." Six days later he tells us: "I cut off all my beard, which I have been a great while bringing up only that I may with my pumice stone do my whole face, as I now do my chin, and to save time, which I find a very easy way and gentle." The Arabs of Palestine often use pumice stone to "clean up" after shaving with pieces of broken glass bottles.

Modern Things Not New

Many things believed to be modern are not so new, declares a European prober who has just made a report. He declares that the pneumatic tire was invented as early as 1845, but apparently was unwanted as being ahead of its time; the fountain pen was patented in 1809, but found little acceptance, and roller skates were known in 1823, but had roads prevented their use. The roll-top desk was described in 1772; safety razors in 1762; a loud speaker in 1671; a diving bell in 1664; a periscope in 1702, while the Chinese claim that a bamboo arrangement served as a phonograph many years ago.

Expansion of Heated Water

The action of water on the application of heat is different from that of other liquids. The volume of water decreases from 0 to about 4 degrees centigrade, and then it increases as the temperature continues to increase.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Philippine Flag

The native flag of the Philippine islands is divided horizontally into blue and red stripes. Near the staff, extending toward the middle, appears a white diamond, in which a gold sun is represented. One gold star appears in each corner of the diamond.

ELKS' NIGHT AT VETERANS' HOSPITAL

Band of Winchester Legionnaires Big Entertainment Feature

Winchester Lodge of Elks gave its annual entertainment for the benefit of disabled veterans at the Veterans' Hospital at Bedford last Friday evening. The Elks were assisted by members of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, who contributed for the occasion the services of their crack brass band.

This group of musicians, under the direction of "Jack" Sanford, played a program of real worth and one much enjoyed, alike by the boys confined to the hospital and the 50 or more Elks and Legionnaires who made the trip to Bedford from Winchester.

In connection with the entertainment program Chairman Jackson of the Elks' State Hospital Committee introduced Comdr. W. Allan Wilde of Winchester Post, A. L. Arthur Harty, chairman of the local Lodge of Elks' Hospital Committee, and for four years, secretary of the State Hospital Committee, and Nathaniel M. Nichols, vice chairman of the State Hospital Committee and last year in charge of Elks' entertainments in Veterans' Hospitals in Massachusetts.

As its contribution to the evening the Elks put on, through the courtesy of R. A. "Al" Somerby, four acts of excellent vaudeville, the talent being entirely recruited from that performing regularly on Keith's Circuit. The committee from Winchester Lodge in charge of arrangements for the evening was headed by Arthur J. Harty and included Nathaniel M. Nichols, George H. Lochman, S. J. Trudeau and John L. McMinamin.

Each veteran in the hospital was given cigarettes by the local Elks and the following letter bespeaks the appreciation which the boys feel for the efforts expended in their behalf:

March 22, 1929
U. S. Veterans' Hospital,
Bedford, Mass.

Winchester Lodge of Elks,
Gentlemen:

The boys here at the hospital want you to know the show and entertainment of tonight was the very best we ever saw here and want you to know we all thoroughly enjoyed it.

The band, singing, dancing and all the other acts were surely great.

We all join in thanking the Winchester Lodge of Elks for a peach of an evening.

THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH DOUBLES MEMBERSHIP

With 68 new members uniting with the church on Easter Sunday, making a total of 78 people who have united with the First Church since the beginning of the year, the First Congregational Church will have doubled its membership during the pastorate of Doctor Chidley.

When Doctor Chidley became Pastor of the church in November 1915, he found a membership of 360 people. With the additions next Sunday, the membership will now be 1120. The total number uniting with the church during Doctor Chidley's pastorate is 889. This is an exceptional record for a suburban church, which has a limited constituency to draw on as compared with a city church.

The Sunday School has also grown steadily during the last 13 years, and now has a membership of over 400. The total constituency of the church and the Sunday School includes one out of every nine in the population of Winchester.

The First Church has maintained a commanding influence in the town since its organization 90 years ago, when it was set off from the First Congregational Church in Woburn. It is the oldest church in Winchester and has always numbered among its constituents many of the leading citizens of the town.

A conspicuous element in its present day prosperity is the large number of men who are connected with the organization. Outside speakers always remark upon the large proportion of men in the congregations.

The church was never in a stronger position spiritually, financially and numerically than it is today.

ORPHEUM ATTRACTIONS

Reginald Denny's latest screen success "Red Hot Speed" is now being shown at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. It lives up to its name, being one of the liveliest comedies he ever made. The second feature on this program is another episode of "The Vultures of the Sea" the new swift moving sea serial featuring Shirley Mason, Johnnie Walker and Thomas Santschi.

Packed from start to finish with drama, thrills and highly enjoyable comedy, Booth Tarkington's story "Geraldine" will be the feature picture at the Orpheum next week Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The story deals with the rejuvenation of a homely girl through the agency of a live-wire chap who is employed by the girl's father for that purpose. A love romance develops and as it progresses to a unique but happy finale the interest of spectators is not allowed to lag for an instant. Marion Nixon, Eddie Quillan and Gaston Glass have the leading roles. "Just Off Broadway" the second feature on this program is the story of a tiny group of humanity united by heart throbs upon the gilded playground of New York's great white way. Ann Christy appears as a cabaret entertainer who saves a daring youth from the designs of a dangerous gang. Donald Keith is the youth in question.

APPRECIATION FROM MR. CRAUGHWELL

To the Editor of the Star:

To the Editor of the Star:

At the annual town meeting held March 21 it certainly was refreshing to your humble servant to visualize the large number of men and women who seemed to comprehend what the purchasing of the property adjacent to Wedge Pond will mean to future generations of Winchester.

To my mind it was the best progressive, comprehensive movement that has materialized in Winchester since the Manchester Field proposition came up for discussion some years ago.

I am unable to recall when any Finance Committee recommended the purchase of property to the town that it proved a failure. On the contrary it has always developed into an economic, financial venture for the Town of Winchester.

I shall name a few parcels of property that were in my opinion a financial gain for the town; namely, Turkey Swamp, the Middle and South Meadows that now comprise our three wonderful reservoirs. I believe the State will hand us over $1,000,000 for the reservoirs anytime we desire to dispose of them. At the town meeting held in 1916, on the recommendation of the Finance Committee, after a tremendous opposition we purchased a parcel of property adjacent to Irving street to be used as a sand and gravel pit. The price paid was $9000.

Now, Mr. Editor, I have no way of ascertaining how many thousand dollars' worth of sand, gravel and loam has been removed from the pit, but I venture to assert that we have removed between 50 and 75 thousand dollars' worth of sand, gravel and loam and we still have a large amount of the same material. As for Manchester Field, our beautiful bridges, wonderful park system, the Palmer street playground, the common, Leonard Field and the Loring avenue playground, what they are worth to the town in dollars and cents is beyond my comprehension.

In 1928 we purchased nine acres of land on Indian Hill to be used for park purposes. The price was $7000. In my opinion the time is not far distant when the property adjacent to Indian Hill is developed. It will ultimately make the most beautiful place in Winchester. In fact, I doubt if there is any place in the Commonwealth that will surpass it for natural beauty.

In conclusion, I for one, desire to thank most heartily, through the columns of the Star, the men who were instrumental in pointing out these beautiful spots and helped make Winchester what it is; namely, one of the most beautiful residential suburbs in the Commonwealth, the Athens of America, eight miles from the Gilded Dome. I write these few lines simply to inculcate into the hearts of folks that we made a progressive move in my opinion when we voted to purchase the property adjacent to Wedge Pond.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

The Installment Age

All the morning the teacher had been trying to teach her very small pupils the mysteries of simple addition.

One small boy seemed far behind the others at grasping even the simplest of ideas, and with him the harassed teacher spent quite a lot of time.

"Look here, Leonard!" she began for the fifth time. "Let's suppose your father saves $5 every week for four weeks. What will he have at the end of that time?"

Leonard had his answer ready. "A graphophone, a new suit, a wireless set and new furniture for the house," he replied proudly.

Snakes and Serpents

The difference between a snake and a serpent is that the snake is not poisonous, is cold-blooded and lays eggs. A serpent is poisonous, warm-blooded and brings forth its young alive. Adders or vipers have a V mark on the back of the head.

WINCHESTER WOMAN'S PLAY PRESENTED BY UNITARIAN YOUNG PEOPLE

"Dead Man's Cove," presented by the Metcalf Union in the Unitarian parish house last Friday evening, proved to be as thrilling as the audience had hoped. This was the first play given on the new stage, and the splendid lighting effects added much to the excitement of the mystery. Mrs. Laura A. Watkins of this town was the author, and Miss Annette Mason directed the production.

The play was in three acts, the setting being a sea side cottage at Dead Man's Cove. The ghost story based on a woman's scream served as a blind for bootleggers who were using the cottage as their headquarters. The strangling of the heroine, the sudden disappearance of the hero and the unexplained noises kept the audience interested throughout.

The work of Bradford Hill as Gilson, the town constable, was especially good; and George Hayden, as the life guard, did a good piece of acting. The leading part, that of Richard Caldwell, was taken by Benjamin Wild, who showed a stage presence which many a more experienced actor might envy. Helen Wild, as the nervous aunt, was most realistic; Betty Proctor made a lovely heroine; Marjorie Hayden was fine as the practical sister and Barbara Locke as Bertha, the maid, interpreted a difficult part very well.

After the curtain call, flowers were presented to Miss Mason and Mrs. Watkins. Dancing followed the play. Judging from the large audience, the play was a financial as well as a theatrical success.

Ancient Gods

Among the gods of the early British who were driven into Ireland was the sun god Nudd, or Ludd, as he was called. His name appears in Ludgate, and it is thought that his temple stood on what is now Ludgate hill in London. Apollo, the sun god of the Greeks and Romans, was worshipped throughout the sunny lands of the south.

DATING AMERICA'S PRE-HISTORY FROM TREE RINGS

A grant of $5000 by the Research Committee of the National Geographic Society for the study of old beams and timbers in the Indian pueblos of the Southwest was announced today by Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, President of the Society.

Behind this announcement, which on its face might relate only to a problem in botany or timber preservation, is a fascinating scientific "detective story."

More Accurate Than Egypt's Calendar

With saws and drills and microscopes, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, the specialists engaged in the beam studies are digging from the heart of ancient logs and beams a more accurate calendar of happenings in the southwestern United States than that which we possess for the civilizations of the Egyptians or the Mayas. The work is built on the fact that every growing tree leaves in its trunk a ring for each year; and on the further fact that each one of these rings has an individuality of its own—a different width, definiteness, or character resulting from different climatic or seasonal differences. Furthermore all trees in a given region show the same ring sequence; and some of the rings, deposited in an especially characteristic season of drought or moisture, stand out so plainly that it is almost as if Nature had rubber-stamped the ring: "This is the year 1398 A. D."

The work was undertaken after expeditions of the National Geographic Society had uncovered the ruins of Pueblo Bonito in New Mexico, one of America's earliest apartment houses. Many interesting things were learned about the customs and culture of the 2500 people who once occupied the great structure; but the date at which they flourished remained a secret. Some of the old beams used in supporting the roof were well preserved, and when sawed showed characteristic rings. The idea was conceived of tracing a tree-ring calendar back from the present to the days when Pueblo Bonito's beams were growing.

Only Small Gap Remains

The work has been in charge of Dr. Albert E. Douglass of the University of Arizona, and has progressed so far that two unbroken sequences of rings have been assembled, one reaching back from the present to the year 1260; the other a prehistoric sequence of six centuries. The latter group includes the tree rings from Pueblo Bonito. Checks through pottery and other sources lead the investigators to believe that the gap separating the two series is only about 150 years wide and that beams from a certain area will close this unknown space. Even if beams bridging the gap have been charred into charcoal, the story their rings tell can still be read.

THE PART OF DUST IN RAIN-FALL

A "sand storm at sea," often the subject of jokes, descended on the Canary Islands recently causing great discomfort. Although Las Palmas, principal city of the islands, is more than 100 miles from the shores of Africa, the heavy fall of sand in the city was borne by winds from Africa. With the sand a drenching rain fell, plastering the houses with a mixture of sand and water.

Dust and sand play a more important part than is generally realized, in bringing about rainfall, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society commenting on the unusual Canary Island storm.

Purest Air Contains Much Dirt

When water-vapor particles condense into water droplets, whether on their rise from the sea or after numerous cloud-making adventures, they not only grasp their nearest fellow molecules, but they must find infinitesimal bits of floating material, such as dust motes—a sort of magic carpet—and crowd upon them.

Dust usually is present abundantly, thanks to the winds and to volcanoes; and in the thickly peopled regions of the earth thousands of chimneys throw into the air in their smoke billions of potential cloud nuclei.

Even over the center of the great-ocean there are as many as 750 dust particles in a thimbleful of air, and over the streets and buildings of large cities perhaps 200,000. In one cubic foot of air in any of our great cities there are twice as many dust motes as there are human inhabitants of the earth.

Widely separated, the dust motes, with their vapor passengers, at first float about like asteroids in space, but gradually the cold of the upper regions causes more and more of the vapor molecules to jump out of their gaseous form and attach themselves to existing droplets until the latter are built into drops heavy enough to fall earthward.

Dust Particles Paint Sunsets

Dust and sand contribute also to the beauty of the skies. The infinitesimally short waves of sunlight would pour down merely as white light but for the diminutive dust motes that get in the way and sift out the component colors, from violet to red. And even when the colors are brought into existence they would stream on through the atmosphere and into space, if the all but invisible water droplets did not huddle together into clouds to capture them and hold them for the world to see.

The more dust, the more sumptuously the clouds are bathed in rose and gold and fiery red. Storms that raise tons of dust into the skies in arid regions sometimes seem a trying cross for the people to bear. But there is a wonderful compensation. High in the air the tiniest dust grains atone for the sins of their coarser fellows. Nowhere else do the skies burst into such a glory of color at dawn and sunset, nor does the approach of twilight cast such magical, soft-hued shadows that can transform bare, rugged mountains into fairylands.

British Royal Succession

The throne of Great Britain is hereditary in the British house of Windsor with mixed succession, the sons of the king and their descendants having precedence of daughters but daughters and their descendants having preference over lateral lines. Thus, when the eldest child of a king is a daughter and there are sons, the eldest son will succeed, to the exclusion of the daughter. This occurred in the case of Queen Victoria—her oldest child was Princess Victoria but she was succeeded on the throne by her eldest son, Edward VII.

Wed to Get Clean Shirts

In the course of a trial in Brighton, England, a police court judge asked a man if he never loved his wife why he married her. The accused husband's answer was, "To get a clean shirt." The astounded magistrate sentenced him to do the household washing for one year, and told the aggrieved wife to report to him if the man didn't do a good job. The magistrate's parting remark was: "Now you will have clean shirts."

Marconi's Invention

When Marconi is credited with inventing wireless telegraphy, he is being given credit for something he did not do. He simply applied known electric forces and devices to the needs of commerce. Scientists were angered by his claims.

From the Latin

The word "sincere" originated from two Latin words, "sine cera," meaning without wax. In the days of ancient Rome cracked and chipped vases were made as good as new by filling up the cracks with wax.

So We Have Parlor Cars

When Jeany Lind, the famous singer, was brought to America by P. T. Barnum she was obliged to travel from place to place on the wretched railroads of the period. To ease the discomforts of the trip she had the seats removed from an ordinary car and replaced with chairs, tables, couches and such pieces of furniture as might be found in an ordinary parlor. She called it jokingly her "parlor car." Out of her idea grew the present Pullman parlor car.—Capper's Weekly

Tag Day Among Birds

The biologist survey has tagged about 27,000 birds in an effort to get some information about bird migration, a mysterious proceeding which has puzzled mankind since ancient times. Returns on banded birds have amounted to 10,338. Prominent among the bird problems of economic interest which banding may be expected to solve is the control of red-winged blackbirds that do much damage to the rice crop. Poison bait has proved ineffective in the rice fields, so that control measures must be undertaken at other times and other places.

Women in Medicine

The president of one of the state medical associations makes the following statement: "There are fields of medicine for which women are peculiarly adapted: the foreign mission field; the school inspection service, especially when the work is with girls; the examination of women factory employees; the personal and social hygiene service of public work, and the examination of women applicants for life insurance and in the health service of the insurance companies. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women, female practitioners have established lucrative practices. In surgery there are many women who have demonstrated their success in major operations."

Before the Mike

It is not an insult these days to tell a political speaker to take the air.—Toledo Blade.

Cheese as Staple

Cheese is regarded as the staple food in many countries because of its high nutritive value. It is especially rich in vitamin A. In Switzerland it is consumed almost universally because of its protein content, which exceeds the protein of average meat and is twice that of eggs. Its caloric value is greater than that of any other food, except perhaps nuts, butter, oil and very fat meats.

Danish Beauty Spot

An Old world garden is Odense, on the island of Funen, Denmark, where Hans Christian Andersen was born. Its crooked streets are frequented by simple folk and its houses are bright with window boxes and blooming dooryards. The cobbles whitewashed cottages, with its bright red-tiled roof, breathes of the lore and legend so dear to the hearts of the humble and hardy horticulturalists of this green isle. The immortal spirit of the prince of fairy stories mingles with the chatter of happy children in the streets, for the Danish rejoice in the love, life and laughter of their little ones.

Shepherd Bagpipers

Shepherds probably were the first players of the bagpipe. Its tone is so peculiarly shrill and penetrating and altogether suited to outdoor performance. There are other good reasons for assuming such origin, however. The Persians had such an instrument in very ancient times. It was well known to Roman musicians. Delvers in the history of the latter empire have found that even then the bagpipe was considered a "different" and uncanny implement of sound. It will be information to some that the notes of the bagpipe are purposely out of tune with each other. If perfectly graduated they would not go well with the bass.—Detroit News.

Largest "Room"

The word "room" is not always interpreted in the same way. Some of the places listed might be excluded under some interpretations of the word. Among the largest of which we can find record are the battle gallery of Versailles in France, which is 394 feet long, 43 feet wide. The glass gallery in the same building is 235 feet long, 35 feet wide and 42 feet high. The great hall of the Vatican library, in Rome, is 220 feet long, while the Galleria Lapidaria in the Vatican is 700 feet long.

Used Clever Seers

to Inspire Soldiers

One of the most clever women of the century preceding the Christian era was Martha the Syrian. She was a supposed prophetess but it seems that the verity of her predictions was due more to accurate and sagacious observation than to any psychic powers. Plutarch in his "Lives" tells how one day she boldly presented herself before the Roman senate and not only offered to enlighten them on the problems then before that august and discursive body, but also declared she could tell them just how future events would fall. The senate pool-pooled her presumption and chased her out of the chamber, but Gen. Caius Marius, more canny, saw in her an opportunity, took her home and made her a friend of the family. At a contest of gladiators, sitting at the feet of Marius' wife, Martha correctly foretold which would be the victors and the general saw to it that this was widely advertised. Thereafter, when his soldiers were about to go into combat he had Martha borne past the troops on a litter whereon she was all trigged out in a purple robe and bore a little spear trimmed with ribbons and garlands. Then Martha would consult as to which side would win. The soldiers were informed they were destined to be the victors and, usually, their confidence was such that they were invincible.—Detroit News.

The firemen are evidently doing their best to show themselves worthy of the recent pay raise granted them, after some debate, by the town. Yesterday morning their promptness in responding to an alarm from Box 63 at 10:47 a. m. prevented a fire, which had started in the basement of the former F. A. Bacon house on Highland terrace, from assuming alarming proportions. The damage to the house which has recently been purchased by Mr. Kenneth F. Caldwell was slight.

A Ford truck, the property of the Winchester Health Department and driven by Charles O. Smith of 78 Middlesex street was in collision Wednesday afternoon on Cross street with a Ford sedan, owned by Hyman Leich of 131 Ash street, Chelsea and driven by his brother, Julius of the same address. Both machines were going east, and according to the police account of the affair the accident occurred when the truck stopped short and backed into the sedan. The latter machine was damaged but no one injured.

The Fire Department was called at 6:30 Wednesday evening by an alarm from Box 37 to put out a grass fire in the rear of 342 Washington street.

Citizen and State

In dealing with the state we ought to remember that its institutions are not aboriginal, though they existed before we were born; that they are not superior to the citizen; that every one of them was once the act of a single man; every law and usage was a man's expedient to meet a particular case; that they all are imitable, all alterable; we may make as good, we may make better.—Emerson.

Home Gives First Impress

The home is an educational institution. It is the place where children receive their first and most lasting impressions. The home gets them before the church or the school or the neighborhood life has an opportunity to influence them.

Pavement of Coffin Lids

Attention has been recently called to the strange fancy of a rich Berlin tradesman who had the walks of the garden that was attached to his country villa laid down with a number of coffin lids, which he had been at considerable time and expense to collect. They were of all ages and conditions, from the wooden covering for the peasant to the most elaborate metal-work designed for noble or prince. On his death his son replaced them with ordinary gravel and subsequently presented the most valuable to a local museum.
